STATEMENT OF WORKS

NETWORK CYBER SECURITY ASSESSMENT PROGRAMME – SIRA, SECURITY ARCHITECTURE and CIS
20 CONTROLS REVIEW

1. Defence is trialling a Network Cyber Security Assessment Programme to determine if security assessment activities such as Security architecture, CIS 20 controls, threat hunting and IT Health Checks (ITHC) that are scoped in conjunction with each other and conducted concurrently can add value to the overall understanding to the security posture of a Network or information. This is being achieved by utilising all the different disciplines and fusing together best Cyber Security practices to obtain a more focused and technical deep dive assessment of the network or information system's cyber resilience. After the initial trial we will move forward to further assessments after incorporating the lessons learned and stakeholder recommendations. This SOW is for the SIRA, CIS 20 controls assessment and Security Architecture review elements.
2. The programme has been developed due to Cyber investigations including CyDR accreditation activity, Microsoft's COVID Threat Intelligence report, MOD's GBEST activity, CVIs, NIST Cyber Security Framework and similar audits which have all repeatedly identified preventable ICT and information security issues on MOD Networks and information systems in the past.
3. To help drive a lasting cyber uplift and move Defence away from the persistent security issues, an in-depth study into the security of in-service network systems is required. This should identify latent cyber security issues and vulnerabilities, to direct pre-emptive action that obviates successful cyber-attacks and to help magnify the benefit of Security by Design activities for MOD network delivery and operation. A key output from this work is also to qualify whether MOD Networks and information systems have sufficient inherent defence in depth to support their safe connection to other networks.
4. All activities will be managed and co-ordinated by the Authority's representative Lead Security & Information Risk Advisor (SIRA). To achieve this the authority requires the suppliers from each workstream to attend a 3 to 5 days of discovery activity to obtain a full understanding of the network prior to the assessment task.
5. The objectives of the approach are:
 - a. To develop a better method of scoping complex networks and information systems that will be subject to assurance activity.
 - b. Better value for money outcomes in understanding our technical cyber risk.
 - c. Through the discovery phase take a dynamic approach to how we conduct the investigation in context of the target system (tailored approach).
 - d. For MOD to maintain control of the scope and any subsequent developments
 - e. To take a holistic approach from all disciplines and exchange of knowledge in order to develop better utilisation of findings across defence.

- f. Findings from each work stream are to be compiled into single records of outcomes by the Project SIRA against a framework to focus remedial action at the critical points. To establish trends against the five work streams.
- 6. Due to the nature of the Network Cyber Security Assessment tasks that are to be carried out, all of the Supplier's personnel dedicated to conducting the designated task must comply with all of the following Personnel Requirements:
 - a. UKSV: SC cleared but willing to undertake the DV Process UK Nationals Additional caveats may be required.
 - b. Desirable Technical Qualifications or Experience: CISSP, CCP SIRA, TOGAF/MODAF, NCSC/Cabinet Office/MOD Security Architectural patterns and good practices and implementation or auditing of CIS 20 Critical Controls c. Experience in Defence and its requirement for secure data handling
 - d. Must sign a Non-Disclosure Agreement covering all information obtained as a result of this contract or must demonstrate that sufficient non-disclosure control is already in place to protect both MOD information and information obtained from or relating to other stakeholders, information relating to them or their work.
 - e. For account creation Identity Documents must be physically presented at start of the task, usually Passport.
 - f. Must be able to work in the expected working pattern which shall be agreed in advance with the SIRA.
 - g. The project will be an agreed work package of around 36 - 48 working days gauged in accordance with the scale and complexity of the system, working flexibly between 1st May21 until 31st July 21.

Outputs

8. There will be a requirement for two main reports as part of the deliverables per work strand. Deadlines for documentation delivery shall be determined during the understand and discovery phase and agreed with Lead SIRA. The SIRA per system will provide an overall covering report that brings the work strand reports together. The reports will consist of a scoping document following the understand phase and a final report on completion of all assessment strands. Common outputs for each work strands are to include:

1. This should set clear and tight boundaries of the scope.
 2. Have a plan of action for next steps and clear checkpoints to be agree with Lead SIRA to enable planning and coordination.
 3. Initial observations and concerns
- ii. Scope and its limitations of assessments are required. Areas out of scope must be defined with a clear explanation as to why they are out of scope. This is to be agreed and signed off by the Lead SIRA.

