Neither Party shall have any liability under or be deemed to be in breach of the Contract for any delays or failures in performance of the Contract which result from circumstances beyond the reasonable control of the Party affected. Each Party shall promptly notify the other Party in writing when such circumstances cause a delay or failure in performance and when they cease to do so. If such circumstances continue for a continuous period of more than 30 days, either Party may terminate the Contract by written notice to the other Party.

18 TERMINATION

18.1 UKRI may terminate the Contract in whole or in part at any time before the Goods and/or Services are provided with immediate effect by giving the Supplier written notice, whereupon the Supplier shall discontinue the provision of the Goods and/or Services (in whole or in part as applicable). UKRI shall pay to the Supplier:

- (a) such Charges or that part of the Charges for Goods which have been Delivered to UKRI or, on the deemed date of service of the notice of cancellation, are already in transit and the costs of materials which the Supplier has purchased to fulfil the order for the Goods and which cannot be used for other orders or be returned to the supplier of those materials for a refund; and/or

- (a) terminate the Contract and recover from the Supplier the amount of any loss suffered by UKRI resulting from the termination, including the cost reasonably incurred by UKRI of making other arrangements for the supply of the Goods and/or Services and any additional expenditure incurred by UKRI throughout the remainder of the Contract; or
 - (b) recover in full from the Supplier any other loss sustained by UKRI in consequence of any breach of this clause.

21 DISPUTE RESOLUTION

- 21.1 The Parties shall attempt in good faith to negotiate a settlement to any dispute between them arising out of or in connection with the Contract and such efforts shall involve the escalation of the dispute to an appropriately senior representative of each Party.
- 21.2 If the dispute cannot be resolved by the Parties within one month of being escalated as referred to in clause 21.1, the dispute may by agreement between the Parties be referred to a neutral adviser or mediator (the "Mediator") chosen by agreement between the Parties. All negotiations connected with the dispute shall be conducted in confidence and without prejudice to the rights of the Parties in any further proceedings.
- 21.3 If the Parties fail to appoint a Mediator within one month, or fail to enter into a written agreement resolving the dispute within one month of the Mediator being appointed, either Party may exercise any remedy it has under applicable law.

22 GENERAL

- 22.1 Each of the Parties represents and warrants to the other that it has full capacity and authority, and all necessary consents, licences and permissions to enter into and perform its obligations under the Contract, and that the Contract is executed by its duly authorised representative.

- 22.3 The Supplier must make sure that neither it nor any of its Staff or sub-contractors are placed in a position where there is or may be an actual conflict, or a potential conflict, between their interests or the interests of its Staff or sub-contractors and the Supplier's obligations under this Contract. You must disclose to us the particulars of any conflict of interest that arises.
- 22.4 A person who is not a party to the Contract shall have no right to enforce any of its provisions which, expressly or by implication, confer a benefit on him or her, without the prior written agreement of the Parties.

- 22.6 The Contract contains the whole agreement between the Parties and supersedes and replaces any prior written or oral agreements, representations or understandings between them. The Parties confirm that they have not entered into the Contract on the basis of any representation that is not expressly incorporated into the Contract. Nothing in this clause 22.6 shall exclude liability for fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation.
- 22.7 Any waiver or relaxation either partly, or wholly of any of the terms and conditions of the Contract shall be valid only if it is communicated to the other Party in writing and expressly stated to be a waiver. - 22.8 The Contract shall not constitute or imply any partnership, joint venture, agency, fiduciary relationship or other relationship between the Parties other than the contractual relationship expressly provided for in the Contract. Neither Party shall have, nor represent that it has, any authority to make any commitments on the other Party's behalf.
- 22.9 Except as otherwise expressly provided by the Contract, all remedies available to either Party for breach of the Contract (whether under the Contract, statute or common law) are cumulative and may be exercised concurrently or separately, and the exercise of one remedy shall not be deemed an election of such remedy to the exclusion of other remedies.
- 22.10 If any provision of the Contract is prohibited by law or judged by a court to be unlawful, void or unenforceable, the provision shall, to the extent required, be severed from the Contract and rendered ineffective as far as possible without modifying the remaining provisions of the Contract, and shall not in any way affect any other circumstances of or the validity or enforcement of the Contract.

