Specification - Supply of APHA Print SAM.

APHA Daily Mailings

In this Schedule the following words have the following meaning:

“APHA” means Animal and Plant Health Agency

“Print House” means Allied Publicity Services (Manchester) Limited

“SAM” means APHA IT system

“PDM” means Print and Direct Mail Services

“MT” means Marketing Technology

Overview

APHA requires various printed items, e.g. letters and forms, to be sent to customers after certain business triggers. The electronic data is gathered by Sam and merged with the template of the required document to produce a print-ready electronic document. These are produced in the Sam system as softcopy personalised PDFs. They are sent to the Print House via the SendToPrintHouse service. At the same time metadata ('production brief data') is also sent. This describes how the documents are to be printed, e.g. colour/black and white, postage level required. The Print House provider, prints them in accordance with the production brief data and posts them to the customer.

Most documents will contain a single page. In the case of multi-page documents, all pages will be in a single print-ready file. One important document is the customer registration form which may be pre-populated with details of the recipient and must be bound.

Each document instance is given a unique identifier.

Middleware is used to ensure that the documents reach the Print House. The Defra Enterprise Service Bus (ESB) exposes an assured delivery SendToPrintHouse service to Sam. The SendToPrintHouse service calls a corresponding service offered by the Print House. Each service uses XML messages to pass data.

The messages are received and batched by the Print House. The batches are drawn down and selected by PDM. Therefore MT will host the application but PDM will use it.

A reconciliation report (the Production Report) will be sent by the Print House via email to [REDACTED] by 10am each printing day. The report generated each day will cover the printing for the previous day. This will include documents received before 5pm and subsequently printed.

Generation of the Sam (Pega) report will be carried out by a central team who are responsible for liaising with the Print House. The nominated APHA user will check the “Production report” against the ‘Correspondence sent to Print House’ report to validate that all the documentation sent has been printed and issued.

Department
for Environment

Food and Rural Affairs

Where the total number of documents sent by APHA for printing doesn't correspond to the number printed and issued by the Print House, further investigation will be required. This will involve cross checking the 'contact references' from the 'Correspondence sent to print house report' against the 'contact references' data received from the Print House.

1 Send to Printhouse

Once the document has been generated and is ready to be sent, Sam calls the SendToPrintHouse service. The service accepts multiple documents in a single message, each with its own production brief data relating to colour, binding, duplex printing, any specific inserts. The service also includes message wide production brief data, which includes the postage class and the envelope size for the whole set of documents. This functionality is used when multiple documents need to go into the same envelope.

1.1 Transport Mechanism

Documents from APHA will be sent to a Web service hosted by the Print House. The transmission protocol will be HTTPS.

Secure protocols will be used within the Print House for transferring information from MT to PDM.

1.2 Messages & File Format

The print-ready document will be a PDF file.

An XML message containing the document identity, the postage class, information about the mailing, and the print-ready file will be sent to the Print House.

The Print House will receive the SendToPrintHouseRequest message and respond with a SendToPrintHouseResponse message. The response will be synchronous, confirming receipt of the message. If a problem is found with the message, the Boolean Success indicator will be set to false; otherwise it will be set to true (see Acknowledgements).

On receipt of a message, a row will be created in the Print House database. This row will contain the whole message, split up into individual data elements. It will contain a reference, a column for each batching criterion and an indicator showing whether the message has been batched yet or not.

1.3 Batching

This batching will be performed by the Print House, not by APHA or IBM. The batching is based on information contained in the XML messages from APHA rather than information from the PDF.

The messages will be batched periodically by postage type and any other information in the XML messages. A period's messages may thus be batched into several categories.

The operator can then draw down and produce batches of mailing files rather than individual mailing files, reducing the operational overhead.

1.3.1 Batching process

When the Print House receives a message from APHA, the message is stored and marked as awaiting batching. The message is not released to the operators.

Department for Environment

Environmental Affairs

The messages will be batched periodically by chosen criteria (e.g. paper weight, colour level) from information in the XML messages. The period will be daily, and the process will be system delivered. The system identifies all messages that are awaiting batching and scans them in turn.

The system creates an empty batch (with a unique name) for each combination of batching criteria and puts each message into the appropriate batch. The system does not overwrite existing batches – there can be multiple batches for the same combination of batching criteria, from different batching runs.

The system identifies features of the mailing by examining the XML of the message.

When the system has examined the salient features of the mailing, it appends the mailing to the appropriate batch. It then marks the message as having been batched.

The batch is then listed along with any other unprinted batches. The list of batches is refreshed frequently (or after a batching run) so the operator can see what work needs doing. The list of batches includes information about the batching criteria – postage, envelope size etc – and allows the user to view the associated print brief. The user can sort the list of batches by any of the batching criteria and by the date and time at which the batch was created.

