0. PURPOSE

The primary aim of this project is to develop a framework to include the reduction in unemployment in the Department for Transport's (DfT) appraisal framework.

This project will build on the findings of a recent analysis by Daniel Johnson (2023) on the link between transport investment and distinct types of unemployment.

1. BACKGROUND TO THE CONTRACTING AUTHORITY

The contracting authority is the Department for Transport (DfT). DfT is the government department responsible for the safety and security of transport across the UK, including inbound threat and risk.

Our strategic objectives are:

- Improving transport for the User
- Reduce Environmental Impacts
- Grow and level up the economy

2. BACKGROUND TO REQUIREMENT/OVERVIEW OF REQUIREMENT

Transport has an important role in improving labour market outcomes by connecting businesses and workers. However, the department for transport's appraisal and modelling guidance TAG does not currently allow monetising benefits from a reduction in unemployment that can arise due to an improvement in transport connectivity. At present, TAG only considers tax gains to the treasury from a movement from inactivity to activity as one of the wider economic impacts.

This project will aim to:

Below-threshold ITT

Contract Reference: TANL3024

- Provide a thorough, comprehensive, and robust framework to appraise the impact of transport investment on unemployment in different contexts.
- Develop updated Transport Analysis Guidance (TAG) to support users on the practical and proportionate application of these methods.

The study will have the following deliverables:

- 1) A method report outlining how the impact of transport investments on various kinds of unemployment could potentially be appraised. The supplier should expect to receive feedback from the DfT on an at least one version of the method report. Any important key points which may arise during the project should be incorporated into the final method report.
- 2) A stakeholder workshop to discuss the key points outlined in the method report to appraise the impact of transport on unemployment and the underlying assumptions made to build the framework.

More information on the appraisal method report is discussed in section 5.

It is expected that the supplier will be in regular contact with the Department through fortnightly meetings to check on progress and discuss any potential issues and email chains as required. Before commencing the project, the Department and the supplier will agree on a reasonable timeline. The supplier should inform the Department if any issues arise which may delay the timings of the key deliverables.

- A recent work in this area conducted by Daniel Johnson identified Shadow Wage approach as one of the more promising options for appraising the impact of transport on unemployment. Unless a more robust approach is identified during this project, it is suggested the Shadow Wage methodology is developed further.
- The theoretical framework should include a mathematical as well as a written explanation of how the new approach should be applied in practice. Moreover,

Department for Transport

Below-threshold ITT

Contract Reference: TANL3024

further context should be provided to help practitioners decide when it might be appropriate to quantify impacts from unemployment reduction. To help achieve this, a brief example or a case study/studies should be created to illustrate the methodology and its use.

Appraisal challenges related to the use of the methodology should be discussed thoroughly. As outlined in section 4 below, these may include for example questions around how benefits are forecasted into the future and how parameters needed for the calculations are decided.

3. DEFINITIONS

4. SCOPE OF REQUIREMENT

The overarching research objectives of this project are to:

- 1) Develop and propose a robust, proportionate and practical framework for assessing and monetising the impacts of transport investments on various kinds of unemployment to strengthen the transport appraisal process outlined in TAG.
- 2) Understand what type of analysis would be helpful in furthering the Department's understanding of the impact of transport on unemployment.

Below-threshold ITT
Contract Reference: TANL3024

5. THE REQUIREMENT

The unemployment think piece commissioned by the DfT has outlined the relevant theoretical issues and practical considerations relating to this topic. This study aims to comprehensively tackle all of these issues, and ultimately lead the Transport Analysis Guidance to account for the impacts of transport investments on unemployment in the UK.

The project requirement is to identify a suitable supplier for the following deliverables:

Work package 1: Report outlining a framework for capturing unemployment impacts in appraisal

The purpose of this part of the work is to create a robust analytical framework for unemployment appraisal, which might take a quantitative or a qualitative form, where a quantitative approach is preferred. The proposed framework should be consistent with economic theory, supported by empirical evidence and, if applicable, fully specified in mathematical terms. Limitations of the suggested approach should also be covered thoroughly, and they should inform the last part of the work as outlined below.

The following questions should be addressed when formulating the approach:

- What is a suitable framework for the assessment of employment impacts of transport investments?
- How may the framework be adapted by size and type of scheme, keeping in mind proportionality of appraisal efforts?
- If a mathematical framework can be formulated, what data and possible elasticity values and other parameters would be required to capture employment impacts in appraisal? How could these impacts be monetised?

The Department recognises that it might not be possible to produce a complete mathematical framework without further additional empirical research. The aim is hence to make progress in examining what kind of further analysis might be needed and what options for an analytical framework exist.

