This co-operation shall include allowing full access to, and providing copies of, all documents, reports, summaries and any other information necessary in order to achieve an effective transition without disruption to routine operational requirements.
- H8.8 Within 10 Working Days of being requested by the Authority, the Contractor shall transfer to the Authority, or any person designated by the Authority, free of charge, all computerised filing, recording, documentation, planning and drawing held on software and utilised in the provision of the Services. The transfer shall be made in a fully indexed and catalogued disk format, to operate on a proprietary software package identical to that used by the Authority.

H9 Exit Management

- H9.1 The Contractor shall use all reasonable endeavours so as to facilitate the smooth transfer of the provision of the Services to a replacement contractor or to the Authority, as the case may be, and the Contractor shall take no action at any time which is calculated or intended, directly or indirectly, to prejudice or frustrate or make more difficult such transfer.
- H9.2 Within ninety (90) days of the Commencement Date, the Contractor shall provide a draft Exit Management Strategy to (to be appended to Schedule 10) and within ten (10) Business Days of provision of such Exit Management Strategy, the Parties shall meet and use all reasonable endeavours to agree the contents of the Exit Management Strategy, which must provide for the orderly transition of the provision of the Services from the Contractor to the Authority and/or any replacement contractor in the event of any termination (in whole or in part) or expiry of this Contract and allow for the Contractor to comply with its obligations under clause H6 and H7. If the Parties are unable to agree the contents of the Exit Management Strategy within a 20 Business Day period, either Party may refer the dispute for resolution in accordance with clause 12. The Exit Management Strategy as agreed or determined shall be the Exit Management Strategy.
- H9.3 The Contractor shall keep the Exit Management Strategy under continuous review and include any proposed updates to the Exit Management Strategy in each Monthly Contract Management Meeting.
- H9.4 In addition, within ten (10) days after service of a Termination Notice by either Party or six (6) months prior to the end of the expiry of the Contract, the Contractor shall update the Exit Management Strategy into a final form that could be implemented immediately and provides for a transition to and is compatible with any mobilisation plan of any replacement contractor or the Authority (as the case may be) and in doing so, provide as much detail as is appropriate given the nature of the termination or expiry and the timing of termination, so that such Exit Management Strategy can be submitted to the Authority for review and approval. The Parties shall meet and use their respective reasonable endeavours to agree the contents of such Exit Management Strategy.

H9.5 During the final six (6) months prior to the expiry of the Contract or following the service of a Termination Notice, and in either case for a reasonable period thereafter, the Contractor shall co-operate fully with the transfer of the provision of Services (or any part of the Services) to the Authority or any replacement contractor, and the Contractor shall:

- (a) assist and co-operate with the Authority to ensure an orderly transition of the provision of the Services to the replacement contractor and/or the completion of any work in progress;
- (b) implement the Exit Management Strategy;
- (c) liaise with the Authority and/or any replacement contractor, and provide reasonable assistance and advice concerning the provision of the Services and their transfer to the Authority or to such replacement contractor and in all instances, shall be in accordance with timescales reasonably stipulated by the Authority.

H10 Exit Procedures

H10.1 Where the Authority requires a continuation of all or any of the Services on expiry or termination of this Contract, either by performing them itself or by engaging a third party to perform them, the Contractor shall co-operate fully with the Authority and any such third party and shall take all reasonable steps to ensure the timely and effective transfer of the Services without disruption to routine operational requirements.

H10.2 The following commercial approach shall apply to the transfer of the Services if the Contractor:

- (a) does not have to use resources in addition to those normally used to deliver the Services prior to termination or expiry, there shall be no change to the Price; or
- (b) reasonably incurs additional costs, the Parties shall agree a Variation to the Price based on the Contractor's rates either set out in Schedule 3 or forming the basis for the Price.

H10.3 When requested to do so by the Authority, the Contractor shall deliver to the Authority details of all licences for software used in the provision of the Services including the software licence agreements.

H10.4 Within one Month of receiving the software licence information described above, the Authority shall notify the Contractor of the licences it wishes to be transferred, and the Contractor shall provide for the approval of the Authority a plan for licence transfer.

H11 Knowledge Retention

H11.1 The Contractor shall co-operate fully with the Authority in order to enable an efficient and detailed knowledge transfer from the Contractor to the Authority on the completion or earlier termination of the Contract and in addition, to minimise any disruption to routine operational requirements. To facilitate this transfer, the Contractor shall provide the Authority free of charge with full access to its Staff, and in addition, copies of all documents, reports, summaries and any other information requested by the Authority. The Contractor shall comply with the Authority's request for information no later than 15 Working Days from the date that that request was made.

I DISPUTES AND LAW

I1 Governing Law and Jurisdiction

- 11.1 Subject to the provisions of clause 12 the Contract, including any matters arising out of or in connection with it, shall be governed by and interpreted in accordance with English Law and shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the Courts of England and Wales. The submission to such jurisdiction shall not limit the right of the Authority to take proceedings against the Contractor in any other court of competent jurisdiction, and the taking of proceedings in any other court of competent jurisdiction shall not preclude the taking of proceedings in any other jurisdiction whether concurrently or not.

