- 14.2.1 the aggregate liability of the Contractor in respect of all defaults, claims, losses or damages howsoever caused, whether arising from breach of the Agreement, the supply or failure to supply of the Services, misrepresentation (whether tortious or statutory), tort (including negligence), breach of statutory duty or otherwise shall in no event exceed a sum equal to 125% of the Charges paid or payable to the Contractor; and
- 14.2.2 except in the case of claims arising under clauses 9.4 and 18.3, in no event shall the Contractor be liable to the Customer for any:

 - 14.3.3 any other matter which, by law, may not be excluded or limited.
- 14.4 The Contractor's liability under the indemnity in clause 9.4 and 18.3 shall be unlimited.

15. Force Majeure

- 15.1 Neither Party shall have any liability under or be deemed to be in breach of the Agreement for any delays or failures in performance of the Agreement which result from circumstances beyond the reasonable control of the Party affected. Each Party shall promptly notify the other Party in writing when such circumstances cause a delay or failure in performance and when they cease to do so. If such circumstances continue for a continuous period of more than two months, either Party may terminate the Agreement by written notice to the other Party.

16. Termination

- 16.1 The Customer may terminate the Agreement at any time by notice in writing to the Contractor to take effect on any date falling at least 1 month (or, if the Agreement is less than 3 months in duration, at least 10 Working Days) later than the date of service of the relevant notice.
- 16.2 Without prejudice to any other right or remedy it might have, the Customer may terminate the Agreement by written notice to the Contractor with immediate effect if the Contractor:

 - 17.2.2 notify the Customer immediately in the event of any incident occurring in the performance of its obligations under the Agreement on the Customer's premises where that incident causes any personal injury or damage to property which could give rise to personal injury.
- 17.3 The Contractor shall:
- 17.3.1 perform its obligations under the Agreement in accordance with all applicable equality Law and the Customer's equality and diversity policy as provided to the Contractor from time to time; and

18. Prevention of Fraud and Corruption

18.1 The Contractor shall not offer, give, or agree to give anything, to any person an inducement or reward for doing, refraining from doing, or for having done or refrained from doing, any act in relation to the obtaining or execution of the Agreement or for showing or refraining from showing favour or disfavour to any person in relation to the Agreement.

18.2 The Contractor shall take all reasonable steps, in accordance with good industry practice, to prevent fraud by the Staff and the Contractor (including its shareholders, members and directors) in connection with the Agreement and shall notify the Customer immediately if it has reason to suspect that any fraud has occurred or is occurring or is likely to occur.

18.3 If the Contractor or the Staff engages in conduct prohibited by clause 18.1 or commits fraud in relation to the Agreement or any other contract with the Crown (including the Customer) the Customer may:

18.3.1 terminate the Agreement and recover from the Contractor the amount of any loss suffered by the Customer resulting from the termination, including the cost reasonably incurred by the Customer of making other arrangements for the supply of the Services and any additional expenditure incurred by the Customer throughout the remainder of the Agreement; or 18.3.2 recover in full from the Contractor any other loss sustained by the Customer in consequence of any breach of this clause.

19. Dispute Resolution

19.1 The Parties shall attempt in good faith to negotiate a settlement to any dispute between them arising out of or in connection with the Agreement and such efforts shall involve the escalation of the dispute to an appropriately senior representative of each Party.

19.2 If the dispute cannot be resolved by the Parties within one month of being escalated as referred to in clause 19.1, the dispute may by agreement between the Parties be referred to a neutral adviser or mediator (the “Mediator”) chosen by agreement between the Parties. All negotiations connected with the dispute shall be conducted in confidence and without prejudice to the rights of the Parties in any further proceedings.

- 19.3 If the Parties fail to appoint a Mediator within one month, or fail to enter into a written agreement resolving the dispute within one month of the Mediator being appointed, either Party may exercise any remedy it has under applicable law.

