- F2.4 The Authority may produce a report (a "Checkpoint Review Report") of the results of each Checkpoint Review stating any areas of exceptional performance and areas for improvement in the provision of the Services and where there is any shortfall in any aspect of performance reviewed as against the Authority's expectations and the Contractor's obligations under this Contract.

- F2.5 The Authority shall give the Contractor a copy of the Checkpoint Review Report (if applicable). The Authority shall consider any Contractor comments and may produce a revised Checkpoint Review Report.

 - (b) without terminating the whole of the Contract, terminate the Contract in respect of part of the Services only (whereupon a corresponding reduction in the Price shall be made) and thereafter itself supply or procure a third party to supply such part of the Services;
 - (a) withhold or reduce payments to the Contractor in such amount as the Authority reasonably deems appropriate in each particular case; and/or
 - (a) terminate the Contract in accordance with clause H2.
- F3.2 Without prejudice to its right under clause C3 (Recovery of Sums Due), the Authority may charge the Contractor for any costs reasonably incurred and any reasonable administration costs in respect of the supply of any part of the Services by the Authority or a third party to the extent that such costs exceed the payment which would otherwise have been payable to the Contractor for such part of the Services.
- F3.3 If the Authority reasonably believes the Contractor has failed to supply all or any part of the Services in accordance with the Contract, professional or industry practice which could reasonably be expected of a competent and suitably qualified person, or any legislative or regulatory requirement, the Authority may give the Contractor notice specifying the way in which its performance falls short of the requirements of the Contract or is otherwise unsatisfactory.
- F3.4 If the Contractor has been notified of a failure in accordance with clause F3.3 the Authority may:

- (a) direct the Contractor to identify and remedy the failure within such time as may be specified by the Authority and to apply all such additional resources as are necessary to remedy that failure at no additional charge to the Authority within the specified timescale; and/or
- (b) withhold or reduce payments to the Contractor in such amount as the Authority deems appropriate in each particular case until such failure has been remedied to the satisfaction of the Authority.

F3.5 If the Contractor has been notified of a failure in accordance with clause F3.3, it shall:

- (a) use all reasonable endeavours to immediately minimise the impact of such failure to the Authority and to prevent such failure from recurring; and
- (b) immediately give the Authority such information as the Authority may request regarding what measures are being taken to comply with the obligations in this clause F3.5 and the progress of those measures until resolved to the satisfaction of the Authority.

F3.6 If, having been notified of any failure, the Contractor fails to remedy it in accordance with clause F3.5 within the time specified by the Authority, the Authority may treat the continuing failure as a Material Breach and may terminate the Contract immediately on notice to the Contractor.

F4 Transfer and Sub-Contracting

F4.1 Except where clauses F4.5 and F4.6 both apply, the Contractor shall not transfer, novate, charge, assign, sub-contract or in any other way dispose of the Contract or any part of it without Approval. All such documents shall be evidenced in writing and shown to the Authority on request. Sub-contracting any part of the Contract shall not relieve the Contractor of any of its obligations or duties under the Contract.

F4.2 The Contractor shall be responsible for the acts and/or omissions of its Sub-Contractors as though they are its own. If it is appropriate, the Contractor shall provide each Sub-Contractor with a copy of the Contract and obtain written confirmation from them that they will provide the Services fully in accordance with the Contract.

F4.3 The Contractor shall ensure that its Sub-Contractors and suppliers retain all records relating to the Services for at least 6 years from the date of their creation and make them available to the Authority on request in accordance with the provisions of clause E9 (Audit). If any Sub-Contractor or supplier does not allow the Authority access to the records then the Authority shall have no obligation to pay any claim or invoice made by the Contractor on the basis of such documents or work carried out by the Sub-Contractor or supplier.

F4.4 If the Authority has consented to the placing of Sub-Contracts, copies of each Sub-Contract shall, at the request of the Authority, be sent by the Contractor to the Authority immediately.

F4.5 Notwithstanding clause F4.1, the Contractor may assign to a third party (the "Assignee") the right to receive payment of the Price or any part thereof due to the Contractor (including any interest which the Authority incurs under clause C2 (Payment and VAT)). Any assignment under this clause F4.5 shall be subject to:

- (a) reduction of any sums in respect of which the Authority exercises its right of recovery under clause C3 (Recovery of Sums Due);