I2 Dispute Resolution

- 12.1 The Parties shall attempt in good faith to negotiate a settlement to any dispute between them arising out of or in connection with the Contract within 20 Working Days of either Party notifying the other of the dispute and such efforts shall involve the escalation of the dispute to the finance director of the Contractor and the commercial director of the Authority.
- 12.2 Nothing in this dispute resolution procedure shall prevent the Parties from seeking from any court of competent jurisdiction an interim order restraining the other Party from doing any act or compelling the other Party to do any act.
- 12.3 If the dispute cannot be resolved by the Parties pursuant to clause 12.1 the Parties shall refer it to mediation pursuant to the procedure set out in clause 12.5 unless: (a) the Authority considers that the dispute is not suitable for resolution by mediation; or (b) the Contractor does not agree to mediation.
- 12.4 The obligations of the Parties under the Contract shall not cease, or be suspended or delayed by the reference of a dispute to mediation (or arbitration) and the Contractor and the Staff shall comply fully with the requirements of the Contract at all times.
- 12.5 The procedure for mediation and consequential provisions relating to mediation are as follows:
- (a) a neutral adviser or mediator (the "Mediator") shall be chosen by agreement between the Parties or, if they are unable to agree upon a Mediator within 10 Working Days after a request by one Party to the other or if the Mediator agreed upon is unable or unwilling to act, either Party shall within 10 Working Days from the date of the proposal to appoint a Mediator or within 10 Working Days of notice to either Party that he is unable or unwilling to act, apply to the Centre for Effective Dispute Resolution to appoint a Mediator;
 - (b) the Parties shall within 10 Working Days of the appointment of the Mediator meet with him in order to agree a programme for the exchange of all relevant information and the structure to be adopted for negotiations. If appropriate, the Parties may at any stage seek assistance from the Centre for Effective Dispute Resolution to provide guidance on a suitable procedure;

- (c) unless otherwise agreed, all negotiations connected with the dispute and any settlement agreement relating to it shall be conducted in confidence and without prejudice to the rights of the Parties in any future proceedings;
- (d) if the Parties reach agreement on the resolution of the dispute, the agreement shall be recorded in writing and shall be binding on the Parties once it is signed by their duly authorised representatives;
- (e) failing agreement, either of the Parties may invite the Mediator to provide a non-binding but informative written opinion. Such an opinion shall be provided on a without prejudice basis and shall not be used in evidence in any proceedings relating to the Contract without the prior written consent of both Parties; and
- (f) if the Parties fail to reach agreement in the structured negotiations within 60 Working Days of the Mediator being appointed, or such longer period as may be agreed by the Parties, then any dispute or difference between them may be referred to the Courts unless the dispute is referred to arbitration pursuant to the procedures set out in clause 12.6.

12.6 Subject to clause 12.2, the Parties shall not institute court proceedings until the procedures set out in clauses 12.1 and 12.3 have been completed save that:

- (a) The Authority may at any time before court proceedings are commenced, serve a notice on the Contractor requiring the dispute to be referred to and resolved by arbitration in accordance with clause 12.7;
- (b) if the Contractor intends to commence court proceedings, it shall serve notice on the Authority of its intentions and the Authority shall have 21 days following receipt of such notice to serve a reply on the Contractor requiring the dispute to be referred to and resolved by arbitration in accordance with clause 12.7; and
- (c) the Contractor may request by notice to the Authority that any dispute be referred and resolved by arbitration in accordance with clause 12.7, to which the Authority may consent as it sees fit.

12.7 If any arbitration proceedings are commenced pursuant to clause 12.6,

- (a) the arbitration shall be governed by the provisions of the Arbitration Act 1996 and the Authority shall give a notice of arbitration to the Contractor (the "Arbitration Notice") stating:
 - (i) that the dispute is referred to arbitration; and
 - (ii) providing details of the issues to be resolved;
- (b) the London Court of International Arbitration ("LCIA") procedural rules in force at the date that the dispute was referred to arbitration in accordance with 12.7(b) shall be applied and are deemed to be incorporated by reference to the Contract and the decision of the arbitrator shall be binding on the Parties in the absence of any material failure to comply with such rules;
- (c) the tribunal shall consist of a sole arbitrator to be agreed by the Parties;
- (d) if the Parties fail to agree the appointment of the arbitrator within 10 days of the Arbitration Notice being issued by the Authority under clause 12.7(a) or if the person appointed is unable or unwilling to act, the arbitrator shall be appointed by the LCIA;

- (e) the arbitration proceedings shall take place in London and in the English language; and
- (f) the arbitration proceedings shall be governed by, and interpreted in accordance with, English Law.

IN WITNESS of which this Contract has been duly executed by the parties.

SCHEDULE 1 - SPECIFICATION

Briefing

CQC aspires to become a more intelligence driven organization, and target inspection resources more effectively. We regulate organizations of vastly different size, generating very different kinds of data (examples include community social care, care homes, primary care providers, NHS trusts as well as independent hospitals). Data may be quantitative or qualitative and is provided at many different frequencies and in different formats.

