Section 3

TERMS OF REFERENCE

Provision of Evaluation Quality Assurance and Learning Service (EQuALS)

Introduction

1. DFID seeks to establish a set of new mechanisms in a single service that will assist in supporting its evaluation practice. It is intended that this service can be accessed for all evaluations of overseas development assistance (ODA) spend across the UK government.
2. DFID will also continue to undertake quality reviews of evaluations internally, for example through evaluation advisers. DFID anticipates two overarching types of service to be provided under this contract: (i) A Core Helpdesk that provides an overarching administration function for EQuALS by identifying, brokering, monitoring and managing support requests, and overseeing the panel of experts; and (ii) a demand driven, 'pay as you go' service that on the basis of support requests provides expert technical advice, independent quality assurance and learning reviews to DFID evaluation portfolio.
3. The Department for International Development (DFID) leads the UK Government's effort to promote sustainable development and end poverty. DFID's strategy and strategic objectives are outlined in the document UK aid: tackling global challenges in the national interest.<sup>1</sup> This strategy will guide the Department over the next spending period and support delivery of Manifesto commitments.
4. The four DFID strategic objectives are: strengthening global peace, security and governance; strengthening resilience and response to crises; promoting global prosperity; tackling extreme poverty and helping the world's most vulnerable.

Background

5. High quality, strategically chosen evaluations can change development practice, improve delivery, and stop us doing things which do not work or are wasteful and/or scale up successful interventions. The DFID Evaluation Department undertook a Review of Embedding Evaluation in DFID \(REED\) in 2013/14 to understand what has been achieved and where there are gaps since DFID decentralised programme evaluation to spending units in 2010. Although the embedding evaluation approach has fundamentally changed the way evaluation is managed and used across the organisation, the REED also identified major constraints to the delivery of high quality evaluations. For example, it was noted that it has been difficult for DFID to build extensive and in depth evaluation expertise and that there continues to be limited number of embedded evaluation advisers. Given the limited supply globally in international development evaluation, DFID is unlikely to be able to build in-house all of the skills required. It therefore makes sense to buy some aspects of evaluation technical support on a demand-driven basis.
6. In June 2014 DFID's Evaluation Strategy was approved. This set out an ambitious vision to address the constraints identified by the REED and strengthen evaluation in DFID. A key part of the Strategy is that DFID's Evaluation Policy requires that independent quality assurance is implemented. To undertake quality assurance the Evaluation Strategy sets out the formation of an impact evaluation and programme/thematic evaluation expert panel (here-in called The Expert Panel) to assist with quality assurance and technical advice. Additionally the Evaluation Strategy highlights that there will be periodic review of evaluation activities in order to develop learning and improvement of the evaluation system.

7. In order to meet the requirements of the Strategy and acquire the important capability and capacity needed to support DFID evaluations, a service is required that will provide: (i) expert technical advice to those managing and supporting evaluations; (ii) independent quality assurance on DFID evaluations; and (iii) learning reviews of the DFID evaluation portfolio

Objective

8. DFID requires expert services that will:
  - 8.1. Manage a core helpdesk, manage the panel, identify expertise, broker, monitor and manage quality assurance and technical advice requests for evaluations.
  - 8.2. Support evaluation in DFID through the selected Expert Panel through:
    - o Independent quality assurance of DFID's evaluation work;
    - o Providing expert advice on a demand-led basis; and
    - o Undertaking learning reviews on the quality of DFID's evaluation portfolio.
9. These services will contribute to evaluation processes to achieve high quality and identify value for money improvements in DFID interventions. DFID's Evaluation Typology, set-out in Annex 1, defines the range of evaluation activities that this contract will quality assure and provide expert advice.

Recipient

DFID and its partners will be the primary recipients of the services and DFID's Evaluation Department will manage the service. The service may potentially be used by other government departments (OGDs) specifically to support their evaluation of ODA spend:

- Foreign and Commonwealth Office
  - Home Office
  - Department of Health
  - Department for Business Innovation and Skills
  - Department for Energy and Climate Change
  - Department for Environment Food and Rural Affairs
  - Department for Culture Media and Sports
  - Office for National Statistics
  - Ministry of Defence
  - HM Revenue and Customs
  - HM Treasury
  - Department for Education
  - Department for Work and Pensions
  - Department for Transport
10. Arrangements for how this service can be accessed by OGDs are under consideration and discussions will be facilitated by DFID's Evaluation Department including consultation with the OGDs and the Supplier. It is anticipated any new arrangements would initially work on a trial basis to assess the level and nature of the demand, which could reach up to £352,000 (excluding VAT) over the four years.

