The Supplier shall ensure that each of the Insurances is effective no later than:

- 1.1.1 the DPS Start Date in respect of those Insurances set out in the Annex to this Schedule and those required by applicable Law; and
- 1.1.2 the Order Contract Effective Date in respect of the Additional Insurances.

1.2 The Insurances shall be:

- 1.2.1 maintained in accordance with Good Industry Practice;
- 1.2.2 (so far as is reasonably practicable) on terms no less favourable than those generally available to a prudent contractor in respect of risks insured in the international insurance market from time to time;

2. How to manage the insurance

2.1 Without limiting the other provisions of this Contract, the Supplier shall:

- 2.1.1 take or procure the taking of all reasonable risk management and risk control measures in relation to Deliverables as it would be reasonable to expect of a prudent contractor acting in accordance with Good Industry Practice, including the investigation and reports of relevant claims to insurers;

3. What happens if you aren't insured

3.1 The Supplier shall not take any action or fail to take any action or (insofar as is reasonably within its power) permit anything to occur in relation to it which would entitle any insurer to refuse to pay any claim under any of the Insurances.

3.2 Where the Supplier has failed to purchase or maintain any of the Insurances in full force and effect, the Relevant Authority may elect (but shall not be obliged) following written notice to the Supplier to purchase the relevant Insurances and recover the reasonable premium and other reasonable costs incurred in connection therewith as a debt due from the Supplier.

4. Evidence of insurance you must provide

4.1 The Supplier shall upon the Start Date and within 15 Working Days after the renewal of each of the Insurances, provide evidence, in a form satisfactory to the Relevant Authority, that the Insurances are in force and effect and meet in full the requirements of this Schedule.

5. Making sure you are insured to the required amount

5.1 The Supplier shall ensure that any Insurances which are stated to have a minimum limit "in the aggregate" are maintained at all times for the minimum limit of indemnity specified in this Contract and if any claims are made which do not relate to this Contract then the Supplier shall notify the Relevant Authority and provide details of its proposed solution for maintaining the minimum limit of indemnity.

The Supplier shall use all reasonable endeavours to notify the Relevant Authority (subject to third party confidentiality obligations) as soon as practicable when it becomes aware of any relevant fact, circumstance or matter which has caused, or is reasonably likely to provide grounds to, the relevant insurer to give notice to cancel, rescind, suspend or void any insurance, or any cover or claim under any insurance in whole or in part.

7. Insurance claims

7.1 The Supplier shall promptly notify to insurers any matter arising from, or in relation to, the Deliverables, or each Contract for which it may be entitled to

- 7.2 Except where the Relevant Authority is the claimant party, the Supplier shall give the Relevant Authority notice within twenty (20) Working Days after any insurance claim in excess of 10% of the sum required to be insured pursuant to Paragraph 5.1 relating to or arising out of the provision of the Deliverables or this Contract on any of the Insurances or which, but for the application of the applicable policy excess, would be made on any of the Insurances and (if required by the Relevant Authority) full details of the incident giving rise to the claim.
- 7.3 Where any Insurance requires payment of a premium, the Supplier shall be liable for and shall promptly pay such premium.
- 7.4 Where any Insurance is subject to an excess or deductible below which the indemnity from insurers is excluded, the Supplier shall be liable for such excess or deductible. The Supplier shall not be entitled to recover from the Relevant Authority any sum paid by way of excess or deductible under the Insurances whether under the terms of this Contract or otherwise.

Order Schedule 20 (Order Specification)

Introduction

Organisation

Founded in 2010, The UK Space Agency (UKSA) delivers key elements of the Government's National Space Strategy (NSS). The NSS sets out the government's ambitions for the UK in space. The Agency delivers new projects and programmes to meet commitments outlined in the National Space Strategy including goals and objectives. National space strategy goals are (1) to grow and level up our space economy; (2) to promote the values of global Britain; (3) to lead pioneering scientific discovery and inspire the nation; (4) to protect and defend our national interest in and through Space; and (5) to use Space to deliver for UK citizens and the world. UKSA considers how space science and technology can meet its civil operational needs and policy goals, and designs and delivers programmes, including as an early-stage investor in space research and development.

Programme Background

UKSA has received approval to spend up to £160m over five years on its Connectivity in Low Earth Orbit (C-LEO) programme, arising from the Department for Science, Innovation and Technology (DSIT) Secretary of State's request for an ambitious package that would secure UK R&D leadership in Satellite Communications (satcoms), support economic growth, and generate strategic advantage, supporting DSIT's mission to "Back UK science, technology and innovation". C-LEO was announced 1 August 2023<sup>1</sup>, and more recently at the 2024 Spring Budget<sup>2</sup>.

The programme was for £160m of funding from the European Space Agency (ESA) Advanced Research in Telecommunications Systems (ARTES)<sup>3</sup> satellite communication, and national funding.

Demand for LEO communications satellites has increased dramatically in recent years (from 330 launches in 2018 to 2,300 launches in 2022), driven by the ability of these satellites to provide ubiquitous internet connectivity anywhere on the planet at speeds comparable to terrestrial broadband. Their smaller scale and much faster data transmission speeds make LEO satellites more attractive than traditional Geostationary Earth Orbit (GEO) satellites, which are complex, slow to produce and expensive to launch. However, their lower earth orbit means more are needed (often hundreds or thousands) to provide comparable coverage to a GEO satellite. LEO satellites therefore need to be produced, launched and operated as a 'constellation' to provide global connectivity. The global satellite development and production market is therefore seeing a significant increase in volume orders of LEO satellites.