We regulate three sectors: primary medical services, hospitals (secondary care) and adult social care. Each sector is further subdivided by type of provider, e.g. acute hospitals, GPs, domiciliary care. Our regulatory model is based on five key questions (is the provider safe, effective, caring, responsive and well-led?) and those questions have a number of key lines of enquiry, supported by prompts for inspectors to investigate specific aspects of the quality of care which may vary by sector.

We are keen to explore the use of artificial intelligence to help us in targeting inspection resources. We want to develop tools that help inspectors come to decisions about whether a particular aspect of care is of sufficient concern to trigger an inspection.

We are particularly interested in an expert system approach, which would help our inspectors make an assessment of the existing data, then obtain and add data in proportion to any lack of certainty about quality or changes in quality. We need to develop exemplar systems, which give us the ability to work through the health and social care sectors.

We believe the most appropriate approach is to focus on specific aspects of the regulatory model to conduct a proof of concept and see if this is possible for CQC. This may be as narrow as a single prompt under a key question, or may be broader. The approach would involve interviewing our CQC experts (inspection managers, inspectors or analysts) and organizing the information into a collection of rules. The aim is that the expert system would draw deductions from the rules and may in turn query the user. An expert system could continue to 'learn' from the answers it is given.

An example of a prompt under our effective key question for residential care homes is "When people lack the mental capacity to make decisions, do staff make best interest decisions in line with legislation?"

We want to conduct an initial scoping study to see if it is feasible to construct such a system.

The output of this project will be a report addressing:

- An assessment of which parts of our regulatory model (sector/ would be amenable to such a tool, addressing issues such as the presence of pertinent timely and accurate data, and the ability of inspectors to provide additional information without an inspection.

- An assessment of viable methods (including but not limited to expert systems) and approaches and either a prototype, or with sufficient detail to allow us to progress to a prototype in one or more areas.
- Recommendations for a consistent framework for assessing potential changes in quality without inspection as our formal rating system does not have sufficient granularity to allow individual key lines of enquiry to be resolved.
- Estimates of the cost to develop such a system and the benefits of doing so as well as the likelihood of success.
- The output should also include comment on how the tool could be integrated into a defensible decision making process.

The output should include key dependencies for success and outline any preparatory work which might be necessary for CQC to undertake. You should also identify how you will ensure the work is robust. We expect you to work closely with CQC staff to facilitate knowledge transfer.

We are open to alternative approaches which involve demonstrating an exemplar expert system for a part of our regulatory model; however we would need to be convinced that such an alternative proposal was feasible and would need sufficient detail in the proposal to make this determination.

We will provide a complete summary of the data we use in our current insight models (the tools our operational colleagues use to help form a view on risk), although other data may be integrated into the process. If you think you will need to process CQC data (especially that including personal identifiable data) on your own systems you will need to be able to handle this data appropriately as identified in our contract. We will make inspectorate colleagues available for interview.

The work needs to be completed by 31 March 2018. Proposals should include assurances that you have the capacity to work on this timescale and we will rule out proposals where this is in doubt. Proposals should also include the CVs of all individuals working on the project, and a breakdown of the time commitment of each.

All costs should be identified (including VAT) along with a breakdown showing the day rates of the personnel working on the project and the number of days they will be employed.

We expect bids in the range £15,000 to £25,000 including VAT.

All proposals will be assessed using the following framework.

SCHEDULE 2 – TENDER RESPONSE

Our Understanding

Purpose

The context of this requirement is a highly challenging environment for the NHS and especially the CQC. Financial settlements across the NHS, including the CQC are tight; quality is perceived to be suffering and in the context of high requirements and expectations for public transparency more must be achieved with less.

The CQC has five key questions and key lines of enquiry – these are well established but are not a learning expert system and rely on the expertise and opinions of individual inspectors – a necessarily limited approach that does allow the systematisation of responses to new experiential learning and data.

The CQC has challenges in both deciding where to target its limited resources and once deployed to an organisation, how such resources should direct their attention to the key issues

We envisage a number of contributing drivers for CQC in moving toward an AI supported expert system model:

- There is insufficient capacity and budget to undertake reviews of every service and site in the NHS, so information must be leveraged to enable focussed effort, without introducing undue risk
- The need to identify the unknown (specifically, what is being missed). This is the perennial worry for any regulator: what is happening that we just do not know about, or potentially more worrying, what is out there that we do have data about but lack actionable intelligence, and therefore have not taken appropriate action.
- The need to ensure that the organisation is, and is seen to be, technologically astute and making best use of available technology

There is an additional opportunity which we believe is of very significant value, the opportunity to ensure that the existing process is explicit, well understood and documented (codified) so as to increase reliability and repeatability in the assessment system. This codification of 'rules' would thus enable the automation of processes and outputs from those processes where appropriate, releasing individuals to apply their experience using a much-enhanced knowledge base.

What is AI, what are expert systems?

