Annex 1 – Specification

Specification – River water temperature projections

1. Background to Requirement

The Environment Agency wants to know how potential climate change impacts may affect future water ecosystems. We know broadly how the UK climate is likely to change and we have information about how river flows and groundwater levels will alter. We have much less clarity about where, when and how water temperature may change. River water temperature has a critical influence on river ecosystems, affecting water quality, water resources and ecological responses. Understanding where temperature may change can inform the implementation of adaption measures such as riparian shading, which may be effective at increasing ecological resilience.

The first phase of the project will be to develop national river water temperature projections with climate change to inform risk mapping and target adaptation actions and regulatory activities. The second phase will be an application of the projections to demonstrate the value in specific regulatory decisions and adaptation responses.

In an earlier project we scoped how best to model water temperature projections: SC200008/R Scoping a flexible framework for producing river water temperature projections - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\).pdf). The project reviewed available approaches for modelling river temperature and grouped them into 4 categories: statistical, process-based, machine learning and hybrid. The review included consideration of the data and modelling requirements, and the benefits and limitations of each approach to produce projections of river water temperature for England under climate change scenarios.

Decision trees were developed for selecting water temperature models based on methodological approach and data availability over space and time. A mixed effect regression modelling approach was selected as most suitable for making water temperature projections given constraints in data availability and the scale required in English rivers (detailed methodology in SC200008/R Appendix D).

We trialled the approach (SC210011/R - report available from the project manager) on chalk streams, and found it worked and was adaptable to variations in the availability of observed temperature records. We now wish to apply this approach nationally noting that data considerations are paramount as these constrain possible projections. Building on this work will require sourcing additional water temperature datasets, preparation of the data therein and gathering of additional variables (e.g. river flow). We also found that different models for water temperature projections (global, local) are important for different purposes in different locations (for different reasons).

This project will follow the modelling process outlined in SC200008/R, and refined in SC210011/R, to develop national river water temperature projections. The contractors will work in close collaboration with Environment Agency staff to deliver the projections and their application.

2. Specific Objectives/Deliverables

Developing the projections for river water temperature in England is step one in addressing important research questions including:

- What are the current and historic river water temperatures? How are they changing and how do they vary spatially?
- When, where and by how much are river water temperatures projected to increase under climate change?
- What factors influence these changes (e.g. river type, altitude, geology etc)?

This contract will be awarded in two phases. The initial contract award will be for work package one only which will be for a period of 12 months. There will be an option to extend the contract for 12 months, to complete work package two. Work package 2 will be scoped and designed in August 2023 so will start as work package 1 reporting is being finalised. Throughout the project the successful contractor is expected to work with Environment Agency research scientists. This will be especially important during the second phase of the project.

Work package 1 – Develop scientific knowledge - model water temperature projections.
An iterative process of data collation and modelling to develop national water temperature projections. Contractors are welcome to suggest alternative approaches and additional data sets that can be included to address the research questions above.

Collation and checking of observed sources of temperature data and associated environmental variables for modelling water temperature projections.

1. Collate water temperature data from available sources (temperature achieve, wims, gauging station data). Code will be provided to the successful contractor for the download. This will need validation to ensure an automated process for future use. Quality control the data e.g. remove duplicates, check grid references, screen for anomalies etc.
2. Collate and validate water temperature data from gauging stations (provided by the Environment Agency) with river flow data. Data will need to be validated against observed data collated in work item 1.
3. Seek and collate any other river water temperature datasets owned by the researchers or from third-parties.
4. Collate and match environmental (co-variable) data, including air temperature, discharge, land cover, upstream catchment area, altitude, slope, catchment area, etc. The exact variables to be used will be developed as part of the project and some can be provided by the Environment Agency.
5. Consider options for infilling data to improve temporal coverage.
6. Consider if and how monthly time-series can be converted to daily time-series
7. Calculate descriptive statistics e.g. maximum, minimum, mean, range etc. over different time durations to understand the baseline, historic change and spatial variability. Provide visualisation of the outputs.