The UK is a recognised leader in satcoms, with established strengths in high-value communication and payload manufacturing for GEO satellites. The recent emergence and rapid growth of the LEO market therefore represents both an opportunity and a threat to UK firms. Moreover, these shifts are about to be turbo-charged by a series of global LEO satcoms procurements worth tens of billions of pounds, due to be launched over the next five years, that will determine where LEO satellites are produced and where global supply chains are established for decades to come.

C-LEO is therefore about supporting the UK satcoms sector to develop the capabilities necessary to secure a significant and sustained share of these upcoming high-value contracts. To do so, UK firms will need to credibly show that they can produce the key emerging technologies at high-volume needed for LEO communication constellations such as the commercially valuable payload (the transmitting and receiving technology). This shift – from producing large, bespoke GEO satellites at a rate of single digit volumes per year, to producing all the parts that make a LEO satellite at a rate of one per day – is not straightforward and require significant R&D. R&D on this scale is expensive and hard for individual firms to finance. The rationale behind intervening is the need to help firms overcome the challenges they face in financing the R&D necessary to make this urgent transition to high volume LEO satcom development and manufacturing. The need for urgency is underscored by the substantial investments made by countries such as the USA, Russia, China, Canada, and the European Union in their respective constellation programmes – all looking to secure the same contracts.

Rationale for government intervention

The rationale for intervention reflects the need to overcome the challenges that firms face in conducting the R&D needed to make the transition to high volume LEO satcom manufacturing. With investors perceiving the space sector as volatile and high risk (despite recent market growth), there is insufficient risk appetite in UK financial markets to support the level of investment required.

Knowledge barriers and coordination issues also hinder firms in attracting and sustaining early investment. The C-LEO programme will act as a signal to private investors that these innovative projects are credible.

If UK suppliers cannot complete the R&D required for commercialisation, then the UK is at high risk of being locked out of the highest value share of the global satcom market. UK high-value Intellectual Property would also be less likely to be translated into scaled up saleable products and more likely to be attracted overseas by other countries' support offers.

Programme Scope

C-LEO is an R&D grant-funding programme to support rapid commercialisation and industrialisation of the UK's small satellite capability and attract significant global constellation operators to the UK market for medium to long term. It is being delivered through three complementary elements:

- ESA ARTES programme funding (already approved for use as part of this programme and not considered within the C-LEO business case – but will require effective monitoring and evaluation as part of this project).
- National funding dispensed through UK Space Agency competitive frameworks. This will supplement baseline investment through ARTES, sufficient to enable R&D for commercialisation of key IP in target technologies and capabilities (outline below).

Funding will be allocated through a competitive entry framework, determined via funding competitions.

Objectives of the C-LEO programme

At its heart, the C-LEO programme aims to ensure that the UK retains a competitive edge in the satellite communications sector – historically an area of strategic and competitive advantage – by supporting UK firms to produce the key emerging technologies necessary for future LEO communication constellations. As summarised below by the programme's SMART objectives, the success of the programme will be determined by (i) the technological progress made by supported projects; (ii) share of global high-value contracts won by UK firms; (iii) the growth in on-shore industrial capabilities; and (iv) value of catalysed private sector investment.

Overarching objective of this programme:

To future-proof the UK's competitive edge in the high-value SatComs sector by enabling its diversification into the high-growth and strategically important high-volume constellation market.

	Sub-objectives	SMART measures
1	To accelerate the commercialisation and rapid industrialisation of key technologies and industry capabilities necessary for UK firms to meet demand for high-volume constellation production	>75% of projects to achieve TRL7+ by 2028
2	To enable UK firms to secure a significant and sustained share of the high-value contracts due in the next 4-5 years that will drive the future sector supply chain	UK firms to win £2bn+ of high-value contracts by 2028
3	To develop the UK's on-shore industrial capabilities in R&D-intensive activities of the constellation value chain	2,000 additional jobs created/supported over the lifetime of the programme (i.e., from 2024 to 2028).
4	To catalyse private sector investment in UK high-volume constellation sector by signalling the UK's commitment to the long-term growth of the SatComs sector	At least £1bn in private sector funding leveraged by 2033

C-LEO Theory of Change

An initial programme Theory of Change has been developed internally, during work on the full business case for C-LEO. This will need to be refined during the initial strand of work (see Requirement section). In particular, further work is needed to ensure the relative contributions the ESA ARTES and national funding are reflected, and determine the outputs, outcomes and impacts that will be realised within the timeframe of the programme (and the evaluation contract), with reference to the SMART measures above. This will facilitate the development of indicators that will be used to measure progress towards meeting the expected benefits of C-LEO.