Scope of Work

11. Quality assurance, expert advice and learning processes will support the independence, quality, transparency, utility and ethics of DFID's evaluation processes. Enhanced quality assurance that promotes learning about evaluations will help DFID to better target areas for improvement of the decentralised evaluation system.
12. DFID requires expert technical advice and quality assurance for designing, implementing and learning from evaluation processes. DFID wishes to engage a Supplier to effectively and efficiently deliver quick-turn around, demand driven, support services for evaluation, as described under 'Detailed Requirement' below. DFID in liaison with the service provider will define the quality assurance standards which will be applied consistently across evaluations. Expert technical advice will be adapted depending of demand, but will seek to support the development and implementation of high quality evaluations.

13. The majority of queries should be handled within 1 to 4 days, although on occasion longer assignments may be required of up to 20 days to support an evaluation related process. Most jobs will be desk-based; a few may require UK travel and some, more rarely, may involve travel overseas.
14. DFID has allocated a total budget of up to £3,552,000 (excluding VAT) over four years for the services. £352,000 of this value is for the potential use by OGD's. £3,200,000 is the amount approved for DFID.

Detailed Requirement

15. A practical knowledge of a wide range of evaluation approaches and methods used in international development is required of the Supplier. The Supplier will also need the ability to identify and broker from an agreed panel of evaluation specialists who have high level competence across a full range of thematic areas<sup>2</sup> in: evaluation design/approaches and methods, measuring and reporting results, establishing baselines, and developing monitoring & evaluation frameworks.
16. There are two types of expertise that will be required under this contract the Core Helpdesk and Expert Advice. The diagram below outlines the main channels through which support is requested and received.

Core Helpdesk

17. A Core Helpdesk will identify expertise, and broker, monitor and manage service requests, and oversee the Panel for all services. It is anticipated that staff of the Supplier will allocate a set amount of resources to a range of tasks related to this service. DFID will make month-to-month payments in arrears to the Supplier for provision of the Core Helpdesk against an agreed upon set fee. As the first point of contact with DFID the Core Helpdesk will need to:
  - Ensure they have access to high quality experts to undertake the services
  - Regularly review the quality of the contributions.
  - Receive and log requests directly DFID staff (directly for quality assurance and through the Evaluation Department for expert technical advice)
  - Check their completeness
  - Monitoring potential conflicts of interest

<sup>2</sup> Namely: Human development, humanitarian assistance, economic development, governance and security, and climate and environment.

- Request additional information/highlight constraints to DFID staff (if required)
- Allocate the request appropriately to the Panel by identifying the correct expertise in discussion with the Evaluation Department or based upon the quality assurance requirements of the request
- Monitor the service request against agreed service standards (ten working days turn-around and 95% satisfaction with response)
- Develop innovative processes to support expert advice across a range of evaluation approaches
- Develop world class processes for quality assurance and technical expert advice (building upon the current system)
- Manage reviews of DFID's evaluation portfolio in liaison with DFID.
- Liaise with the Senior Responsible Owner of EQuALS from the Evaluation Department and other relevant staff on the provision of services
- The Core Helpdesk should be able to manage support requests in alignment with good practice in undertaking evaluation from a gender perspective – with reference to the International Development (Gender Equality) Act 2014
- Provide an invoice and monitoring report on a monthly basis
- Provide three quarterly narrative report on EQuALS and an annual report
- Be respected within the international evaluation community

17.1. The core helpdesk of the Supplier will manage the Panel to deliver: quality assurance of DFID's evaluation work, expert technical advice and expert advice including ethical issues on a demand-led basis, and undertake learning reviews on the quality of DFID's evaluation portfolio.

