Summary

In 2006, in addition to the introduction of a range of additional cattle surveillance testing and movement controls, a new statutory compensation system for bTB reactor cattle was introduced, using monthly tables of values that reflect the average sales price of different categories of cattle, rather than determined through individual valuations. The purpose of the current system is to share financial risk, compensate for loss and incentivise risk reduction behaviours. We would like to understand whether the current system has any impact on farmer behaviour and how compensation policy might be amended in the future. To do this we would like the supplier to evaluate the role of compensation as a mechanism for initiating behaviour change and assess how compensation may be used in future bTB policy to encourage farmers to implement improved risk reduction measures (e.g., biosecurity).

The main aim of the work is to understand the influence of compensation on bTB disease management behaviours.

Background

Bovine tuberculosis (bTB) in England

Bovine tuberculosis (bTB) is an infectious, contagious, and notifiable disease of cattle. bTB is endemic in large areas of England, posing serious social and economic risks, as well as a potential public health risk.

bTB is the most significant and costly animal health problem facing cattle farmers in England, the associated control costs are high for the general taxpayer, around £100m a year, with combined costs to the taxpayer and industry of around £150 million a year. It resulted in the compulsory slaughter of just over 22,000 cattle in 2022¹ Compensation is the biggest cost area at around £30m a year.

Control of bTB in England is based around regular testing of cattle and the timely removal of test positive animals to reduce the risk of disease spread. A herd that contains cattle that test positive to bTB (reactors) is said to experience a herd breakdown and has its Officially TB Free status suspended (OTFS), with movement restrictions put into place. Reactors are slaughtered and occasionally other animals in the herd (i.e., direct contacts) which are considered to be at high risk of infection. In very rare cases, all the cattle in a herd may be slaughtered if the infection is severe or extensive. Farmers receive compensation for any animals slaughtered. bTB testing is then repeated at 60-day intervals until the herd is eligible to regain its OTF status. If there is identification of typical bTB lesions in slaughtered animals or M. bovis is identified by PCR and/or microbiological culture, then the status of the herd becomes Officially TB Free Withdrawn (OTFW) and the herd is subject to additional testing, including in some cases supplementary interferon-gamma testing. Farmers receive compensation for any animals compulsorily slaughtered.

In 2014, the Government introduced the strategy for achieving Officially Bovine Tuberculosis Free (OTF) status for England by 2038². The strategy reflected the division of England into three bTB management regions or risk zones: the High Risk Area (HRA), the Low Risk Area (LRA) and the Edge Area.

The LRA includes large parts of the North, East and South-East (Figure 1). It has the lowest prevalence of bTB, at around 0.3% in September 2022. Most cattle herds in this area are subject to statutory four-yearly TB surveillance testing though some, those regularly sourcing stock from high TB risk areas for example, are tested annually.

The HRA covers mainly the West and South-West (Figure 1) of England, it has the highest proportion of herds infected with bTB. Herd-level disease prevalence was at 9.1% in September 2022³. Since January 2022, most cattle herds in this area are on six-monthly bTB surveillance testing, though lower risk herds are subject to annual bTB testing. However, it is important to note that even in this region there are many herds which consistently remain bTB free. Additionally, we are now seeing a sustained downward trajectory in the HRA, with fewer new breakdowns detected in 2021 than in any year since 2001 (Figure 2). The Edge Area is the buffer zone between HRA and LRA (Figure 1). The overall prevalence of bTB in the Edge Area was 3.9% in September 2022 but there is significant diversity between counties. The motivation for establishing this buffer region was to help reduce the risk of the disease spreading from the HRA to the LRA, due to the rising incidence of bTB in the former. Parts are subject to stricter six-monthly bTB surveillance testing, while other parts remain on an annual testing schedule. September 2022 statistics suggested that we are now seeing a generally downward trend in percentage of herds under TB restrictions, although there is a mixed picture locally (Figure 2).

The epidemiology of bTB is highly complex with scientific uncertainty of the relative importance of routes of disease transmission. This uncertainty likely spills over into the beliefs of cattle keepers. There may be wide variation in both the understanding of the disease and in attitudes to disease control. For simplicity, two main routes of disease transmission of interest are: badger-to-cattle and cattle-to-cattle. It is unclear how risk is perceived for each route or whether they assign different probability or severity to either.

