2. Supplier's Obligations

- 2.1 The Supplier must, throughout the Contract Period, identify new or potential improvements to the provision of the Deliverables with a view to reducing the Buyer's costs (including the Charges) and/or improving the quality and efficiency of the Deliverables and their supply to the Buyer.
- 2.2 The Supplier must adopt a policy of continuous improvement in relation to the Deliverables, which must include regular reviews with the Buyer of the Deliverables and the way it provides them, with a view to reducing the Buyer's costs (including the Charges) and/or improving the quality and efficiency of the Deliverables. The Supplier and the Buyer must provide each other with any information relevant to meeting this objective.
- 2.3 In addition to Paragraph 2.1, the Supplier shall produce at the start of each Contract Year a plan for improving the provision of Deliverables and/or reducing the Charges (without adversely affecting the performance of this Contract) during that Contract Year ("Continuous Improvement Plan") for the Buyer's Approval. The Continuous Improvement Plan must include, as a minimum, proposals:
 - 2.3.1 identifying the emergence of relevant new and evolving technologies;
 - 2.3.2 changes in business processes of the Supplier or the Buyer and ways of working that would provide cost savings and/or enhanced benefits to the Buyer (such as methods of interaction, supply chain efficiencies, reduction in energy consumption and methods of sale);
 - 2.3.3 new or potential improvements to the provision of the Deliverables including the quality, responsiveness, procedures, benchmarking methods, likely performance mechanisms and customer support services in relation to the Deliverables; and
 - 2.3.4 measuring and reducing the sustainability impacts of the Supplier's operations and supply-chains relating to the Deliverables, and identifying opportunities to assist the Buyer in meeting their sustainability objectives.

This Schedule sets out the characteristics of the Deliverables that the Supplier will be required to make to the Buyers under this Order Contract

1. Introduction and summary of requirements

The Department for Business, Energy, and Industrial Strategy (BEIS) is looking to commission research to inform the design and scope of a possible Smart Data challenge prize.

To encourage innovation and investment in the development of Smart Data schemes, we need a range of detailed use cases (i.e., ideas for services using Smart Data, and information on what's needed to make them happen) that we can draw on to illustrate the potential value of Smart Data, and better understand the challenges that would need to be overcome to facilitate cross-sector data sharing.

To incentivise the creation of more use cases, BEIS is exploring the option of launching a Smart Data challenge prize. This would be a competition offering incentives (a monetary prize or other non-financial support) to whoever can most effectively develop new solutions for how Smart Data could be used across multiple sectors, to help consumers and businesses to benefit from their data.

Given the relatively nascent nature of Smart Data outside of Open Banking¹, before deciding whether to proceed with launching the challenge prize itself, we would like to carry out an initial scoping exercise to test what is feasible.

We intend to commission research to improve government understanding of feasible design and delivery options for a possible Smart Data challenge prize. This will help ensure that we can make an informed decision on whether a challenge prize would meet our aims and objectives and offer value for money. If BEIS decides to proceed with launching a challenge prize, the outputs from this research will be used to directly inform its design.

This specification of requirements relates solely to the design research, which will be a standalone piece of work. If the decision is made to proceed with launching the challenge prize itself, we would expect to procure services to deliver the challenge prize as part of a separate competitive process in due course, following conclusion of this initial scoping exercise.

The following sections of this research specification provide more detail on the background and context of this research, before setting out the research requirements and application process.

2. Background

What is Smart Data?

¹ Open Banking is the most advanced and only live Smart Data scheme. See Annex A for further details.

Order Schedule 20 (Order Specification)
Contract Ref: PS22366
Crown Copyright 2021

Smart Data is the secure sharing of customer data, upon the customer's request, with authorised third-party providers (TPPs). TPPs can typically be defined as organisations who are neither the customer nor original service provider (e.g., the bank), and are offering services to the customer.

Authorised third party providers use the customer's data to provide innovative services for the consumer or business, such as automatic switching and account management, for example via account aggregation. The incumbent industry (e.g., the service provider such as bank) may also choose to innovate and offer similar services.

These innovations will save time, money, and effort for customers who can more easily find and choose better-suited deals and manage their money.

Smart Data goes beyond the "right to data portability" under the UK General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) by requiring data holders to:

- Provide data to TPPs immediately following a request from a customer, rather than the 30 days permitted in the right to data portability.
- Share data securely via Application Programming Interfaces (APIs), or equivalent secure methods, and only once the TPPs has authenticated the customers' identity and received their consent.
- Provide, subject to the customer's consent and only where required for the service, ongoing access to data between data holders and TPPs rather than a one-off transfer.
- Adhere to common or consistent technical standards or guidelines, data formats, and definitions to ensure interoperability and to minimise barriers for TPPs.
- Provide product and performance data, such as tariffs or geographical availability of services, in addition to customer data to enable innovation.

By combining customer data with product and performance data, facilitated by an interoperable framework for data sharing, innovators will have the opportunity to develop new ways for consumers and businesses to benefit from their data.

Public sector-led Smart Data schemes exist at varying stages of development. Crucially, the schemes that are progressing at the quickest pace are already underpinned by a legislative mandate for industry participation. See Appendix A for an overview of different Smart Data schemes, and existing Smart Data use cases.

Government ambition for Smart Data

It is BEIS' ambition to grow and accelerate the delivery of new Smart Data schemes and increase cross-sector interoperability.

As set out in the BEIS (2022) Regulatory Powers for Smart Data Impact Assessment, there are multiple problems across markets which Smart Data could help to address, however, current market incentives and powers are insufficient to deliver Smart Data schemes alone.²

The government has, therefore, introduced Smart Data legislation seeking powers to enable the Secretary of State or HM Treasury to mandate industry participation in Smart

Data across the economy. This was introduced into the House of Commons on 18 July 2022, as part of the DCMS Data Protection and Digital Information (DPDI) Bill.³

The government is also exploring several options, including launching a challenge prize, to help accelerate the delivery of new schemes and foster cross-sector collaboration.

Possible Smart Data Challenge Prize

What is a challenge prize?

We are using the term “challenge prize” to refer to a competition that offers incentives to whoever can first or most effectively solve a defined problem, in this case encouraging industry to develop solutions that would utilise cross-sectoral Smart Data schemes.⁴ Cross-sectoral use cases can be defined as use cases where data is shared between or from seemingly different industries, and therefore, there are additional challenges to ensure that standards and trust frameworks⁵ align. See Appendix B for examples of previous data challenges.

Note: As set out in the following sections, we will be looking for the research to provide evidence-based conclusions on how the prize element could work. We want the research to provide evidence to improve our understanding of what works and what would work best in this specific context. We are open to suggestions as to whether this would constitute a “challenge prize” or it would be more appropriately referred to as a Smart Data “challenge.”

Problem definition

The problem that the possible Smart Data challenge prize would be looking to address is:

How can Smart Data be used within and across sectors to help consumers and businesses benefit from their data, and what are the technical and other barriers/enablers to these use cases?

We are particularly interested in new use cases focused on cost of living and supporting consumers who are unable to engage effectively in markets and as a result, are at a particularly high risk of getting a poor deal.⁶ However, we do not wish to exclude other use cases where there are clear potential benefits, for example use cases that would serve to empower individuals with greater control over their data and a greater ability to extract benefits from third party processing of their data.

This should be viewed as indicative only. If the decision is made to proceed with launching the challenge prize, it will be important to ensure that the problem it is targeting is

³ <https://bills.parliament.uk/bills/3322>

⁴ I.e., defining the problem but not the solution

⁵ The rules for how data is shared within a Smart Data scheme.

⁶ The CMA (2019) “Consumer vulnerability: challenges and potential solutions” refers to “any situation in which an individual may be unable to engage effectively in a market and as a result, is at a particularly high risk of getting a poor deal” as consumer vulnerability.

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/consumer-vulnerability-challenges-and-potential-solutions>. The CMA report explains that whether a consumer is vulnerable will depend on the context and can be ‘market-specific’ or ‘associated with personal characteristics.’

sufficiently well defined. We intend to use the design research to test this problem definition and, if appropriate, refine it further. This could include, for example, testing whether there is rationale for narrowing the scope of the possible challenge prize to focus on particular sectors (such as limiting the scope to those sectors where Smart Data initiatives are planned) and/or consumer groups (such as limiting the scope to focus on consumers with vulnerabilities).

The following sections provide more detail on the proposed aims and objectives of a potential challenge prize in this space, and how we are defining terms such as “use cases” and “cross-sector” in this context.

Aims and objectives of the possible challenge prize

The core aim of the possible challenge prize itself would be to identify a range of new detailed cross-sector use cases for Smart Data.⁷ Use cases focused on cost of living and supporting consumers who are unable to engage effectively in markets and as a result, are at a particularly high risk of getting a poor deal,⁸ are a priority. However, we would not want to exclude use cases in other areas, for example use cases that would serve to empower individuals with greater control over their data and a greater ability to extract benefits from third party processing of their data.

These use cases would be used to help accelerate the development of new schemes by:

- a. Establishing the range and scale of consumer and business benefits new schemes would enable through increased data sharing.
- b. Providing potential scheme developers with sufficiently detailed cross-sector use cases to inform the detailed technical considerations necessary to establish schemes that would facilitate these.
- c. Improving government and industry understanding of key opportunities and challenges related to cross-sectoral Smart Data use cases and schemes.

In addition to this core aim, wider objectives of the challenge prize would include improving government and industry understanding of:

- a. How Smart Data could further support key Government objectives such as cost of living and supporting consumers who are unable to engage effectively in markets and as a result, are at a particularly high risk of getting a poor deal.
- b. The technology and data available in different sectors as well as how data intermediary institutions, privacy-enhancing technologies and other data sharing tools could support Smart Data use cases.
- c. Areas where there is the greatest interest and potential benefits from schemes.
- d. Key information gaps, where further research could add value.

We envisage that the knowledge gained through a running challenge prize would also help facilitate better informed policy making and the development of future schemes.

⁷ See Appendix A for examples of schemes and existing use cases

⁸ The CMA (2019) “Consumer vulnerability: challenges and potential solutions” refers to “any situation in which an individual may be unable to engage effectively in a market and as a result, is at a particularly high risk of getting a poor deal” as consumer vulnerability:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/consumer-vulnerability-challenges-and-potential-solutions>. The CMA report explains that whether a consumer is vulnerable will depend on the context and can be ‘market-specific’ or ‘associated with personal characteristics.’

What do we mean by “use cases” in this context?