1. Background

Introduction

The Economic and Social Research Council (ESRC) and the Department for International Development (DFID) are seeking to commission an evaluation of Phase 3 of the ESRC-DFID Joint Fund for Poverty Alleviation Research Programme, known as the Joint Fund. The aim of this review is to present an independent, fair and balanced review of the Programme and to provide accountability to the ESRC and DFID for their investment in the Joint Fund.

The evaluation must aim to assess the value of the investment by reviewing the impact the projects individually and the Programme as a whole has had in low and middle-income countries. The evaluation should also consider the relationship between the funders and the Impact Initiative; the opportunities and challenges this presented and the outcomes. Additionally, it is expected that the current Phase is compared with previous Phases; whether Phase 3 has been more or less successful, what Phase 3 has added to the overall Programme output, whether the addition of the Impact Initiative has resulted in any changes.

Funders

ESRC

ESRC is part of UK Research and Innovation (UKRI), a new organisation that brings together the UK's seven research councils, Innovate UK and Research England to maximise the contribution of each council and create the best environment for research and innovation to flourish. The vision is to ensure the UK maintains its world-leading position in research and innovation. For more information visit: <https://www.ukri.org/>

UKRI-ESRC is the UK's largest organisation for funding research on economic and social issues. We support independent, high quality research which has an impact on business, the public sector and civil society. ESRC's total budget for 2017-18 was around £202 million. At any one-time ESRC supports over 4,000 researchers and postgraduate students in academic institutions and independent research institutes. Further information about the Council can be found at <https://esrc.ukri.org/>

DFID

DFID is the ministerial department that leads the UK government's work to end extreme poverty. DFID is responsible for:

- Honouring the UK's international commitments and taking action to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals
- Making British aid more effective by improving transparency, openness and value for money
- Targeting British international development policy on economic growth and wealth creation
- Improving the coherence and performance of British international development policy in fragile and conflict-affected countries
- Improving the lives of girls and women through better education and a greater choice on family planning
- Preventing violence against girls and women in the developing world

- Helping to prevent climate change and encouraging adaptation and low-carbon growth in developing countries

The Joint Fund

DFID and the ESRC formed a strategic partnership in August 2005 to provide a more robust conceptual and empirical basis for development and to enhance the quality and impact of social science research on poverty reduction: the ESRC/DFID Joint Fund for Poverty Alleviation Research. The primary aim of the scheme is to fund world-class scientific research which has the potential for impact on policy and practice for poverty reduction.

Research has been funded in a series of phases: Phase 1 provided funding from 2005 to 2010, Phase 2 from 2009 to 2016, and Phase 3 commenced in 2012 with the programme due to complete in 2021. The total scheme funding across all three Phases amounts to £62m (£39.5m DFID and £22.5m ESRC). To date the Joint Fund has funded a portfolio of 184 grants:

- 46 small/medium research grants from the three calls of Phase 1;
- 70 grants from Phase 2, comprising 55 small/medium research grants from three annual calls, plus three Impact Maximisation grants, one Emerging Opportunities grant, five Impact and Engagement awards, and six Evidence Synthesis Research Awards (ESRA);
- 68 grants from Phase 3, comprising 38 small/medium research grants from the three annual calls, plus seven Development Frontiers Call 1 stage 1 research grants, four Development Frontiers Call 1 stage 2 research grants, 2 Research Programme awards, and 17 Development Frontiers Call 2 research grants.

The evaluation is to cover Phase 3, though the contracted entity may wish to review grants and evaluations from previous stages of the Joint Fund. The budget for Phase 3 is £26.4m (£17.6m DFID and £8.8m ESRC). The majority of this is allocated for research funding delivered through a number of mechanisms developed by the ESRC and DFID in response to learning and experience from the previous phases of funding. In addition to three annual small/medium research grants calls, in Phase 3 ESRC and DFID introduced a call for highly innovative and ground-breaking research (the Development Frontiers Fund) and a call for larger programmes of work on specified research areas (Research Programmes Call).