In 2018, the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs commissioned a review of the Government's 25 year bTB eradication strategy to consider progress to date and the next steps to accelerate achievement of OTF status in England³. The review emphasised the need to place more ownership for disease control on the livestock industry.

Compensation policy

Compensation is generally paid according to published table values⁴ which are the average market price for cattle in the same category (based on an animal's age and sex, pedigree status and type i.e., beef or dairy). Sales data for around 1.5 million cattle are collected each year to ensure the table values reasonably reflect market prices. If the table values are not deemed to be statistically representative within a given year, a previous table value or individual valuation is used instead. However, in almost all cases bTB compensation is determined using table valuations.

The use of an average market price means that some farmers will receive higher compensation than the animal is worth on the open market (if the animal were not disease affected) and others would receive compensation lower than the open market value. If there aren't enough sales data for a particular category of cattle in any month, compensation is determined by using the most recently available table value. Very rarely, if insufficient data has been collected, a valuation may be provided by a government-appointed valuer (known as independent valuation). Compensation may be reduced for other reasons such as reactor cattle disclosed in herds with overdue bTB tests.

The current table value-based system was introduced in 2006, primarily as a response to a widespread and significant over-compensation problem within the previous system. However, other benefits of doing that include speeding up the removal of TB infected animals and rationalising four cattle compensation systems into one (the current system applies to bTB and three other cattle diseases, whereas previously there were four separate systems).

In subsequent years some relatively minor compensation policy changes have been made. For example, in January 2014 the Government built on the existing approach whereby owners of bTB affected herds that failed to test on time receive reduced compensation for bTB reactors. The 2014 Strategy⁵ stated an intention to explore options to "adapt compulsory surveillance and control measures, and the way in which compensation funding is used, both to improve the implementation of control measures and incentivise risk reduction actions at the scale of individual farms". Since November 2018, herd owners who re-stock while under bTB restrictions receive just 50% of full compensation rates for any cattle added to the herd that are removed due to bTB while the herd is still restricted.

The Godfray Review⁶ stated there was a "strong argument for disincentivising risky trading by reducing compensation (or insurance payments) to reflect trading behaviour". In response, Defra agreed⁷ that: "Those who put their own and others' herds at risk by not meeting reasonable baseline standards should not have the same compensation safety net and/or herd testing regime as those who do". The 2018 review of the Government's 25-year bTB strategy identified the need to set an appropriate level of compensation. If the level is too high then farmers may lack incentives to reduce the risk of disease, and in rare cases may fraudulently claim animals are diseased. Setting the level too low would, in addition to causing financial stress to the farmer (assuming no other mitigating strategies such as insurance are available), incentivise poor compliance with disease surveillance.

Aims, Objectives, Key deliverables and Timescales

Defra is commissioning this project to evaluate the role of compensation, its effectiveness and ascertain if it has any influence on bTB risk reduction measures such as knowledge-based trading (KBT), biosecurity and cattle movements. The supplier should also use this understanding to inform an assessment of the future role of compensation in wider bTB policy and how it may be used to influence risk mitigating behaviours. Ultimately, we want to know: how do we make compensation work more effectively as both a safety net and a mechanism for enhanced disease control?

The project will consist of two linked and complementary workstreams:

Workstream 1: Past

This workstream will consist of a collation of evidence and analysing data to ascertain any influence compensation has on KBT, biosecurity and cattle movements. We see this workstream as evaluating the role of compensation as a mechanism for initiating behaviour change, using existing literature and evidence to inform the ‘theory’ of how compensation should work. This would be used as a basis to analyse if and how compensation does influence behaviour and investigate if the current policy is effective.

Workstream 2: Future

This workstream will consist of data collection on the role of compensation in future policy development. This workstream will use workstream 1 to identify knowns and unknowns on the role of compensation and how it might be used in future as a policy instrument to influence risk mitigating behaviours. This would also include investigating its relationship with the wider context of bTB policy.

The primary questions we want to answer for Workstream 1 are listed below. Questions 1-2 relate to farmers and farms and Question 3 considers other stakeholders.