SoW NETWORK CYBER SECURITY ASSESSMENT PROGRAMME – SIRA, SECURITY ARCHITECTURE and CIS 20 CONTROLS REVIEW

a) Personnel potentially available

Allocation of personnel is dependent on availability. I have provided the key skills for Laura as an example as the most junior member available.

- IA: Governance, Risk and Compliance. IS1 & 2 risk assessment, drafting and review of Baseline Control Sets, Risk Treatment Plans, controls and mitigations, drafting and review of SyOps and processes, ITHC, ITHC remediation, change management and approval, CIS Top 20 and OWASP Top 10 assessments, PSN submissions, threat and vulnerability management

- Legal Advice: Drafting advice, minimizing risk, direct engagement with business owners, ensuring compliance with relevant legislation and standards, dispute resolution.

b) NDA

No issue with signing an NDA.

c) Methods of working and clearance

The main consultants, myself, Stephen Holt and Laura Tranter hold SC clearance and this can be verified with Explosive Learning Solutions, Ministry of Justice, DWP and NCA respectively. Phil Thomas was DV cleared by the FCO from 2011-2018, but this has now lapsed, but we would all be willing to go through the process. Phil holds Senior CCP SIRA and Security Architect qualifications from the BCS. Laura holds the CISSP qualification and Stephen holds a number of AWS and Azure certifications.

We have worked successfully with JARIC, NSA and the CIA before we gained DV on certain programs at the highest level, which was controlled by allowing supervised access to materials and hands on by a client staff member. For viewing and validating the sub-controls, we would expect an admin to be walking us through any on screen checks, even if we had a DV clearance. Obviously the official guidance for clearances does state that for access to SECRET material, only an SC is required, but we are happy to work with the controls set by the SIRO, Accreditor and any SAL that is applicable.

If DV is mandatory for any particular portion of the work, then we have an three consultants who perform ad-hoc work for us, who could undertake the project and we would provide the service wrap and review of findings around that.

We are happy to work within IT constraints provided by the client. This has included in the past, only working on site, using one of the client's laptops and using our laptop, which has been left on site after the work has been completed. If we are to leave laptops behind then there is a cost charge for the laptop and office software installed on it.

d) Experience

I have split this into 3 sections, CIS20, Security Architecture and SIRA.

CIS20

We worked with the department for a number of months since 2019 and across almost 50 email chains to get everything in position to provide services just before COVID hit in March/April 2020, when the original project was put on hold.

We covered a number of topics for the staff in the department – an example of which is below in Italics

The CIS benchmarks are really good for understanding how your build compares to industry hardening standards. Each operating system and some applications have a set of benchmarks. There are about 85-90 of them. You can see the whole selection at this url https://www.cisecurity.org/cybersecurity-tools/cis-cat-pro/cis-benchmarkssupported-by-cis-cat-pro/

One of the benefits of the CIS benchmark is that you can see where you are as a % score when you run the tool against a system. Lets work through an example. The Windows 10 desktop benchmark is a 1263 page document detailing the different things you need to turn on and off for the build to be hardened. Rather than checking by hand, the tool runs through everything and highlights where you comply, where you don't and how you can harden your build. So it might run through the tests and report back that you are 43% compliant overall. You can then look into each area and see where you need to improve. You can make the improvements (there are scripts to do this or do it by hand) and then run the tool again to get a new compliance value. It provides feedback that a pen test doesn't.

Why does this matter, we do pen tests? Pen Tests are great for seeing if you can get onto a box and possibly escalate things. What they are not great for is producing a repeatable scoring system that you can use to keep track of how secure your kit is. If you have a pen test/ITHC then you get back a list of Critical, High, Medium and Lows. You remediate and you're not really sure if they tested everything or maybe couldn't get on to something or overlooked it. We recommend any client who is now going through an ITHC to include a CIS benchmark as part of their ITHC scope.

Previous work examples

We perform these services for other companies. In the UK we recently finished this work for a PR & Branding firm with 150 employees, who provide the Social Media and PR presence for LinkedIn, Experian, Google and other large companies. This was combined with a revision and uplift of their system security and working practices to allow them to pass an audit to take on two large financial companies.

We worked with a Norwegian firm, which fit sights onto any weaponry sent in by the Nordic region military and police forces to allow them to provide security and assurance to their customers that their systems were suitably robust. This included physical site assessments and procedures as well.