The scientific strategy for the scheme was informed by input from an International Advisory Committee of leading academics and representatives from the field of policy and practice. A log frame provides a mechanism to track the intended causal chain linking:

- Inputs (research funding)
- Outputs (well-designed and -managed projects generating high-quality research; an increase in the appropriate use of multi-disciplinary, mixed methods and gendered research designs; supporting profile and development of Southern researchers; and engagement and communication with non-academic audiences and potential users)
- Outcomes (evidence generated through the programme adds to and informs the body of research knowledge relevant to poverty reduction in low income countries; and contributes to debates amongst policymakers and practitioners on poverty reduction in these countries)
- Impact (Policy and practice to reduce poverty in low income countries are demonstrably informed by the programme-generated evidence base).

The delivery of the scheme is governed by a management group of ESRC and DFID officers who are responsible for management and administration of the scheme and policy development.

Impact Initiative

The Impact Initiative is funded by the ESRC-DFID Joint Fund and the ESRC-DFID Raising Learning Outcomes Programme to support impact on both programmes. The Impact Initiative (commissioned originally as the “Evidence and Policy Directorate” or EPD) is a collaboration between the Institute of Development Studies (IDS) and the University of Cambridge’s Research for Equitable Access and Learning (REAL) Centre. The Impact Initiative aims to increase the uptake and impact of research from the Joint Fund and RLO. Two over-arching objectives underpin the Impact Initiative’s activities:

- Maximising the impact of ESRC-DFID funded research on policy and practice relevant to developing countries;
- Maintaining and strengthening the international profile of the ESRC-DFID Strategic Partnership and programmes within this, enhancing their reputation as centres of excellence for social science research on international development.

The Impact Initiative provides over-arching strategic direction for the design of a coherent programme of activities designed to achieve three key deliverables:

- Ensure findings from each programme’s research are effectively cohered, communicated and disseminated in ways which support their use by policy makers and practitioners, particularly in developing countries;
- Establish and/or enhance a strong international profile for the research generated through the programme(s);
- Build a reputation for the programmes as centres of social science research excellence in international development.

The Impact Initiative was initially contracted to run from March 2015 to March 2019. Following the completion of its mid-term review in 2017, one-year contract extension option has been taken up by the funders, bringing this to a total investment of circa £2.5 million.

For further information see: <http://www.theimpactinitiative.net/>

2. Aims and Objectives of the Project

The overall goal of the Joint Fund is to provide a more robust conceptual and empirical basis for development and to enhance the quality and impact of social science research which contributes to the achievement of human development objectives.

The primary questions the evaluation should seek to answer are:

1. Has the Joint Fund met its aim to be a provider of independent, high-quality social science research? (the generation of a significant body of policy-relevant data and analysis)
2. To what extent have the outputs from the Joint Fund led to research uptake and the use of findings and recommendations by policy-makers and practitioners? (e.g. (local and national governments, bilateral donors, the multilaterals, NGOs and civil society organisations, and the private sector)
3. Is there evidence that the Joint Fund has achieved the intended impact, namely that ‘Policy and practice to reduce poverty in low income countries are demonstrably informed by the programme-generated evidence base’? If so, how significant has this been?

It is expected that this evaluation will take a primarily qualitative approach (i.e. interviews and reviewing relevant documentation), though there is scope to include additional methods. The contractor should consider lessons learned that could be applied to other ESRC-DFID joint Programmes.

3. Suggested Methodology

Proposed approach and methods

The evaluation is expected to take into consideration all of the previous Phase 3 annual reports and reviews, the currently ongoing review of impact support functions and previous evaluations among other available resources.

Annual reports are submitted by ESRC to DFID and used to inform the DFID annual review, published on DFID's DevTracker website <https://devtracker.dfid.gov.uk/projects/GB-1-203545/documents>. The ESRC annual reports use data submitted by the grant holders to ResearchFish and annual progress reports completed by the grant holders using an online survey function. The data is qualitative and quantitative.

The ongoing review of impact support functions is being undertaken by Leeds Beckett University to assess the effectiveness of the impact support, synthesis and cohort-building services aligned to ESRC-DFID commissioned programmes, one of which is the Joint Fund. It is aiming to answer the following questions:

1. How appropriate are the design and implementation of the impact services, in achieving their shared objectives?
2. What are the effective and ineffective aspects of these services in delivering their shared objectives?
3. To what extent do services such as these add value?

The service aligned with the Joint Fund is the Impact Initiative.