Q1: How has the bTB compensation scheme influenced farmer behaviour?

- a. Does the scheme influence farmer behaviour with regards to biosecurity measures and applying risk reduction actions? If yes, how? If not, why not?
- b. Are farmers aware of the changes made to compensation policy (e.g., the reductions in 2018 for cattle in specific circumstances)?
If yes, did the changes lead to behaviour change? Why? Why not?

Q2: How do compensation payments influence farmer’s investment decisions?

- a. Does compensation favour specific types of farms or cattle i.e., are there identifiable groups of ‘winners and losers’ when it comes to compensation?
- b. Are farmers aware of the limitations of compensation, i.e., do they e.g., take out separate insurance for high-value stock or to manage ‘consequential’ losses?
- c. Are farmers aware that they can opt for private slaughter and take payment from the slaughterhouse in lieu of compensation?

The primary questions we want to answer for Workstream 2 are listed below:

- a. Should there be any pre-requisites for receiving compensation at current rates?
- b. Are there alternative ways to deploy compensation and other incentives to drive positive behaviours?
- c. What are the options for varying compensation in order to incentivise responsible cattle movements, encourage risk reduction and improve herd resilience?
- d. What rates of compensation should be payable as part of a variable compensation approach designed around incentivising best practice?

- e. What are the challenges and risks of changing the way that government pay compensation? How can these be mitigated?
- f. How might this fit within a wider suite of measures and/or incentives to drive positive behaviours (e.g., incentivising biosecurity by varying the frequency of herd surveillance testing)?

Scope and Methodology

This project consists of two workstreams and may require a variety of methods.

Workstream 1: Past

Requires data collection and analysis to evaluate compensation as a mechanism for initiating behaviour change and its effectiveness, determining any relationship between compensation and bTB disease management behaviours such as KBT, cattle movements and biosecurity. This could be done by tracking and looking at data and talking to farmers about what happens after a breakdown.

For Workstream 1, Defra envisage a literature review of international compensation policy and data collection and analysis of relevant data in order to determine the ‘theory’ of how compensation should work and use this to determine any relationship between compensation policy and bTB disease management behaviours, namely KBT, cattle movements and biosecurity measures, and the effectiveness of the policy. Tenderers could also conduct a survey or interviews with stakeholders to collect data on their knowledge and experiences of compensation policy in England related to the research questions in 4.4. As a basis for this work, tenderers could produce a theory of change for compensation policy, working with Defra analyst and policy colleagues to build on current theory of change and logic model work. A multi-method approach may help ensure that responses are open, not constrained by social desirability bias and specific to the behavioural context. The tenderers are asked to propose their recommended study design as long as it meets the research aim and objectives and is underpinned by evaluation principles⁹ and behavioural insights.

For quantitative data, the approach should ensure that a statistically significant sample size is achieved. Additionally, the recruitment process should be designed in a way to allow the resultant data to identify differences between key strata. We envision these being geographical location (i.e., HRA and EA), type of herd (i.e., beef, dairy), herd size, and bTB breakdown history. We are looking to stratify the results by different characteristics, e.g., type of farm (dairy, meat), region, farms that have long-term issues with bTB vs. one-off incidents. In terms of quantitative analysis, it will therefore be important to achieve large enough sample sizes.

Workstream 2: Future

Requires data collection on the role of compensation in future policy development using the insights from workstream 1 to identify knowns and unknowns of the policy. Suppliers are encouraged to suggest appropriate methods, but we envisage that there may be deliberative elements with consensus building around future options. The data gathering will include discussions on how compensation may or may not be used in future policy making and investigating its relationship with the wider bTB policy context. Defra envisage data gathering with a range of key stakeholders, including farmers. The tenderer should determine the frequency and number of participants for each data gathering exercise, and suggested locations. Suggested approaches for recruiting participants include approaching a selection of farmers directly (via phone or letter) and recruiting attendees of cattle auctions¹⁰, however we are open to other approaches being suggested. If necessary, Defra can support the successful tenderer in obtaining contact details for participant recruitment through a sample from a database of all registered herds in England. However, where possible we strongly encourage suppliers' own recruitment of participants, as providing access to this database will require additional time to agree confidentiality and data protection agreements for the sharing of contact data and for procedures such as survey control approval. Any data associated with the project will be managed in line with UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR) and stored on servers based in the United Kingdom or European Union.