Use the collated dataset to model water temperature projections. This will be a collaborative, iterative process.

1. Create models:

- a. 'Global' national models.
 - b. Regional/typology specific models, e.g. groundwater, surface water, upland lowland.
 - c. Local models – using the higher resolution daily series.
2. Apply different climate change projection model outputs to provide an understanding of the potential range of projections.
3. Make the process semi-automated so future projections can be modelled as more data becomes available or to explore different baselines or scenarios etc. and to understand the uncertainty.
4. Collate output metrics, e.g. mean and maximum temperatures, change from the baseline. Create visualisations of absolute and relative changes.
5. Review outputs to understand:
 - a. where and by how much water temperature might change.
 - b. which co-variables (e.g. flow, geology, altitude) are influencing the changes and how these vary and
 - c. explore the potential use and application of temperature duration curves.

Deliverables:

1. Collated and matched dataset – temperature, flow and environmental variables
2. Validated high resolution temperature data
3. Computer code for automated download of water temperature data.
4. Descriptive statistics of historic change (maximum, minimum, mean, range etc) over different time durations, and spatial variability. Visualisation of the outputs. Summary note of main observations.
5. Water temperature models:
 - a. 'Global' national model.
 - b. Regional/typology specific models, e.g. groundwater, surface water, upland lowland.
 - c. Local models from higher resolution daily series.
6. Tools/code for a semi-automated approach for modelling future projections.
7. Water temperature projections under a potential range of climate scenarios - output metrics, e.g. mean and maximum temperatures, change from the baseline. Visualisations of absolute and relative change.
8. Submission of an open-access, peer-reviewed, original journal article, to disseminate international scientific advances. The exact scope of the paper to be decided in collaboration with the Environment Agency.
9. A final technical report and open datasets for publication on the Defra website.
10. A non-technical summary report of the model outputs to disseminate key project outcomes to a wider audience.

Work package 2 – Understand our own climate vulnerability – identify our exposure to climate risks from changing water temperature and identify where we need to transform our approach.

The exact extent and focus of the work package will be decided once the first work package has modelled the water temperature projections. WP2 is to be scoped and designed in August 2023 once model outputs are available.

Analyse and apply the projections to inform regulatory applications and adaptation measures.

- Apply to projections to Environment Agency business – potential work areas include:
 - Salmon Action Plan - identifying location and timing of mean and maximum temperature changes that will affect different Salmon life stages and inform actions.
 - Water quality risks and management responses, including changes in algal bloom risk (include blue-green algae) and eutrophication, increased risk of impact from existing discharges and water quality catchment modelling, using flow and temperature series or changes in these variables as inputs.
 - Ecotoxicological risk – chemicals programme. Water temperature influences the rate of chemical reactions and persistence of harmful chemicals in the water environment.
 - Identify catchments/river types vulnerable to temperature changes to inform how river ecosystems may respond to climate change.
 - Implications for thermal discharge consents and Net Zero infrastructure. This includes heat pumps, de-salinisation and carbon capture and storage.
 - Changes to the risk of the spread and impact of invasive species.
 - Changes in species distributions affecting biotic monitoring approaches, natural capital assessment and ecosystem services.

3. Timescales/Deadlines

During the course of the project, the contractor will organise weekly progress virtual meetings with the Environment Agency's Project Manager and Technical Lead.

All deliverables are to be submitted in draft to the Environment Agency for review and comment, prior to approval.

These are the deliverables from Work Package 1 only. Work package 2 will be scoped and deliverables and timescales finalised in August 2023.

3. How the Contract works

3.1 The Order Form is an offer by the Authority to purchase the Deliverables subject to and in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Contract.

3.2 The Supplier is deemed to accept the offer in the Order Form when the Authority receives a copy of the Order Form signed by the Supplier.

3.3 The Supplier warrants and represents that its Tender Submission and all statements made and documents submitted as part of the procurement of Deliverables are and remain true and accurate.