Aims

Overarching aims of Monitoring and Evaluation (M&E) exercise

UKSA is accountable to both the taxpayers and to the Department for Science, Innovation and Technology (DSIT), to demonstrate the appropriate use of funds and using robust evidence to support the development, implementation, and improvement of UKSA policies. Frequent provision of monitoring outputs informs benefits management, which itself allows for an assessment of progress towards realising the intended effects of the spending. Evaluation will facilitate the transparent provision of information on the overall impacts and value of the UK's investments in the space sector, providing evidence of effectiveness for, e.g., Spending Reviews and parliamentary committees. To this end, demonstrating the extent to which C-LEO has, or is expected to, meet the SMART objectives outlined above is key.

It should also provide learning opportunities for key stakeholders, including (i) C-LEO programme grant managers within UKSA, (ii) UKSA and DSIT Appraisal analysts; and (iii) programme beneficiaries and potential investors. To this end, the M&E project should aim to ensure that robust evidence is captured to understand the relative contributions of different elements of the programme towards achieving the programme's objectives. It should identify risks and highlight areas for improvement, allowing changes to the design of C-LEO to be made in advance of future funding calls during the lifetime of the programme (see C-LEO milestones below). In addition, it should help to provide feedback to UKSA, helping to improve confidence in delivery and outcomes in support of any decision to extend the programme beyond 2028.

Key opportunities for learning include those around:

- Programme scope: (i) Understanding whether the starting Technology Readiness Level (TRL) and/or Manufacturing Readiness Level (MRL) of projects are optimal; and (ii) understanding whether the amount of funding allocated to funded projects is at the right amount
- Service solution: (i) Understanding the relative advantages of disadvantages of working with delivery partners via contracts (i.e. via ESA ARTES) as opposed to through provision of grant funding (i.e. via national C-LEO element of the programme); and (ii) providing feedback on whether a flexible approach (involving both sole grant recipients and direct awards with consortia) worked well
- Programme delivery: Disseminating feedback on the relative advantages and disadvantages of programme management being undertaken by UKSA (for the national elements of C-LEO) and ESA (for the ARTES element of C-LEO).
- Programme implementation: Understanding whether the length of the programme was optimal to facilitate delivery of SMART objectives, and what worked best with respect to the length of individual grant funding agreements or contracts
- Funding amount: (i) Whether the total funding amount allocated to the programme as a whole correctly reflects the engineering requirements and the limits of what can be achieved by the satcom sector in the timeframe of the programme to meet the SMART objectives and (ii) whether the flexible design of the programme, allowing for small numbers of large funding agreements to be put in place, is optimal with respect to meeting the objectives.

Objectives

Monitoring and evaluation will be carried out at two levels:

1. Programme level: This will aim to understand how the overall design of the C-LEO programme contributes to meeting objectives and delivering benefits. This will include, for example, examining how the mix of different types of supported project affects outputs, outcomes and intended impacts. An explicit distinction will need to be made between those elements of the programme funded and administered via the ESA ARTES programme and those elements funded and administered by the UKSA-led national programme (including the in-kind contribution set out above).
2. Project level: To understand what specific approaches (including, for example, level of funding provided, project duration, TRL of supported project) work best in achieving objectives for specific projects. This M&E activity will compare how realised impacts compare to estimated impacts provided in funding bids to understanding the extent of any optimism in funding bids and appraisal assumptions. An initial proportionality assessment should be undertaken as part of the scoping phase to determine the optimal amount of M&E data collection activity and reporting to be conducted at the project level.

The objectives of this M&E exercise

1. Examine the extent to which C-LEO has met, or is expected to meet, the SMART objectives outlined above.
2. Examine the extent to which C-LEO aligns with and contributes to UKSA's Value Proposition<sup>4</sup>, NSS goals, and wider government priorities.
3. Track progress towards meeting C-LEO's anticipated benefits stated in the business case (to be provided to any successful bidder), through regular reporting against the benefits realisation plan.
4. Provide continuous evidence and recommendations for improvement, to understand the barriers and opportunities experienced during delivery - informing future funding calls and potential programme extension decisions, with reference to the opportunities for learning outlined above.
5. Support an assessment of the overall impacts and value for money of C-LEO and its programme elements.
6. Provide evidence to inform any future investment related to connectivity in lower earth orbit.

Evaluation questions

An initial set of evaluation questions is provided below. This list was developed through interrogation of the ToC and underlying change mechanisms to identify where uncertainties and weaknesses in the logical chain exist to be explored further. The initial set of proposed impact and VfM evaluation questions are provided in Appendix 1; answering these questions are not a requirement of this contract, but should help inform the approach to the Evaluation Framework and Baseline reporting that is required as part of this contract (see Requirement Section below for more detail).

Process evaluation questions:

1. Is C-LEO designed in a way to address the SMART programme objectives?
  - a) Was the length of the programme and individual grant funding agreements or contracts optimal?
  - b) Was the total funding amount allocated to the programme appropriate? Could the objectives be achieved with a lower amount of funding, or would more have been necessary?
  - c) To what extent has the flexible design of the programme, allowing for small numbers of large funding agreements to be put in place, contributed?
  - d) Are there differences between consortia and sole grant recipients towards the contributing to the objectives?
  - e) What has been the experience of the administration of the scheme (including the application process, support provided by UKSA, etc.) by applicants?
2. Have applicants experienced problems securing private funding?
  - a) Specifically match funding?
  - b) Specifically follow-on private funding?