- (b) all related rights of the Authority under the Contract in relation to the recovery of sums due but unpaid; and
 - (c) the Authority receiving notification under both clauses F4.6 and F4.7.
- F4.6 If the Contractor assigns the right to receive the Price under clause F4.5, the Contractor or the Assignee shall notify the Authority in writing of the assignment and the date upon which the assignment becomes effective.
- F4.7 The Contractor shall ensure that the Assignee notifies the Authority of the Assignee's contact information and bank account details to which the Authority shall make payment at least [5] Working Days prior to submission of the relevant invoice.
- F4.8 The provisions of clause C2 shall continue to apply in all other respects after the assignment and shall not be amended without Approval of the Authority.
- F4.9 Subject to clause F4.10, the Authority may assign, novate or otherwise dispose of its rights and obligations under the Contract or any part thereof to:
- (a) any Contracting Authority;
 - (b) any other body established by the Crown or under statute in order substantially to perform any of the functions that had previously been performed by the Authority; or
 - (c) any private sector body which substantially performs the functions of the Authority
- provided that any such assignment, novation or other disposal shall not increase the burden of the Contractor's obligations under the Contract.
- F4.10 Any change in the legal status of the Authority such that it ceases to be a Contracting Authority shall not, subject to clause F4.11, affect the validity of the Contract and the Contract shall bind and inure to the benefit of any successor body to the Authority.
- F4.11 If the rights and obligations under the Contract are assigned, novated or otherwise disposed of pursuant to clause F4.9 to a body which is not a Contracting Authority or if there is a change in the legal status of the Authority such that it ceases to be a Contracting Authority (in the remainder of this clause both such bodies being referred to as the "Transferee"):
- (a) the rights of termination of the Authority in clauses H1 and H2 shall be available to the Contractor in respect of the Transferee;
 - (b) shall be available to the Contractor in the event of respectively, the bankruptcy or insolvency, or Default of the Transferee; and
 - (b) the Transferee shall only be able to assign, novate or otherwise dispose of its rights and obligations under the Contract or any part thereof with the prior consent in writing of the Contractor.
- F4.12 The Authority may disclose to any Transferee any Confidential Information of the Contractor which relates to the performance of the Contractor's obligations under the Contract. In such circumstances the Authority shall authorise the Transferee to use such Confidential Information only for purposes relating to the performance of the Contractor's obligations under the Contract and for no other purpose and shall take all reasonable steps to ensure that the Transferee gives a confidentiality undertaking in relation to such Confidential Information.

F4.13 Each Party shall at its own cost and expense carry out, or use all reasonable endeavours to ensure the carrying out of, whatever further actions (including the execution of further documents) the other Party reasonably requires from time to time for the purpose of giving that other Party the full benefit of the provisions of the Contract.

F4.14 The Authority shall be entitled to novate the Contract to any other body which substantially performs any of the functions that previously had been performed by the Authority.

F4.15 Provided that the Authority has given prior written consent, the Supplier shall be entitled to novate the Contract where:

(a) the specific change in contractor was provided for in the procurement process for the award of this Contract;

(b) there has been a universal or partial succession into the position of the Supplier, following a corporate restructuring, including takeover, merger, acquisition or insolvency, by another economic operator that meets the criteria for qualitative selection applied in the procurement process for the award of this Contract.

F5 Waiver

F5.1 The failure of either Party to insist upon strict performance of any provision of the Contract, or the failure of either Party to exercise, or any delay in exercising, any right or remedy shall not constitute a waiver of that right or remedy and shall not cause a diminution of the obligations established by the Contract.

F5.2 No waiver shall be effective unless it is expressly stated to be a waiver and communicated to the other Party in writing in accordance with clause A4 (Notices and Communications).

F5.3 A waiver of any right or remedy arising from a breach of the Contract shall not constitute a waiver of any right or remedy arising from any other or subsequent breach of the Contract.

F6 Variation

F6.1 If, after the Commencement Date, the Authority's requirements change, the Authority may request a Variation subject to the terms of this clause F6.

F6.2 The Authority may request a Variation by notifying the Contractor in writing of the Variation and giving the Contractor sufficient information to assess the extent of the Variation and consider whether any change to the Price is required in order to implement the Variation within a reasonable time limit specified by the Authority. If the Contractor accepts the Variation it shall confirm it in writing.

F6.3 If the Contractor is unable to accept the Variation or where the Parties are unable to agree a change to the Price, the Authority may:

(a) allow the Contractor to fulfil its obligations under the Contract without the Variation to the Specification; or

(b) terminate the Contract immediately except where the Contractor has already delivered all or part of the Services or where the Contractor can show evidence of substantial work being carried out to fulfil the requirements of the Specification; and in such case the Parties shall attempt to agree upon a resolution to the matter. If a resolution cannot be reached, the matter shall be dealt with under the Dispute Resolution procedure detailed in clause I2 (Dispute Resolution).

F6.4 Any Variation will not take effect unless recorded in a Change of Control Notice as attached hereto in Schedule 4 and approved in writing by the Authority.

F6.5 The provisions of clause F6.4 may be varied in an emergency if it is not practicable to obtain the Authorised Representative's approval within the time necessary to make the Variation in order to address the emergency. In an emergency, Variations may be approved by a different representative of the Authority. However, the Authorised Representative shall have the right to review such a Variation and require a Change of Control Notice to be entered into on a retrospective basis which may itself vary the emergency Variation.

F7 Severability

F7.1 If any provision of the Contract which is not of a fundamental nature is held invalid, illegal or unenforceable for any reason by any court of competent jurisdiction, such provision shall be severed and the remainder of the provisions of the Contract shall continue in full force and effect as if the Contract had been executed with the invalid, illegal or unenforceable provision eliminated.

F8 Remedies Cumulative

F8.1 Except as expressly provided in the Contract all remedies available to either Party for breach of the Contract are cumulative and may be exercised concurrently or separately, and the exercise of any one remedy shall not be deemed an election of such remedy to the exclusion of other remedies.