Each XML message received from APHA is stored as a row in the Messages table. These are shown in the attached PSA document:

1.3.2 Batching criteria

Batches will be created as combinations of the following criteria:

XML element	Description
PrintingMethod	Whether simplex or duplex printing
ColourLevel	Number of colours to use
PaperWeight	The paper weight in GSM
EnvelopeSize	The ISO 269 code for the envelope size
PostageClass	The type of postage to be used
Binding	A description of any binding required
Inserts	A description of what inserts need to go into the mailing

A typical letter batch would be “duplex, four colours, 100 GSM, DL envelope, Royal Mail first class, no binding, no inserts”.

Department
for Environment

Food and Rural Affairs

A typical application form batch would be “duplex, four colours, 100 GSM, C4 envelope, Royal Mail first class, stab stitched, insert leaflet”.

The value for the inserts is just a text field that acts as an instruction to the operator and as a criterion for batching. There is no expectation that any automatic insertion will be done. If a mailing has multiple inserts, they'll all be specified in this single text field.

The Print House will only add inserts into packs as instructed by the content of the xml message. If the message is not sending through the right information related to inserts (e.g. not indicating when a particular insert needs to be included in a pack) then the Print House are not responsible for this not being inserted into the pack.

1.3.3 Batching period

The period over which the messages should be batched will depend on the volume of messages received per day. These are decisions that can only be made by production people and which may change over time. Hence, the batching periods must be configurable.

Given APHA's expectation of prompt dispatch, the longest batching period during the working week is 24 hours, with the start/end time a production-dependent number of minutes before the last Royal Mail collection of the day. In practice, shorter batching periods may be preferred to make best use of operator time and avoid a last-minute backlog. Batching may or may not be required at weekends.

The suggestion, then, is that the batching periods are specified by setting what times of day batching takes place and on what days of the week. There should also be a facility that allows the operator to request a batching run manually – “Get Work” or some such.

The system batching process runs at 6am every morning (7 days a week).

2 Production

The production process is as follows:-

- Zip files containing composed documents and a CSV file (Print Report) confirming those to be produced are made available on a secure server
- These files are picked up by an automated process and processed
- That proceeding includes:-includes validation (that the “Print Report” correlates with the PDF's received) and any exceptions are notified to the client.
- The PDFs themselves are batched for production based on their paginations – e.g. 2 sides = Cell 1, 4 4 sides = cell 2, 6 sides = cell 3). This is to assist production in terms of the collation of variable pagination packs
- The volumes from the processing are broadcast internally (packs and sheets for every cell) via email
- That email also includes the “Print Report” updated with details of our processing

Department
for Environment

Food and Rural Affairs

- Production receive a consolidated PDF per cell (ie all those PDFs with the same paginations are merged together) and a cover sheet (detailing Cell Number and the number of packs) and trailer sheet (ie an end of cell sheet at the end of the PDF)
- The PDFs are printed as supplied (i.e. any colour is included).
- They are printed on blank A4 paper and enclosed
- Dispatched 2nd class (no mail sortation)

2.1 Production Briefs

The production site receives PDFs (that will include any “inserts” already within them (i.e. they are printed as a pack).

The production brief for each type of document will be agreed in advance between APHA and the Print House. The details of the production briefs will be stored in the Print House system for reference by the operator.

The system presents an option that allows the operator to list the production briefs. When the operator selects a production brief, the system presents a page showing the details of the production brief.

The production briefs stored in the Print House system will be consistent with but usually more detailed than those in the XML messages from APHA. They will contain production information that is of interest to the Print House but not to APHA.

Additional documents may be added to the scope of the Print House print service. The Print House needs to be notified of any proposed changes, either for new implementations or changes to existing production briefs.

The first point of contact for both these requests at the Print House would be the APHA Account Executive (see 4.2). All changes of this nature will need to be reviewed by the Print House and scheduled into the development timetable as suitable (if development work is required).

2.2 Paper to be Used

The paper to be used is specified in the XML message for each document with the majority being 100gsm.

2.3 Envelopes to be Used

Two different types of envelopes are to be used. For the customer registration form and covering letter, C4 envelopes will be used. Stocks of envelopes are produced by the Print House with prepaid postage class on the front and an undelivered address printed on the reverse.

- All C4 envelopes are 1st class.
- For other letters, C5 envelopes will be used, also 1st class
- Both sets of envelopes have been specified as recycled.

Department for Environment

- Envelopes used are dependent on the pagination of the pack.

2.4 Binding Type

Only the customer registration form is to be bound. The standard agreed is a single stitch in the top corner, known as 'stab stitch'. This will be specified by the XML message.

