 - (g) notify UKRI promptly (and at least within 24 hours) if it receives a request from a Data Subject or a complaint relating to a Data Subject and promptly provide UKRI with all such data, information, cooperation and assistance as is required by UKRI in order to respond to and resolve the request or complaint within any applicable time frames;
 - (h) provide such information and allow for and contribute to audits, including inspections, conducted by UKRI or an auditor mandated by UKRI, as is reasonably necessary to enable UKRI to satisfy itself of the Supplier's compliance with this Clause 15 and the Data Protection Legislation
 - (i) on termination or expiry of this Contract, and at any other time on UKRI's request, either return or destroy (as elected by UKRI) the Personal Data (including all copies of it) and confirm in writing that it has complied with this obligation; and
 - (j) notify UKRI without undue delay on becoming aware of any Personal Data Breach and promptly following notification, provide such data, information and assistance as is required by UKRI in order for UKRI to notify the Personal Data Breach to the Information Commissioner and/or Data Subject(s) and otherwise fulfil its obligations under Data Protection Legislation.

On request from UKRI, the Supplier shall provide UKRI with copies of the insurance policy certificates and details of the cover provided.

17 FORCE MAJEURE

Neither Party shall have any liability under or be deemed to be in breach of the Contract for any delays or failures in performance of the Contract which result from circumstances beyond the reasonable control of the Party affected. Each Party shall promptly notify the other Party in writing when such circumstances cause a delay or failure in performance and when they cease to do so. If such circumstances continue for a continuous period of more than 30 days, either Party may terminate the Contract by written notice to the other Party.

18 TERMINATION

18.1 UKRI may terminate the Contract in whole or in part at any time before the Goods and/or Services are provided with immediate effect by giving the Supplier written notice, whereupon the Supplier shall discontinue the provision of the Goods and/or Services (in whole or in part as applicable). UKRI shall pay to the Supplier:

- (a) such Charges or that part of the Charges for Goods which have been Delivered to UKRI or, on the deemed date of service of the notice of cancellation, are already in transit and the costs of materials which the Supplier has purchased to fulfil the order for the Goods and which cannot be used for other orders or be returned to the supplier of those materials for a refund; and/or
- (b) such Charges or that part of the Charges for Services provided and a fair and reasonable portion of the Charges for work-in-progress in performing the Services at the time of termination, but UKRI shall not be liable for any loss of anticipated profits or any consequential loss and the Supplier shall have a duty to mitigate its costs and shall on request provide proof of work-in-progress claimed.

18.2 UKRI may terminate the Contract at any time by notice in writing to the Supplier to take effect on any date falling at least 1 month (or, if the Contract is less than 3 months in duration, at least 10 Working Days) later than the date of service of the relevant notice.

18.3 Without prejudice to any other right or remedy it might have, UKRI may terminate the Contract by written notice to the Supplier with immediate effect if the Supplier:

- (a) (without prejudice to clause 18.3(e)), is in material breach of any obligation under the Contract which is not capable of remedy;

- (d) undergoes a change of control within the meaning of section 1124 of the Corporation Tax 2010, unless UKRI has given its prior written consent to the change of control or does not raise an objection within 6 months of the Supplier's written notice to UKRI that a change of control has occurred;

- 18.6 Termination or expiry of the Contract shall be without prejudice to the rights of either Party accrued prior to termination or expiry and shall not affect the continuing rights of the Parties under clauses 2, 3.2, 3.3, 8, 11, 12.1, 13, 14, 15, 16, 18.7, 19.4, 20.3, 21 and 22.9 and any other term or condition of the Contract that either expressly or by implication has effect after termination.

All packaging materials shall be considered non-returnable. The Supplier shall indemnify UKRI against all actions, suits, claims, demands, losses, charges, costs and expenses which UKRI may suffer or incur as a result of, or in connection with, any breach of this clause 19.3.
- 19.4 If notified by UKRI, the Supplier shall comply with, and shall ensure that its Staff shall comply with, the provisions of:
- (a) the Official Secrets Acts 1911 to 1989; and