F9 Entire Agreement

F9.1 The Contract constitutes the entire agreement between the Parties in respect of the matters dealt with therein. The Contract supersedes all prior negotiations between the Parties and all representations and undertakings made by one Party to the other, whether written or oral, except that this clause shall not exclude liability in respect of any fraudulent misrepresentation.

F9.2 In the event of, and only to the extent of, any conflict between the clauses of the Contract, any document referred to in those clauses and the Schedules, the conflict shall be resolved in accordance with the following order of precedence:

- (a) the clauses of the Contract;
- (b) the Schedules; and
- (c) any other document referred to in the clauses of the Contract.

F10 Counterparts

F10.1 The Contract may be executed in counterparts, each of which when executed and delivered shall constitute an original but all counterparts together shall constitute one and the same instrument.

- (c) the Contractor may request by notice to the Authority that any dispute be referred and resolved by arbitration in accordance with clause 12.7, to which the Authority may consent as it sees fit.

SCHEDULE 1 - SPECIFICATION

CQC's service requirement in respect of 'Tell Us About Your Care' Partnerships is detailed below:

- The provision of a continuous supply of agreed volumes of Share your experience web forms - completed by the supplier on behalf of a member of the public - providing information about individual experiences of care at named health and social care services. This is for the purpose of supporting ongoing monitoring of services to enable effective regulation of the quality of health and social care services in England. Supplier(s) must already hear from members of the public reporting experiences of care at named health and social care services across England as part of existing business functions.
- Promotion of CQC to the public, the standards of care people have a right to expect, CQC's role in regulating, monitoring and inspecting services, and encouragement for people to use our inspection reports to inform choice, and to share experiences to improve care for others in the future.
- Enhancing CQC's ability to raise awareness of its work, and hear from people with protected characteristics and those who are seldom heard / vulnerable due to their circumstances.
- Enhancing CQC's ability to promote and encourage public participation (across our key population groups including those who are seldom heard and/or vulnerable because of their circumstances) in our consultation and informal engagement activity to influence decisions CQC takes about how we do our job.

CQC's requirement is based upon the delivery of the following services:

Lot 1: Direct supply of CQC Share Your Experience web-forms (on a continuous basis)

The direct supply of CQC Share Your Experience web-forms on a continuous basis will provide qualitative information from members of the public about individual experiences of care at named health and social care services subject to regulation by CQC. The supplier(s) must already hear from members of the public reporting experiences of care at named health and social care services across England as part of existing business functions. The supply should be existing rather than something that has to be stimulated.

- Ongoing supply of Share Your Experience web-forms completed by the supplier on behalf of a member of the public - Individual relevant experiences to be identified, summarised and converted into a supply of web-forms by trained helpline staff of organisations already delivering a national helpline service to people who use health and care services and their loved ones/carers.
- Ongoing promotion of the Share Your Experience web-form, of CQC, our role and purpose, and our narrative about why CQC needs information about people's experiences of care to prevent poor care happening to others, to those seeking helpline services and through contractor's channels and joint media, including the distribution of a jointly branded printed leaflet.
- Project management, helpline delivery, helpline supervision, communications and promotion, quality assurance and evaluation
- Collaboration on CQC-led public campaigns (up to x4 per year). These campaigns will align with the objectives of the Tell us about your care programme and will have key messages to increase awareness of CQC, the standards of care people have a right to expect under regulation, our inspection reports and ratings and to encourage people to share their experiences of care. Collaborative work to include (i) collaborative quotes for use in related CQC media work, and (ii) contractor's own activity that leads to news and social media coverage

- Promotion of relevant thematic reviews, consultations and other CQC initiatives
- Collaborative working arrangements so CQC can access and use organisation's owned participation mechanisms to support CQC coproduction and consultation activity e.g. forum discussions with organisations online communities, or face to face events. (up to x5 per year)

The Authority is procuring the services for the direct supply of Share Your Experience forms as follows:

- Contracts will be established based on agreed anticipated SYE volumes, evidenced through supply of facts and figures by the contractor which demonstrate volumes of information being received by the organisation, and confidence in receiving consent to share with CQC.
- CQC anticipates establishing multiple contracts, each delivering an agreed supply of SYE forms
- Depending on final costs agreed CQC has indicative budget to be able to pay for in the region of 3000 - 4000 SYE per each year of the contract.
- Based on market engagement, CQC have determined the optimal cost per SYE form is £30, this figure includes all associated overheads and all elements that fall within the requirements of Lot 1.
- CQC does not propose to partner with an organisation that can supply less than 100 SYE forms per year.
- CQC regulates a wide range of health and social care services including all NHS hospitals, GPs practices, care homes, home-care agencies, dentists, independent health care providers and others. A full list of the services CQC is responsible for regulating is available from <http://www.cqc.org.uk/content/services-we-regulate> We want to hear the experiences of people using all of these services, to help us monitor services and make decisions about when, where and what to inspect.
- CQC acknowledges the challenges in obtaining Share Your Experience information on Adult Social Care services (in comparison to information regarding healthcare services). This is also the area where CQC has less existing information about the quality of these services from other intelligence sources. CQC also wishes to hear more about the care experiences of people with a learning disability. Given that, CQC is proposing to weight allocation of contracts to supply of Share Your Experience web-forms as follows:
 - Supply of Adult Social Care (ASC) SYE web-forms up to 50% of 3000 (1500) SYE or 30% of £120,000 - £36,000 (whichever comes first)
 - Supply of SYE web-forms up to 30% of 3000 (900) SYE or 20% of £120,000 - £24,000 (whichever comes first) about the experiences of people with a learning disability

This is CQC's weighting approach but CQC still welcomes bids from suppliers that cover other CQC regulated services and/or population groups.