2.5 Inserts

Inserts are to be included in all mailings of the customer registration form. English inserts are to be included in the English and Scottish mailings and Bilingual inserts are to be included in the Welsh mailings. Welsh mailings are distinguishable by the 'W' included at the end of the document name: English version: AH019; Welsh version: AH019W.

As a rule, the Print House will only add inserts into packs as instructed by the content of the xml message. If the message is not sending through the right information related to inserts (e.g., not indicating when a particular insert needs to be included in a pack) then the Print House are not responsible for this not being inserted into the pack.

Any changes to inserts must be notified to the Print House in advance and arrangements made for the required changes to be made to the XML message. APHA must ensure that a unique code is included on every insert printed going forward and that these codes are fed into the xml message.

2.6 Postage

Postage class will be specified in the XML message sent to the Print House. Postage will be charged to the APHA Royal Mail Account which will be paid directly by APHA. The Print House will be provided with the necessary code and details of the account in order to print envelopes.

There is currently no requirement for non-Royal Mail dispatch, nor for forms of postage other than standard.

No Mailsort is required (or possible).

2.7 Duplex

Everything is printed duplex. Where packs are merged in to one PDF, blank sides are added if required.

2.8 Templates

The Print House will not store templates. Doing so would cause administrative problems since any such templates would have to keep in step with the templates held by APHA's Sam system.

2.9 Volumes

The maximum expected volume of individual print-ready mailings is approximately 2500 per working day. This figure can fluctuate greatly though, so the system must be capable of handling variations downward or in exceptional situations double this volume.

A typical print-ready file will have a size of between 50 and 150kb.

Department for Environment

Food and Rural Affairs

File transmissions will be spread throughout the day and are likely to form peaks and troughs, given the pattern of the working day.

Once the collated data is transferred to the manufacturing operation the print production and mailing process begins. The maximum daily output per 24 hours is 2000 sheets, residual data will mail the following day.

3 Acknowledgements & Reporting

APHA requires the Print House to acknowledge receipt of a document synchronously – that is, as soon as the Print House receives a document successfully, an acknowledgement is sent. This acknowledgement requirement has been met by the design of the interface.

APHA requires periodic reports saying how many individual mailing jobs were received in the period, how many were printed and how many were dispatched.

Each print-ready document is associated with a unique identifier, given in the XML message. This identifier is used in the reports.

From a production perspective the “Print Report” details the mailing packs passed through and fulfilled by production.

3.1 Approval

Individual mailings will not be subject to proofing and approval. Rather, the system will be tested thoroughly and approved. When an individual mailing file is received, it will simply be produced and dispatched without any approvals process.

3.1.1. Approval Notifications

See 2.1, the Print House needs to be notified of any proposed changes, either for new implementations or changes to existing production briefs.

3.2 Acknowledgements

Acknowledgement is required for legal and non-repudiation reasons.

APHA requires the Print House to acknowledge receipt of a document synchronously – that is, as soon as Communis receives a document successfully, an acknowledgement is sent.

The Print House web service acknowledgement includes a success flag which can be set to “true” or “false”. This is set once the message has been sent to Communis and reflects if the message was successfully delivered. If a result of ‘false’ is returned, please refer to the error handling process outlined in section 5.1.

3.3 Reconciliation Reports

A daily report must be produced showing what the Print House has printed and dispatched in the period. The report is for APHA, so will not include details such as which operator handled a job.

Department for Environment

Food and Rural Affairs

The Print House will receive generated PDF documents throughout the day for printing. All documentation received up to a cut off time (example 05/01/2018 – 11.59am) will be printed and reported in the following days report i.e. 06/01/2018), any documentation received after the 11.59am deadline would be treated as having been received on the 07/01/2018 up to 11.59am.

This report must be sent to [REDACTED] who will produce a corresponding report from Sam and reconcile the two.

The “Print Report” details the mailpacks received that have been processed by production.

3.4 Sam Reports

A report is required to reconcile correspondence which has been sent to the Print House for issuing. The report is used to check that the print house have received and issued all the documents which have been sent to them by APHA, and provide information on the total number of documents by document type sent to the print house.

The report has the ability to filter results by a specified document type or set to include ‘ALL’ documents that have been sent to the print house for printing.

The report has the ability to filter results for correspondence issued to the print house by a specified AHDO or set to include ‘ALL’.

A specified ‘from’ and ‘to’ date & time range is required to run the report.

The Correspondence sent to print house report will be generated in a format which enables it to be opened in excel, as this will enable users to cross check data received from the print house easily.