What Tools are used

We use the CIS frameworks provided by Auditscripts and the standards from the CIS website for CIS the Top 20 controls. We must be able to get the relevant spreadsheets onto the working device with macros enabled so we can conduct the assessment and generate the reports. To do this work without the macros would result in a huge increase in effort.

We use CIS-CAT Pro where appropriate. CIS-CAT Pro is a tool, which is used not for the CIS Top20 but for the assessment of a system against the CIS benchmarks. It requires a ssh, WinRM connection for remote scanning or a local installation with a Java runtime environment (JRE). This could be subcontracted out to a CHECK provider, as Nessus has a CIS module that can be loaded and run against the target device, if you feel more comfortable with this.

Timings

The following guide to system assessment times has been produced to assist in planning purposes. I have removed the 3 t-shirt sizes and instead based it on the <1,000 users fed back to me.

System 1 – <1,000 users

We are going to base our costs on a 20-30 switches, possibly an Internet connection with a router and firewall running with suitable redundancy, maybe a proxy, approx. 5 servers to handle Mail, file storage, a web server and a couple of apps. Time taken is based on a rough estimate for an average of about 45-60 minutes per control.

IG2 – 140 controls – Total: 12 days - 6 days assessment with 6 days report writing, assuming only 66% of the controls are in place.

IG3 – 171 controls – Total: 14 days – 7 days assessment with 7 days report writing, assuming only 66% of the controls are in place.

Architecture design, review and assurance

We have performed these services for the Police, NCA, MoJ, DWP, Fujitsu, CIA, NSA, MoD and other clients across

- cloud
- traditional data centres
- networks
- customised control systems

- desktop systems at Tiers 1-3. The largest system we were involved with was for 100K users. The most expensive was 1.5 billion pounds.

Review

We look at how the system has been designed and is running by asking a lot of questions. At a high level the questions can be summarised to

- 1) Does it meet good security working practice and does it have any single points of failure 2) Is it an anti-pattern
- 3) Does the client have conceptual patterns they want us to ensure it aligns to
- 4) How does it work at each of the Layers 1-7 – are they using fibre to go between buildings, what level of crypto are they using, which applications, is the network secure etc.
- 5) Is RBAC control in place
- 6) Are items patched, if so, then how and the frequency
- 7) Is anything end-of-sale, support or life
- 8) How is it managed and monitored
- 9) Does it address the risk and gap analysis done by the SIRA
- 10) where can we see gaps and how would we attack the system – work through attack trees or MITRE framework.

Design

This is quite simply designing suitably robust systems, with a proportionate level of controls to mitigate the risks identified to the system. This could be for completely new systems or retrofitting solutions to current infrastructure. For example -

- 1) The new Tier1 Azure services for the NCA were designed by us. This included a centralised monitoring solution for the different instances defined and in use (some of which are used for internal office work and others for unfettered deniable SIGINT purposes). This involved ensuring the appropriate security controls were in place between the designed areas and that this separation did not cause issues with the centralised logging of the estate.
- 2) Identification of a single point of failure in a resilient architecture to the Internet. The supplier had made a mistake and showed two virtual switches as two separate physical switches. This switch only had a single power supply. We proposed adding an additional redundant power supply to the switch, connected to the B feed of the DC as the cheapest option, a second option to install another physical switch and move the relevant cabling to it to avoid hardware failure, and a third belt and braces option with a new switch and a redundant psu and feed in to both A and B power bars for them.

Assurance

This is an extension of the review task, focused on the risks to the solution, what the Accreditor is concerned with and quite often the bits that get missed in the 'how it actually works'. Typically this is where we find runbooks that don't have entries, no migration plans that make sense, staff who are based in India without clearance accessing UK systems etc.

This is best illustrated with an example.

The client had an archaic system which was a database containing 10TB of data. This data was marked as OFFICIAL-SENSITIVE. They engaged a company who convinced them that an AWS approach was best using an AWS RDS deployment, which lived in a VPC used only by HMG customers. We reviewed the system architecture, how the security of the firewalls and RBAC was handled and how the data would be tagged as it was transferred over as part of our review cycle. We presented our findings and concerns and discussed what we considered to be the main risks (lack of clearly defined RBAC, no segregation between HMG customers in the VPC, no validation of tagging or test cases to ensure metadata was handled correctly). Then we moved onto the assurance aspect of how it would actually happen, we then wrote this up for the Accreditor so they had our further concerns.

