Annex 2 - Specification

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

The Food Standards Agency (FSA) is an independent Government department working across England, Wales and Northern Ireland (NI) to protect public health and consumers wider interest in food. We make sure food is safe and what it says it is.

The Agency is committed to openness, transparency and equality of treatment to all suppliers. As well as these principles, for science projects the final project report will be published on the Food Standards Agency website (www.food.gov.uk). For science projects we will encourage contractors to publish their work in peer reviewed scientific publications wherever possible. Also, in line with the Government's Transparency Agenda which aims to encourage more open access to data held by government, the Agency is developing a policy on the release of underpinning data from all of its science- and evidence-gathering projects. Underpinning data should also be published in an open, accessible, and re-usable format, such that the data can be made available to future researchers and the maximum benefit is derived from it. The Agency has established the key principles for release of underpinning data that will be applied to all new science- and evidence-gathering projects which we would expect contractors to comply with. These can be found at <http://www.food.gov.uk/about-us/data-and-policies/underpinning-data>

A. THE SPECIFICATION

Background

The FSA, as the Central Competent Authority (CCA) for food, is required under EU legislation to put in place an appropriate regime of official controls to verify food and feed business operator compliance with food and feed law.

In England, local authorities (LAs) and Port Health Authorities (PHAs) are the Competent Authorities responsible for the verification of compliance with food law in food business establishments, and at points of entry. The Food Standards Agency (FSA) is responsible for setting out direction and guidance on the approach that LAs and PHAs, in England, should take in the Food Law Code of Practice (England) (the Code). This is complemented by the Food Law Practice Guidance (England) (the Practice Guidance).

The Code sets out instructions and criteria to which LAs and PHAs must have regard when discharging their duties in relation to the delivery of official food control activities. The FSA, as the Central Competent Authority, is responsible for ensuring food safety and food hygiene in England, Wales, and Northern Ireland.

Local authorities in England operating the Food Hygiene Rating Scheme are expected to follow the Food Hygiene Rating Scheme: Guidance for local authorities on implementation and operation - the Brand Standard) it in full. The purpose is to ensure consistency in implementation and operation of the FHRS by local authorities. The aim is to ensure that where food business establishments are rated under the FHRS and where consumers see FHRS branding, they can be confident that the local authority is operating the FHRS as the Food Standards Agency (FSA) intends.

As part of the FSA Achieving Business Compliance Programme, we want to establish a food and feed regulatory system which is fit for today's modern world, with a clear framework and principles outlining our expectations from Competent Authorities (CAs) in terms of what they need to deliver, yet with sufficient flexibility to encourage innovation from those authorities in how they deliver the service. To ensure that all such legislation relating to food standards is enforced effectively & consistently, we want to provide greater support to CAs to increase officers' ability to consistently interpret technical food standards requirements and deal with non-compliance.

The provision of accessible guidance, information and training is key to our role as CCA to ensure that regulatory delivery is effective/consistent in safeguarding public health across the whole food chain, strengthening liaison where dual enforcement responsibilities exist between LAs, FSA and other government departments.

We view the development of an interactive suite of e-books and supporting e-learning package as an important step in providing a centralised resource for officers in England responsible for delivering official controls and other official activities. The annual review and update of the e-books and e-learning will also ensure officers have access to an up to date resources which provides consistent interpretation and advice on legislative requirements and policy.

This work will help the FSA to develop improvements to the current delivery model which will help us realise our objective – to ensure that food is safe and what it says it is. It will also provide a welcomed single and consistent point of reference for LA and PHA officers in England, Wales and NI.

The provision of training is key to our role as CCA and CA to ensure that regulatory delivery is effective/consistent in safeguarding public health across the whole food chain, strengthening liaison where dual enforcement responsibilities exist between LAs, FSA and other government departments. Doing nothing risks gaps in the control system, impacting on the effectiveness of controls and therefore business compliance, public health and consumer confidence.

Benefits are:

- we realise our strategic goal ‘Food We Can Trust’, drive up compliance, the quality, effectiveness and consistency of official food and feed controls and other official activities
- LA, PHA and FSA operations staff are equipped with the right knowledge, skills and behaviours to effectively undertake controls
- evidence of competency can be provided as part of any third country audits now the UK is no longer part of the European Union
- quicker content consumption/better retention/contextual learning for users, aiding consistency/effectiveness of controls
- greater accessibility, content deployed agilely; minimum effort, cost effective

The Specification

This specification provides an outline of the topics that will form part of the e-learning course content and interactive suite of e-books course, as well as the desired technical outputs.

The aim of this tender is to better support, PHA and FSA operations staff delivering official controls and other official activities, through the design of:

- a user-friendly suite of interactive e-books of the FSA Official Food and Feed Frameworks that give direction and guidance on local authority and FSA delivery of regulatory activities this includes the:
 - Food Law Code of Practice and associated Food Law Practice Guidance \(England\)¹
 - Food Hygiene Rating Scheme: Guidance for local authorities on implementation and operation - the Brand Standard)
 - Manual for Official Controls Framework for FSA operational delivery of official food controls and other official activities in the meat, wine and dairy sectors
- an engaging e-learning course that includes suitable user to support effective and consistent delivery of official controls (that ensure that food businesses are meeting their legal obligations).

We are therefore looking for a supplier with established expertise in the subject matter and wants to be able to use this knowledge to help shape the content. It would be helpful if suppliers could demonstrate previous experience of successful delivery of similar projects.

The e-books and e-learning course will be a vital resource in equipping officers to understand their role and responsibilities when delivering official food and feed controls and other official activities.

1: DELIVERY OF THE REQUIRED SERVICES (30%)

Please answer the questions below: -

Please detail the approach you will take and how you will deliver the requirements detailed in this specification.