A “use case” clearly describes the intention, process and benefits for consumers of a particular data sharing journey. It could take many different forms and, for this purpose, could be at different stages of development, ranging from an initial idea to a functioning service that uses real world data. An example of an existing use case would be a service that facilitated automated switching. See Appendix A for examples of existing high-level use cases.

It is useful to think about this in comparison to what we mean by “Smart Data scheme.” A “Smart Data scheme” is something like Open Banking, whereas a “use case” would be something like subscription management or account sweeping. I.e., a “Use case” would be a tangible offer from an authorised third party.

We envisage that, as a minimum, the use cases produced by the challenge prize would need to provide blueprints for how Smart Data could be utilised cross-sector, along with supporting technical and business case information. This would include details (supported by relevant evidence) of:

- a. What the idea is (for example, what is the problem the use case is trying to solve, whether alternative solutions have been attempted)
- b. How data would be shared in this journey (for example, who are the data holders, recipients and third parties that might be involved; and what consumer or business data would need to be shared and why)
- c. How this would work (for example, what would (a) the consumer journey; and (b) the data journey be in this use case).
- d. Who this would benefit / how/ why?
- e. The scale of the opportunity (for example, what are the benefits for individual consumers, small businesses, third parties and data holders?)
- f. The scale of the costs (for example, what are the potential costs for individual consumers, small businesses, third parties and data holders)
- g. What are the key technical requirements, including what infrastructure, standards, security and access would need to be made available for this to be deliverable? Including where these might already exist in other sectors.
- h. Key barriers, risks and mitigations associated.
- i. Outside of establishing a Smart Data scheme across the sectors involved, what other business steps would be needed to make this use case a reality? (For example, would this be access to investment, testing with synthetic data, conducting real-life testing?)

This should be viewed as indicative only, and we intend to use the design research to improve our understanding of how far it would be feasible for a challenge prize to develop and test cross-sector use cases, given the budget and technical constraints. Ideally, we would want the use cases to go further than ideas blueprints, and for the challenge prize to facilitate the testing and development of use case ideas using real or synthetic data.

What do we mean by “cross-sector” in this context?

As outlined above, we are considering launching a challenge prize to spur innovation and develop more cross-sector use cases. We are defining cross-sectoral use cases as use cases where data is shared across multiple sectors, and therefore, there are additional challenges to ensure that standards and trust frameworks⁹ align. An example of a Cross-sectoral use case could be a subscription management application, that could manage / aggregate or cancel subscriptions across multiple sectors (e.g., Retail, Transport and Communications).

Order Schedule 20 (Order Specification)

Contract Ref: PS22366

Crown Copyright 2021

This should be viewed as indicative only, and we intend to use the design research to improve our understanding of what use cases a challenge prize could feasibly deliver, and should focus on, given budget, data and wider constraints.

Key challenge prize constraints

Challenge prize budget and timing assumptions

When conducting the design research, contractors should work under the core planning assumption that a total budget of £1.5 million would be available for delivery of the challenge prize across financial years 2023/24 and 2024/25. This would need to cover services procured to manage delivery of the challenge prize, as well as the cost of any financial and non-financial incentives (i.e., prizes and wider support) offered as part of the challenge prize. It should be assumed that this budget would need to be split equally between the two financial years and could not be transferred between them. These should be viewed as core planning assumptions for the development of feasible options for the challenge prize.

However, these are indicative figures that may be subject to change. To allow for flexibility and increased resilience, we are asking the supplier of the design research to consider how options could be scaled (i.e., such that it is clear what would be deliverable if, following the design research, the budget available for the challenge prize was expanded or reduced).

Delivery model

We do not envisage that BEIS will have the capacity to run and manage a challenge prize in house. As set out in more detail in the following sections, we welcome conclusions from the initial design research on possible challenge prize delivery models. However, we would be more interested in seeing detail on delivery models that use an external provider to deliver this.

Infrastructure

The lack of live Smart Data schemes will limit the ability of the challenge prize to provide access to existing and live infrastructure beyond the current Open Banking scheme. In many cases, there will not be a scheme up and running that can be utilised, in the same way as there was for previous Open Banking challenges.¹⁰

The overarching aims of this design research are to build evidence about the relevant landscape (i.e., the context that the challenge prize is being designed within¹¹) and challenge prizes and use this to identify feasible options for how the possible Smart Data challenge prize could be designed and delivered, to ensure value for money, and that our aims and objectives for it would be met.

Objectives

Within this, our key objectives for the research are to:

- 1. Improve government understanding of what a good challenge prize looks like and the practical implications for the possible Smart Data challenge prize.
 - a. What are the lessons learned from previous challenge prizes (with a focus on relevant data challenges), and what does this mean for design of a possible Smart Data challenge prize.
- 2. Improve government understanding of design options for a possible Smart Data challenge prize:
 - a. The relevant landscape (i.e., the context that the challenge prize is being designed within¹²) and how a challenge prize might best fit in.
 - b. The extent to which the problem we are looking to address needs to be further refined, and how it could be refined, before running the challenge prize.
 - c. What is feasible within the constraints (such as time, budget, available data and infrastructure).
 - d. Criteria that could be used to award prizes, supporting the most promising teams, and eliminating the weakest.
 - e. The pros/ cons and key considerations associated with the options.
 - f. How the proposed options could be scaled.
 - g. How the challenge prize should be monitored and evaluated, to ensure that government can measure success and value for money.
- 3. Establish what would be needed to deliver the challenge prize in practice.
- 4. Draw conclusions on the option(s) that are likely to optimally meet our aims and objectives.

Key research questions

¹¹ This includes but is not limited to understanding who the key players are (including key data holders, TPPs, and organisations with relevant knowledge and expertise that could be involved in delivering elements of or participating in the challenge prize and/ or its design), what sandboxes and data sets are already available that could potentially be utilised, the types of use cases that already exist, and the sectors that the challenge prize could be most relevant to. Understanding this context will be important for informing options design, as well which experts the research should prioritise for engagement.

Based on the above aims and objectives, our key research questions for this research project are:¹³

Initial exploration

1. What does good look like?
 - a. What lessons should we take from previous relevant challenges and academic literature (see Appendices B and C for examples), to inform our challenge prize design?
 - b. What can literature on previous challenges tell us about good practice, impacts of challenge prizes and how to design a successful challenge prize in this area? This could include, for example, lessons learned in terms of administration structures, approach to market engagement in advance of launching the challenge, mechanisms for peer learning between challenge participants, approaches to monitoring and evaluation. See “Design options” and “Delivery” below, for further examples of the areas this should consider.
 - c. Are there additional design and delivery questions (to those listed below) that should be considered as part of options development?
 - d. What does this tell us about design and delivery risks that should be considered when designing the challenge prize?
 - e. How do the aims, potential benefits and scope of Smart Data interact with literature on effectiveness of Challenge Prize design?
2. What does the relevant landscape (i.e., the context that the challenge prize is being designed within) look like, and how could the possible Smart Data challenge prize best fit in?
 - a. Who are the key players, including potential entrants and organisations with relevant knowledge and expertise?
 - b. How could the nature of Smart Data and existing scheme infrastructure impacts design and delivery options for the challenge prize?

Design options

1. How far could existing accelerators, sandbox programmes and synthetic data sets be utilised or learnt from and provide a testbed for cross-sectoral use cases?
 - a. What would be the key risks/ barriers/ limitations of using these and how might these be overcome?
 - b. Are there complementary funds or projects that are already in development that might have synergies with the possible Smart Data challenge prize?
2. To what extent, if at all, does the problem definition need to be further refined?
 - a. What would be the options for refining this and the pros/ cons of these? (For example, is there rationale for focusing on particular sectors, technologies and/or consumer groups?)
3. What are the feasible options for this innovation challenge within the constraints (time, budget, existing infrastructure, available data sets etc)?
 - a. What stage of innovation could the challenge target?

¹³ This list has been informed by informed by Nesta's Challenges Practice Guide (2019), in addition to wider internal desk research and early stakeholder engagement.

- b. What would need to be in place to facilitate this (In terms of regulatory landscape, access to sandboxes etc)?
 - c. Could there be different pathways to facilitate ideas at various stages of development? What would be needed to enable this?
4. What eligibility and judging criteria would be appropriate? What should be our key considerations when defining these?
5. What incentives and support are needed to attract the right innovators?
 - a. Who are the innovators that we should be trying to attract to solve our chosen problem?
 - b. What motivates them and what barriers to participation may they face?
 - c. What are the options for financial incentives: prize award structures (number of prizes, stages, value of award)?
 - d. What are the options for non-financial incentives and support?
 - e. What pre-market engagement is needed?
 - f. What support needs to be put in place for participants after the challenge has concluded to ensure that potential benefits are fully realised?
 - g. What needs to be in place to ensure that anyone with a good idea can participate?
 - h. How important is it to get data holders involved in the challenge prize, not just app providers?
 - i. What incentives would be needed to encourage data holders to get involved?
 - j. What mechanisms could be used to encourage peer learning amongst challenge participants?
6. What are the key delivery risks associated with these options and how can they be mitigated?
7. What are the key technical, financial and other barriers to the development of cross-sector use cases and how should the prize take these into account?
8. What are the pros and cons of running this as a “challenge prize” (i.e., with a prize at the end) versus a challenge with support to develop solutions?
 - a. What would work best in this scenario, and would this constitute a “challenge prize” or would it be more appropriate to refer to this as a Smart Data “challenge”?
9. What are the pros and cons of the challenge prize taking a UK-focused versus a more international approach?
10. What are the key considerations, and pros and cons of the different approaches?
11. Which approach(es) is most likely to deliver value for money and deliver our aims and objective?
12. How the proposed design options could be scaled (i.e., if additional budget was made available, or the budget was reduced)?

4. Methodology

The department sets out a proposed research approach below. The department suggests that the methodology could be similar to the one it proposes and welcomes differing proposals or amendments from Tenderers should there be other means to better meet the objectives of this research.

The department envisages a three phased approach, split by a decision point (break clause) at the department's discretion between phases 2 and 3. In the event that there do not appear to be viable options that would sufficiently meet our aims and objectives for the challenge prize to warrant further development. At this stage BEIS reserves the right to terminate the project.

¹⁴ See HM Treasury \(2020\) Magenta Book for details of each evaluation approach.