Tenderers must demonstrate their capabilities in extracting, analysing and presenting findings stemming from the data. They must also demonstrate their expertise in providing detailed and thoughtful analysis of the data to deliver clear, considered and actionable insights.

The analysis should describe differences between participant groups (e.g., geographical location (i.e., HRA and EA), type of herd (i.e., beef, dairy), herd size, and bTB breakdown history).

Tenderers will be required to produce and present a PowerPoint slide deck, which should adequately serve as a stand-alone, comprehensive summary of the research findings and make recommendations specifically addressing the research objectives.

Tenderers will be required to produce a report, which should include a short executive summary, details of the methodology, details of research findings and recommendations addressing the research objectives stated in paragraph 3.1 above. Tenderers can produce a report to their format preference, but we would also require a report version that follows the 1:3:25 principle (1 page summary; 3-page executive sum, 25-page main report with annexes) and that is suitable for both technical and non-technical audiences. This comprehensive report should be suitable for publication on the gov.uk website⁸.

Defra can provide a Word template where contractors do not already have an in-house accessible report template.

The final PowerPoint slide deck and report should be quality assured, fully meet the project aim and research objectives, and be of a publishable standard, revised in accordance with project manager and peer review feedback.

Tenderers should put forward an experienced project team who will manage the research project. It is expected that tenderers will identify a specific individual as the main point of contact with the Defra project manager.

The successful tenderer will be required to attend an inception meeting in the first week of contract commencement to agree the details of the methodology, participant recruitment, timelines and general ways of working. Actions where Defra project manager is expected to contribute (e.g. clearing a draft report) should be made identifiable at the outset of the project.

In addition, tenderers can request a briefing session organised by Defra in the first week of contract commencement. This session will provide a thorough overview of bTB policy area, covering details of the disease and compensation policy in England, to ensure the tenderer is fully informed and can draw actionable insights from the research.

Throughout the duration of the contract, the tenderer will provide appropriate written and/or other progress updates and will agree to meet with Defra officials as and when required. The frequency of contact should be suggested in the tender and will be decided at the start of the contract as part of the inception meeting and will follow a pre-defined schedule of meetings and/or phone calls.

The contract length is 12 months. The tenderer will notify Defra without delay if there is a risk that the project timeline may extend for any reason. The tenderer will be allowed to apply for extension but must be able to justify why for the authority to except.

Defra will inform the tenderer without delay if there is any deficiency in the quality of the services provided under the contract. The tenderer will take steps to ensure any problems are resolved as a matter of urgency.

Standards and Social Value

Greening Government

Throughout the duration of the contract the tenderer will meet the expected standards and responsibilities outlined by the Government Social Research Profession⁹. This includes when designing and conducting the research.

⁹ Government Social Research (2021) GSR Ethical Assurance for Social and Behavioural Research https://assets.publishing.service.gov.uk/government/uploads/system/uploads/attachment_data/file/989809/GSR_Ethics_Guidance_2021_v2.pdf

Contractors are expected to meet government requirements for accessible reports and accessibility should be considered in all outputs outlined above (5.3 and 5.4) This includes, but is not limited to, consideration of:

- Font (size, style and justification)
- Headings and sub-heading to structure reports
- Alt-text for images, charts or graphs
- Table captions and summaries in all tables
- Colours that are suitable for those with colour-blindness

Social value:

Demonstrate how your bid incorporates the following sustainability and social value criteria:-

- Fighting the climate change emergency and actively contributing towards the Net Zero target
- Demonstrating specific Equality, Diversity and/or Inclusion actions and outcomes
- Involve communities and volunteers, partnering with SMEs to increase capacity and resilience
- Provide environmental benefits and biodiversity improvements
- Maintain and enhance reputations of all involved

Defra may arrange for the final report to be independently peer reviewed. Following peer review, the tenderer may be asked to make revisions prior to publication. The report will be published in line with Defra protocols once it has reached a publishable standard. Defra may seek opportunities to share findings among key stakeholders and more widely.

