

Schedule 5 - Commercially Sensitive Information

NB – the Authority will not accept any information referred to in Schedule 2 (Tender Minimum Performance Levels (tMPLs), Required Number of Outcomes (RNOs) and Customer Service Standards (CSS)) for inclusion in this Schedule 5.

- 1 The Authority acknowledges that the Contractor has requested that the following information be treated as Commercially Sensitive Information:

Information / Document	Part and Page Number	Explanation of harm which may result from disclosure and time period applicable to any sensitivity
Details provided through Bravo Solutions Tendering Portal that includes personal details	Whole Document	Remploy asserts that section 40 of the FOIA applies to references to names, phone numbers, email addresses and any other personally identifiable information. The time period of sensitivity is unlimited.
Any Names or other personally identifiable information	Whole Document	Remploy asserts that Section 40 of the FOIA applies, and such information should be redacted from any response submitted. The time period of sensitivity is unlimited.
Qualitative Question's for Service Delivery	Questions 1.4.2, 1.4.3, 1.4.4, 1.4.8,1.4.9,1.4.10, 1.4.11, 1.4.13, 1.4.14, 1.4.16	Disclosure of Remploy's strategy, approach and process that underpin its delivery, past and current experience which forms the strategy for future delivery challenges would enable too much detail to be shared with Remploy's competitors, which is not in the public interest. Remploy asserts that section 43(2) of the FOIA applies. The information is commercially sensitive. The prejudice caused by a release of this information would, in our view, include a weakening of Remploy's position by revealing information that would have commercial market sensitivity for us. Release of information which details bid strategy would allow competitors to place bids in future competitions where it is likely to use similar strategies. This would reduce the competitive nature of procurements in which Remploy is likely to participate, in turn reducing value for money for the tax payer. This is not in the public interest.
Tender Assurance Questions	Questions 1.5.2, 1.5.3, 1.5.4, 1.5.5, 1.5.6 and 1.5.7	Disclosure of Remploy's strategy, approach and process that underpin its delivery, past and current experience which forms the strategy for future delivery challenges would enable too much detail to be shared

			with Remploy's competitors, which is not in the public interest. Remploy asserts that section 43(2) of the FOIA applies. The information is commercially sensitive. The prejudice caused by a release of this information would, in our view, include a weakening of Remploy's position by revealing information that would have commercial market sensitivity for us. Release of information which details bid strategy would allow competitors to place bids in future competitions where it is likely to use similar strategies. This would reduce the competitive nature of procurements in which Remploy is likely to participate, in turn reducing value for money for the tax payer. This is not in the public interest.
Contract Register	Cost	Contract Cost Register	Remploy asserts that section 43(2) of the FOIA applies, and that publication of the answer would, or would be likely to, prejudice its commercial interests. Disclosure would enable too much detail of Remploy's commercial information to be shared with its competitors, which is not in the public interest. The information is commercially sensitive. The prejudice caused by a release of this information would, in our view, include a weakening of Remploy's position by revealing information that would have commercial market sensitivity for us. Release of information which details bid strategy and commercials would allow competitors to place bids in future competitions where it is likely to use similar strategies. This would reduce the competitive nature of procurements in which Remploy is likely to participate, in turn reducing value for money for the tax payer. This is not in the public interest.
Appendix 3 Delivery Infrastructure Template	-	Appendix 3	Remploy asserts that section 43(2) of the FOIA applies, and that publication of the answer would, or would be likely to, prejudice its commercial interests.
Appendix 4 Organisation Chart of Management Structure	- of	Appendix 4	Remploy asserts that section 43(2) of the FOIA applies, and that publication of the answer would, or would be likely to, prejudice its commercial interests.
Appendix 5 Implementation Plan	-	Appendix 5	Remploy asserts that section 43(2) of the FOIA applies, and that publication of the answer would, or would be likely to, prejudice its commercial interests.

Annex Q – Commercially Sensitive Information	Annex Q	Remploy believe that section 43(2) of the FOIA applies, and that publication of this annex would be unduly prejudicial to our commercial interests, and that this prejudicial is not outweighed by the public interest in disclosure.
--	---------	---

- 2 The Authority will consult with the Contractor on any request for information, identified as Commercially Sensitive, under the FOIA.
- 3 The Authority reserves the right to disclose any Commercially Sensitive Information held within this Contract in response to a request under the FOIA as set out at clause E5 of this Contract.
- 4 The Authority will automatically publish all information provided by the Contractor not identified in this Schedule as constituting Commercially Sensitive Information provided that it satisfies the requirements of the FOIA.
- 5 The Authority reserves the right to determine whether any information provided in this Schedule does constitute Commercially Sensitive Information prior to publication.