Order Schedule 20 (Order Specification)
Contract Ref: PS22366
Crown Copyright 2021

The proposed structure and approach have been informed by Nesta's Challenges Practice Guide (2019).¹⁵

Note:

- BEIS would like Tenderers to demonstrate that they have critiqued the proposed methodology and considered other methods. Tender responses should include an explanation of options considered and the rationale for the recommended approach. Suppliers should cost their recommended approach, scoping the methodologies in full and providing advantages, limitations and risks associated with their recommended approach.
- Suppliers' tender responses should cover all three proposed phases of the research. Providing a breakdown of proposed methodology, timings, costings and outputs from each phase. BEIS welcomes suggestions from suppliers on alternative structure for the phases, if there is a clear rationale for doing so.

Phase 1 – Initial exploration: The key objective for this stage of the research project will be to provide evidence on what a good challenge prize looks like and the practical implications for the possible Smart Data challenge prize. A further objective of this stage of the research will be to improve BEIS understanding of the relevant landscape (i.e., the context that the challenge prize is being designed within) and how a challenge prize could fit in to drive innovation, drawing on the lessons learned from previous challenges.

Phase 2 – Design options analysis: The aim will be to build a deeper understanding of the relevant landscape and how a possible Smart Data challenge could fit in, and then use this to identify feasible options for challenge prize design within the relevant constraints (such as time, budget and data availability). It should then identify what the key considerations are and the pros, cons of different approaches. This should include consideration of whether a challenge "prize" (i.e., with a prize at the end) or a challenge with support to develop solutions would work best in this scenario. It should draw conclusions on which approach is most likely to offer value for money and meet the department's aims and objectives for the challenge prize. At the end of this phase the suppliers will work with BEIS to agree preferred options to prioritise for the next phase.

Phase 3 – Delivery planning: The aim will be to bring together evidence from the previous stages of the research and provide a detailed design specification for what will be needed to deliver the preferred option(s) in practice. This should include details of different possible delivery models. This phase of the research should also provide an assessment of what the expected outputs and outcomes from the challenge prize would be, and any key limitations, based on the proposed design options. This should include assessment of whether, given what is feasible, a challenge prize is likely to be an appropriate vehicle for achieving our aims.

The supplier will need to engage with a range of stakeholders and subject area experts at each stage, to ensure that project conclusions are informed by the latest knowledge and stakeholder views.

Prioritisation

¹⁵ <https://challenges.org/reports/nesta-challenges-practice-guide-2019/>

Order Schedule 20 (Order Specification)
Contract Ref: PS22366
Crown Copyright 2021

We are looking for this project to focus on building evidence about the relevant landscape¹⁶ and challenge prizes, and then using this to inform the design of practical and evidence-based delivery options for the possible challenge prize.

Initial exploration (Phase 1) and engagement with a range of experts will be essential for informing the development of design and delivery options (Phases 2 and 3) but should not be the focus of project outputs.

Table 1, below, table sets out indicative weightings for the different phases of the project:

Table 1: Phase indicative weightings

Phase	Indicative weightings
1	30%
3	30%

Within the development of design and delivery options, a key priority will be to understand the stages of innovation and use case development that the challenge prize could feasibly target (between initial theoretical ideas and more developed and tested prototype data services).

Phase 1 – Initial exploration

The key objective for this stage of the research project will be to provide BEIS with a more detailed understanding of what a good challenge prize looks like and the practical implications for the possible Smart Data challenge prize. BEIS expects that to address this question the successful contractor will need to complete a literature review and interviews with key experts, triangulating findings from both pieces of evidence in order to draw conclusions. A further objective of this stage of the research will be to improve BEIS understanding of the relevant landscape (i.e., the context that the challenge prize is being designed within) and how a challenge prize could fit in, drawing on the lessons learned from previous challenges.

The supplier will be responsible for:

Literature review

The literature review will be of academic and grey literature on challenge prizes, with a focus on those that are most relevant to the possible Smart Data challenge prize that we are hoping to commission. This should draw out the key lessons on what good looks like and the practical implications for the possible Smart Data challenge prize. The key aim is to understand what is already known about challenge prizes and how to deliver them effectively, and to assess how confident BEIS can be in this evidence base, within specific time periods.

The final scope of the literature review will be agreed at contract award, but at this stage BEIS expects that this literature review should include, but is not limited to, academic literature and evaluations that have been conducted of previous challenges. The supplier should use the summary of the extant literature and previous data challenges in ¹⁶ I.e., the context that the challenge prize is being designed within.

Order Schedule 20 (Order Specification)

Contract Ref: PS22366

Crown Copyright 2021

Appendices B and C as a starting point for what to include in the literature review – we would expect the supplier to identify further literature, related to the literature including in the table. The literature review should focus on bringing two separate bodies of literature together: the grey literature on challenge prizes and the government literature on Smart Data. The supplier should critically evaluate the literature, with a focus on how the research into Smart Data interacts with the research into challenge prizes and challenge prize design. The successful contractor must also ensure that the following key words are used in their searches, although the full list of key words will be agreed with the successful contractor in the literature review methodology: smart data, open banking, challenge prize, innovation prize, data challenge, innovation challenge. The literature review should identify key opportunities and data gaps that could be used to inform Phases 2 and 3.

Given key policy timescales, the extent of the literature review will need to be time and scope bounded to ensure that policy can make timely decisions in terms of informing the design of the challenge prize. This means that there will likely be biases in the information provided, since not all evidence sources will be possible to be included. To mitigate this, the methods section of the literature review report should record how it has been less comprehensive than a full systematic review and discuss the likely levels of bias this has caused so that those taking decisions are aware of limitations of the evidence. The review should make explicit that it is a broad-brush summary of evidence, making readers aware of what has been compromised to increase the speed at which the review could be undertaken. BEIS also expects the successful tenderer to arrange independent peer review of the literature review. The review should also highlight key gaps and areas for further review in the future.

Tenderers should note that the literature review must be completed by the end of December 2022.

Tenderers are asked to take into consideration the research questions and timescales and propose a literature review methodology which will be agreed at contract award. This would need to include (as well as any additional information the tenderer believes should be considered):

- a. Which type of literature review would be most appropriate and why (e.g., systematic evidence review, rapid evidence assessment) as well as the constraints they will place on it, and why;
- b. How the literature review would be delivered within key timescales, including time for BEIS to review and sign off outputs;
- c. Search terms to be used;
- d. Approach to sourcing and sifting including sources for literature (e.g., names of digital libraries);
- e. Which types of literature would be in scope (e.g., academic articles, grey literature);
- f. Approach to assessing and collating literature, including a quality assessment criteria to be used to assess the robustness and potential biases of information.

Expert Interviews

To support the literature review, the successful tenderer will also need to complete interviews with key experts to build evidence on the lessons that can be learned from previous challenge prizes and the practical implications for the possible Smart Data challenge prize.

Suggested interviews to be completed are set out in Box 1 below. Tenderers should base their costs on these numbers. However, the exact figures and approach will be agreed

Order Schedule 20 (Order Specification)
Contract Ref: PS22366
Crown Copyright 2021

when the successful Tenderer is appointed. Tenderers should base their costs on the assumptions that interviews would be 60 mins in length, but the final length of interviews will be confirmed with the BEIS project manager once the successful Tenderer is appointed.

Sampling would be mostly purposive since there are only a select group of relevant individuals who should be included in the interviews. However, it may be that some snowballing could also be used if additional relevant contacts emerged during the interviews and therefore BEIS has allowed for some potential additional interviews to be completed and asks Tenderers to cost for 10 interviews. BEIS understands that they have a thorough list of initial potential interviewees, but the winning tenderer would be invited to comment on this list and provide additional recommendations if needed (although for the purpose of the tender application and costings they should cost for those listed in Box 1).

Box 1: Experts for interview at Phase 1

- Nesta Challenge Works
- Innovate UK
- Centre for Data Ethics and Innovation (CDEI)
- Open Data Institute (ODI)
- Open Banking Implementation Entity (OBEI)
- CivTech
- Ctrl-Shift

To allow for some potential additional interviews to be completed, BEIS asks that Tenderers cost for 10 interviews at Phase 1.

BEIS would engage with relevant organisations to explain the purpose of the research and the importance of them taking part in order to encourage participation and ask for the names of the most appropriate people to speak to in the organisation. The successful tenderer would be provided with contact details for these key experts and would be expected to arrange and conduct the interviews. BEIS would like to see and sign off an initial email script which can be used to invite attendance for all interviewees. To encourage participation, BEIS expects that incentive payments will not be needed given the engaged character of the interview audience, and instead the tenderer will be expected to be flexible on timings for arranging the interviews.

It is expected that interviews would be semi-structured, and the successful tenderer would need to agree a list of topics to explore with BEIS and draft a topic guide to be used to structure the interviews, ensuring that all tenderer team members are briefed on the aims of the interview and have the necessary qualitative interview skills. BEIS expects that the interviews will take place online and be recorded, with permission from participants, and asks tenderers to detail which online platform they would use. The tenderer should provide details of who would lead interviews and the approach for ensuring consistency if multiple people are completing interviews, their facilitation skills and approach to note-taking (noting that transcripts will not be necessary).

BEIS expects interviews to be thematically analysed and asks tenderers to set out their approach to do this including any software packages that might be used.

Landscape mapping

Phase 1 reporting

The successful Tenderer would need to triangulate findings from the literature review and interviews and report findings to BEIS on key conclusions at this stage of the research. BEIS expects that the quality requirements will vary depending on the research question, and the successful tenderer will be expected to provide a recommendation on the quality of the evidence base from the literature review, as well as a recommendation on any significant evidence gaps and how these could be addressed through the rest of this project.

¹⁷ This includes but is not limited to understanding who the key players are (including key data holders, TPPs, and organisations with relevant knowledge and expertise that could be involved in delivering elements of or participating in the challenge prize and/ or its design), what sandboxes and data sets are already available that could potentially be utilised, the types of use cases that already exist, and the sectors that the challenge prize could be most relevant to. Understanding this context will be important for informing options design, as well which experts the research should prioritise for engagement.

They would need to prepare an interim report (not for publication) summarising the findings from Phase 1 of the research. In addition, they would need to prepare a presentation to BEIS to talk through the findings and agree the key implications for Phase 2.

In parallel to the activities outlined above, suppliers will be expected to conduct desk research and other preparation needed for the fieldwork and options development at Phase 2.

Phase 2 – Design options analysis

In the second phase, the supplier should engage with a range of external experts¹⁸ and conduct further desk research to identify, test and analyse feasible design options for the challenge prize. This should build on the landscape mapping and evidence on lessons learned from Phase 1.

