Statement of Requirement

HOCS3b/00017

Background

The Ministry of Defence need to gain insight into the behaviour, needs and context of the varied audiences across the whole of UK Defence Personnel. At this stage we aim to get a baseline understanding that can be iteratively improved upon in the future.

The challenge

There are approximately 250,000 civilian and military personnel within Defence across geographically dispersed locations and multiple organisations as well as military personnel within Defence - regular and reserve (not just the single services and taking into consideration 2 year role rotation):

- HOCS (Head Office and Corporate Services)
- Royal Navy
- British Army
- Royal Air Force
- DE&S (Defence Equipment and Support)
- DIO (Defence Infrastructure Organisation)
- DSTL (Defence Science and Technology Laboratory)
- DBS (Defence Business Services)
- JFC (Joint Force Command)
- UKHO (UK Hydrographic Office)
- DSG (Defence Support Group)

Within and across each organisation there are a wide variety of people in terms of experience, working environments, access to technology, needs and knowledge, behaviours.

Insight will come from interrogating and analysing both the data MOD already has available and that gathered during this process. However, data is in different locations and will require mining from systems such as HRMS for civilians and JPA for military personnel. This suggests a very wide stakeholder community that needs to be engaged.

This project comes in the midst of a cultural shift in how technology is used, with a major overhaul and rolling out of Office 365 across Defence Personnel. Personas have been created for the New Style of IT programme which covers:

- Role activities and responsibilities
- Mobility of personnel
- Levels of collaboration required within roles
- Levels of use and type of information based activity
- Pain points
- Device needs

These elements are detailed for the following types of role that are representative within and across Defence:

- Senior Leaders
- Line Managers
- Information Workers
- Office Enablers
- Responders
- (Military) Trainees
- Reservists
- Field Workers
- (Technical) Specialists
- Contractors
- Industrial Partners
- MOD External

- Deployed Personnel
- Personnel in Barracks

Objectives

Gathering data from across UK Defence Personnel enhance the existing Personas covering:

- Vital statistics
- Who they are – life cycle and career cycle
- Experience and beliefs
- General attitudes to work and Defence
- Behaviour – what they do
- Needs (functional, informational and emotional)
- Passion points (both positive and negative)

This data will be used to:

Understanding the users:

- Information and functional needs:
- What types of information do people need?
- What tools do people need to use?
- What do users need and do on a regular basis / on an ad-hoc basis?
- What does MOD need people to know and do?
- What needs are currently being met?
- What needs are not being met with current content, functionality and processes?

Context and preferences:

- Working patterns
- Working environments
- What are the technological constraints?
- What are the policy requirements / constraints to consider?
- What channels and platforms are people using for content and tools?
- When, why and how are people using these channels and platforms?
- What are they doing currently? How do they want to do this in the future?

Motivations and attitudes:

- When and why do users access content/functions?
- How do they feel about the content/functions they are accessing?
- When do users want to engage?
- How do users want to engage?
- What does useful, intuitive, authoritative, informative and engaging content and functions look like to users?

Beyond demographics:

- Socio-economic backgrounds
- Career cycle (civil / military)
- Life cycle
- Language used (e.g. do different groups of people use different language to refer to the same things?)

Audit of the current landscape:

- Understanding of legacy interfaces and infrastructures
- Identifying existing processes in place that need replacing or decommissioning
- Identifying existing processes that are effective

Outputs:

- Personas an understanding of the Defence Personnel landscape grouped by behaviours / attitudes / demographics
- Prioritised list of user needs for each persona
- User stories and scenarios to contextualise how personas can:
- Engage internally in the future
- Be enabled to work in efficient and effective ways of working in terms of content and tools provided
- Where delivery should be digital or otherwise
- Access to data gathered in a format that allows future analysis and interrogation

The aim is for this work to build upon the existing Defence Personas that have been created to enable the New Style of IT programme. Ultimately these enhanced personas will be used across multiple strands of work; initially they will be used to inform two major projects:

- The alpha phase of the redevelopment of the Defence Intranet
- The Internal Communications strategy

Key stakeholders:

- DBS (Defence Business Services)
- HRMS (Human Resources Management Services)
- JPA (Joint Personnel Administration)
- MOD Internal Communications Teams

What is already available?

- Data on all personnel through HRMS & DBS
 - Grading
 - Demographics
 - Locations
- Access to Defence Statistics Team
- High Level Personas created for the New Style of IT programme

Methodologies and Budgets

Your proposal should detail the qualitative and quantitative methodologies that you tend to employ to meet the requirements of this brief, a timeline of activities and deliverables, and the number of people that will be required to take part in this research and a breakdown of costs.