17.2. The Panel will be formed through two routes. First, the Supplier will propose experts from within their bid who they recommend to be members of the Panel. It is not expected that the supplier will provide the majority of the Panel, only top class expertise that they have available. The second step in forming The Panel will be through an open process of applications and nominations conducted with DFID after the award of the contract. This process is intended to allow for the additional top quality expertise to be brought into the panel. During the process consideration will be given to the extent there are sufficient Panel members with security clearance. Organisations and individuals will apply to be members of The Panel. These nominations could include, for example, independent evaluation consultants, academics, specialists from other UK government departments or bi-lateral donor agencies. The Supplier will enter into service level agreements with The Panel to meet the quality requirements of the contract. DFID will approve the full panel. Applications for both of these processes will be assessed against a set of criteria, for example:

- The experts' unique offer, such as, competence in evaluation approaches and methods used by DFID or sectoral/thematic expertise in priority areas (environment, fragility, private sector, innovative methods)
- The length and depth of experience in their area of specialism
- Their experience of evaluation outside of DFID (we are looking to bring in broader perspectives)
- Ability to communicate technical feedback to a non-specialist audience.
- DFID's Evaluation competencies
- The priority evaluation pipeline in DFID.

17.2.1. The Panel can be refreshed upon the request of DFID annually. The Panel will have two types of member:

17.2.2. The first group is composed of those who provide expert advice to DFID on technical and ethical issues, undertake learning reviews on DFID's evaluation practice and undertake quality assurance processes. This group who would not be able to be involved in work on any product that will go through EQuALS, whether they are involved in bidding or not. Upon resigning from the panel there is a cooling off period of three months where they would not be able to be involved in any evaluation process that will be submitted to EQuALS. This includes conducting evaluations and bidding for evaluations.

17.2.3.

The second group is composed of those who only provide quality assurance. This group could be involved in bidding on other processes that go through EQuALS and will be managed through an agreed conflict of interest process.

17.2.4.

Both groups of experts could be drawn from organisations that do undertake evaluations that go through EQuALS, but would be bound by conflict of interest agreements.

Expert Technical Advice

18. The Panel (formed of the two groups of experts) receive services requests through the Core Helpdesk and will work together to provide the following services.

18.1. Quality Assurance<sup>3</sup> across the full range of thematic areas. It is anticipated that the quality assurance will be provided through a blind review process to support the independence and credibility of the quality assurance reports. Quality assurance requests will be submitted directly to the Core Helpdesk who will then identify a member of the Panel independently of DFID within 24 hours of the request, but no more than 48 hours. Matching will be on the basis of required thematic/methodological expertise. Quality assurance will be mandatory for all evaluations unless decided otherwise by the Evaluation Department, for example, if there was a blind peer review mechanism in place that served DFID's criteria. Quality assurance will be conducted at a minimum on the terms of reference, the inception report, baseline report (if appropriate) and the final draft report of an evaluation process; although other evaluation products can be quality assured upon request. It is intended that the quality assurer would be the same across the life-cycle of the evaluation. Quality assurance needs to be completed within 10 working days of the request being received.

Quality assurance will take place against a set range of criteria and standards developed by DFID and the Supplier during the inception phase of the contract (these can be adapted following reviews). Based upon these a member of The Panel will produce a report for consideration by DFID and the governance structure of the evaluation. It is anticipated that the governance structure of the Evaluation will review the quality assurance report (which will be treated as commercially sensitive information) and decide which sections must be acted upon. The governance structure will produce a response to the recommendations of the quality assurance that will be shared with the quality assessor via the Core Helpdesk. The steering committee/evaluation manager is responsible for guiding the evaluation process on the basis of the quality assurance.

18.2. Expert Advice for evaluation design, implementation and use across intervention lifecycles and the full range of thematic areas. It is anticipated that expert advice on evaluation will be provided by eligible members of The Panel throughout lifecycle of interventions from pre-business case development through to programme and policy closure. It is expected that expert advice will be provided through the evaluations governance structure and will involve interaction with DFID staff and service providers. The aim of this expert advice is to help the co-production of evaluation activities. In undertaking co-production the provision expert advice will need to be adapted to programme managers and others who will not be evaluation experts. It is anticipated that that specialist expert advice will be also required on an ad hoc basis around specific methodologies being employed and to perform evaluability assessments.