Following the conclusion of this phase of the project, the supplier would then be expected to work with BEIS to define which option(s) will be taken forward as the focus of Phase 3.

The aim of this phase will be to build a more comprehensive evidence base on the relevant landscape (i.e., the context that the challenge prize is being designed within) and how a possible Smart Data challenge could fit in, and then use this to inform technical design options for the possible challenge prize within the relevant constraints (such as time, budget and data availability). It should identify what the key considerations are and the pros, cons of different approaches. This should include consideration of whether a challenge “prize” (i.e., with a prize at the end) or a challenge with support to develop solutions would work best in this scenario. It should draw conclusions on which approach is most likely to offer value for money and meet the department’s aims and objectives for the challenge prize. At the end of this phase the suppliers will work with BEIS to agree preferred options to prioritise for the next phase.

The supplier will be responsible for:

1. Building a more comprehensive understanding of the relevant landscape (i.e., the context that the challenge prize is being designed within), and how our possible Smart Data challenge prize could fit. Including:
 - a. How the nascent nature of Smart Data Schemes beyond Open Banking would constrain what a challenge prize could practically do in this space.
 - b. The extent to which existing accelerators, sandbox programmes and synthetic data sets could be utilised to provide a testbed for use cases.
 - c. Identifying what types of organisations might participate in the possible challenge prize.
2. Exploring the feasible design options for the challenge prize within the constraints (time, budget, existing infrastructure, available data sets etc) and the key considerations regarding design decisions. Including:
 - a. What the pros and cons are of running this as a “challenge prize” (i.e., with a prize at the end) versus a challenge with support to develop solutions. We - do not have a pre-conceived idea of what it should be and want suppliers to tell us what they think will work best in this scenario.

- b. Whether and how the problem the challenge prize is looking to address needs to be refined further.
- c. The stages of innovation and use case development that the challenge prize could feasibly target, between (a) initial ideas and (b) functioning cross-sector services that use real world data, and what would need to be in place to facilitate this. This should include consideration of whether there could be different pathways to facilitate use case ideas at various stages of development.
- d. What the value-add and limitation would be from the outputs of the challenge prize at each development phase.
- e. The incentives, support and infrastructure will be needed to attract the right innovators and ensure that the challenge prize meets its aims and objectives.

3. Developing a set of prototype challenge prize design options (informed by desk research and the expert engagement), that are consistent with our aims and objectives and feasible given the relevant constraints. Key building blocks for consideration when identifying design options include but are not limited to:

- a. Problem definition
- b. Eligibility criteria
- c. Judging criteria
- d. Incentives and support (financial and non-financial)
- e. Governance structures and accountability
- f. Required expertise and partnerships
- g. Infrastructure and technical considerations

The contractor will be responsible for delivering the following services during Phase 2:

Focus groups

Tenderers should propose an approach to running the focus groups, assuming that there would be 6 focus groups in total and that each group should contain 10 individuals, be conducted online with a duration of 90 minutes.

Sampling and constructing focus groups

The final list of attendees and target organisations will be agreed with the successful contractor after the scoping work in Phase 1, but an example list of the types of organisations we would like to include is provided above under the heading "Landscape Mapping." Tenderers would need to support BEIS with constructing the attendees of the focus groups, providing advice on suitable numbers and how to mix attendees so that there is a good balance between shared and contrasting knowledge and expertise (i.e. in the table below there are more potential organisations than we expect we would include).

As with the interviews in Phase 1, sampling would be mostly purposive since there is a select group of organisations and individuals with relevant knowledge and experience to include. As with Phase 1, BEIS would engage with relevant organisations to explain the purpose of the research and the importance of them taking part in order to encourage participation and ask for the names of the most appropriate people to speak to in the organisation. The successful tenderer would be provided with contact details for these key experts. In the case that there are multiple potential people from the same organisation, the successful contractor may be asked to randomly select individuals to invite. The contractor would be expected to arrange and conduct the interviews. BEIS would like to see and sign off an initial email script which can be used to invite attendance for all interviewees. To encourage participation, BEIS expects that incentive payments will not be needed and instead the tenderer will be expected to be flexible on timings for arranging the interviews.

Order Schedule 20 (Order Specification)
Contract Ref: PS22366
Crown Copyright 2021

Given that fieldwork for the focus groups is, provisionally and subject to supplier proposals, time-tabled for January 2023, the successful tenderer would need to ensure that timings for the focus groups were agreed with attendees by the end of December to ensure good participation in the new year (see section below titled “Timetable”). Tenderers should therefore demonstrate in their bid how they would arrange Phase 1 deliverables in order to meet this milestone.

Research tools

Contractors should explain how they intend to develop effective research tools, and details of any piloting or cognitive testing. Findings from Phase 1 should inform the design of the focus group material and target attendees. Topics and research questions to be explored will likely need to be tailored for different focus groups and the specifics of this will be agreed with the contractor after Phase 1.

BEIS asks that the successful tenderer provides a debrief/ discussion after the initial focus groups to check the topic guides are working as intended.

Conducting focus groups

Tenderers should set out their approach to conducting the focus groups. BEIS expects that the focus groups take place online and be recorded, with permission from participants, and asks tenderers to detail which online platform they would use, including any functionality that this provides (e.g., break out groups, voting buttons).

Contractors should clearly outline what length of time they would require to carry out the fieldwork and how they will do this, including how many facilitators they will use and whether more than one facilitator/facilitation team will be required.

Tenderers should also specify if they would have additional team members providing additional roles such as providing logistical support to ensure a seamless online experience and address any issues. If multiple facilitators are used tenderers should explain how they would ensure continuity across focus groups. Tenderers will also need to ensure that all facilitators are briefed appropriately on the topic area and have the necessary qualitative research skills to facilitate the focus groups.

Contractors should indicate the data recording methods they will use to record the data that will be used for analysis (for example, via audio recording, audio and video recording or by transcription).

Analysis and reporting

Tenderers should set out their approach to qualitative analysis, providing a sufficiently detailed description of how data will be approached. This might, for example, explain how themes will be identified and developed, whether analysis will be undertaken within and/or across cases, and how the analysis will be managed across individuals, if applicable. Any quality assurance undertaken within the analysis process should be explained. In explaining their approaches to analysis, contractors should illustrate how these will ensure a credible and impartial outcome and set out any limitations or bias.

Order Schedule 20 (Order Specification)
Contract Ref: PS22366
Crown Copyright 2021

Workshop

Holding a workshop with select experts to further develop and test the prototype design options and explore their strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and risks. This should include consideration of how the prototype options could be scaled (i.e., if additional budget was made available, or the level of ambition needed to be scaled back).

Tenderers should propose an approach to running the workshop. We have assumed that the workshop would have 18 attendees and be conducted online with a duration of 3 hours. Tenderers should base their costs on these numbers. However, the exact figures and approach will be agreed when the successful Tenderer is appointed.

Attendees will be made up of a selection of individuals from the focus groups, selected using purposive sampling and based on relevance to the workshop focus. The successful contractor would be responsible for securing attendance at the workshops and conducting the workshops. BEIS would sign off any invitation communication ahead of going out to attendees.

The final purpose and scope of the workshop will be agreed during Phase 2 using the information gathered to date, but it is likely that it will further develop and test the prototype design options and explore their strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and risks. It is also expected that this would include consideration of how the prototype options could be scaled (i.e., if additional budget was made available, or the level of ambition needed to be scaled back). Contractors should explain how they would present this information clearly to attendees and how they would stimulate discussion around the different options, including any additional materials they might use and any piloting or testing of these materials.

Tenderers are asked to detail their approach to delivering the workshop including:

- a. How they would ensure attendance at the workshop, given that attendees may have already recently taken part in focus groups
- b. How they would agree the scope of the workshop with BEIS
- c. The platform they would use to deliver workshop and how this would be used to ensure effective discussion, collaboration, participation, including any functionality details
- d. Approach to recording
- e. How many facilitators they would use across the workshop and any additional supporting roles of team members
- f. Approach to data recording (e.g., via audio recording, audio and video recording or by transcription).

Approach to analysis

Conducting desk-based options analysis (informed by desk research and the above expert engagement) to explore key design considerations and draw conclusions on which prototype option(s) is most likely to deliver value for money and deliver our aims and objectives for the challenge prize. This should include a clear and transparent explanation of the rationale for the options and conclusions, and the evidence and assumptions informing them.

Order Schedule 20 (Order Specification)
Contract Ref: PS22366

Phase 2 reporting

The successful tenderer would need to triangulate the evidence and conclusions from Phase 1 with the focus groups, workshop, and desk-based analysis from Phase 2, and report findings to BEIS on key conclusions at this stage of the research.

They would need to prepare an updated interim report (not for publication), summarising the findings from Phase 2 of the research. This should draw on and link to the findings from Phase 1. In addition, they would need to prepare a presentation to BEIS to talk through the findings of Phase 2 and agree and refine the option(s) that will be taken forward as the focus of Phase 3 of the research.

Note:

- BEIS welcomes proposals from suppliers on the most appropriate structure and sequencing for the engagement with experts, to gather the information needed to develop and test design proposals. This should include considering whether there is a need to build in pilots/ tests to ensure interview guides are fit for purpose. BEIS also welcomes proposals from suppliers on how responses from the expert engagement (such as interviews and focus groups) should be analysed. Your tender response should include critique of the options considered and the rationale for your recommended approach.
- As part of their application, BEIS would like suppliers to explain how they would explore and assess how far mechanisms, including but not limited to, existing accelerators and sandbox programmes could be utilised or learnt from and provide a testbed for cross-sectoral use cases. Suppliers should also provide details of any relevant knowledge and expertise they hold in this area.

Phase 3 – Delivery

In the final phase, the supplier will be responsible for conducting desk research, supplemented with interviews with key experts, if required,¹⁹ to:

1. Progress with options development, with detailed investigation into what would need to be in place to deliver the preferred option(s) in practice. See “
2. Key research questions” for a non-exclusive list of questions that we would expect the supplier to consider and draw conclusions on.
3. Produce a full design specification for the preferred design option(s). We envisage that this would cover:
 - a. Problem definition
 - b. Eligibility criteria
 - c. Judging criteria
 - d. Structure and incentives (financial and non-financial support)
 - e. Implementation plan (incl. identification of key risks and mitigations, details of resource and timing requirements)
 - f. Governance structures and accountability

¹⁹ Drawing on the landscape mapping from Phase 1 and information gathered in Phase 2. Where needed, to address information gaps and test conclusions.

