Schedule 4 - Statement of Requirements

Introduction

Requirement is for RNAS Cudrose to mobilise specialist environmental contractors to decommission the site and clear of all remaining pollution control equipment and environmental monitoring apparatus to enable the hand back of the land to the 2 x landowners involved, as per the lease agreements at the crash site of Hawk aircraft XX189, at St Martins, near Helston, Cornwall.

This includes over drilling and decommissioning of qty 11 boreholes and removal of all other equipment from site. Authority has been received from the Environment Agency (EA) to RNAS Cudrose that no further environmental monitoring is required, meaning the site can now be demobilised and handed back to the landowners, by 12 Jul 24 at the very latest as this is the date the DIO leases expire.

Requirement & Deliverables

Background:

On 25 Mar 2021 a Hawk T Mk1, XX189 crashed into a wooded area near St Martins, Helston Cornwall. The aircraft broke up resulting in the loss to the environment of all fuel on board, estimated to be around 1600 litres of AVTUR. Subsequent to the crash, the RN Fire and Rescue Service applied approximately 150-200 litres of concentrate Aqueous Film Forming Foam (AFFF) mixed with water, on to the wreckage (contains PFAS which is a Persistent Organic Pollutant). The area is particularly environmentally sensitive being immediately upstream of the Helford SSSI.

- a. RNAS Cudrose and Cornwall Fire and Rescue Service, along with SME input from the Environment Agency, provided the initial environmental response. RAFCAM provided further support.
- b. After the emergency response phase, Adler and Allan were called in under JSP317 arrangements to provide Environmental Consultancy services, which led to additional pipe dams being constructed and drilling of boreholes for groundwater sampling purposes.
- c. Support later moved to AECOM for longer term monitoring and analysis, under contract to DIO EOLM, but funded by NCHQ.
- d. The period of monitoring has now proved that further risk to the environmental receptors is minimal and the EA are content for the site to be de-mobilised.

Environmental contractors are required to be mobilised to the site near St Martins to undertake the work as they can provide the specialist equipment and skills to decommission to the standard expected and the land can be handed back over to the two landowners. Failure to complete the work will result in requirements for new lease agreements with DIO LMS and the Landowners (at additional cost.)

The specification of the decommissioning works to be provided by the contractor includes:

- Over drill the existing boreholes (x 11 No.) and backfill,
- Removal and disposal of vapour monitoring stand pipes,
- Removal and disposal of pipe dams (x 3 locations), including all sand bags, pipes and associated equipment (including any remaining absorbents or filter bags)

- Removal and disposal of all other miscellaneous apparatus still in situ :IBC- (boot wash facility/small solar panel), IBC with purged groundwater (~20% full)
- Production of letter report to details works undertaken
- All waste material is to be classified and taken to an appropriate permitted waste site by a registered waste carrier and consignment notes are provided as evidence.

Optional Requirements

Option 1- To add additional days for drilling if required

Option 2 – Waste disposal of borehole arisings pea gravel and bentonite

Timescales

The land is currently leased (DIO LMS) from two landowners and these leases are due to expire on 12 July 2024. The works must be completed well ahead of this date to ensure the land can be handed back.

Due to securing contractor availability Adler & Allan currently have availability for two weeks (estimated time frame for work- see below) week commencing 13th May 2024.

*Provisional breakdown of contractor site works include:

1. Drilling works (up to 7 days on site)
2. General labour work (5 days on site)

These works above are anticipated to be completed concurrently by the contractor.

Note: The timescale for drilling works may be subject to change once the contractor get to site and starts the grouting as they may find more / less grout is required for each borehole. This would have a knock on effect on the time required to complete the works.
