Schedule 2 - Specification

- 1 The Suppliers shall provide the Goods and/or Services in accordance with this Schedule 2.

The UK's Foundation Industries (metals, cement, chemicals, glass, paper, ceramics) have traditionally been male dominated, and still lack women in leadership roles. This has a cascade effect into the talent pipeline with few role models for women more junior in their careers, compounded by limiting beliefs such as glass ceilings and imposter syndrome. Women Innovators in Foundation Industries (WINFI) is an initiative spearheaded by the Transforming Foundation Industries Challenge to:

- Raise the profile of women innovators as thought leaders in the Foundation Industries
- Create networking opportunities for women, allies and other stakeholders to foster innovation collaborations and partnerships
- Enable the “inner innovator” and increasing confidence of professional women in Foundation Industries through upskilling & training

Since 2022, WINFI has hosted 6 events with various themes to bring together women innovators to discuss technological progress but also with allies to discuss career progression and retention. The TFI Challenge has also supported 80 women from across the Foundation Industries and their supply chains in a fully funded leadership development programme.

We want to bring all of these elements together to establish a mentoring programme to facilitate long-lasting networking beyond the end of the TFI Challenge (March 2025).

Required elements:

- Mentor and Mentee Recruitment: A tailored recruitment strategy to attract suitable mentors and mentees from the foundation industries, by making it clear what is the value for both mentor and mentee. This could include creating custom webpage/communications to promote the programme and the development opportunities available to mentors.
- Application form: Formulate questions for a short application form, for both potential mentors and mentees to gather information necessary for the matching process. Innovate UK Business Connect will help in the distribution of the application form via mailshots, newsletters and LinkedIn posts. If the supplier cannot host a digital application form, they should let us know in advance so we can make suitable arrangements.
- Matching Process: Support the team in carefully matching mentors and mentees, ensuring alignment of goals and expectations. Provide both parties with introductory information and guidance to begin their mentoring relationship.
- Mentor Training: Provide a short training programme for mentors, focusing on developing their mentoring skills and preparing them to effectively support their mentees within this official programme but also beyond.
- Mentor Support: make sure mentors feel supported and they have a safe space to share experiences, seek advice, and continue their development after the formal training has concluded.
- Mentee Support: check-in points to make sure mentees are progressing well in the programme and to address any concerns or challenges they may be facing.
- Prize – there will be a large-scale end of challenge event where we would like to recognise women in foundation industries via an awards campaign. At the event we will announce 3x award winners and we would like the supplier to be able to sponsor or provide a suitable prize to empower and inspire the award winners.

Expected outcomes:

- Establishment of lasting cross foundation industry connections.
- Leave a legacy of collaborative and supportive relationships.
- Upskill women in how to be mentors with useful resources.
- Enhanced development and knowledge sharing across the 6 sectors.
- Documented impact and feedback to guide future mentoring programmes.

The programme will involve at least 10 mentor-mentee pairs, up to 20 depending on the interest received. The delivery timeline must span a period from October 2024, to be concluded by the end of February 2025, with any final feedback and impact analysis activities to be completed by mid-March 2025.

Travel and Subsistence:

Bidders are advised that travel and subsistence costs will need to form part of the tender cost.