4. What needs to be delivered

4.1 All Deliverables

(a) The Supplier must provide Deliverables: (i) in accordance with the Specification and Tender Submission; (ii) to a professional standard; (iii) using all reasonable skill and care; (iv) using Good Industry Practice; (v) using its own policies, processes and internal quality control measures as long as they don't conflict with the Contract; (vi) in accordance with such policies and procedures of the Authority (as amended from time to time) that may be specified in the Contract (vii) on the dates agreed; and (viii) in compliance with all applicable Law.

(b) Without prejudice to the Specification the Supplier must provide Deliverables with a warranty of at least 90 days (or longer where the Supplier offers a longer warranty period to the Authority) from Delivery against all obvious damage or defects.

4.2 Goods clauses

- (a) All Goods Delivered must be capable of meeting the requirements set out in the Specification and be either (i) new and of recent origin, (ii) reused or (iii) recycled.
- (b) All manufacturer warranties covering the Goods will be assigned to the Authority on request and for free.
- (c) The Supplier transfers ownership of the Goods on completion of Delivery (including off-loading and stacking) or payment for those Goods, whichever is earlier.
- (d) Risk in the Goods transfers to the Authority on Delivery but remains with the Supplier if the Authority notices any damage or defect following Delivery and lets the Supplier know within three Working Days of Delivery.
- (e) The Supplier must have full and unrestricted ownership of the Goods at the time of transfer of ownership.
- (f) The Supplier must Deliver the Goods on the date and to the specified location during the Authority's working hours.
- (g) The Supplier, its subcontractor(s) and supply chain must minimise packaging used whilst providing sufficient packaging for the Goods to reach the point of Delivery safely and undamaged. The Supplier must take back any primary packaging where it is possible to do so. Packaging must be 100% re-usable, recyclable or compostable, use recycled content where reasonably practicable and support the Government's commitment to eliminate single use plastic.
- (h) All Deliveries must have a delivery note attached that specifies the order number, type, quantity of Goods, contact and details of traceability through the supply chain.
- (i) The Supplier must provide all tools, information and instructions the Authority needs to make use of the Goods. This will include, where appropriate, any operation manuals which, unless specified otherwise, will be written in English and provided in electronic form.
- (j) The Supplier will notify the Authority of any request that Goods are returned to it or the manufacturer after the discovery of safety issues or defects that might endanger health or hinder performance and shall indemnify the Authority against the costs arising as a result of any such request. Goods must be disposed of in line with the waste management hierarchy as set out in Law. The Supplier will provide evidence and transparency of the items and routes used for disposal to the Authority on request.

(k) The Authority can cancel any order or part order of Goods which have not been Delivered. If the Authority gives less than 14 calendar days' notice then it will pay the Supplier's reasonable and proven costs already incurred on the cancelled order as long as the Supplier takes all reasonable steps to minimise these costs.

(l) The Supplier must at its own cost repair, replace, refund or substitute (at the Authority's option and request) any Goods that the Authority rejects because they don't conform with clause 4.2. If the Supplier doesn't do this it will pay the Authority's costs including repair or re-supply by a third party.

(m) The Authority will not be liable for any actions, claims, costs and expenses incurred by the Supplier or any third party during Delivery of the Goods unless and to the extent that it is caused by negligence or other wrongful act of the Authority or its servant or agent. If the Authority suffers or incurs any damage or injury (whether fatal or otherwise) occurring in the course of Delivery or installation then the Supplier shall indemnify from all losses, damages, costs or expenses (including professional fees and fines) which arise as a result of or in connection with such damage or injury where it is attributable to any act or omission of the Supplier or, where related to the Contract, any of its subcontractors or suppliers.

4.3 Services clauses

(g) On completion of the Services, the Supplier is responsible for leaving the Authority's premises in a clean, safe and tidy condition and making good any damage that it has caused to the Authority's premises or property, other than fair wear and tear and any pre-existing cleanliness, safety or tidiness issue at the Authority's premises that existed before the commencement of the Term.