3. What are the advantages and disadvantages of programme management being undertaken by UKSA as opposed to ESA through the ARTES programme?
4. What lessons can be learnt from the scheme design and implementation to support future policy design?
  - a) To what extent were the starting TRL/MRLs of projects optimal?
  - b) Was an appropriate amount of funding allocated to individual projects?

Background to the Requirement

Recent development

The funding for this requirement has been approved as part of the approval of the C-LEO Full Business Case (FBC) in November 2023 and assessed by the CMA in January 2024.

The programme has been designed to deliver funding across four funding calls, and the current indicative high-level milestones are provided below:

High-level C-LEO programme milestones

Milestones for Calls 1, 2 &amp; 3	Estimated Dates
Call launch	Mar 2024
M&E Delivery Partner appointed	May 2024
M&E Framework delivered	Jul 2024
Call 1 projects commence	Aug 2024
M&E Baseline Report delivered	Oct 2024
Delivery of interim process evaluation ahead of Call 2 launch	Oct 2024
Delivery of final Process, Impact and VfM evaluations	Feb 2028
C-LEO call projects close	Mar 2028
End of last FY of BC period	Mar 2028

The first call is assuming 3 agreements to be delivered between 2024 and March 2028, ranging between £10m-£25m. The programme design was makes provision for annual calls with agreements reducing in size and duration with all projects ceasing by March 2028. Agreements made in later years are subject to future affordability assessments for the programme.

Team structure

Contract is to be co-managed by the C-LEO delivery team and UKSA Evidence team.

Reporting arrangements

It is expected that project leads for UKSA and the Supplier, plus additional team members as required, will hold regular teleconferences (e.g., MS Teams) at key points (to be agreed between UKSA and the Supplier). As part of the management of the contract the Supplier will be required to produce and submit the following management information to UKSA:

Brief monthly progress updates – to update on progress towards milestones and management of risks arising. Additional meetings may be required where closer supervision of deliverables is needed, and at the inception stage of the project. These are to be agreed between UKSA and the supplier. The format of these reports should be agreed with UKSA.

It is anticipated that Project Board meetings will be held every three months to discuss progress and next steps.

Monitoring data will be reported to the C-LEO delivery team and UKSA LEO Programme Board and will be used to influence amendments to the intervention over its lifetime. Upper and lower bounds will be defined for key metrics which will act as trigger points for discussions around amendments.

Findings will be used to iteratively amend the design of the intervention during its lifetime (e.g. to amend C-LEO funding calls within the life of the programme), to support the design of other interventions (including within and outside UKSA and including any future extension of C-LEO) and to support future CSR bids. The C-LEO delivery team will share and disseminate findings widely including within UKSA and DSIT. This will involve sharing outputs, including but not limited to providing briefing to a weekly UKSA Huddle and targeted briefing to those delivery teams which could most benefit from the findings. Furthermore, the evaluation will seek to explore, and will be instrumental in uncovering, the existence of any unforeseen impacts which emerge because of the intervention.

Risk management

The Supplier will be required to implement a structured approach to risk management, outlining the key risks identified and how these will be managed. This is to include risks relating to project delivery, in addition to presentational risks due to the high-profile nature of this programme.

Bids should outline full details of this plan as part of their response, including the course of action to be followed should risks projecting delivery arise, e.g., in the case of low response rates and/or slippage.

As part of the progress reports outlined above, the Supplier should report on performance against relevant milestones and include an update on risks identified and how these will be managed.

UKSA will assess performance based on these reports and will require additional meetings with the supplier if milestones are not met, either in terms of timings or quality.

The UKSA C-LEO programme teams and UKSA Evidence Team will review and sign off on deliverables in scope of the contract.

Roles and responsibilities

The successful candidate will be expected to work effectively alongside the following project partners and stakeholders, including:

Senior Responsible Officer (SRO) – UKSA Missions and Capabilities Director - holds overall accountability for the success of the project.

Evaluation Managers – UKSA C-LEO Delivery Managers - responsible for day-to-day project management of the contracted activities, and responsible for ensuring the required project QA takes place.

Assurer – UKSA Evidence Team analysts - responsibility for sign-off of analysis plans and clearing the analysis outputs prior to submission to the SRO.

Delivery bodies – The funded academic and industrial organisations delivering the projects. It will be important for the successful tender candidate to work with these stakeholders to understand what input will be required from them.

Steering groups – UKSA may also seek to establish a steering group for the evaluation, comprised of members of the above, to help ensure it is designed and managed to meet the requirements of relevant stakeholders and remains on track. This function may be incorporated within existing UKSA governance arrangements for C-LEO.

Approval process/timing for deliverables

This activity would be classified as Official- Sensitive – Commercial

Prior to publication, reports/documents will need to be reviewed and approved by the Head of Low Earth Orbit and UKSA Communications team.

Publication:

Any formal evaluation reports for this research / evaluation project must be formatted according to DSIT publication guidelines, therefore, within the Research paper series template and adhering to DSIT accessibility requirements for all publications on GOV.UK. The publication template will be provided by the project manager. Please ensure you note the following in terms of accessibility:

Word documents supplied to UKSA will be assessed for accessibility upon receipt.

Documents which do not meet one or more of the following checkpoints will be returned to you for re-working at your own cost.