Artificial Intelligence (AI), sometimes called Machine Intelligence, covers a broad range of approaches that are characterised by software that attempts to undertake "cognitive functions", i.e. can mimic human decision-making, knowledge discovery, autonomous actions, or learning. Within AI, expert systems specifically attempt to emulate the capabilities of expert human decision-makers. More broadly, Decision Support Systems are designed to help the human decision-making process using information and insights generated using a wide range of AI methods.

AI methodologies have evolved rapidly, helped extensively by increased computational power. Statistical approaches, conventional or Bayesian, can now range over very large datasets to generate insights and answers to specific problems (notably strategic games such as chess and Go, IBM Watson's document analysis and Google Deep Mind's data exploration.) Medicine has long been an area of particular research interest, as has language interpretation – indeed; this is a prerequisite for document analysis and much machine learning.

A wide range of techniques have been used for analysis, inference and learning in AI. Statistical tools such as regression analysis have been supplemented by advanced dimensionality reduction methods, and newer techniques, such as t-distributed stochastic neighbour embedding (t-SNE), are becoming more accessible and effective. Amongst successful approaches, artificial neural networks (ANNs) have proved highly effective, particularly as they are capable of unsupervised deep learning. In contrast, many expert systems require explicit, guided capture of human expertise, some in non-statistical form such as heuristic rules, and may make use of formal, categorical knowledge representation and semantic reasoning.

Statistical or mathematical techniques (sometime termed strong methods), though powerful are dependent on availability of large, comprehensive, and unbiased training data sets. Data limitations can lead to poor performance (e.g. true positive rates marginally better than random, numerous false positives). Distortions can easily emerge (e.g. attempts at facial recognition being accused of racial bias). The scope of a system is circumscribed by the range of the training data set – the problem of "brittleness" at the edges, with support breaking down unpredictably when limits are reached, is common. This has led to attempts to use very large and diverse data sources such as web documents. Combining data from highly organised or statutory sources with disparate locally designed less structured data sets, as often found in healthcare requires significant effort. However, this can provide very rich and valuable inputs if undertaken carefully and selectively. It should be recognised that many of the algorithms generated by unguided learning systems, particularly if these range over disparate data inputs, can be opaque and often not amenable to human inspection, particularly in deep learning systems. As such, they effectively act as "black box" tools which can cause issues both with governance, defensibility and user engagement and hence action.

Guided approaches can make use of human-derived weighting, for example, to modify and tune decision-making performance. This allows experience or subjective utilities to be used, and these can be updated over time. An unguided learning system requires additional data and retraining for updates. Some of the expert systems using categorical representations and semantic reasoning (sometimes referred to as weak methods) allow for direct capture and examination of human expertise and categories of knowledge and varying levels of detail. However, they may not be as rigorous as statistical approaches.

Design of decision support therefore depends strongly on the problems faced, the data and expertise available, and the requirements for transparency. Ethical and legal considerations will also affect design and implementation decisions, as will the nature of human interactions with the system. Performance evaluations need to consider safety, usability and explanation of decisions as well as accuracy (often measured as true and false positive rates).

Approach

Overview

Our approach aims to provide a clear overview of the scope, limitations, prerequisites and implications for the use of AI and Expert Systems tools and approaches in supporting decisions and activities undertaken by CQC regulatory staff, taking into account the need for accountability and evidence for any outputs provided. We consider the potential for appropriate automation of tasks and concomitant usability features. Alongside this, we will examine the infrastructure required to select the topics most amenable to decision support, the requirements for existing and additional data, implications for updating processes to make best use of new tools. Maintenance, both manual and using automated learning capabilities, will also be considered.

The aim is to provide a report that summarises the potential benefits, investments, implications, and modifications to data and processes that would be required to make best use of the full range of technologies and techniques available. The report will outline a high-level pathway for developing a successful implementation.

Methodology

The initial objectives of our approach are to systematically identify and characterise the key factors that govern the scope and success of a decision support system. At this stage, no assumptions are made as to the techniques that may be used in subsequent system development.

- Identify the range of decisions that would be amenable to support and/or automation. Decisions will be considered in the context of end-to-end processes related to regulatory identification, review and assessments.
- Systematically assess and rank decisions in terms of the value that support could provide, e.g. frequency, difficulty, error rates, cost of sub-optimal choices, etc.
- Identify and assess the data sources (datasets, reports, regulatory guidance, rules, etc.) that underpin the decisions identified above. High-level reviews of key data sources will be undertaken, looking at completeness with respect to decisions (missing data will be a key consideration), consistency, quality (e.g. error rates, timeliness, updates, etc.), and availability in machine-readable form, and interoperability.
- Assess how suitable existing documentation of regulatory rules and practices is for incorporating into a formal decision support system, and estimate the need for making rules explicit and consistently represented (codified) to support automation.
- Identify the most promising AI approaches to
 - Feature discovery and recognition, dimensionality reduction, clustering and learning (supervised, semi-supervised and unsupervised, etc.)
 - Data synthesis for decision-making (including human interactions that may be needed to tune decision support to particular cases and circumstances)
 - Presentation of outputs and evidence, including the needs for mobile and real-time processing

- Updating, and modification of data sources and systems in response to changes in regulatory requirements or organisational processes

We propose a five-workstream approach to the above.