We will create a task group to lead on the project, with a lead officer for TSSW, a lead for the IT company and a Head of Service to monitor delivery and provide project governance. We will use individuals from our well established regional feed and food groups as and when expert technical knowledge is required. We will schedule meeting dates to ensure sufficient planning time for prompt delivery of the targets set out in the specification.

We recommend updates to the resources are completed on a quarterly basis, thus enabling consistent version control to be included as the resources develop and thus enabling us to report on updates to users in a consistent manner. A small budget to enable this is included within the financial forecast, under maintenance and staff costs.

To facilitate effective communications between this group and the FSA, we will provide all involved in delivery with access to an FSA collaboration area specifically for this project within the TSSW Intranet*. This enables several people to review documentation and make comments ahead of meetings, such that meetings can be focused on agreeing a script / new content and discussing progress. The TSSW Intranet is designed specifically to support collaborative working across the region and with Central Govt partners. We already have a similar area set up for the FSA food standards reference manual, which has working well over the past 15 months of delivery on that project (detailed included in the supplementary content - examples). The TSSW Intranet is a secure portal that has been used effectively to support such projects for over 10 years now. The use of online collaboration enables efficient workflows where the team can work smarter, enabling them to meet tight deadlines (such as that required of the first task, which has an exceptionally short timeframe for delivery). As a region we have adopted such methods in order to reduce the cost of travel and subsistence, which has been factored into the costing for this deliverable. It also improves transparency, allowing the FSA to see progress being made on the project and to contribute as and when required.

[Trading Standards South West, subcontracting with 2dot0 Ltd]

If required, we can also provide a Forum on this platform to aid discussions between the delivery partners and the FSA, or if required, on the eLearning platform itself - which would allow users of the eBooks and the course to discuss issues. (Please note: we haven't included this in the quote as FSA Smarter Comms already exists for a similar purpose, but we feel it is useful for you to be aware this could be done on either of these platforms mentioned, if you felt it appropriate).

Output 1 is an exceptionally tight turnaround with just 5 weeks to deliver what would normally take 3 months in our experience. Hence, to meet this tight turnaround, we will need to dedicate additional resource to delivery and as such these first 2 eBooks will cost more than the subsequent 2 (in output 2 and 4). For delivery of the eBooks, we will utilise the existing template agreed by the FSA for the 5 eBooks we already deliver for you. Use of this existing eBook template assures our confidence that we can meet this tight turnaround for output 1 (as additional development of such a template from scratch normally takes 4-6 weeks). An example of this template and the existing eBook format is provided in the supplementary content - 3 examples.

The eBooks will be delivered in HTML (as opposed to PDF, in accordance to government accessibility best practice). The content of the text based guidance and manuals will be written into code and displayed as webpages hosted on a secure, customised Moodle platform. The hierarchical navigation for users through the eBook mirrors and enhances the original text with an intuitive, straight-forward interface. An eBook page can contain, words, tables, graphics, audio files, and video files and both content and navigation are responsive across different devices. Additional interactivity facilitates users' understanding of complex content to provide an engaging, user-friendly experience. The eBook functionality includes a powerful search function across both the eBook and its integrated glossary; for managers the feedback and reporting tools plus the user communications system provide essential administration and management support. Further detail of the functionality to be delivered is exemplified in the supplementary examples.

We have a good track record in delivering eBooks nationally, in addition to the 5 we've developed for the FSA, we have also developed 2 for National Trading Standards (on Doorstep Crime and Lettings legislation) and 2 for TSSW (the Enforcement and Legal process manual and the NAWI manual for metrology). Hence, when the platform develops new resources, implementation of these can be considered across all eBooks and the development cost could be shared, ensuring this remains cost efficient over time and uses the most up to date technology available. This aids in future proofing the resources produced for the FSA.

The 5 FSA eBooks already have a combined audience of over 1,200 users nationally and have their own user feedback mechanisms, such that we have confidence that the template is effective and the design of our eBooks offers a high standard of accessibility and positive user experience, which can be inferred onto the new resources created as part of this contract, should it be awarded to TSSW.

We already deliver eLearning on a national scale to the regulatory services community and this experience and expertise provides us with a highly effective approach and delivery mechanism. We have achieved this through use of working groups, with technical experts writing the content, with project management expertise being provided by TSSW and with innovative IT solutions being provided by a sub-contractor 2.0 Ltd with whom we have worked for over 12 years. Our embedded approach and established workflows ensure we can effectively deliver complex projects, and deliver them to a defined schedule (this is covered further in the supplementary documents - supply chain). We have also taken advice from Nottingham University on best practice for delivery of online courses.

Moodle provides a globally renowned, hugely powerful LMS that 2.0 Ltd customise to provide the precise user experience required. The system's scalability delivers cost effective deployment. There are a multitude of testing formats ensuring active learning to accommodate individual student needs, increasing engagement and resulting in better performance. The reporting tools empower managers and administrators to monitor student progress. Hosting the eBooks and eLearning Courses on the same platform not only facilitates user ability but allows cross referencing of materials such as legislation and technical guidance. More regarding the functionality that will deliver the requirements of this specification is as detailed in the supplementary text - 3 examples.

We have a dedicated officer who maintains the set up and review of users and who creates reports for both the NTS and the FSA on user set up and on progress on courses. Whilst the initial creation of each resource is largely completed by the developer due to the technical complexities, in order to keep costs down, two employees of TSSW are also trained in Moodle in order to make updates to the content of both the eBooks and the courses as and when required and within a 48 hour turnaround. However, due to the requirements of version control of such resources we do recommend that any sizeable content changes are subject to a quarterly update process - such that all users are clear of when changes are made and what is added / removed (a notification would be sent to all users with such an update, thus ensuring officers remain suitably informed of changes in legislation and guidance).