Checklist for Word accessibility:

- Document reads logically when reflowed or rendered by text-to-speech software
- Language is set to English (in File > Properties > Advanced)
- Structural elements of document are properly tagged (headings, titles, lists etc)
- All images/figures have either alternative text or an appropriate caption
- Tables are correctly tagged to represent the table structure
- Text is left aligned, not justified
- Document avoids excessive use of capitalised, underlined or italicised text
- Hyperlinks are spelt out (e.g. in a footnote or endnote)
- Datasets to support those to be published in the final report must be provided in an accessible format (CVS, Excel) on submission of the report.

Requirement

Bidders are invited to set out a proposed methodology to deliver on the aims and objectives of this evaluation. Bidders are encouraged to think creatively and innovatively about how to meet the objectives and evaluation questions, and to challenge our suggested methodology where beneficial in meeting the objectives of the evaluation.

For all strands, in line with data sharing agreements, UKSA will provide details to facilitate access to participants/ stakeholders.

Monitoring and evaluation will be organised via the following strands of work, throughout the delivery of the C-LEO programme until 2028, and is expected to be organised via the strands outlined below. For this contract, only Strand 1, and the initial deliverables for Strands 2 and 3, are in scope. Subsequent anticipated deliverables related to Strands 2 and 3 and 4 are provided for information only in Appendix 1, to help prospective bidders inform their proposed approach for Strand 1 and the initial Strand 2 and 3 deliverables.

Strand 1: Development of evaluation framework and protocol – This desk-based research will involve a review of documents related to the C-LEO programme, Full Business Case (FBC) and other documents made available by the C-LEO delivery team. If required, it may also involve wider stakeholder engagement in the form of interviews and/or workshops.

Theory of Change – review and reflection on the Theory of Change developed along with the Full Business Case should be at the heart of this strand of work. Selected supplier should consider the viability of using multiple ToCs (overarching C-LEO ToC, as well as one for each of the major agreements) to ensure that all the elements of the programme are captured accurately.

The protocol should include a detailed plan, methods and development of research instruments for use further stages of evaluation:

- Assessment of feasibility of impact and value for money evaluations of pilot programmes at a project level, and plan for delivery.
  - Output to include a framework for conducting a future proportionality assessment (with the overall aim of assigning projects different levels of M&E activity in a proportionate manner). Winning projects for the national programme should become apparent in Summer 2024; before that point, a framework for assigning projects to different levels of M&E intensity should be established.
- Beneficiary engagement strategy (particularly prudent for any beneficiaries or key stakeholders not in direct receipt of funding), and initial design of any primary research instruments
- Refinement of programme and project level evaluation questions, and establishment of appropriate quantitative and qualitative indicators against these.
- Collection of baseline data and establishment of Common Minimum Dataset (CMD) across all projects and datasets
- Data collection by the supplier for project monitoring for the project-level evaluations
  - Selected supplier will be expected to consult extensively with the programme team to understand the extent of the programme and project monitoring conducted to date, and team's priorities in relation to monitoring to ensure it satisfies both the need for robust evidence supporting the evaluation effort, and effective benefits management.

- Programme level process evaluation - plan and methods related to the initial process evaluation to be delivered as part of this contract (see below), and subsequent and final process evaluations (see Strand 4 below)
- Programme level impact and economic (VfM) evaluation
  - It is expected that the supplier will provide a thorough assessment of the programme structure and datasets available, and will accompany the evaluation framework with a detailed methodological section presenting rationale for the method selected. The evaluation team would consider a range of quasi-experimental and theory-based methods of impact evaluation (or a mixed-methods design – see Strand 4 below), as long as the supplier's approach is well considered and communicated. We anticipate that the method may differ between the evaluation of different projects funded under C-LEO.
  - As part of this, an assessment of the feasibility of different mixes of potential evaluation designs should be considered, along with an early proposal for presenting final outputs for the impact and VfM evaluations, which will feed back to help inform relevant data collection and reporting activities for the project monitoring and impact evaluation activities.
- Assessment of the feasibility of capturing benefits of the programme within the timeline of the programme and proposal of how to address any challenges related to this.
- Assessment on availability and proposal for use of secondary data in evaluation
- Implementation Plan for all future Strand 2, 3 and 4 and deliverables (including those expected beyond the end of this contract)

The protocol will need to include sufficient detail to convince UKSA of the merits of the approach. It must reflect any changes to the initial proposal following the inception meeting and initial review of the material available.

This may include response rates for surveys or sample size/ power calculations if creating counterfactuals. If the protocol outlines a series of options these will need to be assessed against agreed criteria to assess viability.

The main deliverable from this strand will be an Evaluation Framework and Protocol report which outlines a clear plan for all further strands of the evaluation including the methodological approach, deliverables and timelines.

Strand 2: Project Monitoring

The initial deliverable for this strand of work, to be provided as part of this contract includes:

- Initial Monitoring activities on all the individual projects funded via C-LEO programme during its first funding call
- Baseline data collection from the applicants for the first funding call
- If feasible, light-touch monitoring of the projects that didn't receive funding, which would be helpful in impact evaluation.
- Contribution to benefits realisation reporting

Deliverables will include:

- Proposed fieldwork materials, including participant information notices, consent forms, surveys, interview topic guides etc. All fieldwork is required to be signed off by UKSA ahead of fieldwork commencing.
- Baseline reports at a Fund and Project level for the initial funding call
- Reports from individual rounds of monitoring which may be separate or delivered as part of interim update. Format to be agreed between supplier and the team.
- All the monitoring datasets are expected to be provided in the format to be agreed, appropriately labelled for future use.