Tenders should make clear any expectations for further use or publication of the findings generated from this study.

Any surveys conducted as part of the Project will need to meet the requirements of Defra's Survey Control Liaison Unit. Defra will submit survey materials to the Unit, which typically takes up to four weeks to consider submissions. The Appointed Contractor will undertake revisions required by the Unit. Time for this process should be factored into the Project's plan as an estimated 2 weeks may be required, or longer if changes are required.

3. How the Contract works

3.1 The Order Form is an offer by the Authority to purchase the Deliverables subject to and in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Contract.

3.2 The Supplier is deemed to accept the offer in the Order Form when the Authority receives a copy of the Order Form signed by the Supplier.

3.3 The Supplier warrants and represents that its Tender Submission and all statements made and documents submitted as part of the procurement of Deliverables are and remain true and accurate.

4. What needs to be delivered

4.1 All Deliverables

(a) The Supplier must provide Deliverables: (i) in accordance with the Specification and Tender Submission; (ii) to a professional standard; (iii) using all reasonable skill and care; (iv) using Good Industry Practice; (v) using its own policies, processes and internal quality control measures as long as they don't conflict with the Contract; (vi) in accordance with such policies and procedures of the Authority (as amended from time to time) that may be specified in the Contract (vii) on the dates agreed; and (viii) in compliance with all applicable Law.

(b) Without prejudice to the Specification the Supplier must provide Deliverables with a warranty of at least 90 days (or longer where the Supplier offers a longer warranty period to the Authority) from Delivery against all obvious damage or defects.

4.2 Goods clauses

- (a) All Goods Delivered must be capable of meeting the requirements set out in the Specification and be either (i) new and of recent origin, (ii) reused or (iii) recycled.
- (b) All manufacturer warranties covering the Goods will be assigned to the Authority on request and for free.
- (c) The Supplier transfers ownership of the Goods on completion of Delivery (including off-loading and stacking) or payment for those Goods, whichever is earlier.
- (d) Risk in the Goods transfers to the Authority on Delivery but remains with the Supplier if the Authority notices any damage or defect following Delivery and lets the Supplier know within three Working Days of Delivery.
- (e) The Supplier must have full and unrestricted ownership of the Goods at the time of transfer of ownership.
- (f) The Supplier must Deliver the Goods on the date and to the specified location during the Authority's working hours.
- (g) The Supplier, its subcontractor(s) and supply chain must minimise packaging used whilst providing sufficient packaging for the Goods to reach the point of Delivery safely and undamaged. The Supplier must take back any primary packaging where it is possible to do so. Packaging must be 100% re-usable, recyclable or compostable, use recycled content where reasonably practicable and support the Government's commitment to eliminate single use plastic.
- (h) All Deliveries must have a delivery note attached that specifies the order number, type, quantity of Goods, contact and details of traceability through the supply chain.
- (i) The Supplier must provide all tools, information and instructions the Authority needs to make use of the Goods. This will include, where appropriate, any operation manuals which, unless specified otherwise, will be written in English and provided in electronic form.
- (j) The Supplier will notify the Authority of any request that Goods are returned to it or the manufacturer after the discovery of safety issues or defects that might endanger health or hinder performance and shall indemnify the Authority against the costs arising as a result of any such request. Goods must be disposed of in line with the waste management hierarchy as set out in Law. The Supplier will provide evidence and transparency of the items and routes used for disposal to the Authority on request.
- (k) The Authority can cancel any order or part order of Goods which have not been Delivered. If the Authority gives less than 14 calendar days' notice then it will pay the Supplier's reasonable and proven costs already incurred on the cancelled order as long as the Supplier takes all reasonable steps to minimise these costs.

(l) The Supplier must at its own cost repair, replace, refund or substitute (at the Authority's option and request) any Goods that the Authority rejects because they don't conform with clause 4.2. If the Supplier doesn't do this it will pay the Authority's costs including repair or re-supply by a third party.