<sup>3</sup>To ensure independence from the evaluation support and advice function, an individual who has provided expert advice on a particular evaluation design is not eligible to quality assure the same work. It is anticipated that the supplier will build on the existing procedures and systems for quality assurance that have undergone development since 2009.

A second type of expert advice that assesses ethical risks and issues is also required under this contract. Advice is required to mitigate ethical risks and resolve issues. It is anticipated that requests for ethics advice could come from quality assurance processes or from DFID staff seeking advice. Advice could be sought on a range of issues, for example, on whether a disadvantaged group is adequately protected or whether an ethical review procedure was adequate. All ethical risks and issues and their suggested resolution would need to be logged and tracked. Ethics will also be considered as part of quality assurance processes.

The Core Helpdesk will receive requests from DFID staff for expert advice and will identify the technical expert to respond normally within 24 hours of the request, but no more than 48 hours. The terms of reference for the expert advice should then be finalised with DFID within 5 working days of the agreement. It is expected that that expert advice to be provided in a range of ways<sup>4</sup>. DFID remains responsible and accountable for their management and involvement in the evaluation process, for example, writing the terms of reference, convening the steering committee and managing timelines with evaluators.

In addition to working to support the management of evaluations expert advice will be required on the development of evaluation system products, such as 'SMART Guides' that provides help to those undertaking evaluations.

In summary, expert advice will be required for all three types of evaluation (See Annex 1), specifically to:

- Assist in the identification of evaluation priorities in business cases and other processes
- Advise on the technical adequacy of evaluative activities that may not meet the standards of evaluations as defined by DFID (e.g. reviews)
- Challenge the evaluation priorities selected by DFID
- Identify potential breaks and evidence gaps in an intervention's theory of change
- Identify challenges and options within a project or programme for evaluation. This will require detailed discussion on alternative evaluation questions, approaches, designs and methods including for impact evaluation
- Advise on and logging of ethical risks and issues.
- Conduct evaluability assessments.
- Advise on the development of concept notes for evaluations.
- Advise on the production of evaluation Terms of Reference (ToR).
- Quality Assurance review and rapid technical advice on evaluation terms of reference
- Quality Assurance review and rapid technical advice on evaluation inception reports
- Quality Assurance review and rapid technical advice on evaluation interim reports including baselines
- Quality Assurance review and rapid technical advice on final evaluation reports
- Respond to ad hoc practical and technical requests which are likely to include advice on sampling, power calculations, questionnaire design, statistical and data analysis, baselines and sequencing of evaluations based on expected trajectories of impact and document reviews.

<sup>4</sup> For example, a panel could be convened to review the business case to identify evidence gaps that could be addressed through evaluation, potential evaluation questions and the type of evaluation that would be appropriate for the intervention. Following this an individual expert can guide the definition of the evaluation's governance arrangements, advise on the development of the terms of reference and provide advice in the evaluation process on a range of issues, such as, on beneficiary voice. The expert providing support at this stage should continue to provide support throughout the lifecycle of the evaluation through their inclusion on the steering committee structure.

- Participate in evaluation governance structures that work with those conducting evaluations.
- Offer advice on appropriate communication channels for evaluations.
- Advise on best approaches for maximising the influence of evaluations for DFID and stakeholders
- Write short term synthesis papers, reports and reviews of evaluations for DFID and external audiences
- Advise on data sources and data availability for evaluations
- Advise on linking evaluation to monitoring and research
- Advise on the adequacy of monitoring systems for evaluation purposes
- Advise on budgeting for evaluation
- Review communications and influence plans for evaluations
- Advise on the type and approach to evaluation that may be appropriate given programme attributes and evaluation questions (including ability judging where impact evaluation may or may not be suitable)
- Based on analysis of usage, DFID may request short guidance notes, specific detailed guidance and scoping studies related to evaluation on certain topics and areas of high policy relevance or to assist the development of evaluation system.