1. Interviews with key personnel, including inspectors and operational and strategic managers. The purpose of these is to systematically elicit outline information about processes, decision-making tasks and responsibilities, and to identify where the greatest difficulties are currently being encountered. Key outputs will include process sketches (focussing on decision tasks), a list of key decisions (characterised by value), and an outline of the data sources used (with particular focus on operational availability and reliability). Usability considerations will form a significant theme to be examined here.
2. A high-level review of data sources identified in interviews. This will include technical assessment in terms of being amenable to use in potential AI tools as well as appraisals of quality, availability and governance aspects. Included in this will be a brief review of how well current information about the CQC key lines of enquiry would fit into any implementation and whether additional work would be needed to systematically codify this source.
3. A workshop that will validate the findings from the interviews and data assessments, and agree a prioritisation of selected topics for initial evaluation (Workstream 4, below). A discussion of data source availability and how availability, gaps, and quality issues might be addressed now and in the future. Example scenarios for illustrating the approach will be agreed.
4. This stage brings together the outputs of Workstreams 1-3 with appropriate AI tools, selected on their suitability to address selected topics within the constraints of data, inspection processes and technology. The scope and limitations of approaches and tools in providing practical, usable, timely, reliable and defensible decision support will be key factors. It is envisaged that a mixture of both "strong" (statistical and algorithmic, etc.) and "weak" (rule-based, decision-trees, heuristic) methods may be required to meet the full range of requirements. Both fully automated and interactive approaches will be considered. It is acknowledged that key factors in success of decision support include usability and comprehensive coverage, providing support for all cases even though in some of these the evidence will be noted as weak or patchy. Both "as-is" and potential "to-be" scenarios will be briefly considered.

It is our intention to consider both long-established instruments such as logistic regression, random forest, linear discriminant analysis, support vector machines, Bayesian techniques, and newer tools that may provide potential advantages in speed and usability, e.g. t-distributed stochastic neighbour embedding. The range of options for using neural networks, including those with deep hidden layers, will be looked at, along with implementation, cost and data governance aspects (particularly in the case of cloud-based systems).

5. A "story board" summarising the conclusions emerging will be used to illustrate exactly how the techniques identified in Workstream 4 will operate, using an example scenario. It is envisaged that the scenario illustration will comprise worked exemplars of the methods used but is unlikely to be in the form of a fully interactive system.

The final report will summarise the outputs of each Stage and will discuss the options for future selection and implementation of decision support tools. We will outline opportunities, benefits, risks, pre-requisite changes and likely cost ranges involved.

Overview

We have assembled a team of experts. These are all individuals who have worked in the NHS and with NHS data for many years. They have worked to create information systems and deliver actionable knowledge, focusing on improving safety, quality and efficiency. Our internal team is supported by Dr Max Jones and Sudin Gansakar from GE Healthcare Finnamore who bring additional knowledge in data science in healthcare and have offered to advise this effort. In addition we will be informally advised by an eminent Professor of Population health data science, unfortunately for contractual reasons we are unable to name them at this time.

Our Track Record

1 GALEN and Pen&Pad: large-scale knowledge-based decision support in medicine.

The GALEN and Pen&Pad projects explored the design, development implementation, evaluation and theoretical underpinnings of large-scale decision support systems in clinical medicine. A formal knowledge representation scheme was developed to enable very large categorical knowledge bases (an exemplar in respiratory medicine comprised well over 100,000 entities), and was integrated with advanced graphical tools for managing and interrogating clinical records and displaying outputs. A four-segment model (clinical knowledge, tasks, patient data and decision objectives) was used to generate advice to interactively guide the user in making decisions within tasks such as information gathering (patient data), investigation selection and interpreting results, treatment and outcomes. Decision-making support was achieved using multi-criteria methods based on extensions of description logics and semantic reasoning. The methods developed within GALEN and Pen&Pad became the foundations of the Web Ontology Language (OWL), now part of the World Wide Web Consortium RDF standards.

The approach made extensive use of user-centred design and evaluation methods in conjunction with clinicians, and was successfully evaluated in a live primary care environment. Tools to guide building and automatically support quality and consistency of large knowledge bases were also developed.

approached Methods Analytics in order to inform their programme of providing non-clinical support workers to NHS provider hospitals through the winter this year. The Red cross offer is very specific, proving individuals who can accompany patients home from ED or following an admission who otherwise could not be discharged for social or safety reasons. The Red Cross asked us to use data available to inform them as to the hospitals most likely to require, and be able to benefit from their offer.

Methods undertook this work pro-bono and utilised our Stethoscope™ NHS Benchmarking platform to output data across 14 relevant indicators, selected to be markers of activity, system pressure, outcome or resource that is relevant to the Red Cross offer. We output monthly metric values for every hospital in England for 3 years, which is what is available in the platform. These data were used to create a combined predictive model using a TBATS algorithm and to predict a surrogate marker – the NHS 4 hour wait target achievement that was available across the three year data set. The combined predictive model was then tested against the historic ED 4 hour target performance and the input factors waited to improve predictive power. The analysis was then re-run and outputs considered by our expert clinical and operational team, with a number organisations up and down rated based on contextual knowledge regarding those organisations. We then produced a short report for the Red Cross identifying those organisations most likely to benefit from their offer.