Strand 3: Process evaluation

The initial deliverable for this strand of work, to be provided as part of this contract includes:

- Primary data collection from stakeholders involved in the design and delivery of the first C-LEO funding call, including a wide-ranging pool of subject matter experts from industry, academia and research organisations participating in the selection of projects.
- Primary data collection from successful and unsuccessful applicants for the first funding call
- Analysis of the data collected, and preparation of recommendation based on the insights from the evaluation.

Deliverables will include:

- Process evaluation report of the first round of delivery (2024), with lessons learned and recommendations for the future rounds.

The learning aims and process evaluation questions identified in Section 2 and 3 respectively should be referred to as a starting point for the initial process evaluation required as part of this contract.

Ethics

We expect that the Supplier will follow the Government Social Research (GSR) ethical principles as laid out in the professional guidance. These are that:

- Research should meet a clear user need and public benefit.
- Research should be based on sound research methods and protect against bias in the interpretation of findings.
- Research should adhere to data protection regulations and the secure handling of personal data.
- Participation in research should be based on specific and informed consent.
- Research should enable participation of the groups it seeks to represent.
- Participation in research should be conducted in a manner that minimises personal and social harm.

Key Challenges to Consider

This evaluation will face several challenges which the evaluator will need to address in the evaluation framework and plan.

- Imperfect evidence base: While management information, applications, and previous evaluation reports will be provided by UKSA, further evidence and primary data collection will be required to answer the evaluation questions.
- Data sharing: All the application and programme data is held within UKSA, and will be shared with the supplier at inception, subject to data sharing agreement with lead supplier and subcontractors, signed as part of the contract.
- Participant fatigue: Given the relatively small sample size of business receiving C-LEO funding, there is a risk of overburdening respondents. It should also be noted that some potential respondents may also be receiving support from other Government funds. This will require the chosen supplier to carefully plan the timing of fieldwork with the aim to maximise the collection of useful data while minimising burden on the participants.
- Counterfactual: Establishment of counterfactual may be challenging due to low response rate among unsuccessful applicants and potential systematic differences between businesses awarded funding and those unsuccessful at the application stage. Multiple methods (as outlined above) should be considered, and their relative feasibility explored.

Use of secondary data

UKSA will make all the relevant available programme-specific documentation and data available to the supplier. We also encourage suppliers to consider in their proposal a range of secondary data sources that can be used to support this evaluation, such as datasets available on application to the UK Data Service, investment databases available on subscription, or data obtained using real-time industrial classifications, over and above those suggested by UKSA in the table below as useful for this monitoring and evaluation exercise, along with potential use cases.

Considerations for Primary data collection

Results of interview and survey-based approaches can be subject to selection and response bias. Prospective delivery partners will be expected to show that they have considered and tested these potential issues, consider solutions and alternatives, and provide a discussion of the limitations and ranges of uncertainty surrounding any quantified results that have utilised these methods.

Previous surveys of the UK space sector have often resulted in low response rates and limited the ability to use collected data to provide a usefully disaggregated set of final results. To maximise the utility of any future surveys, their design will need to be carefully considered with the target survey recipients in mind. The approach to survey design (if utilised) should be included in the Strand 1 deliverables.

Given that a relatively limited small of primary beneficiaries are expected, a fruitful supplementary approach would be to conduct targeted (but, as far as feasible, nationally representative) interviews, workshops and/or focus groups to help to capture a broader range of benefits and impacts.

It is also likely that additional interviews and/or surveys of (potential or past) private sector investors will be useful, as the amount of catalysed investment is currently a key evidence gap that needs to be filled to facilitate appraisal of future investments. Bidders could also demonstrate that they have considered the value of primary research focussing on gathering the views of investors in contracted companies.

Evaluation skills

The Supplier must have a strong track record in evaluation and knowledge and expertise of working to the principles set out in the Green Book, and the Magenta Book.

Specifically, UKSA requires the Supplier to have expertise in:

- Quasi experimental and theory-based impact evaluations

The Supplier should be skilled at evaluating large scale programmes, and have expertise of conducting evaluations that have necessarily been designed post hoc (i.e. subsequent to the inception of the programme). UKSA also expects the Supplier to have knowledge of quantitative and qualitative research necessary for mixed method evaluations, specifically:

- Quantitative - The supplier must have expertise in conducting quantitative data collection (i.e., surveys) and analysis, including in basic descriptive statistics, propensity score matching, difference-in-difference analysis, synthetic control methods and wait list designs. The Supplier must also have access to and be proficient in using specialised statistical software such as R, python or SPSS.
- Qualitative - The Supplier must have expertise in conducting qualitative research with diverse participants and business sectors. The Supplier must empower participation of all groups and do so in a way that is ethical and underpinned by informed consent. The Supplier must also demonstrate experience in analysing qualitative data and presenting rich insights from this analysis.

