Call-Off Contract description	HMCTS have been developing a new Strategic Data Platform (SDP) using Microsoft Azure technology. The SDP is designed to provide enhanced functionality and integrate with several source systems. However, to ensure we leverage the full value of the new platform, we need to ensure that: • the new platform has all the tools and functionality we need to deliver an enhanced data and analysis function in HMCTS, • all the data that is required for us to deliver new reporting and analysis on both Reform and previously unexamined data systems is ingested, • the data is engineered in the SDP according to the transformed data patterns that we have designed, ready for visualisation as management information and other enhanced analytics, and • we have migrated our legacy pipelines to the SDP to ensure that the full history of our management information is preserved, and we can provide a continuous service to our reporting customers. To support this work, HMCTS have appointed Solirius to design and support our transformation approach. This includes designing the migration approach, a new target operating model for the HMCTS data team and supporting the training and transformation of the HMCTS team to make best use of the work included in this project.