Tenderers should spell out as fully as possible the review design and methodology they propose to use and the rationale underpinning this methodology. The potential risks and challenges for the review should be identified, including strategies for how these will be managed. The following provides guidance, but tenderers should not feel constrained by it.

It is expected that this review will take a primarily qualitative approach, drawing on reviews of relevant documentation and a substantial set of in-depth interviews (c. 80). Formalised approaches such as process tracing, contribution analysis or most significant change may be used if they are felt to be useful in establishing if the Joint Fund has resulted in the uptake of achieved its goals (and if so, how). The Joint Fund comprises of a large number of research projects involving many researchers and partners. It is vital that the sample of those interviewed reflects a representative cross-section of key informants (Joint Fund grant-holders, potential or actual users, others with technical or geographic subject matter knowledge that provides relevant perspectives on the value of the research). Proposals will need to consider appropriate balances of in-person vs remote, and full vs shorter interviews. The funders do not require robust estimates (for example, on satisfaction with services) from statistically representative surveys. Nevertheless, online tools to collect feedback and/or host moderated discussions may be an appropriate and efficient way to broaden participation in the review. We welcome proposals to extend the range of methods applied.

We expect interviews to be conducted with the Impact Initiative and the funders. To underline, data should be collected from a wide range of stakeholders including:

- Senior programme managers within the funders – ESRC and DFID
- A selection of grant-holders and research partners, including Southern researchers.
- An appropriate selection of policy-makers, practitioners and other research users.

Interviews will need to be agreed in advance in consultation with the funders.

Tenderers should also plan to make appropriate use of the following documents, which will be made available:

- Reports and documentation on service providers – This will include annual reports, quarterly reports and mid-term reviews.
- Outputs of the Impact Initiative – E.g. Publications including policy briefings, event reports and impact case studies.
- Previous evaluations of the impact of earlier phases of Joint Fund research,
- Any other relevant documentation.

Data from the interviews and written materials should be collated and analysed to inform answers to the review questions listed above. Methods for data capture and analysis should be specified in proposals. This will form the basis of a written report. It is suggested that the contractor uses case studies as examples to illustrate the conclusions.

Review team composition

The Review Team will need to apply their expertise and understanding to the following to deliver the work:

- review methods and techniques;
- research impact pathways and how research can best have an impact on impact policy and practice;
- developing country contexts and the international aid architecture.

Desirable application to:

- gender, social and poverty research and analysis.

Review Management arrangements

The review will be overseen by a Management Group. This group will work with the review team during a short inception period to shape their final detailed approach to the review including, for example, providing guidance regarding stakeholders to interview and documentation to be considered. In addition, it will be responsible for approving the review outputs and commenting on draft reports. The Group will include representatives of both funders. On appointment the review team will be provided with a named contact for day-to-day liaison with the funders.

Liaison will include a kick-off meeting and monthly catch-ups which may include presentations by the review team (for example to present interim findings and discuss the remainder of the review; and a second for the final report). These meetings will take place in London or Swindon but may involve teleconferencing or video conferencing.

The final report(s) may be subject to external peer review.

4. Deliverables

The Review Team will provide the following:

- a) Detailed review design specification: Within approximately 4 weeks of the contract start
- b) Monthly progress update: By email and or supporting teleconferences as needed.
- c) Interim Report: To be submitted within approximately 5 months of contract start. The format for the interim report will be agreed within 4 weeks of contract start but is likely to entail details of activities and progress so far, and the work program for the remainder of the review period.

- d) Final Report: First draft to be submitted within approximately 10 months of contract start. Any subsequent amendments to the report required by ESRC and DFID will be completed by month 11, with a final draft submitted the end of month 11.

The above is a proposed approximate timescale. Tenderers are welcome to propose modifications to these suggested timings; however the final draft of the final report must be delivered before the end of December 2020.

The report should incorporate the following:

- a) Executive Summary (maximum 3 pages).
- b) Brief introduction to the programme and impact support
- c) Review Methodology, including:
 - conceptual approach
 - description of methods used to collate and analyse data
 - key informants/respondents/participants in the study
- d) Analysis and discussion of findings, addressing each of the review objectives and questions.
- e) Conclusions:
 - Addressing each of the core review questions.
 - On the effectiveness of the review methodology