(m) The Authority will not be liable for any actions, claims, costs and expenses incurred by the Supplier or any third party during Delivery of the Goods unless and to the extent that it is caused by negligence or other wrongful act of the Authority or its servant or agent. If the Authority suffers or incurs any damage or injury (whether fatal or otherwise) occurring in the course of Delivery or installation then the Supplier shall indemnify from all losses, damages, costs or expenses (including professional fees and fines) which arise as a result of or in connection with such damage or injury where it is attributable to any act or omission of the Supplier or, where related to the Contract, any of its subcontractors or suppliers.

4.3 Services clauses

(a) Late delivery of the Services will be a breach of the Contract.

(b) The Supplier must co-operate with the Authority and third party suppliers on all aspects connected with the delivery of the Services and ensure that Supplier Staff comply with any reasonable instructions including any security requirements.

(c) The Authority must provide the Supplier Staff with reasonable access to its premises at such reasonable times agreed with the Authority for the purpose of supplying the Services.

(d) The Supplier must at its own risk and expense provide all equipment required to deliver the Services. Any equipment provided by the Authority to the Supplier for supplying the Services remains the property of the Authority and is to be returned to the Authority on expiry or termination of the Contract.

(e) The Supplier must allocate sufficient resources and appropriate expertise to the Contract.

(f) The Supplier must take all reasonable care to ensure performance does not disrupt the Authority's operations, employees or other contractors.

(g) On completion of the Services, the Supplier is responsible for leaving the Authority's premises in a clean, safe and tidy condition and making good any damage that it has caused to the Authority's premises or property, other than fair wear and tear and any pre-existing cleanliness, safety or tidiness issue at the Authority's premises that existed before the commencement of the Term.

(h) The Supplier must ensure all Services, and anything used to deliver the Services, are of the required quality and free from damage or defects.

(i) The Authority is entitled to withhold payment for partially or undelivered Services or for Services which are not delivered in accordance with the Contract but doing so does not stop it from using its other rights under the Contract.

5. Pricing and payments

5.1 In exchange for the Deliverables delivered, the Supplier shall be entitled to invoice the Authority for the charges in Annex 3. The Supplier shall raise invoices promptly and in any event within 90 days from when the charges are due.

5.2 All Charges:

(a) exclude VAT, which is payable on provision of a valid VAT invoice and charged at the prevailing rate;

(b) include all costs connected with the supply of Deliverables.

5.3 The Authority must pay the Supplier the charges within 30 days of receipt by the Authority of a valid, undisputed invoice, in cleared funds to the Supplier's account stated in the Order Form.

(a) includes all appropriate references including the Purchase Order Number and other details reasonably requested by the Authority as set out in Annex 3; and

(b) includes a detailed breakdown of Deliverables which have been delivered (if any).

Details of the Authority's requirements for a valid invoice at the Start Date are set out in Annex 3.

5.5 If there is a dispute between the Parties as to the amount invoiced, the Authority shall pay the undisputed amount. The Supplier shall not suspend the provision of the Deliverables unless the Supplier is entitled to terminate the Contract for a failure to pay undisputed sums in accordance with clause 11.6. Any disputed amounts shall be resolved through the dispute resolution procedure detailed in clause 35.

5.6 If any sum of money is recoverable from or payable by the Supplier under the Contract (including any sum which the Supplier is liable to pay to the Authority in respect of any breach of the Contract), that sum may be deducted unilaterally by the Authority from any sum then due, or which may become due, to the Supplier under the Contract or under any other agreement or contract with the Authority. The Supplier shall not be entitled to assert any credit, set-off or counterclaim against the Authority in order to justify withholding payment of any such amount in whole or in part.

5.7 The Supplier must ensure that its subcontractors and supply chain are paid, in full, within 30 days of receipt of a valid, undisputed invoice. If this doesn't happen, the Authority can publish the details of the late payment or non-payment.

6. The Authority's obligations to the Supplier

6.1 If the Supplier fails to comply with the Contract as a result of an Authority Cause:

(a) the Authority cannot terminate the Contract under clause 11 on account of the failure to comply, provided this will not prejudice the Authority's right to terminate for another cause that may exist at the same time;

(b) the Supplier will be relieved from liability for the performance of its obligations under the Contract to the extent that it is prevented from performing them by the Authority Cause and will be entitled to such reasonable and proven additional expenses that arise as a direct result of the Authority Cause;

(c) the Supplier is entitled to any additional time needed to deliver the Deliverables as a direct result of the Authority's Cause;

(d) the Supplier cannot suspend the ongoing supply of Deliverables.

