8.12.22	My initial concern is the specific colour/finishes that are mentioned – are you looking for RAL matches to door furniture, or happy with the standard nickel silver, polished chrome, polished brass and antique brass/bronze finishes that we offer?	The finishes are mostly standard but do vary throughout. Matching the finishes is to be completed as part of the through site survey as part of the works.
9.12.22	Please confirm the quantities of barrels and padlocks as current lock information shows 295 cylinders and 25 padlocks. Why are you showing 385 cylinders and 85 padlocks, can you advise?	We have allowed for spare barrels of each type of lock, and there are more things we are padlocking up.
8.12.22	The existing lock information shows 295 cylinders and 25 padlocks, the tender says 385 cylinders and 85 padlocks is that correct? Also 17 doors are stated as needing either servicing, new lock cases installed, furniture replaced etc, is this to be included and 466 keys total?	See below:
8.12.22	Ok thanks, it will be hard to work out for the spares as there are 32 types including double cylinders, extended cylinders, different sizes and finishes, so these will have to be based on an average cost.	We have removed the spare barrels from the total quantity. Please see update below and ensure you request the updated document entitled '(Appendix B) Key Suite Overview - Rev_A' from us with the updated barrel and key quantities. Please also note that the tender suite design is subject to review by the appointed contractor.

15.12.22		TENDER QUANTITY UPDATE 15.12.22 Please refer to Appendix B - Key Suite Overview Rev_A where all spare barrels have been removed from the quantities.
15.12.22		Appendix D Superseded: Please note, due to the removal of the spare barrels from the tender quantities. Tendering contractors should note that a new cost sheet has been uploaded reflecting the change in quantities. This is entitled 'Appendix D - Cost Sheet Rev_A'. To be a compliant tender contractors must return cost sheet Revision A.