The supplier had assumed that

- 1) an un-encrypted disk could be loaded with the data
- 2) UPS shipping was fine for this disk
- 3) the system wouldn't need to sync after the data transfer as it could stop working for 2 weeks while they transferred items over
- 4) they could just copy the current tagging and it would automatically translate into their new database structure
- 5) no data de-dup was to take place
- 6) no tracking of physical assets was needed as it was all in the cloud, despite having physical hard discs involved
- 7) their support staff and developers in India would have access to the system
- 8) having a single global admin account was sufficient for doing the importing
- 9) there was no need to validate that the two datasets matched
- 10) they didn't need to understand how staff used the current system SIRA

As former CLAS consultants we are familiar with the standards used in the MoD and HMG for risk assessment and management since the early 2000's. We have used the NIST standards for communities of interest, which do not follow UK guidance, as well as simpler 5x5 assessment structures and the ISO27000 standards.

Document review and construction

We can review

- 1) Playbooks,
- 2) SyOps,
- 3) RMADS,

- 4) risk assessments,
- 5) physical assessments including COMAH and TEMPEST,
- 6) ITHC reports and trackers,
- 7) DPIA's,
- 8) CoCo's,
- 9) Security incident and forensic reports,
- 10) risk treatment and remediation plans across a range of methodologies. In addition we can draft these documents, using client templates or our own documents.

Monitoring and audits

Having built a number of SOC's for customers we are confident that we are able to review, decipher and audit the approach taken to monitoring and its effectiveness. Our experience covers a number of platforms such as Splunk, Microsoft Sentinel, Elastic and LogRhythm. WE know what people should be looking at, how alerts should be structured and how alert fatigue can be countered to ensure that staff are kept fresh and don't glaze over or burn out.

We have performed audits on behalf of clients who wish to ensure that the controls stipulated as being in place by AWS and Azure at the relevant data-centres are actually taking place. This has involved social engineering at the start of the exercise and a common failing is the lack of proper key control for cabinets and the locking and unlocking of cabinets by staff at the DC.

ITHC

We cover all aspects of this apart from the testing itself, which is usually done by CHECK teams. Drafting scopes, reviewing and providing guidance, engaging CHECK providers, running Test Readiness Reviews, managing the testing, reporting and remediation.

A recent example of this was the testing of an email sanitisation system for use at Tier 2 and 3 in the 5EYES community, where we worked with NCC to

- 1) Structure the testing to address the risk assessment concerns and Accreditor worries, while using the experience of the NCC testers in what they have seen in other products – too often a formulaic approach is undertaken, which could be more easily achieved with a licenced copy of Nessus performing a vulnerability scan.
- 2) Contextualise the risks in to clear understandable chunks based on the MITRE and OWASP frameworks, rather than just provide a list of vulnerabilities. This meant that the report indicated which areas could be exploited and which impacts from the MITRE ATT&CK framework were possible in clearly defined areas. E.g. Defacement, Endpoint Denial of Service, Service stop were achieved impacts.
- 3) Indicate which attacks they undertook which had no impact. This is often an underlooked area, the team tests something and it doesn't work so they ignore it in the report, which tends to be just a list of vulnerabilities. For example in this particular test, the team spent a couple of hours trying to get a logic bomb payload designed to unpack recursively, which often causes memory issues and subsequent overflows to succeed but the software defeated them, even when throwing a file designed to unpack to TB memory sizes. Knowing something that has passed is often as important as knowing what has failed.

Standards and training

We have helped draft some of the GCHQ standards used by the IA community in the past and reviewed and approved them as part of the Policy and Working Tools group.

We trained and mentored security professionals and CLAS consultants as a GCHQ approved training provider. Topics included security architecture, IS1, physical assessment and compromise, RMADS writing, accreditation, digital forensics, penetration testing, lock-picking and tamper-proof seal defeats.

- fully perform or buy performance of the guaranteed obligations to the Buyer
- as a separate and independent obligation and liability, compensate and keep the Buyer compensated against all losses and expenses which may result from a failure by the Supplier to perform the guaranteed obligations under the Call-Off Contract

As a separate and independent obligation and liability, the Guarantor irrevocably and unconditionally undertakes to compensate and keep the Buyer compensated on demand against all losses and expenses of whatever nature, whether arising under statute, contract or at common Law, if any obligation guaranteed by the guarantor is or becomes unenforceable, invalid or illegal as if the obligation guaranteed had not become unenforceable, invalid or illegal provided that the guarantor's liability will be no greater than the Supplier's liability would have been if the obligation guaranteed had not become unenforceable, invalid or illegal.

