SCHEDULE 1 - SPECIFICATION

1. Background

1.1 The Authority is the UK Government Department responsible for the environment, food and farming and rural affairs. The Authority's priorities are to secure a healthy natural environment; a sustainable, low-carbon economy; a thriving farming sector and a sustainable, healthy and secure food supply. Further information on the Authority can be found at: Defra.

1.2 In 2018, Defra's Secretary of State announced he had asked his non-executive Director, Henry Dimbleby to write a cross-government national food strategy. He has said the following about the strategy since:

It will build on the work already underway in the Agriculture Bill, the Environment Bill, the Fisheries Bill, and the Childhood Obesity Plan to create an overarching, integrated food strategy for government. The "intention is to ensure that our food system delivers healthy and affordable food for all people; restores and enhances the environment for the next generation; is robust in the face of future challenges and is built upon a resilient and sustainable agriculture sector" (Letter to Neil Parish – Defra Committee 30th October).

1.3 There is widespread consensus amongst civil society, producers and the food industry that a cross government food strategy is needed. Different constituencies have different purposes in mind for such a strategy but they have a common view on the need for greater policy coherence across departments and for stronger political commitment to develop a coherent food policy.

1.4 While there is probably a greater mix of perspectives on the outcomes which a new food strategy should aim to achieve, agreement on these outcomes is a pre-requisite for building support for the new strategy. These outcomes form the central proposition of the vision which the new strategy will aim to deliver. Developing and building support for these outcomes, and proposing a plan for their monitoring, and possibly also the development of associated targets is the first work stream being initiated in support of the development of the new strategy.

2. Scope and Objectives

2.1 The objectives of the strategy are to create a robust diagnosis of our current situation built on extensive field visits, the existing evidence, and our own analysis. The report will address the following themes:

- Why it matters
- History and Structure: The Value Chain
- What works
- The Customer: Understanding food poverty and food related disease
- The Land, Farmers, and Livestock
- Future Trends: Technology, Politics, Climate
- Vision for a truly sustainable, circular food system look like

- 2.2 The strategy development process has been divided into two phases. The first, will develop a Point of Departure and Vision. The second will draft the strategy itself. Defra (the Authority) has a requirement for a Contractor to provide consultancy and advice to shape the strategic direction of the National Food Strategy for the first phase of the project.
- 2.3 This first phase of a larger project is to develop a vision, metrics and analysis for a call for evidence, which will seek views and evidence from interested stakeholders across the food industry including food manufacturers, trade associations, NGOs and consumers.
- 2.4 The project will map and evaluate the existing policy landscape and identify where there are gaps for Government or market intervention. It will look at how the sector will adapt to the post-Brexit landscape and the challenges and opportunities to shape a sector that delivers better outcomes for consumers, businesses and citizens in the following areas:
- Delivers healthy, affordable diets for all people, regardless of where they live or how much they earn.
 - Restores and enhances the environment for the next generation.
 - Is robust in the face of future shocks
 - Is built upon a resilient and sustainable agriculture sector which supports vibrant rural communities.
 - Is a thriving contributor to our economy, boosting productivity and earning power throughout the UK.
- 2.5 The Contractor will engage and convene different types of stakeholders including gathering information on and understanding the interactions of normal individuals and hard to reach social groups that Government can struggle to speak to. They will assess the international picture and global trends and best practice that will impact on UK policy.
- 2.6 This requirement will look to establish the foundations for the review. The Contractor shall provide advice on the structure of the review, identify key components of the review and build and use existing networks of experts and advisors to inform the review as it develops.
- 2.7 The Contractor shall have an in depth understanding of the food system and its impacts, the trade-offs involved and an understanding of the political environment around the food system.
- 2.8 The primary outputs for this work will be a point of departure document (setting out the current state of the food system) and a vision document underpinned by metrics. Future requirements will be determined by the outcome of this requirement, and new open tenders will be pursued for these. 5

3. Deliverables

3.1 The Contractor shall:

- Work with the Authority to develop a detailed work plan for the strategy, setting out the key phases of the review and resources and structure for each phase.
- Work with Government and academia to develop a vision for the Food Strategy through workshops with Whitehall officials and academics. The academic representatives will be decided jointly by the Contractor and the Authority
- Create a “point of departure”, working with the Authority to map out existing Government policy on food and the food system to build a picture of current policy and system landscape. This will be used to identify and inform areas where the food strategy should focus its call for evidence
- Identify evidence gaps and advise on the development of bespoke research criteria needed to fill those gaps so the review has a clearly defined research programme
- Establish an advisory panel of policy experts and academics to provide an independent challenge and advocacy for the review as it develops
- Advise on and build a network of leading academic experts who can support the development of policy and bring latest thinking on the food system into the review
- Develop metrics to assess the current food system and targets that will underpin the vision and can be refined through the call for evidence
- Support Henry Dimbleby in external stakeholder engagement and planning of visits and meetings with relevant stakeholders

3.2 Workplan

The Contractor will provide a Workplan to the Authority setting out key actions and resource requirements for the review.

3.3 Develop vision for consultation

The Contractor shall:

- Organise a workshop with civil servants from the Authority and other relevant Whitehall Departments.
- Organise a workshop on vision and metrics with selected academic experts, who will be jointly agreed by the Authority and the Contractor.
- Develop a vision for consultation.

3.4 Develop “point of departure”

The Supplier shall set up and confirm an advisory panel. The Contractor shall submit an assessment of evidence needs and develop research criteria for a tender, which will be provided in writing.

3.5 Call for evidence

The Contractor shall conduct a consultation asking for evidence from interested parties and produce a report in writing of the results of this consultation.

3.6 The outputs of services will be:

- A Strategy Document, starting with a vision for the future, including specific targets, and policy actions