- CQC has an upper cost envelope of £30,000 for any one supplier, based on no more than 6 contractors, to be awarded where exceptional compliance with our requirements is demonstrated. We reserve the right to award more than six contracts if budget allows.
- Payments will be made in arrears on a quarterly basis.

The contractor should:

- Evidence that they routinely hear from individuals about their experiences of health and social care services through their core functions, in a way that these can be transcribed to Share Your Experience forms by that organisation on behalf of the individual
- Describe clearly and provide evidence for the volumes of SYE forms they anticipate being able to deliver for what service types and what population groups, per month and per year, and at what cost. We anticipate overall costs for this supply of Share Your Experience web-forms will be calculated by suppliers taking into account administrative costs for the time of a helpline worker to submit the information to CQC including any time involved in providing support and reassurance required to encourage a person to consent to share their concerns with CQC, recognising that more support may be needed in this area where individuals are raising concerns about adult social care services. Suppliers should also include costs for project management, access to the contractor's owned communications channels, and for support for joint media.
- Describe clearly which population groups they hear from already, and have access to through their owned communication channels.

AUTHORITY RESPONSIBILITIES

LOT 1: Direct supply of CQC Share Your Experience web-forms (on a continuous basis)

- CQC will identify a member or members of the Public Engagement team to act as a point of contact for the contractor
- CQC will supply a report to the contractor after six months and at the end of the contract detailing the volume of information received through the partnership and the action taken in response (against the KPIs identified in section 5). Any publication of statistics from these reports should be agreed with CQC.
- CQC will provide x1 training session (approximately 1hr, at a mutually agreed location) to the contractor's helpline team, or equivalent, to explain the processes for submitting information to CQC on behalf of individuals as part of the partnership
- CQC will liaise with the contractor to agree a jointly branded public-facing leaflet that encourages people to share their experiences of care, the standards people have a right to expect, the role of the regulator and the partnership between CQC and the contractor. The design of this leaflet will follow existing 'Tell us' materials and certain content (about CQC's role and the standards of care people have a right to expect) will be fixed. CQC will design and print this leaflet for the contractor to distribute in quantities to be agreed.

services. CQC's 'Tell Us About Your Care' partnership opportunity would sit comfortably within our Helpline and specialist advice services, where we hear from thousands of people within the autism community each year. Enquiries span across from questions around diagnosis, respite services, counselling, social services and information about autism spectrum conditions. We also hear frequently from people about their experiences of named health or social care providers in their local area, sometimes looking for advice on specific issues or for an alternative provider when they have had an unsatisfactory experience with their existing provider. The NAS is a trusted source of information and advice for the autism community and champions the rights and interests of all people with autism. We have a strong reputation for campaigning, on local issues through our branches and Area Policy and Participation Officers (APPOs), and on areas of national significance such as the Autism Act, through our Policy and Campaigns team. This means that people have confidence in our ability to facilitate change and to be listened to by the Government and statutory authorities. We also empower people to create change within their own communities and participate in consultations and campaign activity. We are well resourced to fulfil the requirements of the 'Tell Us About Your Care' partnership, with an engaged audience and an extensive reach across numerous communication channels.

The day-to-day management of the organisation is the responsibility of our Chief Executive, supported by a strategic management group of eight directors. The directors are accountable to the Chief Executive and Board of Trustees. In addition, there is an elected National Forum which supports and advises the Board and champions the work of the charity.

The NAS has a membership of 20,000 who elect 14 National Councillors and 28 Regional Councillors. The Council, approximately 40% of whom have an autism diagnosis, provides up to eight seats on the Board of Trustees. The 11 trustees cover a wide range of experience, including commercial business, local government, education, accountancy, management, the law, and of course autism and parental care of individuals with autism.

Having approved annual plans/budgets, the Board delegates implementation to the Chief Executive. Outcomes are monitored through five committees of Trustees delegated by and reporting to the main Board. The committees cover Governance, Audit and Risk, Plans and Resources, Services Quality and Development, and Brand and Commercial Development.

Mark Lever, Chief Executive, chaired the Government's External Reference Group for developing the National Strategy for Adults with Autism and sits on the Department of Health's Autism Programme Board and Social Care Reference Group. He leads the NAS Strategic Management Group, which consists of Directors for Adult Services, Education, Centre for Autism, External Affairs, Fundraising & Marketing, Finance and HR.

The project will be overseen by the designated Project Manager, Tracey Sellers, who reports to the Director for the Centre for Autism. Tracey has more than 25 years of experience of working in autism services and has been in a project management role at the NAS for the last three years. In this time she has been responsible for managing projects funded by the Department of Health, Department for Education and EU funded projects to the value of more than half a million pounds.

As Project Manager, Tracey will coordinate those responsible for delivery, leading on Steering Group meetings, reporting to the CQC, and ensuring that the project is delivered on time, within budget and to the standards and requirements of the CQC.