All resources will be mobile optimized, such that they remain readable on a variety of devices. Some images provided by the FSA may need design work completed on them to enable this optimization and some time of a designer has been factored into our costings to respond to this likely need. The platform also enables the user to save a chapter or the whole resource onto their equipment as a PDF, this facilitates usage of the reference materials in the field if an internet connection isn't available. This download is labelled with the version control, so that it is clear to the user when it was saved and such that they can check the platform to see if it has been updated (and when they would need to download again in order to keep the content they have saved current).

With regard to the Welsh translations of the quizzes' text or film scripts that are to be supplied by the FSA, these will be included in the resources bank. If the FSA require more interaction in Welsh, this will need to be clearly specified and costed additionally.

Please provide a detailed implementation plan and timeline, from start to completion outlining all relevant milestones for delivery of the work as detailed in the specification. The timeline must take into account the ongoing review approach, to ensure that the e-books and e-learning course is updated over the contractual period and remains valid over time.

We are able to provide all 4 new eBooks (in the existing format adopted by the FSA for food standards reference manuals and 2 existing feed eBooks) and the course within the delivery deadlines outlined in the specification. The development timeframes to enable this are detailed in the table below.

eLearning Course In our experience, courses tend to take between 6 and 9 months to create and develop. We will liaise with the FSA in order to produce a precise delivery, as this will be very dependent on when FSA provide TSSW with scripts. In order to meet the end of year deadline however, this process should be started no later than Q2 of this financial year. The usual steps for the development of a course are as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Liaise with the FSA on the design and development requirements of the course (including an integration requirements with the eBooks, interactive exercises for students, testing requirements, glossary and resources etc) • Beta design for the course • Review content with an expert officer and from an active learning perspective • Population of content • Piloting the course on a small group of @25 students (which is necessary to ensure all test questions are performing as expected, to generate feedback on the course and to review the appropriate number of hours for CPD (aiming for near to 6.5hrs, as outlined in the specification) • Respond to findings of the pilot and make updates prior to national launch 	31 March 2022
Output 3 Develop and expand the scope of the eLearning course to cover meat, dairy and wine sectors We would follow the outline above for a course. As there will be new elements of testing included, this would need to be launched as either a new course or a second version of the course. Development timescales estimated at 6 to 9 months from inception to national launch	31 March 2023
Output 4 Creation of an eBook for the Manual of Official Control Framework Content to be created into the eBook within 3 months of the copy being provided by the FSA (a precise schedule will be provided once the delivery date of the FHRS guide is provided). As with output 1, the schedule will include a mid-development phase teleconference, a first draft deadline and a final sign off deadline and will reflect similar milestones to be agreed at project initiation.	31 March 2023
Output 5 Extend scope and update the eLearning course to cover Wales and Northern Ireland We would follow the outline provided in output 2 for the Northern Ireland course. We will likely be able to deliver the Welsh adaptations to the course quicker than 9 months, as it is anticipated the changes to this will be fairly limited (as agreed in the Q and A with the FSA during this tender process).	31 March 2024
Output 6 Hosting and Maintenance Minor platform enhancements are delivered as required in accordance with evolving client needs. Moodle HQ publish a cycle of updates for the platform and a roadmap https://docs.moodle.org/dev/Roadmap for development this includes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Annual major version update to Moodle - involves major work to ensure that theme is updated to function on revised platform - costs covered in hosting and support. • 6 monthly minor update to Moodle - costs covered in hosting and support. 	April 2021 to March 2024

When a new version of the software is released, development work is scheduled and then subsequently put live to ensure a seamless adoption of the update without loss of customisation. Updates improve performance and security, responding to new threats. Any additional updates to functionality and content is informed by the reporting functionality and user feedback options within the platform (see supplementary guidance - 3 examples).
Ongoing reviews and updates of content We will provide the FSA with details of usage and course progress for review on a quarterly basis. We recommend a teleconference is scheduled between the FSA and TSSW lead to review feedback received and will give the FSA the opportunity to make any additions / updates to content (such as additional weblinks or amends to small pieces of text). The end of year reports will be more details than the quarterly reports and will allow full review of the resources, along with the proposed annual survey of users. Hence any major updates would be completed following this, likely in Q1.	April, July, October and January each year
Please provide details of your licensing structure and how you will accommodate the likely licensing requirements as detailed in the specification.
The 2.0 platform has been designed to accommodate up to 20,000 users. The user licensing cost structure is on an annual basis from eBook/course launch date and includes setup, delivery, hosting and support costs as well as security. The base fee is calculated on 1500 users which should cover the intended audience for Output 1. The maintenance and hosting fee is comparable to those quoted in our other FSA contracts (which are also for up to 1500 users). Where user numbers are anticipated to exceed 1500, the maintenance fee will increase to reflect this in increments of 1000 users at a reduced rate of £400 per additional 1000 (with a margin of 50 users to be applied ie incremental increases will not be applied until 1550, 2550 etc users are registered). This is reflected in the finance template. This reduction in cost per user 1500+ for this FSA contract is accounted for by economies of scale that can be applied across the project components plus the discount applied for multiple contracts held with the FSA.
How would the FSA be required to work with your team?
It is recommended that the FSA designate a project lead for each output. As previously outlined these individuals, and any other colleagues the FSA wish to have input, will have access to the intranet collaboration area. It is expected that all collaboration will take place remotely via teleconference, videoconference and documentation sharing via the intranet. The development schedule above outlines where we feel liaison with the FSA would be helpful. This will enable us to report to the FSA on changes in user set up numbers, any feedback users have provided via the feedback function and make any recommendations relating to that feedback that we may be able to facilitate through the platform and our task group's expertise (e.g. to ensure content remains responsive and to advise where illustration or further explanation of key areas may aid user understanding). The FSA will provide content for us to build. With regard to the eLearning courses, liaison with the FSA will be required particularly on the design and development requirements of the courses (including any integration requirements with the eBooks, interactive exercises for students, testing requirements, glossary and resources etc). The FSA should designate a sign off procedure for putting content live. We recommend a designated project lead(s) is provided by the FSA, who will have the role of signing off any new content / proposed revisions before it is added to the resource. Minor changes, such as typos or broken links will be amended by TSSW upon request and within the budget. We are also happy to host a collaboration area on the TSSW Intranet (as mentioned previously), hence should the FSA ask TSSW to aid with any scripting as new legislation changes, there is an area that can be used to work collaboratively. This can also be used when developing the course and any interactive design elements to aide delegate understanding of the more tricky areas of legislation - where you may wish to work through a case study or example (Please see supplementary document - 3 examples - FSA food reference manual for details of how we propose to collaborate with the FSA).