20 PREVENTION OF FRAUD AND CORRUPTION

- 20.1 The Supplier shall not offer, give, or agree to give anything, to any person an inducement or reward for doing, refraining from doing, or for having done or refrained from doing, any act in relation to the obtaining or execution of the Contract or for showing or refraining from showing favour or disfavour to any person in relation to the Contract.
- 20.2 The Supplier shall take all reasonable steps, in accordance with Good Industry Practice, to prevent fraud by the Staff and the Supplier (including its shareholders, members and directors) in connection with the Contract and shall notify UKRI immediately if it has reason to suspect that any fraud has occurred or is occurring or is likely to occur.
- 20.3 If the Supplier or the Staff engages in conduct prohibited by clause 20.1 or commits fraud in relation to the Contract or any other contract with the Crown (including UKRI) UKRI may:
- (a) terminate the Contract and recover from the Supplier the amount of any loss suffered by UKRI resulting from the termination, including the cost reasonably incurred by UKRI of making other arrangements for the supply of the Goods and/or Services and any additional expenditure incurred by UKRI throughout the remainder of the Contract; or
 - (b) recover in full from the Supplier any other loss sustained by UKRI in consequence of any breach of this clause.

21 DISPUTE RESOLUTION

- 21.1 The Parties shall attempt in good faith to negotiate a settlement to any dispute between them arising out of or in connection with the Contract and such efforts shall involve the escalation of the dispute to an appropriately senior representative of each Party.
- 21.2 If the dispute cannot be resolved by the Parties within one month of being escalated as referred to in clause 21.1, the dispute may by agreement between the Parties be referred to a neutral adviser or mediator (the "Mediator") chosen by agreement between the Parties. All negotiations connected with the dispute shall be conducted in confidence and without prejudice to the rights of the Parties in any further proceedings.
- 21.3 If the Parties fail to appoint a Mediator within one month, or fail to enter into a written agreement resolving the dispute within one month of the Mediator being appointed, either Party may exercise any remedy it has under applicable law.

22 GENERAL

- 22.1 Each of the Parties represents and warrants to the other that it has full capacity and authority, and all necessary consents, licences and permissions to enter into and perform its obligations under the Contract, and that the Contract is executed by its duly authorised representative.

- 22.2 The Supplier warrants and represents that during the Term it shall not accept work from other sources that will in any way impair or affect its ability to provide the Goods and/or Services and comply with the terms of this Contract.
- 22.3 The Supplier must make sure that neither it nor any of its Staff or sub-contractors are placed in a position where there is or may be an actual conflict, or a potential conflict, between their interests or the interests of its Staff or sub-contractors and the Supplier's obligations under this Contract. You must disclose to us the particulars of any conflict of interest that arises.
- 22.4 A person who is not a party to the Contract shall have no right to enforce any of its provisions which, expressly or by implication, confer a benefit on him or her, without the prior written agreement of the Parties.
- 22.5 The Contract cannot be varied except in writing signed by a duly authorised representative of both the Parties.
- 22.6 The Contract contains the whole agreement between the Parties and supersedes and replaces any prior written or oral agreements, representations or understandings between them. The Parties confirm that they have not entered into the Contract on the basis of any representation that is not expressly incorporated into the Contract. Nothing in this clause 22.6 shall exclude liability for fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation.
- 22.7 Any waiver or relaxation either partly, or wholly of any of the terms and conditions of the Contract shall be valid only if it is communicated to the other Party in writing and expressly stated to be a waiver. A waiver of any right or remedy arising from a breach of contract shall not constitute a waiver of any right or remedy arising from any other breach of the Contract.
- 22.8 The Contract shall not constitute or imply any partnership, joint venture, agency, fiduciary relationship or other relationship between the Parties other than the contractual relationship expressly provided for in the Contract. Neither Party shall have, nor represent that it has, any authority to make any commitments on the other Party's behalf.
- 22.9 Except as otherwise expressly provided by the Contract, all remedies available to either Party for breach of the Contract (whether under the Contract, statute or common law) are cumulative and may be exercised concurrently or separately, and the exercise of one remedy shall not be deemed an election of such remedy to the exclusion of other remedies.
- 22.10 If any provision of the Contract is prohibited by law or judged by a court to be unlawful, void or unenforceable, the provision shall, to the extent required, be severed from the Contract and rendered ineffective as far as possible without modifying the remaining provisions of the Contract, and shall not in any way affect any other circumstances of or the validity or enforcement of the Contract.

- 23.2 Notices served as above shall be deemed served on the Working Day of delivery provided delivery is before 5.00pm on a Working Day. Otherwise delivery shall be deemed to occur on the next Working Day. An email shall be deemed delivered when sent unless an error message is received.

23.3 Notices under clauses 17 and 18 may be served by email only if the original notice is then sent to the recipient by personal delivery or recorded delivery in the manner set out in clause 23.1.

24 GOVERNING LAW AND JURISDICTION

24.1 The validity, construction and performance of the Contract, and all contractual and non-contractual matters arising out of it, shall be governed by English law and shall be subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts to which the Parties submit.

