Single use tourniquet with quick release button type fastening. These are elasticated tourniquets used in the procedure of blood sampling for restricting blood flow.
Products within this lot include both single button fastening tourniquet and multiple button fastening tourniquet. NHS Supply Chain anticipates appointing all applicants (who have met the minimum requirements set out in these tender documents) to each product line within this lot of the framework agreement.
Following award of the framework agreement, a price only eAuction will be held against one of the product lines within the lot (single use tourniquet button fastening – adult quick release single button). NHS Supply Chain will only trade with the highest scoring two Applicants (except in the instance where a supply issue arises), for the initial 24 (twenty-four) months of the framework agreement. During this 24-month term of the framework agreement, the other supplier/s appointed to this product line within lot 2 of the framework agreement will not be able to supply their products.
Before expiry of that 24-month period, NHS Supply Chain anticipates re-opening competition amongst the awarded suppliers to that product line of the framework agreement to appoint supplier/s to be the only transacting supplier/s for a subsequent term of the framework agreement.