2: ORGANISATIONAL EXPERIENCE, EXPERTISE AND STAFF EFFORT (20%)

Please answer the questions below: -

Please detail your knowledge and any experience you have in the development of food and/or feed safety related e-learning or other specialist e-learning courses and e-books.

Please provide an example of a similar project that the proposed project team have completed.

We have experience in delivery of eLearning on a national scale to the regulatory services community. We have previously developed and hosted 2 feed courses for the FSA in response to requirements to improve training made by the FVO followed an audit. Namely a course covering official controls of feed at Point of Entry and Feed at Primary Production. These were delivered to 113 and 273 students respectively between 2015 and 2018. We have already been commissioned to deliver updated versions of these courses in 2021, including new content.

Since late 2018 we have hosted the feed Code of practice and practice guidance as eBooks on this platform.

In 2019 we put in an application to the tender for the online hosting of the FSA food standard reference manuals for England, Wales and Northern Ireland and won the 5 year delivery contract. We proposed the use of the Moodle platform and creation of eBooks. These were developed in 2019 and are updated on a quarterly basis through a small working group. We have drafted new content every quarter, based on the FSA requirements and feedback from users as to where guidance is needed. These eBooks include a real-time user feedback option and we are contracted to complete and report on an annual user survey too. We are now in the second year of delivery of this contract, moving into year 3 in April 2021.

We also currently have 4 courses and an 2 eBooks "live" for National Trading Standards (NTS). These being:

With a further 2 courses currently in development for NTS (investigating social media and an updated intelligence course), which are scheduled for national launch early in the next financial year. We have over 3,000 users collectively signed up for these NTS courses.

A full list of what TSSW and 2.0 Ltd have worked in partnership is listed in the next section.

Three examples of similar projects have been provided in the supplementary documents - these cover 2 eBooks we deliver nationally and 1 eLearning Course. Details of who the contracts are with, how they have been delivered and the functionality they offer are all detailed in this supplementary document - 3 examples.

We are confident of we have the appropriate skills and support mechanisms in place to continue to deliver our existing portfolio and indeed expand on it.

Please provide detail on who will be involved and what experience they have in the development of e-books and e-learning courses.

How will the resource be made available to the enforcement community? Please include details of the platform proposed for hosting the e-books and e-learning course.

We will use the customised Moodle platform to host these resources, which is already used by the FSA via the TSSW eLearning portal for the 3 FSA food standards references manuals (for England, Northern Ireland and Wales) and for the Feed Code of practice and Practice guidance eBooks (<https://www.tssw-elearning.org.uk>). Each user has a single username and password to access the platform. Access can be assigned for each individual user to some or all of the resources, dependent on the work they are involved in, for example, a feed officer may not need access to the Food Law resources.

As mentioned previously, nearly 400 users nationally already have login details to access the FSA feed Code of Practice and Practice Guidance, whilst just over 1000 users nationally are signed up to use the food standards references manuals for England, Northern Ireland and Wales.

Fundamentally, rollout has a simple workflow wherein the FSA provide list of email lists which are uploaded to the system and users receive an email detailing their login and temporary password. TSSW/2.0 Ltd already have 4200 officers registered on the platform. The de-duplication of these officers is automated: 2.0 processes the email lists, new users are automatically sent a welcome email with login detail, those already registered receive an email message the new resource they now have access to - a new login is not required which facilitates the process considerably for a large number of the enforcement community. Commonality of the platform ensure that many users are already familiar with the interface and therefore reduces barriers to engagement.

As stated, the eBooks and eLearning are hosted on a customised, private Moodle platform. Moodle is a global open source learning platform designed to provide educators, administrators and learners with a single robust, secure and integrated system to create personalised learning environments. Moodle is led and coordinated by Moodle HQ, with a worldwide network of organisations running 34,000,000 courses on the system, including Shell, London School of Economics, UK Civil Service, Microsoft and the Open University with more than 213 million users across both academic and enterprise level usage, making it the world's most widely used learning platform. The Moodle project is well-supported by an active international community and a team of dedicated full-time developers. With over 10 years of development guided by social constructionist pedagogy, Moodle delivers a powerful set of learner-centric tools and collaborative learning environments that empower both teaching and learning. From a few students to millions of users, Moodle can be scaled to support the needs of both small classes and large organisations. Because of its flexibility and scalability, Moodle has been adapted for use across education, business, non-profit, government, and community contexts. The modular set up and flexible design allows 2.0 Ltd to create plugins and customisation to achieve specific functionalities tailored to client requirements, deployed on a secure server for complete control. 2.0 Ltd's platform has a mobile-compatible interface and cross-browser compatibility: content is programmed to be responsive, easily accessible and consistent across different web browsers and devices.