Below-threshold ITT

- What would the prerequisites be for being able to conduct these calculations? This could be for example in terms of demographic or locational factors, or types of transport schemes. (i.e. it is expected that different modes impact distinct causes of unemployment differently - what does this mean in terms of the suggested approach to monetisation?)
- If quantification is deemed unrealistic, what are the reasons for this and what would be an alternative framework?
- What would be the impact be in terms of welfare and GDP, and would these differ, and if so, why?
- How can appropriate counterfactuals be defined?
- How can displacement be accounted for?
- What appraisal period would be suitable for different types of unemployment? What are the caveats in appraising unemployment impacts over time?
- How can the appraisal framework developed be used to estimate impacts robustly under both fixed and variable land-use assumptions? What would be the caveats associated with estimating impacts under variable land-use? Do all unemployment impacts imply some form of land-use change?
- Assuming the same calculations as above under a change in land use, would there be second order impacts from an increase in demand? How could these be calculated, and would this be realistic?
- How can the risk of double-counting unemployment benefits and labour supply benefits as outlined in TAG be addressed? Suppliers should note the methodology used in the labour supply calculations, specifically, the way in which the labour supply elasticity has been obtained. Are there any other risks of double-counting other TAG impacts, beyond the labour supply calculations?

- How can the suggested framework be robustly integrated with the Department's current appraisal practice?

When planning the appraisal methodology, the supplier should consider different approaches and then outline and reason the preferred option in the report. Prior to the workshop, the supplier should expect to receive feedback from the DfT on an at least one version of the method report. This is to ensure that the report meets the needs of the Department. If necessary, the Department will request multiple iterations of the report.

After the workshop, the report should be updated to include all the relevant points raised in the workshop. Multiple iterations of the report may be required.

The supplier should trial the proposed appraisal framework on an appropriate number of case studies (TBD), to illustrate the impact it could have on transport appraisals and help explain how it works.

Based on the appraisal framework developed, suggestions for further analysis that would support the proposal should be provided. These may relate to furthering the understanding of the empirics of transport's impact on unemployment, estimation of parameter values or data sources for appraisal calculations.

Work package 2: Workshop to discuss the framework to include the impacts of transport investments on unemployment in the appraisal process

The aim of the workshop is to prompt a discussion between the DfT and the supplier on the key points outlined in the method report, the underlying assumptions made to build the framework and any other considerations worth commenting on. This will allow

Department for Transport

Below-threshold ITT

Contract Reference: TANL3024

the group to raise questions related to theory and practises which should then be incorporated in the final method report to strengthen it.

The supplier should provide a presentation and host a discussion to address the key issues. The presentation should be followed by a Q&A discussion – some initial questions can be agreed between the DfT and the supplier in advance, but flexibility should be allowed to address any questions that may be raised during the workshop.

6. KEY MILESTONES AND DELIVERABLES

As part of the procurement, the suppliers are asked to provide a mini proposal that sets out the key milestones of the project and links these to a payment schedule.

The payments will be made in 3 parts. The following milestones are expected to be included in the proposal:

Milestone/Deliverable	Description	Timeframe or Delivery Date
1	Inception Meeting – Agree expectations of contract, including a project plan.	Suppliers to specify.
2	Draft appraisal method report	Suppliers to specify.
3	Workshop	Suppliers to specify.
4	Final appraisal method report	Suppliers to specify.

7. CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT

Below-threshold ITT
Contract Reference: TANL3024

Changes to the way in which the services are to be delivered must be brought to the Authority's attention and agreed in written communication prior to any changes being implemented.

8. STAFF AND CUSTOMER SERVICE

The supplier shall provide a sufficient level of resource throughout the duration of the Contract in order to consistently deliver a quality service as per the DfT's specification.

The supplier shall ensure that staff understand the Authority's vision and objectives and will provide excellent customer service to the Authority throughout the duration of the Contract.

9. SUSTAINABILITY

The Supplier acknowledges that the Authority must at all times be seen to be actively promoting sustainable development through its environmental, social and economic responsibilities.

The Authority suggests that suppliers provide departments with electronic copies of all paperwork. If agreed, it would then be the responsibility of the department and selection panel to print their own paperwork.

10. QUALITY

The supplier will need to provide evidence of how it will deliver a quality product at every stage of the process. This should include:

- Regular meetings with the DfT project board to assess progress and to discuss arising analytical questions in order to decide best approaches.
- Engaging with the HMT appraisal team to discuss suggested changes to the DfT's appraisal framework.

11. PRICE

The contract will be placed on a Firm Price basis.

12. DATA PROTECTION

The supplier will be required to comply with all applicable requirements of the Data Protection Legislation (including the Data Protection Act 2018 and the UK General Data Protection Regulation ("UK GDPR") and all applicable Law about the processing of personal data and privacy). The supplier will not be required to process any Personal Data on behalf of the DfT.

13. PAYMENT AND INVOICING

Fixed fee paid in three parts, as set out in the mini proposal. The payments can only be made following satisfactory delivery of the work.

Invoices must be sent either electronically or postal. All electronic invoices and credit notes will need to be emailed to:

14. CONTRACT MANAGEMENT

The DfT Contract Manager will remain in regular contact with the supplier throughout the contract lifecycle. Milla Hamunen will be the Contract Manager. Attendance at Contract/Supplier Performance Review meetings shall be at the supplier's own expense and the frequency of the meetings will be decided between the successful supplier and the DfT Contract Manager at contract inception.

A meeting between DfT and the supplier will take place towards the end of the contract to discuss the success in delivering the requirements of the contract.

15. ARRANGEMENT FOR END OF CONTRACT

All outstanding reports and documentation pertinent to the contract shall be handed over to the Department, upon request and securely held for a period of three years.

16. LOCATION

All meetings will be carried out remotely.