3 CQC Inspection Analysis Services and Insights

Methods Analytics provided CQC with inspection analysis services for the independent healthcare sector, including Mental Health services, Acute services (single specialty and multi-disciplinary), Substance Misuse services, and Community Services. In total Methods Analytics supported almost 1,000 inspections between August 2015 and October 2017. Key elements of the project included:

- Managing the distribution of Provider Information Returns (PIRs) for each provider
- Analysing PIR, CQC internal data, and publicly available data
- Providing a standardised, service-specific data pack within specific timeframes prior to inspection
- Ensuring that data packs are produced to quality, including three levels of quality assurance prior to Factual Accuracy checks by the provider organisation
- Fielding factual accuracy queries from the provider and taking corrective action where necessary
- Agreeing and undertaking bespoke analysis for inspection teams prior to on-site visits
- Communicating the key messages to the inspection team via remote presentations
- Providing analytical support during the on-site inspection period
- Providing responses to analytical queries during the post-inspection report writing phase
- Designing improvements to processes and the Provider Information Return through organised workshops with CQC

In addition to the core delivery of data packs to support inspections, Methods Analytics were also asked to investigate the use and availability of data to feed into a more data led approach to inspection analysis. Data sources investigated included Stethoscope, SWORD, SSQD, GIRFT, PHIN and other publicly available sources (for example NHS England, NHS Digital, Public Health England). Various aspects of the data were considered, including robustness, availability and coverage. A shortlist of data items were presented following a series of workshops. Using the shortlist a short investigation into the predictive power of the data items was undertaken. This involved using Principal Components Analysis to identify the key drivers of inspection outcome. Unfortunately, due to the sparsity of the data for the independent healthcare sector we were unable to draw any firm conclusions. A simple prototype monitoring tool structured to align with the CQC Key Lines of Enquiry (KLOEs) was developed to inform CQC's BI team as to how to display the shortlisted data items.

Knowledge Transfer

Methods Analytics has always focused on supporting and enabling in-house staff of all organisations to learn new skills and adopt new ways of working through effective knowledge transfer. We have a proven approach that has been developed with a wide variety of private and public sector customers.

We will ensure knowledge transfer takes place between all team members at all times so that knowledge is retained and an overall awareness of project status for all activities of work is maintained across the team. This will mitigate the risk of loss of knowledge in the event of substitution of resources. This process will be facilitated by the assignment manager through regular team management meetings.

Formal and informal mechanisms for optimising the skills and knowledge transfer process will vary from organisation to organisation, but the key components are the same, as are the success factors. We have a six component formal approach, although we always discuss and agree desired levels, methods and measurement of skills transfer with customers at the outset of any assignment to ensure that it is appropriate to each assignment and client environment. As such, we would wish to agree a tailored knowledge transfer plan for CQC.

Project Governance

All projects and programmes benefit from robust project governance to manage the process and audit the outcomes. This structured approach also offers high value for skills and knowledge transfer, particularly in the process of change: management arrangements, deliverables, scheduling, resource allocation, dependencies and benefits management, for example. Enabling client staff to participate in this process enables high levels of skills and knowledge transfer across the life of each assignment.

SCHEDULE 3 - PRICING

Methods Analytics proposes to undertake this requirement for a fixed fee of £22,600. This is based on the following day rates and estimated effort.

This represents a very significant discount on our normal rates, reflecting our interest in undertaking this work, including Simon Swift and Max Jones supporting this project pro bono as the senior staff from our respective organisations.

We accept the proposed CQC model contract.

Fees will be charged in full on completion and delivery of our final report, including VAT at the prevailing rate and incurred expenses.

1. INTRODUCTION

This Schedule 7 covers:

- 1.1 principles of security for the Contractor System, derived from the Security Policy Framework, including without limitation principles of physical and information security;
- 1.2 wider aspects of security relating to the Services;
- 1.3 the creation of the Security Plan;
- 1.4 audit and testing of the Security Plan; and
- 1.5 breaches of security.

2. PRINCIPLES OF SECURITY

- 2.1 The Contractor acknowledges that the Authority places great emphasis on confidentiality, integrity and availability of information and consequently on the security of the Premises and the security for the Contractor System. The Contractor also acknowledges the confidentiality of Authority Data.
- 2.2 The Contractor shall be responsible for the security of the Contractor System and shall at all times provide a level of security which:
 - 2.2.1 is in accordance with Good Industry Practice and Law;
 - 2.2.2 complies with Security Policy Framework; and
 - 2.2.3 meets any specific security threats to the Contractor System.
- 2.3 Without limiting paragraph 2.2, the Contractor shall at all times ensure that the level of security employed in the provision of the Services is appropriate to maintain the following at acceptable risk levels (to be defined by the Authority):
 - 2.3.1 loss of integrity of Authority Data;
 - 2.3.2 loss of confidentiality of Authority Data;
 - 2.3.3 unauthorised access to, use of, or interference with Authority Data by any person or organisation;
 - 2.3.4 unauthorised access to network elements, buildings, the Premises, and tools used by the Contractor in the provision of the Services;
 - 2.3.5 use of the Contractor System or Services by any third party in order to gain unauthorised access to any computer resource or Authority Data; and

 - 2.3.7 processing and storage of authority data within the UK or by exception within the EEA. Any processing outside of the UK must be subject to specific approval by the Authority.