With regard to the eBooks format, it is important to note in terms of making the resource available, the recent article from UK government on their "gov.uk" portal which confirms online resources (eg HTML) as best practice for all Government departments and not PDF. This identifies a series of advantages to providing online resources, such as eBooks, including most importantly improved accessibility and better compliance to published accessibility standards. The article can be found at <https://gds.blog.gov.uk/2018/07/16/why-gov-uk-content-should-be-published-in-html-and-not-pdf/>. Further comments on accessibility are on page 10.

3: PROJECT MANAGEMENT (10%)

Please answer the questions below: -

Please fully describe how the project will be managed.

TSSW Operations manager (Lisa Peters) will provide project management over the full contract and will ensure meeting dates are scheduled as detailed in the development schedule in part I of this form. This schedule will enable key deliverables to be monitored as they are being developed and progress reports will be provided mid development phase for each milestone.

Over the years she has developed an "agile approach" method of project management to support TSSW and the projects and resources we deliver. This method of working shows how we are able to work flexibly and respond to changing requirements. Thus enabling us to deliver maximum outputs against business priorities in the time and budget allowed. The focus is on people achieving benefits through an engaged, accountable and high perform team. The key focus is on sharing data, openness, team communication and learning from feedback.

The project manager role is an integral part of the team, providing leadership and creating a shared commitment and accountability towards the deliverables of the contract. Part of this role is to break each deliverable into smaller pieces, which can then be prioritised and allocated to the relevant persons to complete. She is also the person who will hold people to account if they do not meet their individual deadlines, providing problem solving assistance when required, thus ensuring the project timescales are constantly monitored and adhered to.

Development and performance of the eBooks from a technical perspective will be reviewed on a monthly basis in liaison with developers.

Details of many of these workstreams can be found on our website at www.tssw.org.uk, along with further details of TSSW as an organisation that supports 12 Trading Standards services in the South West, but also works with a number of Central Govt agencies in response to protecting consumers and businesses from rogue traders operating in our society.

Please also see supplementary document - supply chain

What monitoring/evaluation tools will be used throughout development to measure progress, and keep delivery to the agreed timeline?

Schedule 3

[Trading Standards South West, subcontracting with 2dot0 Ltd]

CONFIDENTIAL

The milestones agreed at the initial project meeting will provide the basis of our monitoring plan. We will use our Intranet to schedule the timeline, as it has a shared calendar function for each group set up, which allows us to mark up the key milestones and deliverables (with both dates and who is responsible for delivery) - thus it is clear what is expected and when to all involved. This ongoing collaboration is an essential tool for monitoring progress and for task group feedback.

Our TSSW Heads of Service have also appointed Ivan Hancock (Head of Trading Standards, Dorset Council) as a Link Officer, who will provide Governance from company perspective, ensuring the contract is delivered within the agreed timeline.

Beta testing is a pivotal evaluation tool in the development period which allows us to measure expected user response based on our expertise and experience against actual system outcomes and user feedback in order to flag any inconsistencies, unexpected results or difficulties to be addressed before the output's live launch.

Across the four years we will provide the aforementioned meetings to monitor progress at key milestones and at quarterly meetings, tracking of progress within development will be done regularly (sometimes daily, but always weekly - via liaison with the sub-contractor).

Key evaluation indicators will be included in the annual survey sent to all users, for each resource, and feedback will be used as one of the measures to monitor and evaluate the resources' effectiveness, allowing users to comment on how both the accuracy of the content and how the platform could be improved to aid usability. In-depth - and adaptable - reporting functionality such as completion rates and test question analysis also gives monitoring and evaluation insight across the 4 year development period (for more detail on the reporting functionality see the supplemental examples).

How will validation of the final products be undertaken with the local authority, Port Health and FSA operations staff enforcement community, to ensure they fulfil the needs of end users?

Following initial development of the eBooks we will have a 2 month phase of review and will actively seek feedback from users at the end of this period on how they are finding the resource. This will then be reviewed and a short report provided to the FSA.

For the course, we will conduct a full pilot prior to launch, as this is the best way to test the course is performing as you would expect and fulfilling the needs of the end users. This will include comments from users, but also enables us to complete a comprehensive review of how the testing element of the course is performing - specifically allowing us to look at whether any of the test questions are underperforming and need review prior to national launch.

There will be a 3 month analytics review to see if there are patterns of engagement or non-engagement to flag.

We have also factored into each year of this contract an annual survey - which again allows us to generate further feedback from users. Again a short report of findings from each of these will be completed and reported to the FSA. On an annual basis we can on provides reports showing the use of the glossary and other support materials.

We will provide the FSA with details of usage also on a quarterly basis including who has and has not used the eBook which can also be analysed by region, local authority and role e.g. TS, EH or FSA; what pages of the resource have been used, which pages of the book are popular and less used.

Custom reports can be designed to meet specific KPI's as defined by the client (this is included in the finance forecast provided).

We also have a user feedback module enabled on all resources, thus allowing users to make comments in real time. These will be collated on a quarterly basis and will be provided to the FSA, along with a TSSW evaluation of these and any recommendations for the FSA to consider. This is the same method we are currently employing for the ongoing delivery of the food standards reference manuals and has served us well in terms of maintaining communication channels with the FSA.

4: INNOVATION (5%)

Please answer the questions below: -

A product or an idea becomes innovative when it stands out from the rest and truly makes the customers' lives easier. How will you build innovation into the development of the e-books and e-learning course to produce better products?