20. General

- 20.1 Each of the Parties represents and warrants to the other that it has full capacity and authority, and all necessary consents, licences and permissions to enter into and perform its obligations under the Agreement, and that the Agreement is executed by its duly authorised representative.
- 20.2 A person who is not a party to the Agreement shall have no right to enforce any of its provisions which, expressly or by implication, confer a benefit on him, without the prior written agreement of the Parties.
- 20.3 The Agreement cannot be varied except in writing signed by a duly authorised representative of both the Parties.
- 20.4 The Agreement contains the whole agreement between the Parties and supersedes and replaces any prior written or oral agreements, representations or understandings between them. The Parties confirm that they have not entered into the Agreement on the basis of any representation that is not expressly incorporated into the Agreement. Nothing in this clause shall exclude liability for fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation.
- 20.5 Any waiver or relaxation either partly, or wholly of any of the terms and conditions of the Agreement shall be valid only if it is communicated to the other Party in writing and expressly stated to be a waiver. A waiver of any right or remedy arising from a breach of contract shall not constitute a waiver of any right or remedy arising from any other breach of the Agreement.
- 20.6 The Agreement shall not constitute or imply any partnership, joint venture, agency, fiduciary relationship or other relationship between the Parties other than the contractual relationship expressly provided for in the Agreement. Neither Party shall have, nor represent that it has, any authority to make any commitments on the other Party’s behalf.

- 20.7 Except as otherwise expressly provided by the Agreement, all remedies available to either Party for breach of the Agreement (whether under the Agreement, statute or common law) are cumulative and may be exercised concurrently or separately, and the exercise of one remedy shall not be deemed an election of such remedy to the exclusion of other remedies.
- 20.8 If any provision of the Agreement is prohibited by law or judged by a court to be unlawful, void or unenforceable, the provision shall, to the extent required, be severed from the Agreement and rendered ineffective as far as possible without modifying the remaining provisions of the Agreement, and shall not in any way affect any other circumstances of or the validity or enforcement of the Agreement.

21. Notices

- 21.1 Any notice to be given under the Agreement shall be in writing and may be served by personal delivery, first class recorded or, subject to clause 21.3, e-mail to the address of the relevant Party set out in the Award Letter, or such other address as that Party may from time to time notify to the other Party in accordance with this clause:
- 21.2 Notices served as above shall be deemed served on the Working Day of delivery provided delivery is before 5.00pm on a Working Day. Otherwise delivery shall be deemed to occur on the next Working Day. An email shall be deemed delivered when sent unless an error message is received.
- 21.3 Notices under clauses 15 (Force Majeure) and 16 (Termination) may be served by email only if the original notice is then sent to the recipient by personal delivery or recorded delivery in the manner set out in clause 21.1.

22. Governing Law and Jurisdiction

- 22.1 The validity, construction and performance of the Agreement, and all contractual and non contractual matters arising out of it, shall be governed by English law and shall be subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts to which the Parties submit.

1.5	Is the applicant / organisation linked to any other business or organisation through shared ownership or control?	No

Section 2. Proposal Scope

2.1	Is this a test, trial or both?	Test
Tests – focus on specific elements or likely building blocks of the new system. They will be short, low risk, involve limited funding, few participants and will be explorative and iterative. (For example a workshop or structured interviews could be used to test a land management plan). Trials – test the feasibility of new ideas. They will run for varying lengths of time. We will trial innovative and novel approaches to help us evaluate how we might cost-effectively roll these out more widely. Trials can run for various lengths of time and may run beyond 2022. They are more complex and could take longer to establish.
2.2	Please describe briefly the purpose of your to test or trial and how it addresses one or more of the policy questions (as set out in the guidance). Consider the following ELM theme areas and how your proposal meets one or more of them; <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • New and Innovative Mechanisms - Mechanisms that will support the delivery of the new scheme (such as adopting new technology or novel approaches to establishing and making payments), that have not been used previously within agri-environment schemes and/or where the mechanism has not previously been used at the proposed scale. • Payment mechanisms – focusing on how the new system will pay participants and the different mechanisms available

- Land Management Plans – looking at what mechanism will participants use to plan and record which public goods they will deliver
- Advice and Guidance – considering what expert support participants will require to help them plan and record the public goods they will deliver
- Spatial Prioritisation – looking at what mechanisms are available to set and agree local priorities within a national framework for the delivery of public goods

This proposed “test” will take place with a group of farmers in the “Forgotten Lands” area of North East Cumbria. It will focus on two ELM themes:

- Land Management Plans – how farmers might record the Natural Capital on their farms and develop their own Land Management Plan maps. This information will also help develop a Land Management Plan map for the wider area.
- Advice and Guidance – what support farmers need to help them record their natural capital and the public goods they might deliver. This will include working with their fellow farmers as a group, with a facilitator, specialist advisers and with local wildlife organisations. They will also be given the opportunity to attend training events provided by the Facilitation Fund Group which will not be compulsory. We will be able to compare the outputs from those that attend and those that do not and rely on farming colleagues.

