Method of Service Credit Calculation:

In each Service Period, the applicable Service Credit percentage shall be calculated for each Service Level Performance Criterion by reference to the table above; the aggregate sum of which shall be the percentage deducted from next monthly Service Charge as a Service Credit (subject to the Service Credit Cap).

Service Credit Cap:

Service Credits shall be capped at 15% of each monthly Service Charge.

Critical Service Level Failure

A Critical Service Level Failure shall be deemed to have occurred if;

- i. The level of performance of the Supplier falls below the Service Level Threshold in a single Service Period for any of the following Service Level Performance Criterion; CDP001, CDP005, CDP006, CDP021, CDP023, CDP030, CDP031, CDP033, CDP037, or
- ii. The level of performance of the Supplier falls below the Service Level Threshold in two consecutive Service Periods for any Service Level Performance Criterion.

Service Level Performance Criterion Methodology

The following methodology shall be used in the measurement of the relevant Service Level Performance Criterion:

1 Service Availability Calculation

1.1 The Service Availability shall be calculated over the Service Period using data captured within the Buyer's ITSM Toolset.

1.2 Service Availability shall be calculated using the following formula:

$$\text{Service Availability \%} = \frac{(\text{MP} - \text{SD}) \times 100}{\text{MP}}$$

where:

MP = Total number of Service Availability minutes within the relevant Service Period; and

SD = Total sum of minutes of Service Unavailability in the relevant Service Period

1.3 When calculating Service Availability:

(a) Service Unavailability arising due to:

(i) Permitted Maintenance);

(ii) Emergency Change; and/or shall be subtracted from the total number of minutes in the relevant Service Period;

- (b) any Services outage agreed with the Buyer pursuant to the Change and Evaluation Management Policy and Change and Evaluation Management Processes shall be subtracted from the total number of minutes in the relevant Service Period; and
- (c) Service Credits shall accrue to the extent that Permitted Maintenance and/or any other Services outage described under (b) above exceeds the agreed time period for the relevant outage.

2 Incident Resolution

2.1 The table below contains non-exhaustive descriptions of Incident Resolution Priority boundaries (includes Security Incidents).

Incident Resolution Priority	Description

1	Failure or unavailability of a Service Element or enabling systems that are relied upon to deliver the Service Element that in the opinion of the Buyer: <ul style="list-style-type: none">a) constitutes a complete loss of use of the Service Element;b) has a critical impact on the activities of the Buyer;c) causes significant financial loss and/or disruption to the Buyer;d) results in any material loss or corruption of Buyer Data;e) constitutes a Breach of Security breach which has the potential to cause the degradation of Services for all End Users;f) is a critical breach of network security; org) causes or is likely to cause significant reputational impact to the Buyer and/or severely damages or is likely to damage public confidence in the Government.

2	Failure or partial unavailability (or significant risk of such unavailability) of a Service Element or enabling systems that are relied upon to deliver the Service Element that in the opinion of the Buyer: <ul style="list-style-type: none">a) is a loss of functionality or a reduction in performance of a Service Element which does not render the Service Element unavailable but which reduces the productivity of one or more End Users;b) has a major (but not critical) adverse impact on the activities of the Buyer and no workaround acceptable to the Buyer is available;c) causes a financial loss and/or disruption to the Buyer which is more than trivial but less severe than the significant financial loss described in the definition of a Priority 1 Incident above;d) is a Security breach which is serious but not critical and which has the potential to impact a business group of Users, disrupt non-essential services, breach network security policy, or adversely affect the reputation of Government bodies and services.
3	Failure or partial unavailability of a Service Element that in the opinion of the Buyer: <ul style="list-style-type: none">a) moderately impacts a single End User though unavailability, loss of functionality or a reduction in performance of a Service Element or the failure of a Device;b) is a Breach of Security which is not critical or serious and which can be handled by local IT and security offices. These Incidents do not typically impact IT services such as unsuccessful denial-of-service attacks or the majority of network monitoring alerts.

4	Failure or partial unavailability of a Service Element that in the opinion of the Buyer is: <ul style="list-style-type: none">a) a single End User reported incident that has only a cosmetic impact and as such, does not undermine the End User's productivity, or confidence in the accessed information or data;b) a Breach of Security which is not critical or serious and which is in general considered to be part of normal IT support operations. These Incidents would include receipt of an isolated spam or anti-virus alert;c) minor computer hardware failure, loss of network connectivity to a peripheral device or loss of access to an external, non-essential service.

- 2.2 The Buyer reserves the right to determine (itself or through an Buyer Agent) an Incident Resolution Priority for any Incident different to that assigned by the Supplier in the first instance, and the Supplier shall accept the Buyer mandated Incident Resolution Priority.
- 2.3 Where the Buyer (or Buyer Agent) allocates an Incident case record to the Supplier, as part of the Supplier's triage of the allocated case record it shall determine whether the allocation to it is correct and communicate appropriately with the Buyer (or Buyer Agent). Where it can be demonstrated by the Supplier that the Incident has been allocated to it incorrectly, the Supplier shall pass the Incident back to the Buyer Agent along with all relevant records it has (including initial analysis and Resolution determinations) in connection with the Incident.

