Can questions be emailed please

Does this mean you will not accept tenders for both parts of the programme (developing content and providing training).
Our expectation is that the tenderer will apply for one or the other but not both.

Do you envisage two separate providers delivering on this?
Yes , the expectation is that the contracts will be separate. This is very much about expanding our knowledge and style and to do this believe having different content developers will help us meet this milestone and create a broader scope going forward for developing our own content.