We will work with a group of farmers in the “Forgotten Lands” area of north-eastern Cumbria which is east of the A7 stretching north from Hadrian’s Wall to the Scottish border. This is a sparsely populated very rural area with family farms, mostly of cattle and sheep, open fells, Roman and medieval remains and a deep cultural heritage. The area is part of the Forestry Investment Zone with areas of commercial forestry as well as smaller scale deciduous woodland. These farmers have expressed considerable interest in recording the natural capital on their farms.

Developing individual Land Management Plans/Maps

Existing and previous environmental schemes have largely relied on agents to develop maps and to prepare applications for funding; however, farmers know their land best because they see it every day.

The Land Management Plans and maps will look at how these farmers might identify and deliver public benefits through:

- enhanced soil management,
- carbon capture (including peat soils and woodland),
- mitigating climate change,

- improving water quality,
- habitat for upland waders specifically but other farmland birds more generally,
- wildflower hay meadows,
- developing habitat networks.
- Recognising the value of native local cattle (the Black Galloway and Blue Grey) in habitat maintenance and restoration.

Plans will be developed by compiling existing information from various sources that might include Farm Environment Records and Plans from previous Stewardship schemes, soil and habitats maps, historic information and local knowledge. The plans will then be further developed by additional recording working with local wildlife organisations with the help of advice from specialists.

We will test the usefulness of technology for recording different species such as wading birds and hay meadow species with the use of Apps locating the exact location of the species and time of the observation. We anticipate that not all farmers will embrace the Apps so will compare outcomes with other methods such as using mobile phones to take photos of species and a simple paper notebook. We will assess the take up of these tools with the farmers and the extent to which they find them useful for recording.

Part of the test is to assess the extent to which farmers can help each other and the extent to which external specialist advice is required. The ELM test will provide some of the expert advice required but farmers themselves could assist with advice and guidance with the sharing of information and knowledge of what has worked on their own farms. Examples will include one to one advice on recording species.

Creating an Area Land Management Plan

One of the important aspects of this test will be helping farmers develop a collective environmental offer for their area greater than what could be achieved by individual farms.

We will bring together small groups of farmers with a common interest, for example, farmers that have land adjacent to a watercourse where riparian planting on multiple holdings would create a wildlife corridor and improve water quality. Another example could be a group of neighbouring farmers that have land on or around a peatland, or with habitat for breeding waders. We could then discuss how that overall habitat could be best managed and what each farmer could contribute.

Secondly, we will bring all the farmers together to consider how the proposals for developing habitat on individual farms could achieve wider objectives over the whole area.

	Farmers would each have an individual map for their holding and there would be one collective map for the area as a whole. This could be done in both electronic and paper form.
2.3	Describe the objectives of your test or trial and the outcomes and outputs you will capture and evidence. Your objectives are what you intend to have done by the end of the test or trial. You should consider having between 2 and 5 objectives depending on the nature and complexity of you test or trial. Please detail how the activities are appropriate and relevant to the test or trial. Your project officer will help you set out the objectives using the SMART criteria below Objectives should be SMART S - specific, significant, stretching M - measurable, meaningful, motivational A - agreed upon, attainable, achievable, acceptable, action-oriented R - realistic, relevant, reasonable, rewarding, results-oriented T - time-based, time-bound, timely, tangible, trackable Example of a SMART objective: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Co-design and develop 50 Land Management Plans across Dunlow County by 31st March 2020. • Develop a landscape plan for Dunlow State Park and agree local priorities, working with local farmers by 31st December 2019 • Hold 10 workshops across Dunlow County to consider the Role of advice and guidance to deliver Land Management Plans by 31st May 2020 • Trial a reverse auction approach, working with the Dunlow Water Authority, across the River Dunlow Catchment – holding 4 auctions between September 2019 and October 2020.