18.3. Learning review processes to support understanding of the quality of DFID's evaluation portfolio: DFID's decentralised evaluation system means that the conduct of evaluations are principally overseen at spending unit level. Although the evaluation department will monitor the system, it is useful to undertake learning review activities to provide an in-depth perspective on important issues. Quality assurance at the portfolio level helps to ensure that there is overall coherence in the system and that certain issues are being dealt with in a meaningful and proportionate manner. Learning reviews of DFID's evaluation portfolio are anticipated to be required, but not limited to, the following functions:

- Evaluation governance processes
- The quality of evaluators and evaluations (including ethical conduct)
- Beneficiary involvement in evaluation processes
- The gender component of evaluations
- Review the value of evaluations
- Syntheses of existing evaluation studies and systematic reviews aimed at identifying synergies and cross-learning between evaluations and to support continuous improvement of methodologies
- Annual evaluation digests summarising lessons from evaluations
- The use and influence of evaluations, including drafting case studies.

DFID would request learning reviews to be undertaken and would work with the Core Helpdesk to manage reviews.

Method

19. DFID is seeking a Supplier to provide the Core Helpdesk that will manage the Panel which can provide high quality responses to the tasks described across the full range of thematic areas, including, but limited to: Human development (e.g. education, health, water supply, social protection and sanitation); humanitarian assistance (e.g. Fragile and Conflict Affected States, resilience); economic development (e.g. infrastructure, social services, production); governance and security (e.g. public sector reform, anti-corruption); climate change. It is expected that the outputs will be a mix of short focused reports; management of advice to DFID staff (both specialist evaluation advisers and non-specialist staff) on a range of issues including to support the co-production of evaluations with evaluators over defined periods of time (1-20 days); quick responses (normally within 24 hours of the request, but no more than 48 hours) to email requests for evaluation support services; ethical advice; and agreed upon reviews to support learning on the evaluation system.

20. In operating EQuALS the Supplier will need to consistently demonstrate adherence to the OECD DAC international evaluation principles, and quality standards and knowledge and leadership of emerging good practice in evaluation.

21. At all times, the Supplier will be responsible for accessing evaluation experts from The Panel through the Core Helpdesk who will cover the broad range of skills required and be able to respond at short notice. Where appropriate, the Supplier will be responsible for the timely production of short and focussed reports that are professionally credible.
22. In addition, the Supplier will need to demonstrate strengths in:
- General administration and management
  - Financial management
  - Flexibility to respond to changing needs and demands
  - Relationship management
23. The Supplier will be expected to be familiar with DFID's Evaluation Policy and Strategy.
24. The services provided to requests will mainly be desk-based with responses provided by email using agreed upon formats/ templates. There may be an occasional need for some telephone/video meetings and face-to-face contact with staff in UK HQ and, potentially, country offices.

Duty of Care

25. The Supplier is responsible for the safety and well-being of their Personnel (as defined in Section 2 of the Contract) and Third Parties affected by their activities under this contract, including appropriate security arrangements. They will also be responsible for the provision of suitable security arrangements for their domestic and business property.
26. DFID will share available information with the Supplier on security status and developments in-country where appropriate.
27. The Supplier is responsible for ensuring appropriate safety and security briefings for all of their Personnel working under this contract and ensuring that their Personnel register and receive briefing as outlined above. Travel advice is also available on the FCO website and the Supplier must ensure they (and their Personnel) are up to date with the latest position.
28. This contract may require the Supplier to operate in a seismically active zone and is considered at high risk of earthquakes. Minor tremors are not uncommon. Earthquakes are impossible to predict and can result in major devastation and loss of life. There are several websites focusing on earthquakes, including <http://geology.about.com/library/bl/maps/blworldindex.htm>. The Supplier should be comfortable working in such an environment and should be capable of deploying to any areas required within the region in order to deliver the Contract (subject to travel clearance being granted).
29. This Contract may require the Supplier to operate in conflict-affected areas and parts of it are highly insecure. Travel to many zones within the region will be subject to travel clearance from the UK government in advance. The security situation is volatile and subject to change at short notice. The Supplier should be comfortable working in such an environment and should be capable of deploying to any areas required within the region in order to deliver the Contract (subject to travel clearance being granted).
30. The Supplier is responsible for ensuring that appropriate arrangements, processes and procedures are in place for their Personnel, taking into account the environment they will be working in and the level of risk involved in delivery of the Contract (such as working in dangerous, fragile and hostile environments etc.). The Supplier must ensure their Personnel receive the required level of training and, if required, complete a UK government approved hostile environment training course SAFE (Security Awareness in Fragile Environments). The course should be booked through DFID and factored into the commercial tender) or safety in the field training prior to deployment.