(h) The Supplier must ensure all Services, and anything used to deliver the Services, are of the required quality and free from damage or defects.

(i) The Authority is entitled to withhold payment for partially or undelivered Services or for Services which are not delivered in accordance with the Contract but doing so does not stop it from using its other rights under the Contract.

5. Pricing and payments

5.1 In exchange for the Deliverables delivered, the Supplier shall be entitled to invoice the Authority for the charges in Annex 3. The Supplier shall raise invoices promptly and in any event within 90 days from when the charges are due.

Any disputed amounts shall be resolved through the dispute resolution procedure detailed in clause 35.

5.6 If any sum of money is recoverable from or payable by the Supplier under the Contract (including any sum which the Supplier is liable to pay to the Authority in respect of any breach of the Contract), that sum may be deducted unilaterally by the Authority from any sum then due, or which may become due, to the Supplier under the Contract or under any other agreement or contract with the Authority. The Supplier shall not be entitled to assert any credit, set-off or counterclaim against the Authority in order to justify withholding payment of any such amount in whole or in part.

5.7 The Supplier must ensure that its subcontractors and supply chain are paid, in full, within 30 days of receipt of a valid, undisputed invoice. If this doesn't happen, the Authority can publish the details of the late payment or non-payment.

6. The Authority's obligations to the Supplier

then the Authority may:

- (i) require that the Supplier provide to the Authority (for its approval) a plan setting out how the Supplier will ensure continued performance of the Contract (in the case of (a)) or improve its sustainability conduct or performance (in the case of (b)) and the Supplier will make changes to such plan as reasonably required by the Authority and once it is agreed then the Supplier shall act in accordance with such plan and report to the Authority on demand

34.1 As soon as it is aware of it the Supplier and Supplier Staff must report to the Authority any actual or suspected breach of Law or breach of its obligations under the Contract.

34.2 Where an actual or suspected breach is notified to the Authority under clause 34.1, the Supplier will take such action to remedy any breach as the Authority may reasonably require. Where the breach is material, the Authority has the right to terminate under clause 11.4.

34.3 The Supplier must not retaliate against any of the Supplier Staff who in good faith reports a breach listed in clause 34.1.

35. Resolving disputes

35.1 If there is a dispute between the Parties, their senior representatives who have authority to settle the dispute will, within 28 days of a written request from the other Party, meet in good faith to resolve the dispute.

35.2 If the dispute is not resolved at that meeting, the Parties can attempt to settle it by mediation using the Centre for Effective Dispute Resolution (CEDR) Model Mediation Procedure current at the time of the dispute. If the Parties cannot agree on a mediator, the mediator will be nominated by CEDR. If either Party does not wish to use, or continue to use mediation, or mediation does not resolve the dispute, the dispute must be resolved using clauses 35.3 to 35.5.

35.3 Unless the Authority refers the dispute to arbitration using clause 35.4, the Parties irrevocably agree that the courts of England and Wales have the exclusive jurisdiction to:

- (a) determine the dispute;
- (b) grant interim remedies;
- (c) grant any other provisional or protective relief.

35.4 The Supplier agrees that the Authority has the exclusive right to refer any dispute to be finally resolved by arbitration under the London Court of International Arbitration Rules current at the time of the dispute. There will be only one arbitrator. The seat or legal place of the arbitration will be London and the proceedings will be in English.

35.5 The Authority has the right to refer a dispute to arbitration even if the Supplier has started or has attempted to start court proceedings under clause 35.3, unless the Authority has agreed to the court proceedings or participated in them. Even if court proceedings have started, the Parties must do everything necessary to ensure that the court proceedings are stayed in favour of any arbitration proceedings if they are started under clause 35.4.

35.6 The Supplier cannot suspend the performance of the Contract during any dispute.

35.7 The provisions of this clause 35 are without prejudice to the Authority's right to terminate or suspend the Contract under clause 11.