	The objectives of the project are to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Produce at least 15 Land Management Plans developed by the farmers using advice of a facilitator and external specialists by 31st March 2022. Note this period of time is required because of the farming calendar and the seasonal nature of what is being recorded (e.g. hay meadow species). There may also be ongoing restrictions on meeting farmers face to face as a result of the Covid-19 crisis. • When COVID-19 restrictions allow, deliver 3 workshops. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ There will be an initial workshop to launch the project in the autumn of 2020, which will include soil advice and sign up to the test of participants ○ Followed by a workshop after the first recording season to assess how the advice they have received has helped them complete the recording and what further advice/support they required. ○ A final workshop will be held to obtain feedback from the farmers to feed into the final report of the Test by March 2022. • By 31st May 2022, produce a final report on the findings and lessons learnt.
2.4	How will your test or trial help us to develop the design of the new ELM system? This should include the policy and delivery questions your test or trial will help us answer. You will need to reflect how you will test or trial these questions in the objectives identified above. Please consider the policy questions set out in Annex A to this document. <hr/> Category: Land Management Plan development Our test will help farmers understand how to identify and record the natural capital on their farms. It will help the farmers with identifying the data/information required for their own Land Management Plan whilst helping them see opportunities to cooperate with neighbours to provide habitat connectivity and contributing to an overall Plan for the Area. It will enable farmers to be actively involved in mapping their natural capital which will give them a more thorough understanding and appreciation of what they have on their land.

This test will assess whether

- existing farmer knowledge about the wildlife resource and natural capital assets of the farm and wider landscape can be captured and enhanced by advice from specialists and with the help of a facilitator;
- a collaborative approach to data gathering might lead to increased cooperation in environmental delivery, e.g. by monitoring and managing habitat for wading birds across multiple holdings and creating wildlife corridors along riparian margins across more than one holding;
- How the knowledge and practice of individual farmers can be shared and utilised among the participants.

What data/information will participants require and will a combination of approaches be required depending on the public good?

The methodology in developing the Land Management Plan will include:

- Helping the farmers assess the information already available about their farms using:
 - existing maps and records from previous environmental schemes (e.g. Farm Environment Records);
 - Ancient woodland and priority habitat inventories;
 - Magic maps – for land designations and SSSI condition;
 - Historic records and local knowledge of architectural features such as ridge and furrow;
 - Maps of existing public rights of way and access areas;
 - Soil maps;
 - Whether the farm has native beef and sheep breeds (Blue Grey cattle and Scottish Blackface sheep) that might contribute to the cultural landscape.
- The farmers will then be helped with assessing what additional information is required e.g. in identifying bird and plant species and identifying how their Plan might incorporate other environmental outcomes such as clean air and water.

Farmers will need training on data recording methodology. This will be through training courses funded by a Facilitation Fund group that is operating in the area. We will then where required, provide individual support by the facilitator and one to one specialist advice.

It is likely that a combination of approaches will be needed depending on the public good. For example, the local Catchment Sensitive Farming officer will help the farmers identify how their farm might contribute towards improving water quality, whereas the farmer may be more directly involved with recording species,

Category: Advice

When should the advice be delivered?

The relevant advice will be delivered at the appropriate time, for example advice on uplands waders will be given prior to and during the breeding season and advice on hay meadow plant identification during the spring and summer.

An initial workshop will be held in Sept/Oct 20 to cover the requirements of the test. A second workshop will be held in late May to check progress followed by a final workshop in March 22 to discuss the results.

How many accredited experts will be required?

The number of experts will be around 3 - 4 over the course of the trial. These will be advisers that are experts in a relevant field that is required by the test.

and other local Wildlife organisations such as Cumbria Wildlife Trust. Specialist advice will also be obtained on carbon – with the farmers helped to do their own carbon audits and to assess current carbon sequestration and how this might be enhanced.

Expert support required for the Test will include:

- Utilisation of farmers' own skills and knowledge and the sharing of this information amongst group members. One of the farmers has specific knowledge of bird species that could be shared with other farmers in the group. It is an opportunity for the farmers to share their expertise.
- Expert specialists to help with recording of species. This will include the RSPB for bird identification, Cumbria Wildlife Trust and help with identifying species and recording methodology from the Cumbria Biodiversity Data Centre (CBDC) – see <http://www.cbdc.org.uk/wildlife-in-cumbria/>. This will be backed up by the use of species recording tools, including trialling the use of Apps, but also simpler methods such as taking photos using mobile phones.
- If required, volunteer specialists e.g. from RSPB and CBDC could assist the farmers gather information.