- (a) as to the financial stability of the Supplier such that it may impact on the continued performance of the Contract; or
- (b) as to the sustainability or health and safety conduct of the Supplier, subcontractors and supply chain in the performance of the Contract;

then the Authority may:

- (i) require that the Supplier provide to the Authority (for its approval) a plan setting out how the Supplier will ensure continued performance of the Contract (in the case of (a)) or improve its sustainability conduct or performance (in the case of (b)) and the Supplier will make changes to such plan as reasonably required by the Authority and once it is agreed then the Supplier shall act in accordance with such plan and report to the Authority on demand

8.4 The Supplier must provide a list of Supplier Staff needing to access the Authority's premises and say why access is required.

8.5 The Supplier indemnifies the Authority against all losses, damages, costs or expenses (including professional fees and fines) arising from claims brought against it by any Supplier Staff caused by an act or omission of the Supplier or any other Supplier Staff.

8.6 The Supplier shall use those persons nominated in the Order Form (if any) to provide the Deliverables and shall not remove or replace any of them unless:

- (a) requested to do so by the Authority;

10. Intellectual Property Rights (IPRs)

10.1 Each Party keeps ownership of its own Existing IPRs. The Supplier gives the Authority a non-exclusive, perpetual, royalty-free, irrevocable, transferable worldwide licence to use, change and sub-license the Supplier's Existing IPR to enable it and its sub-licensees to both:

(a) receive and use the Deliverables;

(b) use the New IPR.

10.2 Any New IPR created under the Contract is owned by the Authority. The Authority gives the Supplier a licence to use any Existing IPRs for the purpose of fulfilling its obligations under the Contract and a perpetual, royalty-free, non-exclusive licence to use any New IPRs.

29. Business Continuity

29.1 The Supplier will have a current business continuity plan, which has assessed the risks to its business site/s and activities both directly and with regards to reliance on the supply chain and will set out the contingency measures in place to mitigate them and adapt. As part of this assessment, the Supplier will take into account the business continuity plans of the supply chain. The Supplier's business continuity plan must include (where relevant), an assessment of impacts relating to extreme weather, a changing average climate and/or resource scarcity.

33. Conflict of interest

33.1 The Supplier must take action to ensure that neither the Supplier nor the Supplier Staff are placed in the position of an actual or potential conflict between the financial or personal duties of the Supplier or the Supplier Staff and the duties owed to the Authority under the Contract, in the reasonable opinion of the Authority.

33.2 The Supplier must promptly notify and provide details to the Authority if a conflict of interest happens or is expected to happen.

35.2 If the dispute is not resolved at that meeting, the Parties can attempt to settle it by mediation using the Centre for Effective Dispute Resolution (CEDR) Model Mediation Procedure current at the time of the dispute. If the Parties cannot agree on a mediator, the mediator will be nominated by CEDR. If either Party does not wish to use, or continue to use mediation, or mediation does not resolve the dispute, the dispute must be resolved using clauses 35.3 to 35.5.

35.3 Unless the Authority refers the dispute to arbitration using clause 35.4, the Parties irrevocably agree that the courts of England and Wales have the exclusive jurisdiction to:

- (a) determine the dispute;
- (b) grant interim remedies;
- (c) grant any other provisional or protective relief.

35.4 The Supplier agrees that the Authority has the exclusive right to refer any dispute to be finally resolved by arbitration under the London Court of International Arbitration Rules current at the time of the dispute. There will be only one arbitrator. The seat or legal place of the arbitration will be London and the proceedings will be in English.

35.5 The Authority has the right to refer a dispute to arbitration even if the Supplier has started or has attempted to start court proceedings under clause 35.3, unless the Authority has agreed to the court proceedings or participated in them. Even if court proceedings have started, the Parties must do everything necessary to ensure that the court proceedings are stayed in favour of any arbitration proceedings if they are started under clause 35.4.