Tracey will work closely with Anna Rattlidge, the Helpline Manager, who will be responsible for day-to-day project delivery

	of Lot 1. Anna has managed the helpline for five years and supervises six Helpline Advisors and five volunteers.

Response:

In line with the requirements of the specification and as a partner to the CQC on the 'Tell Us About Your Care' programme, the NAS will deliver the following:

Ongoing supply of Share Your Experience (SYE) webforms

We intend to supply SYE webforms to the CQC through the NAS national autism helpline, supported by our Community Care specialist advice service.

The Helpline currently responds to enquiries from approximately 20,000 people each year. The population groups we hear from are predominantly parents or carers of children and adults on the autism spectrum, or autistic people themselves. We also receive enquiries from professionals who are looking for information and advice. We do not currently monitor the number of enquiries from people with specific protected characteristics. This is due to data protection requirements which prevent us from recording information that we do not need.

The Helpline receives phone calls, letters and emails on a wide range of subjects including: diagnosis, welfare and benefits, education, health, criminal justice, behaviour, employment and counselling. More than 50% of the enquiries we receive are related to individual experiences of health and social care.

The Helpline makes referrals to our specialist advisory services when appropriate. These include:

- Welfare Rights
- Community Care
- Education Rights
- Parent to Parent
- Behaviour
- Schools Exclusions Service

The Community Care team, who will support the processing of SYE forms, currently work with more than 500 people per year who have issues or concerns relating to health and social care services.

Helpline staff are focused on achieving the NAS' goal of becoming a 'partner for life' for autistic people, their families and carers. This organisational aim complements the CQC's five key questions and shapes how NAS staff work with the people we support. If we were successful in becoming a partner to the CQC we would incorporate the CQC's five areas of focus (safe, effective, caring, responsive and well-led) into our staff and volunteer training to ensure that the feedback is relevant to at least one of these themes.

NAS Helpline and Community Care staff will advise people who contact the NAS with issues relating to health and social care services in England of the 'Tell Us About Your Care' partnership with the CQC. Staff will promote the CQC and key messages and encourage enquirers to provide details of their own experiences through the SYE webform. Staff will complete webforms on behalf of the enquirer succinctly and with clear and relevant information.

The Helpline uses a database known as Lotus to monitor and record information about the calls we receive. The information we record is limited but includes: the subject area of the call, including a summary of the specific enquiry and whether or not this was resolved; duration of the call; and the caller's name, if they have volunteered this, and contact information if we need to send on a helpline pack or any specific information.

Helpline staff are encouraged to keep call lengths to a maximum of 20 minutes due to the high level of demand on the service. Advisers need to keep time spent on administrative tasks to a minimum in order to answer as many calls as possible and therefore need to be concise in recording information about calls. The level of information recorded on our own systems is similar to that of SYE forms and staff will approach the task in the same way.

Due to the high volumes of enquiries we receive through the Helpline and our experience and resources, we are able to deliver 1000 Share Your Experience webforms across a 12 month period.

This can be broken down as follows:

Volumes of SYE webforms:

Month	Approx. volume per month
October - December 2016
Quarter 1 total:
January - March 2017
Quarter 2 total:
April - June 2017
Quarter 3 total:
July - September 2017
Quarter 4 total:
Annual total:

The volume of forms is anticipated to increase across the year as the 'Tell Us About Your Care' partnership is promoted and those contacting the Helpline have a greater awareness of the project.

Service type:

Service	Number of SYE webforms	% of SYE webforms
Adult Social Care	[REDACTED]
Learning Disability
Other

This breakdown is based on current levels of enquiry from these service areas. While we do not specifically record whether or not a person has a learning disability, or whether they are in receipt of Adult Social Care (ASC), we believe these figures to be a fair representation of the enquiries to the helpline.

Ongoing promotion of the Share Your Experience webform and the CQC

The NAS Helpline answers approximately 1200 calls and 400-500 emails per month. Helpline Advisors will promote the SYE webform and the CQC to callers who contact the NAS about their experiences of health and social care services in England. We will also include information at the bottom of the helpline email signature about the 'Tell Us About Your Care' Partnership, in order to encourage people to share their experiences.

The NAS website receives 4.5million hits per year and is a vital source of information for many of the people we support. We will promote the CQC 'Tell Us About Your Care' partnership through our helpline pages on the NAS website and use this space to communicate why CQC needs information about people's experiences of health and social care services, and the five key questions.

The volume of callers to our helpline has always been far greater than we are able to respond to. However we have made a number of changes so that we are able to reach more callers, including a triage system involving volunteers, and a 'livechat' instant messaging option for those looking at the Helpline webpages. We will promote the CQC and SYE webforms through 'livechat' in the same way as we will promote this to Helpline callers.

We will also use our social media platforms to promote the SYE webforms and the CQC. We currently have 105,000 followers on Twitter and on 345,000 Facebook. This will be a useful way of increasing numbers of webforms if we were to experience low levels of interest from Helpline callers.

There are also a number of channels we would use to promote the CQC and the SYE webforms through leaflet distribution. We will include these in: Helpline Information Packs, which we send out to approximately 80 enquirers per month; our quarterly Your Autism Magazine, sent out to more than 20,000 NAS members; and we will distribute these to the public through our 76 local branches across England.