The advice will be delivered using the facilitator and specialists either with small groups or one to one support depending on what is required.

Should advice be mandatory and how much free advice should be provided?

Advice given will not be mandatory as this project is testing how effective it is to adopt a participative approach with the farmers. We have assumed that some of the advice will have to be provided by specialists although some will be provided by volunteers. We have also assumed that advice on soil and water management will be provided by the coordinator who is a BASIS qualified soil specialist, and the local Natural England Catchment Sensitive Farming Officer.

How will we ensure they have the skills and knowledge required?

Specialist advisers will be sourced from organisations including the RSPB and the Cumbria Biodiversity Data Centre. CBDC has a strong association with relevant specialist groups that assist collecting species data in specific areas.

Specialists will be selected on the basis not only of their knowledge of natural capital, but also their ability to communicate with the farmers. The coordinator will ensure that the information provided by the advisors is understandable to the farmers.

Spatial Prioritisation

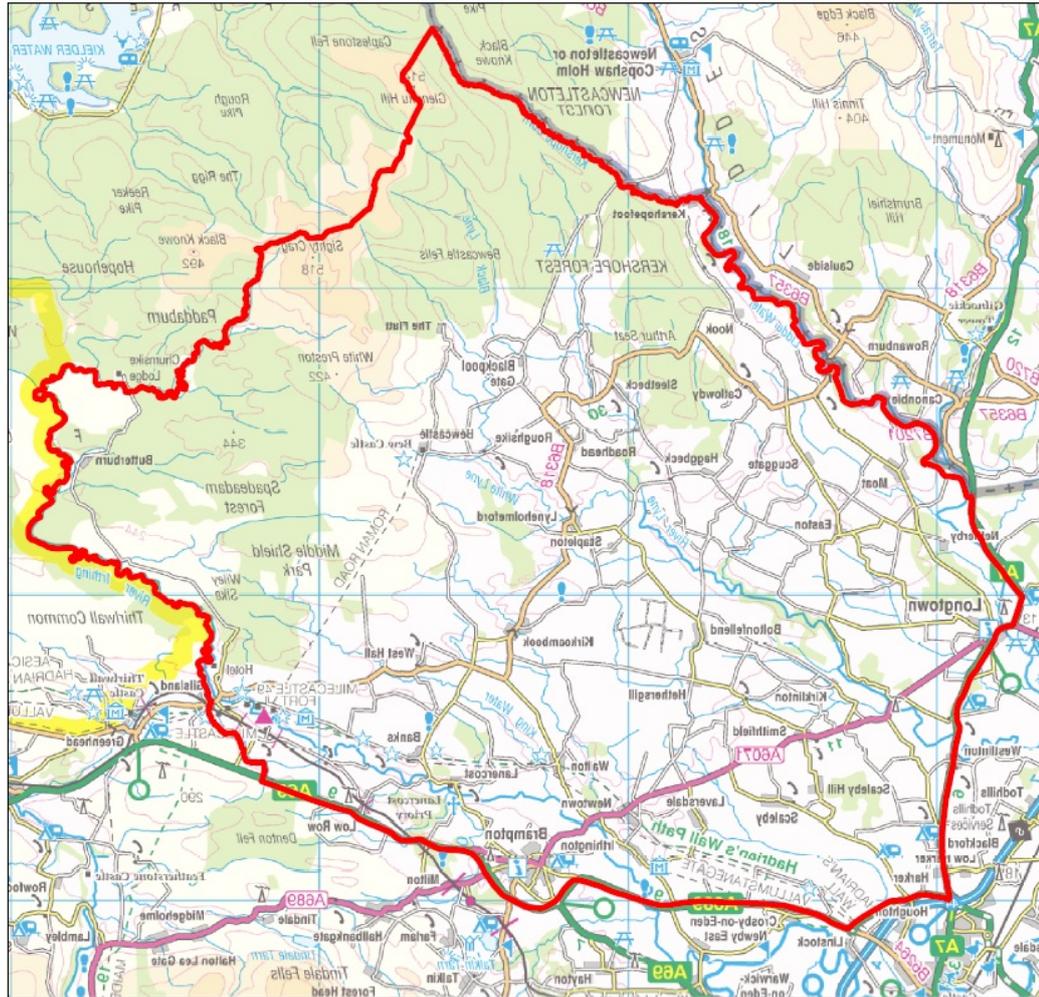

What mechanisms are available to set and agree these local priorities?

