We will seek to uphold the principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Promoting the fact that we are an armed forces-friendly organisation. • Seeking to support the employment of veterans young and old and working with the Career Transition Partnership (CTP), in order to establish a tailored employment pathway for Service Leavers. • Striving to support the employment of Service spouses and partners. • Endeavouring to offer a degree of flexibility in granting leave for Service spouses and partners before, during and after a partner's deployment. • Seeking to support our employees who choose to be members of the Reserve forces, including by accommodating their training and deployment where possible. • Offering support to our local cadet units, either in our local community or in local schools, where possible,

- Aiming to actively participate in Armed Forces Day.

A link to our certificate can be viewed on Gov.uk, at Investigo \(publishing.service.gov.uk\).

Investigo have also established an official additional paid leave policy for all Armed Forces reservists; granting an additional two weeks leave annually for training, and if mobilised, granting all required leave during active service, guaranteeing a return to work in the same role or a role no less favourable. We currently have one FTE entitled to this policy.

Investigo are partnered with Adaptive Grand Slam (Adaptive Grandslam), a charity focussed on inspiring and supporting ex-military personnel with life changing injuries sustained in combat to take part and conquer some of the toughest physical challenges on Earth, including climbing Mount Everest and trekking to the North Pole. The beneficiaries of AGS are afflicted with injuries ranging from lost limbs, vision impairment and mental health impacts from experiencing combat, as such, some of the challenges faced in day-to-day life can be as overlooked as walking down the street or doing the shopping; AGS strives to support people with their rehabilitation, helping to overcome these challenges and improve their quality of life.

Investigo invited and covered cost for two members of the Adaptive Grand Slam team to join our charity bike ride from London to Paris, as part of a training programme for one of their upcoming challenges. One participant named Sam was told two years previously that she would not be able to walk again before undertaking the challenge. Both participants were ex-military, injured in combat and living with life changing impairments.

The challenge cost Investigo £2500 to organise, and in addition provided a much needed financial contribution made to the AGS charity.

We are organising a London to Brussels charity ride for June 2024, again sponsoring two participants from the charity as part of their gruelling training regime.

In addition to covering the training costs of the participants, Investigo also raised and donated funds for the Adaptive Grand Slam charity to continue their great work.

Through this relationship with AGS we are engaged with Martin Hewitt, AGS team leader, to deliver leadership centric CPD courses for our customers in their staff professional development journeys, as part of our ongoing social value commitment.

The other benefit under this contract for the MOD is, along with the above points; is Investigo can offer the MOD a professional development opportunity for ex armed forces and MOD staff; hosting one session a quarter either virtually or in person at our London HQ, aimed at improving employability skills for service people looking to enter industry and MOD employees alike. Sessions will focus on improving key areas such as CV writing and interview skills.

For and on behalf of the Contracting Authority:

Background

Commercial X is an initiative sponsored by 2nd Permanent Under Secretary, DG Commercial and CIO which aims to address the disconnect between the Defence acquisition process and the pace at which digital and innovation markets move.

Commercial X has been given the authority to operate differently in respect of key aspects of internal policy and ways of working. In its Discovery phase, the programme established the scope, future state operating model and the approach to delivery of an enduring Commercial X function.

Interim commercial resources deployed to pathfinder programmes are testing whether the application of the freedoms granted to Commercial X drive increased pace. These resources have the dual responsibility for both delivering commercial tasks for programmes and identifying and supporting design of improvements to commercial ways of working for the Commercial X programme to implement.

The programme is currently awaiting financial approval to progress delivery and has been given the authority to maintain pace and momentum while internal decisions are made.