Obligation to enter into a new contract

If the Call-Off Contract is terminated or if it is disclaimed by a liquidator of the Supplier or the obligations of the Supplier are declared to be void or voidable, the Guarantor will, at the request of the Buyer, enter into a Contract with the Buyer in the same terms as the Call-Off Contract and the obligations of the Guarantor under such substitute agreement will be the same as if the Guarantor had been original obligor under the Call-Off Contract or under an agreement entered into on the same terms and at the same time as the Call-Off Contract with the Buyer.

Any notice purported to be served on the Buyer under this Deed of Guarantee will only be valid when received in writing by the Buyer.

Beneficiary's protections

The Guarantor will not be discharged or released from this Deed of Guarantee by:

- any arrangement made between the Supplier and the Buyer (whether or not such arrangement is made with the assent of the Guarantor)

This Deed of Guarantee will be a continuing security for the Guaranteed Obligations and accordingly:

- it will not be affected by any dissolution, amalgamation, reconstruction, reorganisation, change in status, function, control or ownership, insolvency, liquidation, administration, appointment of a receiver, voluntary arrangement, any legal limitation or other incapacity, of the Supplier, the Buyer, the Guarantor or any other person

- the rights of the Buyer against the Guarantor under this Deed of Guarantee are in addition to, will not be affected by and will not prejudice, any other security, guarantee, indemnity or other rights or remedies available to the Buyer

The Buyer will be entitled to exercise its rights and to make demands on the Guarantor under this Deed of Guarantee as often as it wishes. The making of a demand (whether effective, partial or defective) relating to the breach or non-performance by the Supplier of any Guaranteed Obligation will not preclude the Buyer from making a further demand relating to the same or some other Default regarding the same Guaranteed Obligation.

- obtain judgment against the Supplier or the Guarantor or any third party in any court
- make or file any claim in a bankruptcy or liquidation of the Supplier or any third party

If such condition will not be fulfilled, the Buyer will be entitled to enforce this Deed of Guarantee subsequently as if such release, discharge or settlement had not occurred and any such payment had not been made. The Buyer will be entitled to retain this security before and after the payment, discharge or satisfaction of all monies, obligations and liabilities that are or may become due owing or incurred to the Buyer from the Guarantor for such period as the Buyer may determine.

This Deed of Guarantee is the legal valid and binding obligation of the Guarantor and is enforceable against the Guarantor in accordance with its terms.

All sums payable by the Guarantor under this Deed of Guarantee will be paid without any set-off, lien or counterclaim, deduction or withholding, except for those required by Law. The Guarantor warrants, acknowledges and confirms to the Buyer that it has not entered into this Deed of Guarantee in reliance upon the Buyer nor been induced to enter into this Deed of Guarantee by any representation, warranty or undertaking made by, or on behalf of the Buyer, (whether express or implied and whether following statute or otherwise) which is not in this Deed of Guarantee.

Assignment

The Buyer will be entitled to assign or transfer the benefit of this Deed of Guarantee at any time to any person without the consent of the Guarantor being required and any such assignment or transfer will not release the Guarantor from its liability under this Guarantee.

This Clause does not affect any right or remedy of any person which exists or is available otherwise than following that Act.

Governing law

This Deed of Guarantee, and any non-Contractual obligations arising out of or in connection with it, will be governed by and construed in accordance with English Law.

The Guarantor irrevocably agrees for the benefit of the Buyer that the courts of England will have jurisdiction to hear and determine any suit, action or proceedings and to settle any dispute which may arise out of or in connection with this Deed of Guarantee and for such purposes hereby irrevocably submits to the jurisdiction of such courts.

Nothing contained in this Clause will limit the rights of the Buyer to take proceedings against the Guarantor in any other court of competent jurisdiction, nor will the taking of any such proceedings in one or more jurisdictions preclude the taking of proceedings in any other jurisdiction, whether concurrently or not (unless precluded by applicable Law).

The Guarantor irrevocably waives any objection which it may have now or in the future to the courts of England being nominated for this Clause on the ground of venue or otherwise and agrees not to claim that any such court is not a convenient or appropriate forum.