Quality Assurance

All research and outputs are required to meet standards set out in the Magenta Book<sup>5</sup>, the

All bids should state the quality assurance (QA) processes that will be applied to different activities and outputs. In assessing the Approach (Methodology) question, UKSA will look favourably on bids providing evidence of high QA standards. Where necessary, deliverables that provide evidence of QA should be specified. Sign-off for quality assurance must be done by someone of sufficient seniority within the lead supplier organisation to be able to take responsibility for the work done. This extends to work produced by sub-contractors. Acceptance of the work by UKSA will take this into consideration. UKSA will ultimately hold the lead supplier accountable for all work produced, including that of sub-contractors. The lead supplier should ensure they have the resources available to assure the quality of work produced by sub-contractors. UKSA expects work will be submitted to us by the lead supplier in all instances and that they will receive feedback from us. UKSA reserves the right to refuse to sign off outputs which do not meet the required standard specified in this invitation to tender and/or the supplier's QA plan. QA should cover all aspects of the project undertaken by the supplier, including data collection, data analysis and reporting.

To demonstrate an effective process to produce high quality reporting, the supplier/s must ensure that QA is done by individuals who were not directly involved in that particular research or analysis.

Where complex or innovative methods are proposed, bidders should specify how additional quality assurance will be provided. Where necessary, this should include the use of external experts.

Outputs will be subject to UKSA internal approvals, the more substantive the output the longer the approval time required. All the reports should be of publishable quality and follow accessibility guidelines<sup>11</sup>.

Analytical outputs

Delivery of each of the reports will be preceded by the delivery of analytical outputs to allow for QA. It is expected that data will be delivered at least a week ahead of all the draft reports:

- Full set of tables, with cross breaks and derived variables agreed in advance. Cross breaks are likely to include the key variables used for sampling and stratification of the data, as well as by key demographics. Tables must be provided to UKSA in Excel format and follow Government Analysis Function guidance on accessibility<sup>12</sup>.

- Excel data file (in .xlsx format) cleaned and clearly labelled, including agreed derived variables, including a dataset suitable for possible publication in the UK data archive.
- Raw data and analysis code for any econometric models.
- For qualitative data, anonymised and coded outputs to be delivered in excel spreadsheets or other commonly used format agreed.

Appendix 1 – Impact and Value for Money questions

Impact evaluation questions:

Across all evaluation questions relating to impact a critical consideration will be additionality and attribution: specifically, how much of any observed impact can be said to be attributable to C-LEO and as such would not have been observed without the investment.

1. Has C-LEO achieved its objectives?

- a) Has funding accelerated the commercialisation and rapid industrialisation of key technologies and industry capabilities? Are 75% of C-LEO projects on track to reach TRL 7+ by 2028?

- b) Are UK firms funded through C-LEO on track to win £2bn+ of high-value contracts by 2028? Has investor confidence grown to help support this?
- c) Has C-LEO funding contributed to the creation/support of 2,000 additional jobs over the lifetime of the programme?
- d) To what extent has C-LEO catalysed investment in the UK space sector?
- 2. To what extent has the programme incentivised capacity for high volume manufacturing of technologies/products to facilitate improved connectivity?
- 3. What real-world societal impact is C-LEO expected to deliver? When are these impacts expected to arise? Is it on course to deliver such impacts? For example:
  - a) To what extent is C-LEO expected to contribute to improving connectivity for consumers?
  - b) To what extent is the programme expected to enhance and retain knowledge, skills and capabilities within the UK space sector, supply chains, and more widely?
  - c) To what extent is the programme expected to enable or facilitate improved innovative infrastructure in public and commercial services (e.g. ubiquitous connectivity supporting autonomous systems)?
  - d) To what extent (if at all) are wider environmental benefits expected to accrue?
- 4. To what extent have attributable impacts varied regionally within the UK?
- 5. To what extent has C-LEO led to generation of new IP/Patents? Is further IP/Patent generation expected to persist into the future?
- 6. To what extent has the C-LEO programme (re-)established the UK as a global centre of SatCom innovation? Has there been, or is there expected to be, an increased market share?
- 7. To what extent can technology/knowledge spillover benefits be expected to accrue to non-grant recipients?

Value for Money evaluation questions:

The value for money evaluation should draw upon evidence collected from the impact evaluation to answer the following questions:

- 1. What have been the overall monetisable social and economic costs and benefits attributable to C-LEO?
  - a) To what extent are monetisable costs and benefits expected to accrue beyond the end of the funding period?
  - b) What is the level of risk and uncertainty surrounding monetisable costs and benefits?
- 2. How important are non-monetisable benefits and costs in determining the Value for Money of C-LEO?
- 3. What is the overall estimate of the Net Present Value from the investment?
- 4. Could attributable impacts have been delivered at a lower cost?
- 5. What is the Value for Money that can be attributed to different elements of the programme?

Appendix 2 – Future Deliverables

The following outlines work for strands 2, 3 and 4 that are anticipated beyond the end of this contract, and are provided as information only to inform the approach to delivering Strand 1 and the initial work for Strands 2 and 3, which is the requirement for this contract.