Transparency

31. DFID has transformed its approach to transparency, reshaping our own working practices and pressuring others across the world to do the same. DFID requires Suppliers receiving and managing funds, to release open data on how this money is spent, in a common, standard, re-usable format and to require this level of information from immediate sub-contractors, sub-agencies and partners.
32. It is a contractual requirement for all Suppliers to comply with this, and to ensure they have the appropriate tools to enable routine financial reporting, publishing of accurate data and providing evidence of this DFID – further IATI information is available from: <http://www.aidtransparency.net/>

Management and Reporting Arrangements

33. For quality assurance The Core Help Desk of the Supplier will receive requests directly from the DFID spending unit with all key documents provided electronically. The relevant contact in the Evaluation Department will be copied into the request and all further exchanges. For technical advice services the Core Helpdesk of The Supplier will receive requests through the Evaluation Department. The number of days allocated for each assignment will be agreed in advance and will be communicated in writing, with reporting arrangements agreed for each piece of work. The Supplier will charge only for time actually spent of the request. DFID will receive an invoice and management information report (detailed below) on a monthly basis.
34. This contract may be open to use by OGD's for overseas development aid spend. The Supplier may need to manage interactions directly with OGD's, although on occasions DFID may make the appropriate introductions.
35. A logframe for the oversight of the contract will be agreed with the supplier during the inception phase of EQuALS.
36. Management meetings with the responsible DFID staff will be arranged quarterly, with one of these being an expanded annual report meeting.

Beyond what has been stated in regards to the report format, the arrangements for these reviews will be confirmed at contract award stage.

Timeframe

45. The contract will run from October 2016 to September 2020 with the possibility of an extension for up to 1 year. The service will start to receive service requests from 31 October 2016. A four week inception phase will be included in order to allow for:

Annex 1 - DFID's Evaluation Typology

The purpose of evaluation in DFID is to contribute to improving the impact and value for money of DFID's development spending and support the effective delivery of DFID's Strategic Objectives. DFID needs to produce high quality, independent, relevant evaluations that enable development interventions to be responsive to the poorest people and contribute to their wellbeing.

In alignment with international standards, evaluation in DFID is defined as the: systematic and objective assessment of on-going or completed project, programme or policy, its design, implementation and results in relation to specified evaluation criteria.

DFID has used a range of internationally accepted terms to categorise and describe its evaluations that has resulted in a proliferation of terms and a lack of shared language on the types of evaluations done. A common terminology will help implementers (evaluation suppliers), commissioners, managers and users to have a shared understanding about what types of evaluations are commissioned and for what purpose.

DFID, through the Evaluation Department, will be introducing the new evaluation typology for use within the decentralised evaluation system to support and encourage a common language for staff involved in, commissioning, managing and using evaluations. The typology also enables the Evaluation Department to identify trends and improve its provision of technical advisory support

DFID evaluations can be broadly categorised into three types of evaluation depending on their purpose:

Type	Decision Tree	Example Questions
Impact Evaluation builds knowledge on what works in development by establishing causal attribution in relation to an intervention and its effects. The effects can be positive and negative, primary and secondary, direct or indirect, intended or unintended.		Has male circumcision reduced HIV incidence? Has home solar lighting improved educational outcomes?
Performance Evaluation evaluates an intervention on the basis of its contribution to development outcomes and impacts within its context . Performance evaluation is usually implemented during an intervention's lifecycle.		How do we deliver male circumcision effectively in this local health system? What difference has use of the project's solar lights made in this district?
Process Evaluation provides deeper understanding of the quality of implementation, principally to the level of outputs . Process evaluation focuses on the integrity of implementation, and its relevance and coherence in relation to agreed, planned and expected action.		To what extent is male circumcision being delivered according to agreed protocols? How reliable are the solar lights in this district?