Priority species, habitats and environmental outcomes in this area include:

- Riparian ancient woodland.
- Upland waders such as curlews which are known to be under-recorded. This area also has great potential for black grouse, with suitable habitats to create 'stepping stones' to link the populations in North Pennines with South west Scotland.
- Upland peatbogs, some of which have been planted with Sitka Spruce.
- Carbon sequestration, soil and water quality
- Upland hay meadows and species-rich hedgerows

These priorities include the Countryside Stewardship Scheme priorities for the area, plus additional priorities identified by the farmers during the development of a Forgotten Lands action plan.

	How do we encourage and incentivise the delivery of these priorities and encourage collaboration? Delivery of the priorities will need to be undertaken through existing Stewardship Schemes and the future ELMS scheme. This test will look at how farmers will be encouraged to work together to develop their own Land Management Plans and identify future opportunities for working together to improve habitats across the whole area. The key is getting farmers to take “ownership” of their natural capital through being actively involved in collecting data, developing their own land management plans and contributing to the development of the Area Plan. The farmers will be encouraged to identify how they might work together to enhance and connect habitats across semi-natural areas such as allotments, ancient woodland, peatlands and sub-catchments. It will also be important to demonstrate how rearing traditional native breed cattle can maintain and enhance these habitats. OUTPUTS The outputs of the test will be the methodology for helping farmers assess their own natural capital and the datasets that farmers can build on both individually and collectively to develop an Area Land Management Plan We will work with Cumbria Biodiversity Data Centre to supplement the information available from other sources. We will also assess the extent to which CBDC and other wildlife organisations such as the RSPB can help the farmers with recording their natural capital. The test will look at how successful we have been in fostering relationships between the farmers and these organisations to help develop and verify the data collected by the farmers.
2.5	What area (geographic location and scale) will your test or trial cover? (Provide a map or geographic description of the general area you will be working, provide this as a GIS data layer if available or just an inserted picture. For those areas with a clearly defined and recognised location, a landscape description will suffice, e.g. National Park)
	The area covered will be in the “Forgotten Lands” of North East Cumbria - an area to the north of the A69, east of the A7, south of the Scottish border and to the west of the Northumberland border. It broadly corresponds to the Social Enterprise Group of farmers known locally as the ‘Forgotten Lands’. See attached map.

Confirm who will be involved in your test or trial and describe how you will deliver your test or trial. This should include:

- Any organisations that will help you deliver the test or trial and their role
- The expertise, capability and capacity of the proposal lead to undertake the activities proposed
- Who will participate in the test or trial
- The type of participants
- The number of land managers or farmers participating
- How you will select these participants
- The mechanisms identified to capture the information and evidence

Please include as much detail as possible on the type of participants, such as the farm sector, demographics, land owner, tenant and current engagement in existing stewardship schemes.

The test will be led by the Farmer Network who already host the Countryside Stewardship Facilitation Fund group for the “Forgotten Lands.”

The Farmer Network is a not for profit Company Limited by Guarantee. It was set up in 2005 by farmers, for farmers, with over 1,100 members. Its mission is to help sustain its members' businesses and maintain the environment, landscape and rural communities of Cumbria and the Yorkshire Dales. The Farmer Network has a proven track record of helping farmers with group activity and with organising workshops. More information is at: www.thefarmernetwork.org.uk.

At least 15 farmers will be involved in developing their own Land Management Plans. The farmers will include some of those who are part of the Countryside Stewardship Facilitation Fund Forgotten Lands group plus others in the local area. This group of farmers are self-motivated with a strong sense of community and have been meeting informally and formally for some time. They are mainly SDA livestock farmers, mostly beef and sheep and some dairy with a mixture of owner occupiers on small family farms and tenants. Many of these farmers have participated in environmental schemes in the past such as Upland Entry Level Stewardship but as these schemes have expired, many have not gone onto new Countryside Stewardship Agreements. A few have SSSI land on their holdings though not necessarily in agreement.