Schedule 2

Specification

1 The Suppliers shall provide the Goods and/or Services in accordance with this Schedule

1. Background

The Arts and Humanities Research Council (AHRC) is part of UK Research and Innovation (UKRI), funding world-class, independent researchers in a wide range of subjects from history and archaeology to philosophy and languages. We also fund more contemporary research including the design and effectiveness of digital content and the impact of artificial intelligence. Support for the next generation of arts and humanities researchers is a key element of AHRC's strategy and represents a significant investment for the Council. AHRC supports doctoral students \(https://ahrc.ukri.org/skills/phdstudents/\) through three main mechanisms: Doctoral Training Partnerships (DTPs); Centres for Doctoral Training (CDTs); and Collaborative Doctoral Partnerships (CDPs). This specification invites bidders to undertake an evaluation of the first round of the DTP scheme.

There are 11 DTP awards which will provide funding for five cohorts of doctoral students, commencing between October 2014 and 2018, and undertaking projects across the whole of AHRC's subject domain. The DTP awards are due to end in September 2022 and it is timely to review them at this stage, now all cohorts have been recruited. As well as providing development opportunities for individual students, a key element of the DTPs is the partnership and cohort development activity which is enabled through the awards.

The DTP scheme builds on a previous mechanism of providing block funding for student support: the Block Grant Partnerships (BGP). When the DTP call was issued, it was as 'BGP2' and the call included two types of award (Type A and Type B) which became DTPs and CDTs, respectively. The call specification for the Expression of Interest phase is a public document and can be accessed here \(Annex 1\). Information on the full stage is not in the public domain but will be provided to the successful contractor.

The 11 DTPs comprise nine consortia awards, which include a number of universities working together to provide support for students, and two individual awards to Oxford University and Cambridge University, respectively. The primary function of the awards is to support students to undertake high quality doctoral research but DTPs also need to support the student's wider development needs, preparing students for careers within and beyond academia. AHRC's expectations in respect of student development are outlined in the Research Training Framework \(https://ahrc.ukri.org/skills/rtframeworks/\). Additional funding was included in the awards to enable individual student development activity, termed the 'Student Development Fund'. Additional funding (Cohort Development Fund) was also provided to enable cohort-level activities e.g. to support training opportunities for groups of students and to enable networking.

Recruitment of students is devolved to the DTPs, working within AHRC's terms and conditions. Individual studentship awards for full-time students are between three and four years in duration. This means that this review is taking place partway through the DTP awards.

AHRC has already taken a decision to continue the DTP mechanism, with some amendments, and the DTP2 awards commenced in October 2019. It is worth noting that the DTP1 and DTP2 awards are overlapping but this evaluation is only considering DTP1.

The DTP mechanism is common across UKRI, with some variation in the scheme specifications. There is shared UKRI terms and conditions (<https://ahrc.ukri.org/skills/phdstudents/award-holders-terms-and-conditions/>) and guidance for these awards as well as AHRC specific guidance.

The purpose of the evaluation is two-fold: to determine what has been achieved through the scheme as a whole; and to reflect on the process used to achieve the scheme objectives.

The outcome of the review should be a report on the efficacy of the scheme, which highlights strengths and weaknesses, any notable successes, and areas where there is scope for improvement. It should include a set of recommendations to inform AHRC's future support for postgraduate training.

The review should provide an impartial perspective on the scheme and enable AHRC to gain a better understanding of how the DTP model has been implemented to support doctoral students in the arts and humanities. This will enable AHRC to determine the most effective mechanism to support doctoral students in the future.

2. Aims and Objectives of the Project

The Doctoral Training Partnership (DTP) scheme is AHRC's main mechanism for supporting doctoral students. It is a commitment of £164 million, over 11 awards, running from October 2014 to September 2022, by which time we will have supported more than 2,500 students. It is important that AHRC reviews and evaluates the effectiveness of the scheme. The supplier will undertake a robust, evidence-based review of the scheme which will enable AHRC to determine its future support for doctoral students.

The aim of the evaluation is to gain a better understanding of AHRC support for doctoral students through the DTP mechanism and whether the model itself is robust.

The main objective is to review the scheme against the original aims and principles for the scheme. The review should highlight:

- any barriers to the scheme achieving its aims and objectives
- particular achievements of the scheme i.e. where good practice has been displayed or where there is reach beyond the individual awards
- areas that should be continued i.e. highlighting where the model has met or exceeded expectations and there are clear achievements which need to be built on
- and, areas where there is scope for improvement.