3. SECURITY PLAN

- 3.1 The Contractor shall develop, implement and maintain a Security Plan to apply during the Contract Period (and after the end of the term as applicable) which will be approved by the Authority, tested, periodically updated and audited in accordance with this Schedule 7.
- 3.2 A draft Security Plan provided by the Contractor as part of its bid is set out herein.
- 3.3 Prior to the Commencement Date the Contractor will deliver to the Authority for approval the final Security Plan which will be based on the draft Security Plan set out herein.
- 3.4 If the Security Plan is approved by the Authority it will be adopted immediately. If the Security Plan is not approved by the Authority the Contractor shall amend it within 10 Working Days of a notice of non-approval from the Authority and re-submit to the Authority for approval. The Parties will use all reasonable endeavours to ensure that the approval process takes as little time as possible and in any event no longer than 15 Working Days (or such other period as the Parties may agree in writing) from the date of its first submission to the Authority. If the Authority does not approve the Security Plan following its resubmission, the matter will be resolved in accordance with clause 12 (Dispute Resolution). No approval to be given by the Authority pursuant to this paragraph 3.4 may be unreasonably withheld or delayed. However any failure to approve the Security Plan on the grounds that it does not comply with the requirements set out in paragraphs 3.1 to 3.4 shall be deemed to be reasonable.

3.5 The Security Plan will set out the security measures to be implemented and maintained by the Contractor in relation to all aspects of the Services and all processes associated with the delivery of the Services and shall at all times comply with and specify security measures and procedures which are sufficient to ensure that the Services comply with:

3.5.1 the provisions of this Schedule 7;

3.5.2 the provisions of Schedule 1 relating to security;

3.5.3 the Information Assurance Standards;

3.5.4 the data protection compliance guidance produced by the Authority;

3.5.5 the minimum set of security measures and standards required where the system will be handling Protectively Marked or sensitive information, as determined by the Security Policy Framework;

3.5.6 any other extant national information security requirements and guidance, as provided by the Authority's IT security officers; and

3.5.7 appropriate ICT standards for technical countermeasures which are included in the Contractor System.

3.6 The references to Quality Standards, guidance and policies set out in this Schedule shall be deemed to be references to such items as developed and updated and to any successor to or replacement for such Quality Standards, guidance and policies, from time to time.

3.7 If there is any inconsistency in the provisions of the above standards, guidance and policies, the Contractor should notify the Authorised Representative of such inconsistency immediately upon becoming aware of the same, and the Authorised Representative shall, as soon as practicable, advise the Contractor which provision the Contractor shall be required to comply with.

3.8 The Security Plan will be structured in accordance with ISO/IEC27002 and ISO/IEC27001 or other equivalent policy or procedure, cross-referencing if necessary to other schedules of the Contract which cover specific areas included within that standard.

3.9 The Security Plan shall not reference any other documents which are not either in the possession of the Authority or otherwise specified in this Schedule 7.

4. AMENDMENT AND REVISION

4.1 The Security Plan will be fully reviewed and updated by the Contractor annually or from time to time to reflect:

4.1.1 emerging changes in Good Industry Practice;

4.1.2 any change or proposed change to the Contractor System, the Services and/or associated processes;

- 4.1.3 any new perceived or changed threats to the Contractor System;
- 4.1.4 changes to security policies introduced Government-wide or by the Authority; and/or
- 4.1.5 a reasonable request by the Authority.

4.2 The Contractor will provide the Authority with the results of such reviews as soon as reasonably practicable after their completion and amend the Security Plan at no additional cost to the Authority.

4.3 Any change or amendment which the Contractor proposes to make to the Security Plan (as a result of an Authority request or change to Schedule 1 or otherwise) shall be subject to a CCN and shall not be implemented until Approved.

5. AUDIT AND TESTING

5.1 The Contractor shall conduct tests of the processes and countermeasures contained in the Security Plan ("Security Tests") on an annual basis or as otherwise agreed by the Parties. The date, timing, content and conduct of such Security Tests shall be agreed in advance with the Authority.

5.2 The Authority shall be entitled to send a representative to witness the conduct of the Security Tests. The Contractor shall provide the Authority with the results of such tests (in an Approved form) as soon as practicable after completion of each Security Test.

5.3 Without prejudice to any other right of audit or access granted to the Authority pursuant to the Contract, the Authority shall be entitled at any time and without giving notice to the Contractor to carry out such tests (including penetration tests) as it may deem necessary in relation to the Security Plan and the Contractor's compliance with and implementation of the Security Plan. The Authority may notify the Contractor of the results of such tests after completion of each such test. Security Tests shall be designed and implemented so as to minimise the impact on the delivery of the Services.