In terms of system development and functionality, our partner 2.0 Ltd's ethos is to understand and develop in partnership with clients, firstly keeping abreast and exploring advances in the wider online sphere (such as programming developments, currently H5P rich HTML etc) and then investigating the benefits that can be tailored to produce innovation within the system. Innovation is built into the company's mission.

As a system, Moodle creates open source solutions with the values of education, openness, respect, integrity and innovation. The platform has a roadmap for development composed with input and ideas from the global community, including stakeholders and over 1000 developers. One of the 4 main goals is continued improvement in user experience. The roadmap is published with quarterly updates. Moodle benefits from symbiosis across diverse stakeholder groups and fields globally, this broader open source approach is a catalyst for innovative technical development which 2.0 harnesses and customises to benefit our specialist purposes. Better products come from improvements in the functionality and user experience, tangible gains, but also from visioning what an LMS should be in the next decade and beyond. As part of the Moodle community we access the knowledge, experience and creativity of some of the largest and best informed education practitioners and stakeholders globally as they deliberate on this as part of Moodle's roadmap process.

[Trading Standards South West, subcontracting with 2dot0 Ltd]

CONFIDENTIAL

2.0 has an active approach to anticipating needs through a thorough understanding of a client's business, facilitated by partnership with TSSW and our in-depth knowledge and expertise. This produces a well-informed, continual re-evaluation of products and ideas to ensure improvement and innovation. Across a contract period of 4 years, the FSA will benefit from this continuous path of innovation as they do currently with their other resources we host. As mentioned previously,

Specific innovations to the eBooks include the numerous advantages in terms of accessibility and readability gained by making the hefty codes and guidance documents into our eBook format. It allows the documents to become fully searchable, with weblinks embedded, footnotes included, alongside a dynamic glossary: each time a word from the glossary appears in the manual a "pop-up" definition can be accessed by clicking on the link. This functionality is fully indexed and searchable, an innovation that facilitates user understanding and self-guided exploration of the topic, personalising learning to the individual needs.

As mentioned previously, we will also include a robust feedback mechanism within the platform, enabling users to feedback on issues and help inform the ongoing development of the resources to produce better products keenly attuned to user needs.

We would also encourage greater use of visual aids to break up the content - such as inclusion of pictures and tables, which again can be used to simplify and better illustrate content and make the manuals easier to use.

For the eLearning course in particular, we will adopt a series of prompts to encourage engagement and help the student to complete the course. Historically, completion rates on courses have not always been as high as you would hope - with people signing up to start a course, making a start then abandoning it half way through. In our most recent course for the NTS we have developed a fortnightly prompting programme, which reminds the student they've been signed up to a course and should make a start on it, it also prompts them to reach the end of the first module (e.g. take the test). This has increased the completion rates in the first 3 months since launch significantly (near to 20% greater completion has been seen, compared to previous courses).

Interaction between the student and the course is key to engagement. With regard to the courses, we would encourage the nominated FSA Lead on the scripting to consider active learning methods of engagement - including interactivity both within the course content itself and in the methods used for testing at the end of each chapter. We will provide advice, support and guidance on this. A summary of the sort of interaction that can be included are in the supplementary document - 3 examples. It should also be noted, if the FSA choose to provide films for inclusion in any of these resources, these can also be reviewed for potential of interaction with the student (which can be achieved through embedding the films in Vimeo).

Through use of a dedicated learning management system, we are able to provide student tracking throughout the course, allowing the student to jump in and out of the course at their leisure. The tracking shows the student exactly where they have progressed to, so they know exactly where they need to start from on their return. The platform also always the test at the end of each chapter to be calculated simultaneously, such that the student knows what score they have attained for that chapter and also allowing them to retake the chapter on one occasion if they fail it on the first attempt. This supportive process and flexibility in taking the course again has been found helpful in encouraging students to progress through the course at their leisure, without feeling it has to be all sat in one go - which for many can be difficult to justify in addition to their usual workload.

It isn't until the end of the course that the CPPD certificate is offered, which then details how the student has scored at each chapter and provides a final score. This is available to download from the platform, but is also stored for the student.

We will also complete a 404 link checker, such that all links in the resources will be checked on a quarterly basis and mended where necessary.

How will the e-books and e-learning course be presented which allows them to meet the needs of end users? Please include detail on how to improve online user ability given the e-books and e-learning course will need to be kept updated in light of evolving changes, and processes?

[Trading Standards South West, subcontracting with 2dot0 Ltd]

CONFIDENTIAL

As discussed, we will request feedback via the site (collated on a quarterly basis) and via the annual survey and update the manuals as requested by the working group, thus allowing the eBooks to evolve over time. This method of delivery allows such amends to be made via TSSW as a single point of contact and we will apply full version control via Moodle. The date of publishing the current manual will be visible throughout the site.

2.0 Ltd adopt the Government Digital Service Design Principles (<https://www.gov.uk/designprinciples>), which are integral to their methodology. They are focused on business needs and iterative development. With regard to the presentation of the resources to effectively meet the needs of the end users, interface design is critical, 2.0 Ltd's platform is easy to navigate and understand - a large number of officers are already familiar with the system. The simple menu levels follow a 'breadcrumb trail' and are visible on screen at all times. Clear, simple design layouts ensure that the consumption of information is easy with a clear message. The system is responsive to a wide variety of devices.

In terms of the improvements to user ability, functionality enhancements are a part of the ongoing platform maintenance. Version control in light of the evolving resource changes and user communication are key. We have the ability to contact each of the users via their sign in page to the resources and provide updates - all users can be informed of changes and how they are likely to affect them. Also quarterly reviews are sent out regarding content changes to eBooks.