Project Management and delivery

Tracey Sellers, Project Manager, will be responsible for ensuring that the requirements of the contract are met in full. Tracey will work closely with Anna Rattlidge, the Helpline Manager, who will be responsible for day-to-day project delivery. Anna has managed the Helpline for five years and supervises six Helpline Advisers and five volunteers.

Helpline Advisers respond to enquiries that come in to the helpline by phone, by email, post or through 'livechat' our online instant messaging platform. When staff receive enquiries relating to experiences of health and social care, they will ask if the enquirer would like to feedback their experience through a Share Your Experience webform, which the advisor will complete on their behalf. The Advisor will explain that we are working in partnership with the CQC to provide feedback on health and social care services in England, in line with their CQC training, and that the ultimate goal is to make improvements to these services in the long term.

As well as inviting enquirers to feed back through SYE forms, we will promote the 'Tell Us About Your Care' partnership in our communications with members, supporters and all of those who email our helpline, as stated above. This will encourage people to contact the Helpline in order to share their experiences with the NAS and CQC.

We will monitor the level of SYE webforms that are completed in response to enquiries and if after 3-6 months volumes are lower than anticipated our Helpline volunteers will telephone people who have previously contacted the service to ask if they would like to share their experiences with the CQC.

We will ensure that we are meeting the agreed targets around submission of the SYE forms through:

- Inviting enquirers who contact the Helpline relating to health and social care services to share their experience on a SYE webform

- Promotion of the 'Tell Us About Your Care' partnership and SYE webform to visitors to our website, members and supporters and our branches

- Follow up calls by volunteers to those who have previously contacted the Helpline

The NAS Helpline follows certain quality assurance procedures to ensure that we are providing high quality information and advice at all times. We will adopt these processes in order to ensure the quality of the service being delivered as part of the partnership. These include:

- mandatory training for all Helpline staff, including 'Ask Autism' online training, Safeguarding and Data Protection

- enrolment on to the NAS Academy, a staff training and development programme to ensure that service staff develop and maintain an excellent knowledge and understanding of autism

- monthly supervision sessions with line manager

-monthly reflective review of Helpline calls with line manager (advisers listen to recordings of their own calls and critique).

All Helpline Advisers and Community Care Advisers will attend the training provided by the CQC if the NAS is successful in becoming a 'Tell Us About Your Care' partner. Additionally, we will update the Helpline pages on the website with details of the partnership, explaining the purpose of the SYE webforms and CQCs five questions, so that this can be accessed by the public, and also used by staff to communicate a clear and consistent message to the public.

The Project Manager will lead on the monitoring and evaluation of the project throughout the year. This will include monitoring of KPIs as specified by CQC:

-volume of SYE webforms processed each month

-value of information recorded on SYE webforms

-promotion of CQC and SYE webforms (e.g. number of emails going out with SYE included in the signature; number of social media posts, webpage hits, leaflets sent out, general marketing and communications activity)

-the numbers of SYE webforms processed of people with 'protected characteristics' and evidence of promotion to these groups

-evidence of co-production and consultation with NAS supporters, members and helpline callers

-instances of joint working with CQC on campaigns and consultations.

Collaboration on CQC-led public campaigns

Our designated Project Manager will work closely with the CQC's Contract Manager to collaborate on CQC-led public campaigns. We will provide quotes and case studies demonstrating the outcomes of the project and will monitor any relevant news and media coverage and share this with the CQC.

We will use our numerous communication channels and networks to promote these campaigns and the key messaging of the CQC. Due to the number of CQC registered NAS social care services, we already promote the CQC in terms of the regulation of our own services as well as how to make a comment or complaint through the SYE webform.

The NAS monitors the level of news and media coverage of autism and the NAS through a subscription service. Each week we receive national and local press coverage through print media, online, television and radio channels. We are able to track this level of activity and identify specific news stories and will use this facility to monitor coverage of our joint work on CQC campaigns.

Promotion of relevant thematic reviews, consultations and other CQC initiatives

We will work closely with the CQC to promote relevant thematic reviews, consultations and support communication of key messaging around the 'Tell Us About Your Care' partnership throughout the year. Our Project Manager will take the lead on ensuring that resources are allocated to this, in response to the requirements of the CQC.

We will use our existing networks (such as branches and partnership organisations) and communication channels to promote consultation activity and initiatives relating to the partnership and segment our data so that we are able to target specific under-represented groups when necessary. These communication channels include: NAS website; monthly e-newsletter, quarterly membership magazine, local NAS branches, and social media.

Collaborative working arrangements for coproduction and consultation

The NAS is a membership organisation made up of more than 20,000 families and individuals whose lives are touched by autism. 40% of the NAS Council, which provides up to eight seats on the board of trustees, are on the autism spectrum themselves, and autistic people and their families / carers are involved in every NAS project or service, from campaigns, to statutory services, designing our helpline and other core services, to the way the organisation is run on a day-to-day basis. Involvement ranges from membership surveys and social media discussion groups, to project specific focus groups and steering groups for research purposes, or to develop campaigns or new projects.