- g. Required expertise and partnerships
- h. Infrastructure and technical considerations

4. Conduct an assessment of expected outputs and outcomes from the challenge prize, based on the proposed design specification. This should include estimates for the number of use cases the challenge prize should hope to deliver, illustrative examples of what the use cases would look like, details of the extent to which the use cases will have been tested/ the stage of innovation, and an assessment of their limitations.
5. Conduct an assessment of the extent to which a challenge prize is an appropriate vehicle for delivering our aims and objectives, given what it will feasibly be able to deliver within the relevant constraints.
6. Draw conclusions on key considerations around the scope and design of the monitoring and evaluation approach for the preferred option(s). This should cover process, impacts and value-for-money evaluation.²⁰ All elements will need to be explored to understand the challenge prize's design, impact and result.

Note: At this initial scoping stage we are seeking conclusions on key considerations regarding monitoring and evaluation approach, and implications for design of the possible challenge prize. We envisage that, if we decided to proceed with delivering the challenge prize, a detailed monitoring and evaluation plan would need to be developed and delivered with our chosen delivery partner for challenge prize itself.

5. Outputs Required

The outputs of the three phases of research should cover the following. Only the final report, that draws together the findings from the three phases, and the summary version of this is expected to be publication ready:

Phase 1

- a. An interim report (not for publication) summarising the methodology and findings from Phase 1 of the research.
- b. Presentation to BEIS to talk through the findings and agree the key implications for Phase 2.

Phase 2

- a. An interim report (not for publication) summarising the methodology and findings from Phases 2 of the research. This should include a set of prototype design options and options analysis.
- b. Presentation to BEIS to talk through the findings of Phase 2 and agree and refine the option(s) that will be taken forward as the focus of Phase 3 of the research.

Phase 3

- a. A final report summarising methodology, findings and conclusions from the three phases of research. This should include (either as part of the main report or as an annex) the detailed design specification(s) and information on possible delivery models for the preferred option(s).
- b. Summary report (suitable for publication).

²⁰ See HM Treasury \(2020\) Magenta Book for details of each evaluation approach.

c. Presentation to BEIS to talk through the findings and research outputs.

Process Outputs

The department envisages that the contractor will transparently undertake quality assurance for all research outputs and provide BEIS with written confirmation of the quality assurance process that has been conducted. This will include ensuring that the final reports (full and summary versions) are consistent with BEIS style guides/ accessibility requirements for commissioned research projects. The department envisages that it will also be provided with the opportunity to undertake peer review ourselves on each product.

The department will receive a methodology report that outlines the contractor's proposed approach to each research phase. Interim reports after the completion of each research phase will also be provided, giving details of early findings and results as well as an assessment of how successful each phase was in achieving the associated aims.

The department will be given an opportunity to review and provide sign off on any interview and focus group guides, as well as lists of proposed attendees, before they are finalised. The department will also review and provide sign off on the interim and final reports before these are finalised.

Meetings can be held virtually throughout the research process. Lastly, upon conclusion of the research, the contractor will provide a full report in March 2023 and provide a virtual presentation summarising the key findings of the full report. The report should follow the structure of the three phased approach and finish with the conclusions that can be drawn from linking the outputs of each phase together.

We envisage that the final report will include the following:

- a. An executive summary
- b. A summary of the methodology used and any underlying assumptions and caveats
- c. An expert literature review
- d. Summary of qualitative research approach and findings
- e. Options identification, assessment and analysis
- f. A set of prototype prize design options
- g. A full prize design specification for the preferred option(s) which includes, but is not limited to, conclusions on:
 - i. Problem definition
 - ii. Eligibility criteria
 - iii. Judging criteria

 - v. Implementation plan (incl. identification of key risks and mitigations, details of resource and timing requirements)
 - vi. Governance structures and accountability
 - vii. Required expertise and partnerships
 - viii. Infrastructure and technical considerations
 - ix. Monitoring and evaluation approach

- i. The supplier will provide a virtual presentation to BEIS to disseminate the main findings in the final report.
- j. The supplier will also provide a high-level summary report suitable for publication.
- k. The final report and presentation are to be completed by the end of March 2023.

Furthermore, the supplier should provide, on request:

- a. Copies of any interview scripts / question lists used during the external engagement phases of the research
- b. Copies of any transcripts/ notes produced from the external engagement phases
- c. Cleaned data sets of any data gathered during the research

6. Ownership and Publication

The Supplier assigns to the Contracting Authority, with full title guarantee and free from all third-party rights, all Intellectual Property Rights in the products of the Services, including for the avoidance of doubt the Deliverables. Where those products or Deliverables incorporate any Intellectual Property Rights owned by or licensed to the Supplier which are not assigned under this clause, the Supplier grants to the Contracting Authority a worldwide, irrevocable, royalty-free, transferable licence, with the right to grant sub-licences, under those Intellectual Property Rights to maintain, repair, adapt, copy and use those products and Deliverables for any purpose.

The Supplier shall obtain waivers of all moral rights in the products, including for the avoidance of doubt the Deliverables, of the Services to which any individual is now or may be at any future time entitled under Chapter IV of Part I of the Copyright Designs and Patents Act 1988 or any similar provisions of law in any jurisdiction.

The Supplier shall, promptly at the request of the Contracting Authority or UK SBS acting as an agent on behalf of the Contracting Authority, do (or procure to be done) all such further acts and things and the execution of all such other documents as the Contracting Authority or UK SBS acting as an agent on behalf of the Contracting Authority may from time to time require for the purpose of securing for the Contracting Authority the full benefit of the Contract, including all right, title and interest in and to the Intellectual Property Rights assigned to the Contracting Authority.

The decision whether to publish the report will be made by the department and subject to internal clearance processes. In light of this, the report's contents must still be suitable for a public audience and meet the department's accessible documents requirements.²¹ Any data produced will also be under BEIS ownership and stored and used in line with the principles set out in GDPR. The final report must be consistent with BEIS style guides/ accessibility requirements for commissioned research projects.

The research outputs will be used to inform, and referenced in, further work on Smart Data by the department. In particular, the design specification for the possible Smart Data challenge prize.

7. Quality Assurance

All bids should state the quality assurance processes that will be applied to different activities and outputs.

All draft reports will be subject to review by the BEIS Peer Review Group. Bids will benefit where they can propose additional peer review throughout the delivery of the project. If more guidance on this is required, suppliers should consult the department's evidence framework.²²

Quality assurance and clearance plan for the key project products

The contractors would be expected to follow BEIS QA guidance and keep a live QA log which will be shared with BEIS at key stages in the project. Only when satisfied with the QA steps taken would BEIS authorise progression to the next phase.

The contractor would also be required to produce a first paper setting out the agreed methodological approach. The contractor would also be expected to set out an agreed QA plan in that document.

8. Timetable

This is a time-sensitive piece of work which must be completed by 31 March 2023.

The Department proposes the high-level timeline in the table below. These timings may be subject to change and are not final.

Milestone	Date (provisional, w/c)
MC released	3 November 2022
MC closes	17 November 2022
Anticipated Contract Start Date	28 November 2022
Literature review completed	End-December 2022
Focus group fieldwork	January 2023
First draft final report	6 March 2023
End of project	20 March 2023

9. Challenges

As part of methodology design, BEIS would like suppliers to demonstrate that they have identified and planned for potential risks and challenges, including to the timings of the project. Bidders should outline the risks and challenges they identify for the project and their approach for mitigating these and minimising their impact or overcoming them. Potential risks identified by BEIS include but are not limited to:

- a. Critical time and budget-related milestones are not met at each stage.
- b. The successful tenderer's staff appointed to the project are unable to work on the project due to illness or other reasons.
- c. Key experts do not want to participate in the interviews/ focus groups/ workshops.
- d. The research fails to answer the research questions and/or provide a detailed set of options and conclusions on challenge prize design and delivery.
- e. The relatively nascent nature of Smart Data outside of Open Banking limits the ability of the possible challenge prize to provide access to existing and live infrastructure, and this significantly limits options for what a challenge prize could achieve in this space.
- f. Whoever wins the design stage will not be prevented from bidding for the challenge prize, however they will be required to sign an ethical wall document to ensure information is not transferred to other members of the winning contractor's team, which should maintain an equal playing field for the future challenge prize.

Bidders are advised that whoever wins the design stage will not be prevented from bidding for the challenge prize, however they will be required to sign an ethical wall document to ensure information is not transferred to other members of the winning contractor's team, which should maintain an equal playing field for the future challenge prize.

10. Ethics

All applicants will need to identify and propose arrangements for initial scrutiny and on-going monitoring of ethical issues. Government guidance on the expected standards and responsibilities when designing/conducting social and behavioural research for/on-behalf of government can be found at:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/ethical-assurance-guidance-for-social-research-in-government>.

The appropriate handling of ethical issues is part of the tender assessment exercise and proposals will be evaluated on this as part of the 'addressing challenges and risks' criterion.

We expect contractors to adhere to the following GSR Principals:

1. Sound application and conduct of social research methods and appropriate dissemination and utilisation of findings
2. Participation based on valid consent
3. Enabling participation
4. Avoidance of personal harm
5. Non-disclosure of identity and personal information

11. Working Arrangements

The successful contractor will be expected to identify one named point of contact through whom all enquiries can be filtered. A BEIS project manager will be assigned to the project and will be the central point of contact.

Personnel

Project Director	The Project Director cannot be replaced until completion unless there are extenuating circumstances that makes the project director no longer available.

Core Delivery Team	The supplier to provide named individuals who will make up the core delivery team. The supplier should also outline how they will provide delivery team cover, should this be necessary. Any changes should be proposed in writing and approved by the BEIS project lead.
--------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Project management and governance

A BEIS project manager will be assigned to the project and will be the central point of contact. There will be two governance groups who will further steer the research and outputs. A working level Peer Review Group will review research outputs and plans and provide analytical advice. A Steering Group will provide steers on key decisions regarding the project. The Senior Responsible Owner (SRO), a BEIS Deputy Director in Consumer and Competition Policy Directorate, will be responsible for providing sign off on final reports. The successful bidder will be expected to work flexibly with governance groups and the contract manager throughout.

The successful supplier will be expected to meet with the project manager weekly (online) and provide regular updates on project progress and any issues or challenges.

SharePoint will be used by both BEIS and the successful tenderer to share any project outputs, documents, research reports or datasets, or any content containing official or official sensitive information.