In our experience, the more you engage with the end users, the more likely you are to get increasingly frequent visits to the resources - which in turn helps to ensure officers are aware of changes and supports their competency in delivery of these controls. It is through regular engagement that the resources become part of the enforcement officer arsenal. It is also helpful to show that their feedback is considered and responded to.

The system can prompt users to return to the site and stay engaged with it, a programme of email prompts can be implemented in discussion with client with tailored language and timings in order to meet the client's goals. These can include all or some of the following:

- Welcome to the platform
- Enrolled on course
- If not engaging with course after period of time
- If course begun, not complete after a period of time.
- For feedback on course
- With reminder of core course content after a period to help consolidate learning

5. RISK MANAGEMENT (5%)

Please answer the questions below:

How would you manage the risk of any unexpected setbacks during the project?

What systems and processes does your organisation have in place with regards to contingency planning?

How would your organisation account for possible delays caused by unforeseen circumstances, do you have mitigating measures to address them?

The collaboration, evaluation and monitoring process described earlier in this application will help us to monitor for, assess and manage any unexpected setbacks and program them into the schedule.

Management via TSSW would allow the working group to pose queries to the wider food and feed groups if required, thus accessing fully qualified staff across all 14 local authorities (LA) in the South West and persons from both a Trading Standards background and from an Environmental Health background. Hence, we are not leaning on one LA for their expertise and assistance. This strategy has always worked well for this regional organisation and is how we support each other in challenging times, such as responding to the Covid pandemic but still delivering on projects.

Use of Moodle as a platform to base the eBook on is well supported nationally with significant stakeholders in the public sector (being deployed in the civil service to over 500,000 nationally). With its market share, its relationship with the developer community and its partnership with sites deploying its software is well established and has a reputation of good security. Its success has shown continued growth over the past 16 years and has a current published development roadmap to 2025. This along with the open source nature of the platform means we can access other developers should the need arise (e.g. if 2.0 Ltd ceased to trade). However, 2.0 Ltd has its own contingency planning to ensure its own resilience and has confirmed commitment to the 4 year model outlined in the specification. Given the nature of the project the main risk would be unforeseen unavailability of staff at 2.0 Ltd and the company have alternative resources identified as part of their risk management and contingency planning. Possible delays can likely be absorbed by capacity within the company and are mitigated by the pre-existing model and template for delivery.

This deliverable is focused on supporting / providing guidance to local authority enforcement officers and our bid has been designed as such. We have included 2 factor authentication into the bid to cover the FSA contracted vets, who do not have a "gov.uk" email and hence we feel it is prudent to include this to protect the security of the platform.

We will also request each user completes a terms of use agreement at first login, which would include a GDPR clause within it. TSSW and 2dot0 Ltd would be data processors for these resources, with the FSA being the data controller.

To avoid and mitigate any unexpected set backs, TSSW will review any risks and dependencies as the project progresses and where possible resolve these within the working group. However, if something arises that needs greater support from the members, the process for raising such issues is as follows:

Schedule 3

[Trading Standards South West, subcontracting with 2dot0 Ltd]

CONFIDENTIAL

TSSW has a tactical tasking group that manages all the tasking process within TSSW and monitors bi-monthly the process of all our workstreams (which are detailed in our regional Control Strategy). If any concerns were raised in this group we would inform the HoS Link Officer, who would then review the issue and provide guidance to the working group or if necessary elevate these for discussion at the next TSSW Board meeting. Alternative provision to bridge gaps / concerns would be assured by TSSW, by using its local authority partnership to bridge any gaps (e.g. a replacement working group member). We haven't included a contingency fund within this contract, but it should be recognized that IT solutions and staffing are subject to inflationary costs and as such this should be reviewed mid contract with the FSA.

TSSW complete a risk assessment every 2 years, alongside the Strategic Assessment for the region. This includes review of the staffing and relevant contingencies to bridge any gaps, review of work pressures, completion of a SWOT analysis. All contracts are reviewed as part of this procedure and the process is documented in our business plan. TSSW CIC has been operating for 3 years, but prior to this all members had worked in partnership for over 18 years and hence this is a well established and sustainable organisation.

6. QUALITY MANAGEMENT (5%)

Please answer the questions below:

How will you ensure the quality of the products that are produced, and what internal processes will you follow?

We have discussed previously in this form in parts 3 and 4 how we will seek feedback from users and use this to provide the FSA with recommendations to improve the resources and the content therein. The platform is very responsive to making changes to content and without incurring any additional charges to those outlined in the finance sheet.

As mentioned previously we recommend FSA nominate a lead officer to be responsible for sign off of any new content and indeed for each of the delivery milestones. Involvement of the FSA and this nominated officer in the task group will ensure that best practice and standards for the industry are included in the resources. Whilst monitoring of feedback can also be used to ensure officers are able to follow and understand the guidance provided.

All meeting notes both of the task group and of discussions with the FSA will be added to the TSSW Intranet area for the contract and can be accessed by the FSA. We will use our regional feed and food experts to aid in the peer review of new content the FSA provide (e.g. script that hasn't been consulted upon nationally, but that has been developed to further explain a subject following user feedback).

Financial management will be provided by TSSW Operations manager and accounts will be monitored on a quarterly basis by the HoS Link Officer.

We already work with the FSA on a variety of projects, as have been mentioned within this document and the supplementary documents. Hence, there is already evidence in our examples of our ability to provide a quality product that meets the FSA's requirements and specification.

Further details of the supply chain management are detailed in the supplementary document - supply chain

Please detail any relevant codes of practice to which your organisation is a signatory, and any accreditations to quality standards currently held.

TSSW - Project manager: accredited to ILM level 5 management course, accredited member of the Chartered Trading Standards Institute. We are a signatory to the SW GAIN and have adopted the National Intelligence Model, hence have a good understanding of local authority enforcement needs and requirements. We also provide training with National Trading Standards on this subject.