Funded by the CSF programme, the participating farmers will be offered surface water plans, soil husbandry plans and air quality plans where appropriate. These are used within CSF to assess what capital works could improve water quality, but they can also be used in natural capital mapping. We will assess the extent to which these CSF plans might be adapted to better include natural capital as part of this Test.

Relationships with specialists and organisations will be developed over the course of the Test. Initial discussions have been held with:

The report will analyse the information provided and how this goes towards answering the policy questions identified for Land Management Plans, Advice and Spatial Prioritisation. We will also use the workshop to identify any addition advice/support required. Following the second workshop the facilitator will work with the farmers to produce Land Management Plans and collectively produce a Landscape Plan. A final workshop will be held in March 2022 in readiness for the next assessment period. We will demonstrate whether the farmer led initiative worked i.e. did the farmers sign up to the plan and if not why not. The production of a Landscape Pan will show whether the agreed outcomes have led to an effective, evidence based, co-ordinated landscape scale strategy.

Mitigation is the action/s taken to minimise or eliminate the risk. • Examples include; <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Risk – lack of participation by land managers. Mitigation – hold evening workshops, avoid engagement during busy times of the year. ○ Risk – reputational risk if participant’s expectations are not met. Mitigation – ensure communications are clear and consistent, participant’s involvement is clearly defined and accepted.

	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. COVID-19 restrictions continuing into the winter/spring This would mean delivery of workshops would have to be delayed but farmers could be supported on a one to one basis and/or by video workshops. 2. Participants unable to attend due to lambing and calving commitments. This can be mitigated by workshops being delivered over autumn/ winter with one to one support provided during critical recording periods. 3. Prolonged spells of adverse weather conditions. Although this is unlikely to affect meetings and workshops during winter time, it could potentially disrupt summertime events, such as farm walks and outdoor workshops. 4. Insufficient numbers of farmers participating This farmer group has requested the support being provided through the CS Facilitation Fund and this ELMS test. There is a high degree of participation at meetings and the key to future participation is for the Test to be led by the farmers. 5. Too high a participation rate which makes it difficult for everyone to feel confident to contribute. Some of the workshops will be undertaken in smaller groups focusing on specific species and habitats. 6. Coordinator/key members of the project unable to continue. If this occurs, we will recruit additional resource using Farmer Network staff and contacts with other Facilitation Fund group facilitators and organisations in the local area.

The Farmer Network has used speakers from this programme for our Swaledale Facilitation Fund group and are in close contact with the Yorkshire Dales National Park. • In partnership with the RSPB, we will work with the North Pennines AONB Partnership's test & trial looking at developing land management plans. This enthusiasm could contribute to the potential success of the test and help ensure value for money. ELM Test and Trials Monitoring and Evaluation

Information Leaflet

July 2019

Department
for Environment
Food & Rural Affairs

Defra has appointed an independent team of researchers to help ensure that learning points from Tests and Trials (T&T) are captured and used to inform the new Environmental Land Management scheme

Defra is working with farmers, land managers and stakeholders such as yourselves to conduct tests and trials for a new Environmental Land Management (ELM) scheme. These will not be testing or trialling environment outcomes but rather the methods and approaches that will form the basis for the delivery of the ELM scheme. Defra has appointed a team of independent researchers to support them in gaining insight and learning about 'what works', where, and why by carrying out a formal evaluation of the tests and trials.

The team is led by consultants, ICF, and supported by ADAS and the Centre for Ecology and Hydrology. The ICF team will be working closely with the ELM Tests and Trials team within Defra to gather and analyse information that will help us to evaluate the work and identify lessons for the design of the new ELM scheme.

This information leaflet explains ICF's role, what information we will be expecting you to collect, as a test or trial project, and how we will be able to help you meet the monitoring and evaluation requirements set out in your agreement with Defra.

The role of the ICF evaluation team

The ICF team has been contracted by Defra to:

- Evaluate findings and learning from the different tests and trials
- Identify factors that might play a role in the new ELM scheme, such as Collaboration and Co-production; Localised prioritisation; Development of Assessment Tools; Attitudes and Behaviours; Mutual knowledge and capacity building etc.
- Provide technical advice, guidance and support to the tests and trials about how to monitor and report on indicators identified to Defra.