Strand 2: Project Monitoring

This strand of work includes:

- Initial Monitoring activities on all the individual projects funded via C-LEO programme
- Baseline data collection from the applicants for funding
- If feasible, light-touch monitoring of the projects that didn't receive funding, which would be helpful in impact evaluation.
- Contribution to benefits realisation reporting

Deliverables will include:

- Proposed fieldwork materials, including participant information notices, consent forms, surveys, interview topic guides etc. All fieldwork is required to be signed off by UKSA ahead of fieldwork commencing.
- Baseline reports at a Fund and Project level
- Reports from individual rounds of monitoring which may be separate or delivered as part of interim update. Format to be agreed between supplier and the team.
- All the monitoring datasets are expected to be provided in the format to be agreed, appropriately labelled for future use.

The following requirements are expected for the deliverables, and are provided as information only to help potential bidders understand the anticipated requirements beyond the end of this contract, to inform the delivery of Strand 1, and the initial deliverables for Strands 2 and 3:

Strand 2: Project Monitoring

This strand of work is anticipated to include:

- Subsequent Monitoring activities on all the individual projects funded via C-LEO programme.
- Baseline data collection from the applicants for any future funding calls
- If feasible, light-touch monitoring of the projects that didn't receive funding, which would be helpful in impact evaluation.
- Contribution to future benefits realisation reporting

Deliverables will include:

- Proposed fieldwork materials, including participant information notices, consent forms, surveys, interview topic guides etc. All fieldwork is required to be signed off by UKSA ahead of fieldwork commencing.
- Baseline reports at a Fund and Project level related to any future funding calls
- Reports from individual rounds of monitoring which may be separate or delivered as part of interim update. Format to be agreed between supplier and the team.

- All the monitoring datasets are expected to be provided in the format to be agreed, appropriately labelled for future use.

Strand 3: Process evaluation

This strand of work will include:

- Primary data collection from stakeholders involved in the design and delivery of C-LEO, including a wide-ranging pool of subject matter experts from industry, academia and research organisations participating in the selection of projects.
- Primary data collection from successful and unsuccessful applicants
- Analysis of the data collected, and preparation of recommendation based on the insights from the evaluation.
- Process evaluation report on the later rounds of funding (2025 and 2026), assessing improvements made based on the recommendations from the previous report.

Strand 4: Impact and economic (VfM) evaluation

It is anticipated that a range of techniques will be used to provide evidence on the success, or otherwise, of the programme and individual projects. UKSA expects a robust quantification of the economic costs and benefits of the programme, compliant with HMT's Green Book. Suggested methods are:

- An evaluation using econometric techniques to establish impact against the counterfactual (e.g. firms applying for but not granted funding) to assess the impact of the scheme on R&D activity, employment, turnover, investment, output and productivity at both firm and worker level impacts. The feasibility of methods – all of which have their respective challenges and limitations (which should be laid out clearly) will need to be explored in depth during the first strand of the contract and beyond, and could include, for example:
  - Propensity Score Matching combined with difference in differences – possible if a suitable group of comparable untreated suppliers (e.g. unsuccessful grant recipients and/or comparable but untreated sub-contractors) can be established. Identifiers can be provided to winning delivery partners by UKSA, but firm-level secondary data sources will need to be obtained by the supplier in order to obtain sufficient outcome data for this approach to be feasible (some suggested sources are outlined below).
  - Pipeline design – the outcomes of firms treated in later years (during later calls) could be compared with those treated in earlier years (during earlier calls) under the assumption that any benefits (and costs) will be observed earlier among those receiving funding at an earlier stage than those receiving funding as a result of later calls (a potential challenge here will be whether the same firms receive subsequent funding during later funding calls).
  - Synthetic control – making use of historical data to construct a synthetic control group of beneficiaries receiving funding. An option could be to create this type of control group using outcome data for suppliers in comparable competitor countries (data access issues are likely to be the challenge in this instance).
- UKSA would also anticipate analysis to explore the spillover effects mediated by clustering of activity in proximity to those firms awarded grants. At the scoping stage, the explanatory variables which would need to be controlled for to be able to convincingly establish causality would need to be set out, to inform later data collection activity. Supply chains could be fully explored to help overcome challenges in relation to the expected small number of prime contractors / grant recipients; for the Value for Money element of the evaluation, these should be presented as part of a local rather than national analysis as per Green Book.

- For those outcomes for which a quasi-experimental design is shown to be unfeasible, a theory-based element to collect evidence to assess the programme's impact through the use of the Theory of Change and exploration of the mechanisms of change and causal links between intervention outputs and observed outcomes.

For the purposes of delivering an effective VfM evaluation, openness about the types of sizeable outcomes for which it is clear at an early stage that quantification and/or valuation is not possible should be outlined during the scoping phase. The framework should set out how these types of outcomes can be reported concisely and effectively alongside clearly summarised and robust quantified/monetised outcomes, an exercise which should directly inform the types of data collection activities to be pursued, and beneficiaries that need to be engaged. When presenting results, an approach which clearly demonstrates the uncertainty surrounding the quantification and valuation of costs and benefits, whilst providing high certainty where possible for a core group of monetisable costs and benefits (in line with HMT Green Book guidance) is preferred. Sensitivity analysis and presentation of switching values can also be a useful way to demonstrate whether or not the intervention represents good value for money, in the presence of uncertainty.

Deliverables are anticipated to include:

- Report outlining impacts of individual projects
- Interim impact reports on the C-LEO programme as a whole
- Final report at the end of the programme with the assessment of all the outcomes and impacts achieved to date, as well as the VfM assessment.