The NAS has a proactive approach to recruitment of people on the autism spectrum. The organisation recognises the value of a diverse workforce and the co-production of projects and services with people on the autism spectrum and their families / carers.

We regularly engage with the autism community through our Policy and Campaigns team, who exist to champion the rights of people with autism and their families. The following resources within Policy and Campaigns will be used to engage participants for consultation and co-production:

- Area Policy and Participation Officers (APPOs) support people to campaign and make changes in their local community
- Many NAS branches are active in campaigning for local change
- Our 'Young Campaigners' are all aged 16-25 and on the autism spectrum. They meet regularly to develop campaigns which will improve their day-to-day lives.

In order to support the CQC with active participation in co-

	production and consultation with the autism community we will use our existing communication channels to encourage people to engage in online forum discussions and face-to-face events. Thousands of people currently engage with the NAS on a daily basis through social media, email and through sites such as Network Autism, our online forum for professionals. This means we have access to a wide range of people who would be willing and able to engage in co-production and consultation activity with the CQC.

Response: Providing information and advice through the national autism helpline to enable people to have better choice and control over their own care and support has been a central part of our work since 1997. Demand for our Helpline is extremely high and NAS capacity has been limited. Last year, we were only able to respond to 22% of the 37,847 calls we received. However, we know that our call response rate is currently rising due to the support we are receiving from volunteers and in May 2016 we responded to 46% of calls. We are currently answering 1,200 calls per month, having increased from 400 in 2015, so our response rate has improved by 100%. We are confident that improved processes and with volunteer support this will continue.

Due to the high level of demand on the service we aim to keep call volumes to approximately 20 minutes and have a limited amount of time to complete administrative work relating to individual enquirers. This means that while we record volumes of calls with regards to subject areas (such as diagnosis, health, benefits etc.) we do not record specific information about the caller unless there is follow up action required, for example sending out helpline information packs or making referrals to other services.

From the information that we record on the Helpline database we know that 52% of enquiries are related to health and social care. From April 2015 to March 2016, this equates to nearly 12,000 enquiries in total. On this basis, we are confident that we will be able to process 1,000 SYE webforms across a year with regards to autistic people's experiences of health and social care in England.

Although we do not currently record information about who contacts our Helpline, anecdotal evidence from our Helpline Manager and Helpline Advisers suggests that significant numbers of people are contacting the Helpline with enquiries from, or regarding, people with learning disabilities and autism as well as those in receipt of Adult Social Care. For this reason, we are confident that we are able to provide SYE webforms representing the experiences of 300 people with learning disabilities and 200 people in receipt of Adult Social Care across the year. The remaining 500 webforms will relate to the experiences of adults and children on the autistic spectrum.

In addition to the Helpline, the NAS is proactive in consulting with and gaining feedback on the experiences of people on the autism spectrum with regards to adult social care. In April 2014, we carried out a survey of 1,344 adults on the autism spectrum in England to understand their need for Adult Social Care support. As a result of this research, we produced a campaign report called 'Careless', which made recommendations to the government to amend eligibility criteria for Adult Social Care, through the Care Act, so that people with autism are protected from abuse, loneliness and neglect.

We have also supported adults with autism in receipt of adult social care through services such as our National Brokerage Project, funded by the Department of Health. The project ran from 2012-15 and directly supported 748 people with social care brokerage to get the support package they need and offered advice to 2,819 individuals and 2,838 family members via advice hubs, carers groups or Family Information Sharing Days.

The NAS has an extensive reach across the autism community, professionals and the general public through our various owned communication channels. These include:

- Website (www.autism.org.uk) – 4,464,837 visitors last year
- Social media - 345,000 facebook followers and 105,000 on twitter
- Monthly e-newsletter – sent to 130,000 people
- Your Autism Magazine membership publication – sent to more than 20,000 people
- Network autism – 8,127 professionals
- National conferences and events– attended by more than 4,000 people each year

Additionally, we have recently rolled out our biggest ever public autism awareness campaign: Too Much Information (TMI). The campaign aims to increase public awareness of the challenges faced by people on the autism spectrum through a range of campaign activity, including a short film which was viewed more than 56 million times within the first eight weeks of the campaign.

As we only collate information about the protected characteristics of individuals when necessary, in line with Data Protection regulations, we are not aware of how many people we are reaching overall from under-represented groups and those who are seldom heard. However, we recognise the need to understand how autism affects people differently, especially those from groups with protected characteristics. We have therefore run a number of campaigns in order to highlight these experiences and recommend necessary changes to legislation. These include 'Getting On? Growing older with autism' in 2013 and 'Diverse Perspectives: The challenges for families affected by autism from Black, Asian and Minority Ethnic Communities' in 2014.

Each year, the NAS runs a number of conferences which target specific population groups and important issues for the autism community. For example, last year we hosted conferences on 'Autism and the Criminal Justice System' attended by 550 people, and another on 'Autism and Mental Health', which was attended by 600 delegates. Coming up in 2017 we will be hosting our first conference focusing on the needs of women and girls on the autism spectrum.

We regularly gather feedback from the people we support so that we know that we are having a positive impact on the lives of people with autism. In 2014, we asked people to share their experiences of contacting the NAS Helpline and found that:

- 90% felt more informed of the choices available to them
- 80% felt less isolated after contacting the helpline
- 98% felt able to use the information and advice they were given
- 88% felt that their ability to ask for what they are entitled to had increased, and 99% intended to use the information given to them.