12. Skills and Expertise

BEIS would like you to demonstrate that you have the expertise and capabilities to undertake the project. Your tender response should include a summary of each proposed team members skill, expertise and capabilities.

Contractors should propose named members of the project team, and include the tasks and responsibilities of each team member. This should be clearly linked to the work programme, indicating the grade/ seniority of staff and number of days allocated to specific tasks.

Contractors should identify the individual(s) who will be responsible for managing the project.

Essential and desired skills for the contractor project team

Suppliers should set out how their proposed project team has the following skills and knowledge needed to fulfil this contract:

Essential

- Strong evidence synthesis skills, and ability to analyse clear options based on the evidence from all phases of research.
- Strong communication skills (utilising a variety of tools) and ability to engage different audiences.
- Project management and relationship management skills.
- Strong skills of conducting expert literature review.

Order Schedule 20 (Order Specification)

Contract Ref: PS22366

- Strong skills of conducting interviews, facilitating focus groups and workshops, and robustly analysing and interpreting the findings from these.
- Strong written communication skills and ability to write succinctly and bring out key messages, based on evidence.
- Strong design skills, including design of practical delivery options.

Desirable

- Understanding of challenges and what is required for their successful design and practical delivery.
- Understanding of monitoring and evaluation techniques.

13. Consortium Bids

We think it is likely that a consortium approach will be required for this project, given the range of different skills we are looking for to complete the research.

In the case of a consortium tender, only one submission covering all of the partners is required but consortia are advised to make clear the proposed role that each partner will play in performing the contract as per the requirements of the technical specification. We expect the bidder to indicate who in the consortium will be the lead contact for this project, and the organisation and governance associated with the consortia.

Contractors must provide details as to how they will manage any sub-contractors and what percentage of the tendered activity (in terms of monetary value) will be sub-contracted.

BEIS recognises that arrangements in relation to consortia may (within limits) be subject to future change. Potential Providers should therefore respond in the light of the arrangements as currently envisaged. Potential Providers are reminded that any future proposed change in relation to consortia must be notified to BEIS so that it can make a further assessment by applying the selection criteria to the new information provided.

14. Budget

The maximum budget that has been allocated to this project is £120,000 excluding VAT. This is the total budget cumulative across all three phases of the research. Suppliers should provide a breakdown of proposed costings of each phase.

Within your response to AW5.1 and AW5.2, bidders should provide a full and detailed breakdown of costs. This should include staff (and day rate) allocated to specific tasks. This should also include a proposed breakdown of costs between phases and key delivery/payment milestones.

Cost will be a criterion against which bids which will be assessed.

Payments will be linked to delivery of key milestones. The indicative milestones and phasing of payments is as follows. This can be adjusted and agreed with the contractor based on the tender response. Please advise in your tender response how this breakdown reflects your usual payment processes.

We envisage that payments will be linked to key milestones at the completion of each phase, contingent on outputs meeting the required standard. The following table provides an overview of an illustrative payment schedule, based on the indicative weightings outlined under suggested methodology.

3.3.6 The Supplier must ensure all Services, and anything used to Deliver the Services, are of good quality and free from defects.

3.3.7 The Buyer is entitled to withhold payment for partially or undelivered Services, but doing so does not stop it from using its other rights under the Contract.

4. Pricing and payments

4.1 In exchange for the Deliverables, the Supplier must invoice the Buyer for the Charges in the Order Form.

4.2 CCS must invoice the Supplier for the Management Levy and the Supplier must pay it using the process in DPS Schedule 5 (Management Levy and Information).

4.3 All Charges and the Management Levy:

(a) exclude VAT, which is payable on provision of a valid VAT invoice; and (b) include all costs connected with the Supply of Deliverables.

4.4 The Buyer must pay the Supplier the Charges within 30 days of receipt by the Buyer of a valid, undisputed invoice, in cleared funds using the payment method and details stated in the Order Form.

4.5 A Supplier invoice is only valid if it:

- (a) includes all appropriate references including the Contract reference number and other details reasonably requested by the Buyer;
- (b) includes a detailed breakdown of Delivered Deliverables and Milestone(s) (if any); and
- (c) does not include any Management Levy (the Supplier must not charge the Buyer in any way for the Management Levy).

4.6 The Buyer must accept and process for payment an undisputed Electronic Invoice received from the Supplier.

4.7 The Buyer may retain or set-off payment of any amount owed to it by the Supplier if notice and reasons are provided.

4.8 The Supplier must ensure that all Subcontractors are paid, in full, within 30 days of receipt of a valid, undisputed invoice. If this does not happen, CCS or the Buyer can publish the details of the late payment or non-payment.

4.9 If CCS or the Buyer can get more favourable commercial terms for the supply at cost of any materials, goods or services used by the Supplier to provide the Deliverables, then CCS or the Buyer may require the Supplier to replace its existing commercial terms with the more favourable terms offered for the relevant items.

- 4.10 If CCS or the Buyer uses Clause 4.9 then the DPS Pricing (and where applicable, the Charges) must be reduced by an agreed amount by using the Variation Procedure.
- 4.11 The Supplier has no right of set-off, counterclaim, discount or abatement unless they are ordered to do so by a court.

5. The buyer's obligations to the supplier

5.1 If Supplier Non-Performance arises from an Authority Cause:

- (a) neither CCS or the Buyer can terminate a Contract under Clause 10.4.1;
- (b) the Supplier is entitled to reasonable and proven additional expenses and to relief from liability and Deduction under this Contract;
- (c) the Supplier is entitled to additional time needed to make the Delivery; and (d) the Supplier cannot suspend the ongoing supply of Deliverables.

5.2 Clause 5.1 only applies if the Supplier:

- (a) gives notice to the Party responsible for the Authority Cause within 10 Working Days of becoming aware;
- (b) demonstrates that the Supplier Non-Performance would not have occurred but for the Authority Cause; and
- (c) mitigated the impact of the Authority Cause.

6. Record keeping and reporting

6.1 The Supplier must attend Progress Meetings with the Buyer and provide Progress Reports when specified in the Order Form.

6.2 The Supplier must keep and maintain full and accurate records and accounts on everything to do with the Contract:

- (a) during the Contract Period;
- (b) for 7 years after the End Date; and (c) in accordance with UK GDPR, including but not limited to the records and accounts stated in the definition of Audit in Joint Schedule 1.

6.3 The Relevant Authority or an Auditor can Audit the Supplier.

6.4 During an Audit, the Supplier must:

- (a) allow the Relevant Authority or any Auditor access to their premises to verify all contract accounts and records of everything to do with the Contract and provide copies for an Audit; and
- (b) provide information to the Relevant Authority or to the Auditor and reasonable co-operation at their request.

6.5 Where the Audit of the Supplier is carried out by an Auditor, the Auditor shall be entitled to share any information obtained during the Audit with the Relevant Authority.

6.6 If the Supplier is not providing any of the Deliverables, or is unable to provide them, it must immediately:

- (a) tell the Relevant Authority and give reasons;
- (b) propose corrective action; and
- (c) provide a deadline for completing the corrective action.

6.7 The Supplier must provide CCS with a Self Audit Certificate supported by an audit report at the end of each Contract Year. The report must contain:

- (a) the methodology of the review;
- (b) the sampling techniques applied; (c) details of any issues; and (d) any remedial action taken.

6.8 The Self Audit Certificate must be completed and signed by an auditor or senior member of the Supplier's management team that is qualified in either a relevant audit or financial discipline.

7. Supplier staff

7.1 The Supplier Staff involved in the performance of each Contract must:

- (a) be appropriately trained and qualified;
- (b) be vetted using Good Industry Practice and the Security Policy; and
- (c) comply with all conduct requirements when on the Buyer's Premises.

7.2 Where a Buyer decides one of the Supplier's Staff is not suitable to work on a contract, the Supplier must replace them with a suitably qualified alternative.

7.3 If requested, the Supplier must replace any person whose acts or omissions have caused the Supplier to breach Clause 27.

- 7.4 The Supplier must provide a list of Supplier Staff needing to access the Buyer's Premises and say why access is required.
- 7.5 The Supplier indemnifies CCS and the Buyer against all claims brought by any person employed by the Supplier caused by an act or omission of the Supplier or any Supplier Staff.

8. Rights and protection

8.1 The Supplier warrants and represents that:

- (a) it has full capacity and authority to enter into and to perform each Contract;
- (b) each Contract is executed by its authorised representative;
- (c) it is a legally valid and existing organisation incorporated in the place it was formed;
- (d) there are no known legal or regulatory actions or investigations before any court, administrative body or arbitration tribunal pending or threatened against it or its Affiliates that might affect its ability to perform each Contract;
- (e) it maintains all necessary rights, authorisations, licences and consents to perform its obligations under each Contract;
- (f) it does not have any contractual obligations which are likely to have a material adverse effect on its ability to perform each Contract;
- (g) it is not impacted by an Insolvency Event; and (h) it will comply with each Order Contract.

8.2 The warranties and representations in Clauses 2.10 and 8.1 are repeated each time the Supplier provides Deliverables under the Contract.

8.3 The Supplier indemnifies both CCS and every Buyer against each of the following:

- (a) wilful misconduct of the Supplier, Subcontractor and Supplier Staff that impacts the Contract; and (b) non-payment by the Supplier of any Tax or National Insurance.

8.4 All claims indemnified under this Contract must use Clause 26.

8.5 The description of any provision of this Contract as a warranty does not prevent CCS or a Buyer from exercising any termination right that it may have for breach of that clause by the Supplier.

8.6 If the Supplier becomes aware of a representation or warranty that becomes untrue or misleading, it must immediately notify CCS and every Buyer.

8.7 All third party warranties and indemnities covering the Deliverables must be assigned for the Buyer's benefit by the Supplier.