We are evaluators, not auditors. We are interested in understanding your experiences delivering your project including what works well, what is more challenging, and identifying the key learning points. We will not be assessing any legal or regulatory elements of your project.

We will be working in partnership with Defra 'ELM Tests and Trials (T&T) Officers'. The ICF team will be engaging with you in relation to evaluation questions. Ongoing contractual, financial and other administrative matters will all be handled by your nominated T&T Officer.

Your role in the evaluation

To evaluate each test or trial, we need to understand

- What your project is testing or trialling;
- What you see is the learning from your test or trial and how it will contribute to the development of the ELM scheme;
- The lessons learnt and success factors for your test and trial and any challenges you encounter;
- The results and impacts achieved.

During the delivery of your test or trial you will be asked to take part in a number of tasks. These are:

22.2 Progress reports

You will provide regular progress reports directly to your T&T officer as outlined in your agreement. This will be the main mechanism for you to share evidence and learning with Defra to support policy development. Defra will be compiling regular reports to disseminate the evidence and learning based on the priority themes for tests and trials, such as the scope of the land management plan.

22.3 Site visit

Your Defra T&T Officer may ask to conduct a site visit to follow-up on any monitoring information provided and request further clarification or information if necessary. The Defra T&T officer will ensure that sufficient notice is provided and will seek to agree a time and date that is suitable for all. The visit will involve an informal on-site meeting. A member of the evaluation team may also be invited to participate in the site visit to provide advice about the evaluation and data collection. Site visits will be infrequent and will be considered on a case by case basis. Each test or trial is not expected to get more than two visits.

We will also need to ask you for some additional information just for the evaluation. We will try to minimise the burden of any information requests.

22.4 Online survey

We will ask that you take part in a short, online survey. The purpose of the survey is to explore whether the test or trial is being delivered as intended, what has worked well and what has been more challenging than expected.

If you are a 'Test', you will be asked to complete a survey at the beginning and towards the end of your test. If you are a 'Trial', you will be asked to complete a survey at the beginning, middle and end of your trial. The survey will ask your views about satisfaction with the processes involved, confidence, and accessibility as well as what has worked well or less well.

22.5 Case study

We may invite you to participate in a case study on a voluntary basis. Case studies will provide us with an in-depth understanding of specific types of tests or trials and the way in which they are operating.

Each case study will involve a number of telephone interviews. We will want to have a conversation with the proposal lead and a number of other people with an interest in the project, such as land managers or partners. We will work with you to make sure that the right people are approached. The interviews will take place towards the end of your project. Their purpose is to capture how the project has developed and changed over time.

We will provide you with a report summarising the key findings from the case study. Case studies will inform the final report we prepare for Defra.

We will provide you with advice and support to help you monitor and evaluate your test or trial

The evaluation team will provide a variety of support to you during your project. This support will include:

- Webinars:

You will be invited to participate in webinars that will provide information to help you in delivering your own project monitoring and evaluation (e.g. how to define clear evaluation questions, how to engage any partners or stakeholders).

- Guidance documents:

The evaluation team will provide you with short guidance documents to assist you in collecting your monitoring data and conducting your evaluation. These will include:

- How to prepare and complete a monitoring form
- Designing an evaluation approach
- Considerations and common challenges in conducting a project level evaluation
- Analysing, reporting and disseminating your findings

- General troubleshooting:

Your Defra T&T Project Officer will be your first point of contact should you wish to discuss any concerns you have about monitoring and evaluating your project or the wider ELM evaluation. They will assess whether you would benefit from additional support from the evaluation team and arrange a further discussion if necessary.

Your information will be protected

The findings from this M&E project will be integrated into evaluation reports that the ICF evaluation team will share with Defra. The final report is expected to be published.

The sharing of data between yourselves, Defra and the ICF evaluation team is governed by your agreement with Defra and Defra's contract with ICF. All of the information you provide will be treated in the strictest confidence and stored securely on a database hosted by ICF.

Your responses to the survey and monitoring data will not be published. Any views you provide will be anonymised and you will not be personally identifiable. Findings from case studies will, however, be reported at an individual level and the type of test or trial will be mentioned. We will not refer to you by name, but it may be possible for a reader to guess based on the description of the test or trial.