The output should be a report which includes clear quantitative and qualitative evidence of what has been achieved through the scheme and evidence-based recommendations to inform future postgraduate provision. It is expected that the evaluation will produce robust data and analysis of that data, which will be made available to AHRC as part of the reporting process.

The evaluation should consider the DTP scheme, as a whole, and should not be reviewing individual DTP awards. Noting, however, that there will need to be an analysis of the information available on individual DTP awards in order to address the scheme-level questions. The successful contractor should determine what questions need to be asked and what evidence collected, in order to assess the efficacy and success of the scheme. Broadly, the contractor is asked to evaluate to what extent DTP has delivered (or is on course to deliver) its proposed objectives and, to what extent the programme has adhered to the principles on which it was based. The contractor will also be asked to consider the mechanisms used for achieving the objectives, including the process for commissioning the awards.

Wherever possible, the evaluation should be based on quantifiable evidence and bidders should consider what outcomes and outputs from the awards might be measurable. It is recognised that there will need to be a significant qualitative element to the evaluation for example, stakeholder views on the quality of the provision.

There are high-level questions which need to be addressed to determine whether the DTP approach to delivering doctoral training has been successful, how AHRC's support contributes to the skills pipeline, and the unique aspects of the AHRC's and the DTPs' provision. The bidder should refer to the Delivery Plan (Annex 2) for a perspective on AHRC's approach to doctoral training.

As noted above, there is a second round of the DTP scheme (DTP2). AHRC is not asking for a review of DTP2 as it has only just commenced. The DTP1 award holders may make reference to the scheme and it will be important for the successful contractor to gain an understanding of the two schemes and how they relate to each other.

The contractor will work closely with AHRC and a steering group (established by AHRC) to determine the questions which will need to be addressed in the review and the information and data needed in order to answer these questions. The review must be led by the contractor but, AHRC will require regular updates to ensure that the review is on track and the steering group will provide advice at key points through the process. As required, AHRC will also provide clarification and advice e.g. on particular aspects of the scheme, data or process.

The contractor will have an initial meeting (May 2020) with the steering group to set parameters, a meeting in October 2020 to review the interim report and a meeting in January 2021 to review the draft final report. In addition, the contractor will need to update AHRC on a regular basis, the timetable for which will be agreed at inception.

Bidders should describe the approach and methodology to be employed in the evaluation. The bid should state what evidence, information and data will need to be collected, the method(s) to be used for collecting it, and the methodology for analysis. AHRC has information available as part of its ongoing engagement with the award holders on which the successful contractor may wish to draw. This includes: annual reports from the award holders; student data (e.g. university, subject being studied); student surveys; and impact data. Bidders should specify any information or approaches beyond this and indicate how this information will be obtained. AHRC will not be in a position to provide non-AHRC data or information, nor will we undertake additional evidence gathering from award holders or students and this will need to be factored in to the contractors work allocation. It is anticipated that the supplier will wish to engage with the DTP award holders and the students and this may extend to DTP partner organisations, alumni and employers.

The main output should be a final report for AHRC staff, the findings must be evidence-based and refer back to the original specification for the scheme but, should go beyond it, to quantify outcomes from the scheme. Contractors are also asked to consider the evaluation from the perspective of how the landscape would have looked without AHRC funding. In addition, the review should address:

- How can we demonstrate that the award holder strategies for supporting doctoral students have been successful?

- What is the added value of the DTP award mechanism i.e. what has been achieved beyond providing funding for individual students?
- What is the added value of a consortia approach, as opposed to block funding to individual institutions?
- What approaches employed by the DTPs have been particularly successful and what has worked less well?
- Could the award holders have gone further in delivering the objectives? If so, in what way?
- Is AHRC funding adding value to the arts and humanities doctoral landscape? If so, in what way?
- Have the awards had any influence beyond support for individual students? If so, what has been achieved?
- Have the awards had an impact beyond the cohort of AHRC-funded students e.g. through wider adoption of the DTPs' method of working?
- Whether a different approach to the delivery mechanism or process would have enabled AHRC to better achieve the scheme objectives?

AHRC has a particular interest in the ways in which approaches to equality, diversity and inclusion form part of the DTP awards, both in terms of student recruitment and mechanisms for student support during their doctoral study. As an example, we would be interested to understand how well widening participation is being enabled through the awards.

The successful contractor will need to formulate the best way to answer these questions and identify any other questions that need to be considered to assess the success of the scheme. This approach will form a key part of the assessment of the bid.