9. Intellectual Property Rights (IPRs)

- 9.1 Each Party keeps ownership of its own Existing IPRs. The Supplier gives the Buyer a non-exclusive, perpetual, royalty-free, irrevocable, transferable worldwide licence to use, change and sub-license the Supplier's Existing IPR to enable it to both:
- (a) receive and use the Deliverables; and
 - (b) make use of the deliverables provided by a Replacement Supplier.
- 9.2 Any New IPR created under a Contract is owned by the Buyer. The Buyer gives the Supplier a licence to use any Existing IPRs and New IPRs for the purpose of fulfilling its obligations during the Contract Period.
- 9.3 Where a Party acquires ownership of IPRs incorrectly under this Contract it must do everything reasonably necessary to complete a transfer assigning them in writing to the other Party on request and at its own cost.
- 9.4 Neither Party has the right to use the other Party's IPRs, including any use of the other Party's names, logos or trademarks, except as provided in Clause 9 or otherwise agreed in writing.
- 9.5 If there is an IPR Claim, the Supplier indemnifies CCS and each Buyer against all losses, damages, costs or expenses (including professional fees and fines) incurred as a result.
- 9.6 If an IPR Claim is made or anticipated the Supplier must at its own expense and the Buyer's sole option, either:
- (a) obtain for CCS and the Buyer the rights in Clause 9.1 and 9.2 without infringing any third party IPR; or
 - (b) replace or modify the relevant item with substitutes that do not infringe IPR without adversely affecting the functionality or performance of the Deliverables.
- 9.7 In spite of any other provisions of a Contract and for the avoidance of doubt, award of a Contract by the Buyer and placement of any contract task under it does not constitute an authorisation by the Crown under Sections 55 and 56 of the Patents Act 1977 or Section 12 of the Registered Designs Act 1949. The Supplier acknowledges that any authorisation by the Buyer under its statutory powers must be expressly provided in writing, with reference to the acts authorised and the specific IPR involved.

10. Ending the contract or any subcontract

10.1 Contract Period

- 10.1.1 The Contract takes effect on the Start Date and ends on the End Date or earlier if required by Law.

10.1.2 The Relevant Authority can extend the Contract for the Extension Period by giving the Supplier no less than 3 Months' written notice before the Contract expires.

10.2 Ending the contract without a reason

10.2.1 CCS has the right to terminate the DPS Contract at any time without reason by giving the Supplier at least 30 days' notice.

10.2.2 Each Buyer has the right to terminate their Order Contract at any time without reason by giving the Supplier not less than 90 days' written notice.

10.3 Rectification plan process

10.3.1 If there is a Default, the Relevant Authority may, without limiting its other rights, request that the Supplier provide a Rectification Plan.

10.3.2 When the Relevant Authority receives a requested Rectification Plan it can either:

- (a) reject the Rectification Plan or revised Rectification Plan, giving reasons; or
- (b) accept the Rectification Plan or revised Rectification Plan (without limiting its rights) and the Supplier must immediately start work on the actions in the Rectification Plan at its own cost, unless agreed otherwise by the Parties.

10.3.3 Where the Rectification Plan or revised Rectification Plan is rejected, the Relevant Authority:

- (a) must give reasonable grounds for its decision; and
- (b) may request that the Supplier provides a revised Rectification Plan within 5 Working Days.

10.3.4 If the Relevant Authority rejects any Rectification Plan, including any revised Rectification Plan, the Relevant Authority does not have to request a revised Rectification Plan before exercising its right to terminate its Contract under Clause 10.4.3(a).

10.4 When CCS or the buyer can end a contract

10.4.1 If any of the following events happen, the Relevant Authority has the right to immediately terminate its Contract by issuing a Termination Notice to the Supplier:

- (a) there is a Supplier Insolvency Event;
- (b) there is a Default that is not corrected in line with an accepted Rectification Plan;
- (c) the Supplier does not provide a Rectification Plan within 10 days of the request;
- (d) there is any material Default of the Contract;
- (e) there is any material Default of any Joint Controller Agreement relating to any Contract;

Core Terms - DPS

- (f) there is a Default of Clauses 2.10, 9, 14, 15, 27, 32 or DPS Schedule 9 (Cyber Essentials) (where applicable) relating to any Contract;
- (g) there is a consistent repeated failure to meet the Performance Indicators in DPS Schedule 4 (DPS Management);
- (h) there is a Change of Control of the Supplier which is not pre-approved by the Relevant Authority in writing;
- (i) if the Relevant Authority discovers that the Supplier was in one of the situations in 57 (1) or 57(2) of the Regulations at the time the Contract was awarded; or
- (j) the Supplier or its Affiliates embarrass or bring CCS or the Buyer into disrepute or diminish the public trust in them.

10.4.2 CCS may terminate the DPS Contract if a Buyer terminates an Order Contract for any of the reasons listed in Clause 10.4.1.

10.4.3 If any of the following non-fault based events happen, the Relevant Authority has the right to immediately terminate its Contract by issuing a Termination Notice to the Supplier:

- (a) the Relevant Authority rejects a Rectification Plan;
- (b) there is a Variation which cannot be agreed using Clause 24 (Changing the contract) or resolved using Clause 34 (Resolving disputes);
- (c) if there is a declaration of ineffectiveness in respect of any Variation; or (d) any of the events in 73 (1) (a) or (c) of the Regulations happen.

10.5 When the supplier can end the contract

The Supplier can issue a Reminder Notice if the Buyer does not pay an undisputed invoice on time. The Supplier can terminate an Order Contract if the Buyer fails to pay an undisputed invoiced sum due and worth over 10% of the annual Contract Value within 30 days of the date of the Reminder Notice.

10.6 What happens if the contract ends

10.6.1 Where a Party terminates a Contract under any of Clauses 10.2.1, 10.2.2, 10.4.1, 10.4.2, 10.4.3, 10.5 or 20.2 or a Contract expires all of the following apply:

- (a) The Buyer's payment obligations under the terminated Contract stop immediately.
- (b) Accumulated rights of the Parties are not affected.
- (c) The Supplier must promptly repay to the Buyer any and all Charges the Buyer has paid in advance in respect of Deliverables not provided by the Supplier as at the End Date.
- (d) The Supplier must promptly delete or return the Government Data except where required to retain copies by Law.
- (e) The Supplier must promptly return any of CCS or the Buyer's property provided under the terminated Contract.

Core Terms - DPS

- (f) The Supplier must, at no cost to CCS or the Buyer, co-operate fully in the handover and reprocurement (including to a Replacement Supplier).

10.6.2 In addition to the consequences of termination listed in Clause 10.6.1, where the Relevant Authority terminates a Contract under Clause 10.4.1 the Supplier is also responsible for the Relevant Authority's reasonable costs of procuring Replacement Deliverables for the rest of the Contract Period.

10.6.3 In addition to the consequences of termination listed in Clause 10.6.1, if either the Relevant Authority terminates a Contract under Clause 10.2.1 or 10.2.2 or a Supplier terminates an Order Contract under Clause 10.5:

- (a) the Buyer must promptly pay all outstanding Charges incurred to the Supplier; and
- (b) the Buyer must pay the Supplier reasonable committed and unavoidable Losses as long as the Supplier provides a fully itemised and costed schedule with evidence - the maximum value of this payment is limited to the total sum payable to the Supplier if the Contract had not been terminated.

10.6.4 In addition to the consequences of termination listed in Clause 10.6.1, where a Party terminates under Clause 20.2 each Party must cover its own Losses.

10.6.5 The following Clauses survive the termination or expiry of each Contract: 3.2.10, 4.2, 6, 7.5, 9, 11, 12.2, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 31.3, 34, 35 and any Clauses and Schedules which are expressly or by implication intended to continue.

10.7 Partially ending and suspending the contract

10.7.1 Where CCS has the right to terminate the DPS Contract it can suspend the Supplier's ability to accept Orders (for any period) and the Supplier cannot enter into any new Order Contracts during this period. If this happens, the Supplier must still meet its obligations under any existing Order Contracts that have already been signed.

10.7.2 Where CCS has the right to terminate a DPS Contract it is entitled to terminate all or part of it.

10.7.3 Where the Buyer has the right to terminate an Order Contract it can terminate or suspend (for any period), all or part of it. If the Buyer suspends a Contract it can provide the Deliverables itself or buy them from a third party.

10.7.4 The Relevant Authority can only partially terminate or suspend a Contract if the remaining parts of that Contract can still be used to effectively deliver the intended purpose.

10.7.5 The Parties must agree any necessary Variation required by Clause 10.7 using the Variation Procedure, but the Supplier may not either:

- (a) reject the Variation; or
- (b) increase the Charges, except where the right to partial termination is under Clause 10.2.

10.7.6 The Buyer can still use other rights available, or subsequently available to it if it acts on its rights under Clause 10.7.

10.8 When subcontracts can be ended

At the Buyer's request, the Supplier must terminate any Subcontracts in any of the following events:

- (a) there is a Change of Control of a Subcontractor which is not pre-approved by the Relevant Authority in writing;
- (b) the acts or omissions of the Subcontractor have caused or materially contributed to a right of termination under Clause 10.4; or
- (c) a Subcontractor or its Affiliates embarrasses or brings into disrepute or diminishes the public trust in the Relevant Authority.

11.1 Each Party's total aggregate liability in each Contract Year under this DPS Contract (whether in tort, contract or otherwise) is no more than £1,000,000.

11.2 Each Party's total aggregate liability in each Contract Year under each Order Contract (whether in tort, contract or otherwise) is no more than one hundred and twenty five percent (125%) of the Estimated Yearly Charges unless specified in the Order Form.

11.3 No Party is liable to the other for:

- (a) any indirect Losses; or
- (b) Loss of profits, turnover, savings, business opportunities or damage to goodwill (in each case whether direct or indirect).

Core Terms - DPS

- 11.6 In spite of Clauses 11.1, 11.2 but subject to Clauses 11.3 and 11.4, the Supplier's aggregate liability in each and any Contract Year under each Contract under Clause 14.8 shall in no event exceed the Data Protection Liability Cap.
- 11.7 Each Party must use all reasonable endeavours to mitigate any Loss or damage which it suffers under or in connection with each Contract, including any indemnities.
- 11.8 When calculating the Supplier's liability under Clause 11.1 or 11.2 the following items will not be taken into consideration:
- (a) Deductions; and

- 11.9 If more than one Supplier is party to a Contract, each Supplier Party is jointly and severally liable for their obligations under that Contract.

- 12.1 The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to comply with the provisions of Joint Schedule 5 (Corporate Social Responsibility).
- 12.2 To the extent that it arises as a result of a Default by the Supplier, the Supplier indemnifies the Relevant Authority against any fine or penalty incurred by the Relevant Authority pursuant to Law and any costs incurred by the Relevant Authority in defending any proceedings which result in such fine or penalty.
- 12.3 The Supplier must appoint a Compliance Officer who must be responsible for ensuring that the Supplier complies with Law, Clause 12.1 and Clauses 27 to 32.

13. Insurance

The Supplier must, at its own cost, obtain and maintain the Required Insurances in Joint Schedule 3 (Insurance Requirements) and any Additional Insurances in the Order Form.