5.4 Where any Security Test carried out pursuant to paragraphs 5.2 or 5.3 reveals any actual or potential security failure or weaknesses, the Contractor shall promptly notify the Authority of any changes to the Security Plan (and the implementation thereof) which the Contractor proposes to make in order to correct such failure or weakness. Subject to Approval in accordance with paragraph 4.3, the Contractor shall implement such changes to the Security Plan in accordance with the timetable agreed with the Authority or, otherwise, as soon as reasonably possible. For the avoidance of doubt, where the change to the Security Plan to address a non-compliance with the Security Policy Framework or security requirements, the change to the Security Plan shall be at no additional cost to the Authority. For the purposes of this paragraph, a weakness means a vulnerability in security and a potential security failure means a possible breach of the Security Plan or security requirements.

6. BREACH OF SECURITY

6.1 Either Party shall notify the other immediately upon becoming aware of any Breach of Security including, but not limited to an actual, potential or attempted breach, or threat to, the Security Plan.

6.2 Upon becoming aware of any of the circumstances referred to in paragraph 6.1, the Contractor shall immediately take all reasonable steps necessary to:

- 6.2.1 remedy such breach or protect the Contractor System against any such potential or attempted breach or threat; and
 - 6.2.2 prevent an equivalent breach in the future;
 - 6.2.3 collect, preserve and protect all available audit data relating to the incident and make it available on request to the Authority;
 - 6.2.4 investigate the incident and produce a detailed report for the Authority within 5 working days of the discovery of the incident.
- 6.3 Such steps shall include any action or changes reasonably required by the Authority. If such action is taken in response to a breach that is determined by the Authority acting reasonably not to be covered by the obligations of the Contractor under the Contract, then the Contractor shall be entitled to refer the matter to the CCN procedure set out in Schedule 3.
- 6.4 The Contractor shall as soon as reasonably practicable provide to the Authority full details (using such reporting mechanism as may be specified by the Authority from time to time) of such actual, potential or attempted breach and of the steps taken in respect thereof.
7. CONTRACT EXIT – SECURITY REQUIREMENTS
- 7.1 In accordance with clause H7 of the Contract, on termination of the Contract, either via early termination or completion of the Contract then the Contractor will either return all data to the Authority or provide a certificate of secure destruction using an industry and Authority approved method. Destruction or return of the data will be specified by the Authority at the time of termination of the Contract.

APPENDIX 1- OUTLINE SECURITY PLAN

ANNEX 1: BASELINE SECURITY REQUIREMENTS

1. HIGHER CLASSIFICATIONS

- 1.1 The Supplier shall not handle Customer information classified SECRET or TOP SECRET except if there is a specific requirement and in this case prior to receipt of such information the Supplier shall seek additional specific guidance from the Customer.

2. END USER DEVICES

- 2.1 When Customer Data resides on a mobile, removable or physically uncontrolled device it must be stored encrypted using a product or system component which has been formally assured through a recognised certification process of the UK Government Communications Electronics Security Group ("CESG") to at least Foundation Grade, for example, under the CESG Commercial Product Assurance scheme ("CPA").
- 2.2 Devices used to access or manage Customer Data and services must be under the management authority of Customer or Supplier and have a minimum set of security policy configuration enforced. These devices must be placed into a 'known good' state prior to being provisioned into the management authority of the Customer. Unless otherwise agreed with the Customer in writing, all Supplier devices are expected to meet the set of security requirements set out in the CESG End User Devices Platform Security Guidance (<https://www.gov.uk/government/collections/end-user-devices-security-guidance-2>).

Where the guidance highlights shortcomings in a particular platform the Supplier may wish to use, then these should be discussed with the Customer and a joint decision shall be taken on whether the residual risks are acceptable. Where the Supplier wishes to deviate from the CESG guidance, then this should be agreed in writing on a case by case basis with the Customer.

3. DATA PROCESSING, STORAGE, MANAGEMENT AND DESTRUCTION

- 3.1 The Supplier and Customer recognise the need for the Customer's information to be safeguarded under the UK Data Protection regime or a similar regime. To that end, the Supplier must be able to state to the Customer the physical locations in which data may be stored, processed and managed from, and what legal and regulatory frameworks Customer Data will be subject to at all times.
- 3.2 The Supplier shall agree any change in location of data storage, processing and administration with the Customer in advance where the proposed location is outside the UK. Such approval shall not be unreasonably withheld or delayed unless specified otherwise in this Agreement and provided that storage, processing and management of any Customer Data is only carried out offshore within:
- 3.2.1 the European Economic Area (EEA);
 - 3.2.2 in the US if the Supplier and or any relevant Sub-Contractor have signed up to the US-EU Privacy Shield Register; or
 - 3.2.3 in another country or territory outside the EEA if that country or territory ensures an adequate level of protection by reason of its domestic law or of the international commitments it has entered into which have been defined as adequate by the EU Commission.
- 3.3 The Supplier shall:
- 3.3.1 provide the Customer with all Customer Data on demand in an agreed open format;