Feedback included:

"I just don't know what I would have done without the NAS Helpline. Your straight-forward practical advice saved my son and my sanity" Parent

"Very pleased with the help and advice, and especially that there is even this service. We are currently half way through an NHS diagnosis, but managed to get advice of where to go for a private diagnosis as well as the pros and cons. The email that was sent immediately after the call had a lot of information that I will be able to take bits from over the coming months. Thank you so much." Parent and demonstrate the trust and the positive reputation we have amongst the autism community:

The following case studies show the outcomes of our work

Case Study 1 – Lindsey and Joseph

"When my son Joseph was small he seemed a sleepy and serious baby, 'heavy' people would say. As he grew he began imitating train and bus noises, the beeping of doors and then the announcements, moving his hands before his eyes as if he were closing his doors to the world.

He was an early speaker, people said he was bright yet set routes, real and imagined, began dominating our lives. Taking an unexpected bus induced tantrums, snow blocking roads meltdowns and family events like Christmas seemed more traumatic to him than fun.

Joseph started school where they shared my concerns and alongside the NAS, who advised me through the process, we obtained a diagnosis before he turned seven. Despite our success in getting a clear cut rubber stamp of Autism, Asperger's Syndrome support from school was not forthcoming.

Every day we lived in a traumatic chaos of pulling him into school unwillingly. He was clearly unhappy, I dreaded home time when I would have to bring home a silent and volcanic child who refused to speak to me or eat.

As a single parent I was alone and lost. There was no-one else who understood. Other parents reassured with 'don't all children do that?' I could not comfortably socialise with other mothers, the playground talk of how their children were thriving and their cute tales of wounded knees that ended in hugs and plasters, not flailing arms and screams of 'Go away! Shut up!' as I was accustomed to, had me sobbing at home the whole morning long.

My only respite and beacon in the dark was the National Autistic Society Helpline. I would call distraught and utterly bereft and they never failed to reassure and offer positive guidance, ever suggesting new and creative ways forward. No judgements were passed on my sniffings and tears and the way forward was so much clearer whenever I hung up the phone.

For holding my hand through that time I cannot express my gratitude to the NAS enough. Those who do not know autism are unaware just how isolating it can be. For those with autism it can be hard to express emotions how they need to and to socially engage in a way the world comprehends and recognises. For the carers of autists matters can be equally as lonely, some days it's as if the world closes its doors, like my son beep beeping in imitation of train doors closing all those years ago.

That a charity exists who can offer the full length and breadth of support the NAS does, covering all issues at grass roots whilst campaigning at the top for legislative change and safeguarding the rights of autistic people and their carers, well that is just remarkable. It is unimaginable to me to think of this past decade without the NAS in it, I have no clue how we ever could have made it through. We are one small family in a sea of thousands in the UK who feel this way. Our hope is the NAS will ever go from strength to strength and forever be the necessary resource that it is."

Case Study 2: Daniel

Three years ago, Daniel's mental health rapidly deteriorated, and he was sectioned into a mental health unit. Terri, Daniel's mum, said, "When I found him, he was in a state of severe depression and anxiety, mute and completely unenthused."

It was only after Daniel was referred to a mental health unit that he was diagnosed with autism. Professionals had ignored previous mentions, denying Daniel crucial support that may have prevented his mental health crisis.

Terri and Will, Daniel's dad, were used to being ignored by professionals. "We are not meddling parents – I know what his needs are! It's so frustrating," said Terri. What Daniel needed was to be transitioned to residential care, where he would receive support from trained professionals who, most importantly, understood autism. "Daniel was unable to carry out a plan without prompting and needed to learn how to be more independent before we could even consider supported living," said Terri.

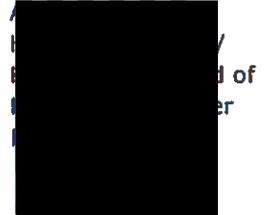

Despite Terri's understanding of her son's needs, when it was time for Daniel to be transferred from his mental health unit, the intention of their local council was clear: to move Daniel straight into supported living. Daniel was in danger of not being able to take care of himself, because supported living didn't meet his needs. When Terri called The National Autistic Society's Helpline, it felt like the world was running away from her and her husband. They were distraught. They felt like they had lost control of the situation. Terri told us: "I really see my call to the NAS Helpline as the turning point for us, where we gained back the control we felt we had lost. The Helpline did that for us. There was no fudging – the advice was absolutely clear and the lady listened to me! It's a great relief to have someone who understands and knows what they are talking about."

Following their call to our Helpline, our Community Care Advisor set up an appointment with Terri and Will. The advice given led to Terri and Will appealing the final decision. And the great news was that their appeal of poor administration in Daniel's transition from a mental health unit to specialist residential care was upheld by the ombudsman.

Two and a half years later, Daniel is happy at his new home, where he receives full-time support. "Without the Helpline we aren't sure where he would be or what our situation would have resulted in. We are still unsure of his future but having resources such as the Helpline makes you feel there is somewhere to go to get advice that will help you and make you aware of all your options."