TSSW have our own HR and policy documents as a Ltd company. These include a GDPR policy.

2.0 Ltd:

- eLearning Network member (which includes partners such as NHS Health Education England, Woodrow Mercer and The Charities Learning Consortium).
- Government Digital Service Design Principles (<https://www.gov.uk/designprinciples>)
- Moodle collective developer - Moodle standards: IMS LTI™ Certified, SCORM-ADL compliant, WCAG 2.1 Level AA accreditation
<https://docs.moodle.org/310/en/Standards>

How will you ensure that the outputs meet the WCAG 2.1 accessibility standards to level AA, as a minimum?
When you release upgrades, how can you assure us they will not have a negative impact on accessibility?

Schedule 3

[Trading Standards South West, subcontracting with 2dot0 Ltd]

CONFIDENTIAL

We will host the eBooks and the course on TSSW's Moodle platform. Moodle's goal is to be fully accessible and usable for all users regardless of ability. When deciding how Moodle presents its content for best Web accessibility, the WCAG 2.0 guideline is followed.

The Moodle system upon which 2.0 Ltd delivers its platform is WCAG 2.1 Level AA accredited. <https://docs.moodle.org/310/en/Standards>
The system is designed by default to provide equal functionality and information to all people. This means that there should be no barriers for people regardless of disabilities, assistive technologies that are used, different screen sizes and different input devices (e.g. mouse, keyboard and touchscreen). Both the application and the content is designed to be perceivable (P), Operable (O), understandable (U) and robust (R) according to the definitions provided by WCAG 2.1. All updates are performed in line with this baseline principle. Moodle has been working with an external auditor to review the platform since January 2020 and has a longstanding Moodle Accessibility Collaboration Group. Audits are completed with automated tools and user journey testing and accessibility improvements addressed in updates. This ensures that any upgrades will not have a negative impact on accessibility. More details on Moodle's work on accessibility is detailed here: <https://docs.moodle.org/dev/Accessibility>

All of 2.0's programming and customisation places the WCAG 2.1 POUR principles at the centre of the process. The 2.0 custom theme which adds simplicity (a concept borrowed from engineering) - to ensure a user-friendly, intuitive interface with minimal issues for users and no compromise to accessibility. The Moodle authoring features facilitate accessible content creation along with our own expertise.

Furthermore implementation of changes or customisation are checked using our accessibility audit. We cross reference and follow also the government guide - Doing a basic accessibility check. Other specific systems we utilise to ensure customisation by 2.0 maintains the high level of accessibility achieved by Moodle include:

- 2 tools on the Atto toolbar:
- Accessibility Checker will check for images with missing or empty alt text (unless they have the presentation role).
- Insufficient contrast of font colour and background colour; long blocks of text that are not sufficiently broken up into headings; all tables include captions and do not contain merged cells as they are difficult to navigate with screen readers; all tables should contain row or column headers; a screen reader helper that checks how a screen reader will see the page.
- Google Chrome the audit tool.

Furthermore, html is the core technology for all content on the platform in line with government best practice:

article titled Why GOV.UK content should be published in HTML and not PDF <https://gds.blog.gov.uk/2018/07/16/why-gov-uk-content-should-be-published-in-html-and-not-pdf/>) html increases accessibility and has high interoperability (can be used on many systems). PDFs are only used when directed by clients to house archive or secondary material support material.

All components of the platform are entirely operable through a keyboard-only interface. Full version control will be applied, as mentioned previously, with old versions accessible as a PDF in an archive area. All resources will also be available to print either a page at a time or as a whole document.

As mentioned, 2.0 Ltd are part of the Moodle collective of developers and we will continue to use this group to provide support and facilitate continual development over the 5 year period of the contract.

7. DATA PROTECTION (5 %)

Please identify any specific data protection issues for this project and how these will be managed. Please respond to any specific issues raised in the Specification document.

Please note that the successful Applicant will be expected to comply with the UK General Data Protection Regulations and the Data Protection Act 2018 when processing personal data, adhere to any information confidentiality requirements and have appropriate organisational and technical measures in place to ensure that information collected, processed and transferred on behalf of the FSA, is done securely and in line with minimum government security standards.

In this part please provide details of the practices and systems which are in place for handling data securely, including transmission between the field and head office and then to the FSA if applicable. Plans for how data will be deposited (i.e. within a community or institutional database/archive) and/or procedures for the destruction of physical and system data should also be included in this part. The applicant will be responsible for ensuring that they and any sub-contractor who processes or handles information on behalf of the FSA are conducted securely.

Supporting comments have been provided by TSSW and 2.0 Ltd on the data protection proforma provided with this tender. In short, we are both working towards Cyber Essentials Plus and have a number of policies in place to ensure best practice is maintained with respect to DPA 2018.

Data protection and security requirements are considered as follows:

Users are providing limited information to us in order to be set up to use the eBooks or the course (e.g. name and email and local authority they work for.)

Whilst we will monitor usage of the eBooks, any reports on usage to the FSA would be anonymised prior to sharing. This is also true of any feedback gathered from users and when reporting on course progress.

Each year we review our lists and request any users who leave the regulatory services inform us, such that their accounts can be suspended. Suspension is our preferred method initially, as we find many officers move between local authorities - hence by suspending they can re-assigned to a different LA but retain their training and associated certification. If after 5 years they remain suspended, then we will permanently delete the account.

The project is designed with Article 25 of the Data Protection Act in mind, there are no specific data protection issues in this project. Please refer to the answers in GDPR Questionnaire.

- (a) provides written notice to the other Party;
- (b) uses all reasonable measures practical to reduce the impact of the Force Majeure Event.