3 Incident Resolution Calculation

- 3.1 Compliance with Service Levels will be measured from the earlier of the Incident being detected within their Service Boundary or the Supplier being allocated the Incident case record for Resolution by the Buyer (or Buyer Agent).
- 3.2 Incident Resolution Time measurement and the calculation of performance against Incident Resolution Priority Key Performance Indicators shall be as follows:
- (a) Priority one (P1) Incident Resolution time shall be measured individually from the time taken from the Incident being assigned to a resolver group by the Supplier until it is Resolved.
 - (b) Priority two (P2) Incident Resolution time shall be measured individually from the time taken from the Incident being assigned to a resolver group by the Supplier until it is Resolved.
 - (c) Priority three (P3) Incident Resolution time shall be, for each Service Tier, calculated as the percentage of Priority 3 incident tickets Resolved by the Supplier that met the relevant Target Performance Level divided by the total number of Priority 3 incident tickets Resolved by the Supplier occurring in a Measurement Period.
 - (d) Priority four (P4) Incident Resolution time shall be, for each Service Tier, calculated as the percentage of Priority 4 incident tickets Resolved by the Supplier that met the relevant Target Performance Level divided by the total number of Priority 4 incident tickets Resolved by the Supplier occurring in a Measurement Period.

4 Security Incident Resolution Performance Indicator Calculation

- 4.1 Compliance with Security Incident Resolution Performance Indicators will be measured from the earlier of the Security Incident being detected within the Service Boundary or the Supplier being allocated the Security Incident case record for Resolution by the Buyer (or Buyer Agent) based on the point of allocation data captured within the ITSM Toolset for incidents within the Service Boundary.

4.2 Security Incident Response Time measurement and the calculation of performance against Security Incident Priority Performance Indicators shall be as follows:

- (a) Each Priority one (P1), Priority two (2), Priority three (3) or Priority four (4) Security Incident Response Time shall be measured each individually from the time taken from the earlier of each Security Incident being detected within the Service Boundary or the Security Incident being allocated to the Supplier until the Supplier responds formally in writing or via the ITSCM Toolset to the Buyer for each Security Incident logged; and
- (b) Each Priority one (P1), Priority two (2), Priority three (3) or Priority four (4) Security Incident Resolution Plan Production Performance Indicator shall be measured individually from the time taken from the earlier of each Security Incident being detected within the Service Boundary or the Security Incident being allocated to the Supplier until the Supplier responds formally in writing or via the ITSCM Toolset to the Buyer for each Security Incident logged.

5 Re-occurring Incident

- 5.1 The Supplier shall close Incidents, once Resolved, in accordance with the Buyer's Incident Management Policy and Process. Notwithstanding the generality of the foregoing, where an Incident has been Resolved but another Incident occurs which is a new Incident arising from an identical root cause, such a re-occurring Incident shall be considered a “Re-occurring Incident”.
- 5.2 The Supplier shall identify, quantify and monitor the trend of Re-occurring Incidents and report these to the Buyer as part of the Service Measurement reporting.

5.3 Such Re-occurring Incidents shall be considered within the scope and responsibility of the Supplier's Problem Management services.

6 Problem Management

6.1 The Supplier shall assign the priority of a Problem using the table below and where applicable in accordance with the Buyer's Problem Management Process:

Table 1. Problem Priority

Problem Priority	Description
1	A Problem for which: (a) an unsustainable workaround has been identified; and (b) the re-occurrence of the Incident would have a major impact on the Buyer's ability to deliver its business functions and presents a high risk to Availability of Service.
2	A Problem for which: (a) there is a medium-level of risk to Availability of Service or medium-level impact on the Buyer; and (b) a sustainable workaround has been identified without the root cause being identified.

3	A Problems for which: (a) there is a low-level risk to Availability of Service or low-level impact on the Buyer; and (b) a sustainable workaround has been identified without the root cause being identified.

- 9.5.4 use a SCAP-compliant vulnerability scanning tool (Security Content Automation Protocol Validation Program CSRC (nist.gov)) to proactively scan the IT Environment (to the extent that the IT Environment is within the control of the Supplier) for vulnerable components and address discovered vulnerabilities through the processes described in the ISMS;
- 9.5.5 from the date specified in the Security Management Plan provide a report to the Buyer within five (5) Working Days of the end of each month detailing both patched and outstanding vulnerabilities in the IT Environment (to the extent that the IT Environment is within the control of the Supplier) and any elapsed time between the public release date of patches and either time of application or for outstanding vulnerabilities the time of issue of such report;
- 9.5.6 propose interim mitigation measures to vulnerabilities in the IT Environment known to be exploitable where a security patch is not immediately available;
- 9.5.7 remove or disable any extraneous interfaces, services or capabilities that are not needed for the provision of the Services (in order to reduce the attack surface of the IT Environment); and
- 9.5.8 inform the Buyer when it becomes aware of any new threat, vulnerability or exploitation technique that has the potential to affect the security of the IT Environment and provide initial indications of possible mitigations.

9.6 If the Supplier is unlikely to be able to mitigate the vulnerability within the time-scales under this Paragraph VULNERABILITIES AND FIXING THEM, the Supplier shall immediately notify the Buyer.

OFFICIAL

- 9.7 A failure to comply with Paragraph The Supplier shall procure the application of security patches to vulnerabilities within a maximum period from the public release of such patches with those vulnerabilities categorised as 'Critical' within 7days of release, 'Important' within 14 days of release and all 'Other' within 60 Working Days of release, except where: shall constitute a Default, and the Supplier shall comply with the Rectification Plan Process.
