

Addendum to the CDGP evaluation Terms of References - The Midline impact Evaluation

The purpose of the midline evaluation is to assess the extent and quality of contribution the programme has made towards the outcomes and impact level indicators of the programme. Doing the survey midterm of the Programme offers robust evidence sooner of the programme effectiveness.

The evaluation will take the same methodology as the impact evaluation in the original terms of reference, attached for ease of reference.

This will include;

1. a panel survey, that will interview the same households as baseline;
2. a community questionnaire done in baseline;
3. tracked households who moved elsewhere where possible
4. a similar questionnaire as baseline that will cover all the key areas of enquiry to answer the key evaluation questions
5. questions to understand the experience of households with CDGP