Wherever possible, quantitative information should be included e.g. to demonstrate the impact of the approaches that have been taken within the scheme.

The report should also include a clear set of recommendations, outlining the approach which the findings suggest that AHRC should take to supporting postgraduates in the future.

It is anticipated that the review will provide a novel analysis of existing data and generate a range of new data, all of which would be delivered to AHRC as part of the reporting.

3. Suggested Methodology

Whilst there are 11 DTP awards, all of these are collaborative and the contractor may want to engage representatives of the academic and non-academic partners separately.

The DTP awards have a Director and Manager and may include other staff e.g. training lead, and the contractor may want to engage with these separately.

The contractor may want to consider comparator populations e.g. other arts and humanities students or other Councils' DTPs – this activity will vary in scale depending on the population selected.

Total number of Participants (experimental design) - 11 DTPs (noting 9 are consortia). About 2,500 students supported.

Total number of Interviews (survey) -11 DTPs. Students (including alumni) ~ 2,500

but likely that contractor will approach a subset

Total number of Interviews (qualitative) - 11 DTPs + subset of students

Total number of Focus Groups - 1 or 2 (if required)

Total number of Case Studies - 10

The contractor will need to determine the approach to addressing the questions but we are keen for quantitative information e.g. on the impact of the awards, to be included wherever possible. AHRC holds student data and quantitative and qualitative information is provided in the annual reports but it is anticipated that further engagement will be required with the DTPs and possibly students and alumni to gain a more complete picture of impact. We have contact details for DTP award holders and current students, though contractors may wish to contact students through the DTPs.

Two cohorts of students will have finished by the time of the evaluation and the third cohort are due to finish 30 September 2020. It is anticipated that the contractor will wish to engage doctoral graduates (alumni) as well as current students. It will be easier to engage current students than alumni and the contractor may wish to bear this in mind in planning the timing of activities.

The contractor will need to decide which groups of people to engage but, might consider including: DTP award holders (Directors); DTP team e.g. managers; DTP partners – these might be formal and informal and include both academic and non-academic organisations; students; alumni; supervisors; employers; non-AHRC-funded students; other Councils' DTPs.

The evaluation should consider only the DTP awards and is a review of the scheme, as a whole, not of individual DTP awards. It should not cover the other AHRC postgraduate schemes: CDTs and CDPs, and nor should it include any support provided for Master's students. It also excludes any additional opportunities which might be available to students e.g. the International Placement Scheme. Information on these areas can be provided for context, if required. We will provide information on the National Productivity Investment Fund which was additional support for some of the DTPs and is likely to be raised by award holders.

The evaluation should be led by the contractor working closely with AHRC staff. The AHRC will be able to provide background information on the scheme, awards, studentships and data required for the review. AHRC will not be in a position to supply non-AHRC information e.g. on the wider arts and humanities doctoral population.

The supplier must adhere to UKRI's Privacy Notice and include this in all correspondence with the individuals with whom they engage. They must also confirm that they are 'working towards' GDPR compliance. It will be necessary to sign a non-disclosure agreement as the review will potentially include personal, sensitive and commercial information.

The contractor should manage the evaluation and include a clear timeline for the activities as part of the bid. This must include regular review points with AHRC staff. In addition, AHRC will be setting up a steering group to provide advice to the suppliers on the evaluation and the supplier will report to the group at least three times during the period.

The evaluation will commence on 1 May 2020 and the final report must have been approved by AHRC by 28 February 2021. An interim report which formally presents initial findings will be required by 30 September 2020 and we will set a break point to enable an assessment of progress.

4. Deliverables

The project must commence on 1 May 2020 with an Inception Plan agreed within two weeks. Frequency of contact with AHRC should be indicated in the bid but, should include a weekly update.

AHRC will be able to provide some initial data and information on the process, scheme, students, award holder reports and outputs. This will be available at the start of the project once a Data Sharing Agreement has been signed. If additional information is required from AHRC, at least one week's notice should be provided.

An interim report will be required by 30 September 2020 and we will set a break point to enable an assessment of progress. The final report must have been approved and delivered to AHRC, with the accompanying presentation, questionnaire (if used), data and data analysis, by 28 February 2021.

The supplier will have an initial meeting (May 2020) with the steering group to set parameters, a meeting in October 2020 to review the interim report and a meeting in January 2021 to review the draft final report.

The outputs will be:

- a quality-assured final report,
- PowerPoint slides summarising the key findings
- questionnaire (if used)
- data gathered as part of the contract and the analysis of that data.

Schedule 3