The report should display at least the following data labels:-

- Message ID e.g. 4426605
- Batch Date e.g. 03/02/2013 05:00
- Our Filename e.g. 01_00426605_00626155_RH05875_OCE-1032156~PB10606~LINK-ATTACHMENT AH-AC WSA-3109443!20130202T050357.291 GMT.pdf.PDF
- Pages e.g. 2
- Total pages. e.g. 2

The “Print Report” details the mailpacks received that have been processed by production

3.5 Stock Reports

Stock reports are to be provided by the Print House to APHA and will be provided on a weekly basis on a Friday. These should be sent to [REDACTED]

APHA should specify the budget holder and provide a nominated deputy to deal with stock reports and re-ordering.

4 Exceptions

Department for Environment

Food and Rural Affairs

4.1 Error Handling

The ESB SendToPrintHouse service offered by the ESB is “fire and forget”. It includes standard CARA error handling. Once Sam has invoked the service, the ESB will manage the error handling

If there is a fault with the Print House service (for example, unable to communicate with the Print House because their server is down or there is a problem with the communications links), or the success flag is returned as “false” (which would indicate that the document cannot be saved by the Print House, possibly by an invalid PDF or a message fault) the message will be replayed by the ESB Error Handling Subsystem to the Print House up to five times (this is the default for ESB communications). On the final attempt (sixth time) the ESB will write an alert to be picked up by the IBM AMS team who will try and resolve the problem. They will also notify the APHA Service Desk that an error has occurred.

Packaging must be 100% re-usable, recyclable or compostable, use recycled content where reasonably practicable and support the Government's commitment to eliminate single use plastic.

(h) All Deliveries must have a delivery note attached that specifies the order number, type, quantity of Goods, contact and details of traceability through the supply chain.

If the Supplier doesn't do this it will pay the Authority's costs including repair or re-supply by a third party.

31.3 If any of the Supplier Staff are Workers who receive payment relating to the Deliverables, then the Supplier must ensure that its contract with the Worker contains the following requirements:

- (a) the Authority may, at any time during the term of the Contract, request that the Worker provides information which demonstrates they comply with clause 31.2, or why those requirements do not apply, the Authority can specify the information the Worker must provide and the deadline for responding;
- (b) the Worker's contract may be terminated at the Authority's request if the Worker fails to provide the information requested by the Authority within the time specified by the Authority;
- (c) the Worker's contract may be terminated at the Authority's request if the Worker provides information which the Authority considers isn't good enough to demonstrate how it complies with clause 31.2 or confirms that the Worker is not complying with those requirements;
- (d) the Authority may supply any information they receive from the Worker to HMRC for revenue collection and management.

33. Conflict of interest

33.2 The Supplier must promptly notify and provide details to the Authority if a conflict of interest happens or is expected to happen.

33.3 The Authority can terminate its Contract immediately by giving notice in writing to the Supplier or take any steps it thinks are necessary where there is or may be an actual or potential conflict of interest.

34.2 Where an actual or suspected breach is notified to the Authority under clause 34.1, the Supplier will take such action to remedy any breach as the Authority may reasonably require. Where the breach is material, the Authority has the right to terminate under clause 11.4.

34.3 The Supplier must not retaliate against any of the Supplier Staff who in good faith reports a breach listed in clause 34.1.

35. Resolving disputes

35.1 If there is a dispute between the Parties, their senior representatives who have authority to settle the dispute will, within 28 days of a written request from the other Party, meet in good faith to resolve the dispute.

35.2 If the dispute is not resolved at that meeting, the Parties can attempt to settle it by mediation using the Centre for Effective Dispute Resolution (CEDR) Model Mediation Procedure current at the time of the dispute. If the Parties cannot agree on a mediator, the mediator will be nominated by CEDR. If either Party does not wish to use, or continue to use mediation, or mediation does not resolve the dispute, the dispute must be resolved using clauses 35.3 to 35.5.

35.3 Unless the Authority refers the dispute to arbitration using clause 35.4, the Parties irrevocably agree that the courts of England and Wales have the exclusive jurisdiction to:

- (a) determine the dispute;
- (b) grant interim remedies;
- (c) grant any other provisional or protective relief.

35.4 The Supplier agrees that the Authority has the exclusive right to refer any dispute to be finally resolved by arbitration under the London Court of International Arbitration Rules current at the time of the dispute. There will be only one arbitrator. The seat or legal place of the arbitration will be London and the proceedings will be in English.

35.5 The Authority has the right to refer a dispute to arbitration even if the Supplier has started or has attempted to start court proceedings under clause 35.3, unless the Authority has agreed to the court proceedings or participated in them. Even if court proceedings have started, the Parties must do everything necessary to ensure that the court proceedings are stayed in favour of any arbitration proceedings if they are started under clause 35.4.

35.6 The Supplier cannot suspend the performance of the Contract during any dispute.

35.7 The provisions of this clause 35 are without prejudice to the Authority's right to terminate or suspend the Contract under clause 11.