14. Data protection

- 14.1 The Supplier must process Personal Data and ensure that Supplier Staff process Personal Data only in accordance with Joint Schedule 11 (Processing Data).
- 14.2 The Supplier must not remove any ownership or security notices in or relating to the Government Data.

- 14.3 The Supplier must make accessible back-ups of all Government Data, stored in an agreed off-site location and send the Buyer copies every 6 Months.
- 14.4 The Supplier must ensure that any Supplier system holding any Government Data, including back-up data, is a secure system that complies with the Security Policy and any applicable Security Management Plan.
- 14.5 If at any time the Supplier suspects or has reason to believe that the Government Data provided under a Contract is corrupted, lost or sufficiently degraded, then the Supplier must notify the Relevant Authority and immediately suggest remedial action.
- 14.6 If the Government Data is corrupted, lost or sufficiently degraded so as to be unusable the Relevant Authority may either or both:
- (a) tell the Supplier to restore or get restored Government Data as soon as practical but no later than 5 Working Days from the date that the Relevant Authority receives notice, or the Supplier finds out about the issue, whichever is earlier; and/or
 - (b) restore the Government Data itself or using a third party.
- 14.7 The Supplier must pay each Party's reasonable costs of complying with Clause 14.6 unless CCS or the Buyer is at fault.
- 14.8 The Supplier:
- (a) must provide the Relevant Authority with all Government Data in an agreed open format within 10 Working Days of a written request;
 - (b) must have documented processes to guarantee prompt availability of Government Data if the Supplier stops trading;
 - (c) must securely destroy all Storage Media that has held Government Data at the end of life of that media using Good Industry Practice;

 - (e) indemnifies CCS and each Buyer against any and all Losses incurred if the Supplier breaches Clause 14 and any Data Protection Legislation.

15. What you must keep confidential

15.1 Each Party must:

- (a) keep all Confidential Information it receives confidential and secure;

Core Terms - DPS

- (b) except as expressly set out in the Contract at Clauses 15.2 to 15.4 or elsewhere in the Contract, not disclose, use or exploit the Disclosing Party's Confidential Information without the Disclosing Party's prior written consent; and
- (c) immediately notify the Disclosing Party if it suspects unauthorised access, copying, use or disclosure of the Confidential Information.

15.2 In spite of Clause 15.1, a Party may disclose Confidential Information which it receives from the Disclosing Party in any of the following instances:

- (a) where disclosure is required by applicable Law or by a court with the relevant jurisdiction if, to the extent not prohibited by Law, the Recipient Party notifies the Disclosing Party of the full circumstances, the affected Confidential Information and extent of the disclosure;
- (b) if the Recipient Party already had the information without obligation of confidentiality before it was disclosed by the Disclosing Party;
- (c) if the information was given to it by a third party without obligation of confidentiality;
- (d) if the information was in the public domain at the time of the disclosure;
- (e) if the information was independently developed without access to the Disclosing Party's Confidential Information;
- (f) on a confidential basis, to its auditors;
- (g) on a confidential basis, to its professional advisers on a need-to-know basis; or
- (h) to the Serious Fraud Office where the Recipient Party has reasonable grounds to believe that the Disclosing Party is involved in activity that may be a criminal offence under the Bribery Act 2010.

15.3 In spite of Clause 15.1, the Supplier may disclose Confidential Information on a confidential basis to Supplier Staff on a need-to-know basis to allow the Supplier to meet its obligations under the Contract. The Supplier Staff must enter into a direct confidentiality agreement with the Relevant Authority at its request.

15.4 In spite of Clause 15.1, CCS or the Buyer may disclose Confidential Information in any of the following cases:

- (a) on a confidential basis to the employees, agents, consultants and contractors of CCS or the Buyer;
- (b) on a confidential basis to any other Central Government Body, any successor body to a Central Government Body or any company that CCS or the Buyer transfers or proposes to transfer all or any part of its business to;
- (c) if CCS or the Buyer (acting reasonably) considers disclosure necessary or appropriate to carry out its public functions;
- (d) where requested by Parliament; or (e) under Clauses 4.7 and 16.

15.5 For the purposes of Clauses 15.2 to 15.4 references to disclosure on a confidential basis means disclosure under a confidentiality agreement or arrangement including terms as strict as those required in Clause 15.

15.6 Transparency Information is not Confidential Information.

15.7 The Supplier must not make any press announcement or publicise the Contracts or any part of them in any way, without the prior written consent of the Relevant Authority and must take all reasonable steps to ensure that Supplier Staff do not either.

16. When you can share information

16.1 The Supplier must tell the Relevant Authority within 48 hours if it receives a Request For Information.

16.2 Within five (5) Working Days of the Buyer's request the Supplier must give CCS and each Buyer full cooperation and information needed so the Buyer can:

- (a) publish the Transparency Information;
- (b) comply with any Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request; and/or (c) comply with any Environmental Information Regulations (EIR) request.

16.3 The Relevant Authority may talk to the Supplier to help it decide whether to publish information under Clause 16. However, the extent, content and format of the disclosure is the Relevant Authority's decision in its absolute discretion.

17. Invalid parts of the contract

If any part of a Contract is prohibited by Law or judged by a court to be unlawful, void or unenforceable, it must be read as if it was removed from that Contract as much as required and rendered ineffective as far as possible without affecting the rest of the Contract, whether it is valid or enforceable.

18. No other terms apply

The provisions incorporated into each Contract are the entire agreement between the Parties. The Contract replaces all previous statements, agreements and any course of dealings made between the Parties, whether written or oral, in relation to its subject matter. No other provisions apply.

19. Other people's rights in a contract

No third parties may use the Contracts (Rights of Third Parties) Act 1999 (CRTPA) to enforce any term of the Contract unless stated (referring to CRTPA) in the Contract. This does not affect third party rights and remedies that exist independently from CRTPA.

20. Circumstances beyond your control

20.1 Any Party affected by a Force Majeure Event is excused from performing its obligations under a Contract while the inability to perform continues, if it both:

- (a) provides a Force Majeure Notice to the other Party; and
- (b) uses all reasonable measures practical to reduce the impact of the Force Majeure Event.

20.2 Either Party can partially or fully terminate the affected Contract if the provision of the Deliverables is materially affected by a Force Majeure Event which lasts for 90 days continuously.

21. Relationships created by the contract

No Contract creates a partnership, joint venture or employment relationship. The Supplier must represent themselves accordingly and ensure others do so.

22. Giving up contract rights

A partial or full waiver or relaxation of the terms of a Contract is only valid if it is stated to be a waiver in writing to the other Party.

23. Transferring responsibilities

23.1 The Supplier cannot assign, novate or transfer a Contract or any part of a Contract without the Relevant Authority's written consent.

23.2 The Relevant Authority can assign, novate or transfer its Contract or any part of it to any Central Government Body, public or private sector body which performs the functions of the Relevant Authority.

23.3 When CCS or the Buyer uses its rights under Clause 23.2 the Supplier must enter into a novation agreement in the form that CCS or the Buyer specifies.

23.4 The Supplier can terminate a Contract novated under Clause 23.2 to a private sector body that is experiencing an Insolvency Event.

23.5 The Supplier remains responsible for all acts and omissions of the Supplier Staff as if they were its own.

23.6 If CCS or the Buyer asks the Supplier for details about Subcontractors, the Supplier must provide details of Subcontractors at all levels of the supply chain including:

- (a) their name;
- (b) the scope of their appointment; and
- (c) the duration of their appointment.

24. Changing the contract

24.1 Either Party can request a Variation which is only effective if agreed in writing and signed by both Parties.

24.2 The Supplier must provide an Impact Assessment either:

- (a) with the Variation Form, where the Supplier requests the Variation; or
- (b) within the time limits included in a Variation Form requested by CCS or the Buyer.

24.3 If the Variation cannot be agreed or resolved by the Parties, CCS or the Buyer can either:

- (a) agree that the Contract continues without the Variation; or
- (b) terminate the affected Contract, unless in the case of an Order Contract, the Supplier has already provided part or all of the provision of the Deliverables, or where the Supplier can show evidence of substantial work being carried out to provide them; or
- (c) refer the Dispute to be resolved using Clause 34 (Resolving Disputes).

24.4 CCS and the Buyer are not required to accept a Variation request made by the Supplier.

24.5 If there is a General Change in Law, the Supplier must bear the risk of the change and is not entitled to ask for an increase to the DPS Pricing or the Charges.

24.6 If there is a Specific Change in Law or one is likely to happen during the Contract Period the Supplier must give CCS and the Buyer notice of the likely effects of the changes as soon as reasonably practical. They must also say if they think any Variation is needed either to the Deliverables, DPS Pricing or a Contract and provide evidence:

- (a) that the Supplier has kept costs as low as possible, including in Subcontractor costs; and
- (b) of how it has affected the Supplier's costs.

24.7 Any change in the DPS Pricing or relief from the Supplier's obligations because of a Specific Change in Law must be implemented using Clauses 24.1 to 24.4.

24.8 For 101(5) of the Regulations, if the Court declares any Variation ineffective, the Parties agree that their mutual rights and obligations will be regulated by the terms of the Contract as they existed immediately prior to that Variation and as if the Parties had never entered into that Variation.

25. How to communicate about the contract

- 25.1 All notices under the Contract must be in writing and are considered effective on the Working Day of delivery as long as they are delivered before 5:00pm on a Working Day. Otherwise the notice is effective on the next Working Day. An email is effective at 9:00am on the first Working Day after sending unless an error message is received.
- 25.2 Notices to CCS must be sent to the CCS Authorised Representative's address or email address indicated on the Platform.
- 25.3 Notices to the Buyer must be sent to the Buyer Authorised Representative's address or email address in the Order Form.
- 25.4 This Clause does not apply to the service of legal proceedings or any documents in any legal action, arbitration or dispute resolution.

26. Dealing with claims

- 26.1 If a Beneficiary is notified of a Claim then it must notify the Indemnifier as soon as reasonably practical and no later than 10 Working Days.
- 26.2 At the Indemnifier's cost the Beneficiary must both:
- (a) allow the Indemnifier to conduct all negotiations and proceedings to do with a Claim; and
 - (b) give the Indemnifier reasonable assistance with the claim if requested.
- 26.3 The Beneficiary must not make admissions about the Claim without the prior written consent of the Indemnifier which can not be unreasonably withheld or delayed.
- 26.4 The Indemnifier must consider and defend the Claim diligently using competent legal advisors and in a way that does not damage the Beneficiary's reputation.
