16.7 Unless otherwise agreed by the Supplier, in the event of a termination of the Contract for convenience by the Customer pursuant to Clause 16.1, the Customer shall pay the Charges up to the date of termination (and for the avoidance of doubt a proportion of the Charges may relate to the whole term of the original Contract and become payable irrespective of an earlier termination date) and all committed and unavoidable costs (including but not limited to set up costs).

17 Compliance

17.1 The Supplier shall promptly notify the Customer of any health and safety hazards which may arise in connection with the performance of its obligations under the Agreement. The Customer shall promptly notify the Supplier of any health and safety hazards which may exist or arise at the Customer's premises and which may affect the Supplier in the performance of its obligations under the Agreement.

17.2 The Supplier shall:

- 17.2.1 comply with all the Customer's health and safety measures while on the Customer's premises; and
- 17.2.2 notify the Customer immediately in the event of any incident occurring in the performance of its obligations under the Agreement on the Customer's premises where that incident causes any personal injury or damage to property which could give rise to personal injury.

17.3 The Supplier shall:

- 17.3.1 perform its obligations under the Agreement in accordance with all applicable equality Law and the Customer's equality and diversity policy as provided to the Supplier from time to time; and
- 17.3.2 take all reasonable steps to secure the observance of clause 17.3.1 by all Staff.

17.5.2 section 182 of the Finance Act 1989.

18 Prevention of Fraud and Corruption

18.1 The Supplier shall not offer, give, or agree to give anything, to any person an inducement or reward for doing, refraining from doing, or for having done or refrained from doing, any act in relation to the obtaining or execution of the Agreement or for showing or refraining from showing favour or disfavour to any person in relation to the Agreement.

18.2 The Supplier shall take all reasonable steps, in accordance with good industry practice, to prevent fraud by the Staff and the Supplier (including its shareholders, members and directors) in connection with the Agreement and shall notify the Customer immediately if it has reason to suspect that any fraud has occurred or is occurring or is likely to occur.

18.3 If the Supplier or the Staff engages in conduct prohibited by clause 18.1 or commits fraud in relation to the Agreement or any other contract with the Crown (including the Customer) the Customer may:

18.3.1 terminate the Agreement and recover from the Supplier the amount of any loss suffered by the Customer resulting from the termination, including the cost reasonably incurred by the Customer of making other arrangements for the supply of the Services and any additional expenditure incurred by the Customer throughout the remainder of the Agreement; or

18.3.2 recover in full from the Supplier any other loss sustained by the Customer in consequence of any breach of this clause.

19 Dispute Resolution

19.1 The Parties shall attempt in good faith to negotiate a settlement to any dispute between them arising out of or in connection with the Agreement and such efforts shall involve the escalation of the dispute to an appropriately senior representative of each Party.

19.2 If the dispute cannot be resolved by the Parties within one month of being escalated as referred to in clause 19.1, the dispute may by agreement between the Parties be referred to a neutral adviser or mediator (the "Mediator") chosen by agreement between the Parties. All negotiations connected with the dispute shall be conducted in confidence and without prejudice to the rights of the Parties in any further proceedings.

19.3 If the Parties fail to appoint a Mediator within one month or fail to enter into a written agreement resolving the dispute within one month of the Mediator being appointed, either Party may exercise any remedy it has under applicable law.

20 General

20.1 Each of the Parties represents and warrants to the other that it has full capacity and authority, and all necessary consents, licences and permissions to enter into and perform its obligations under the Agreement, and that the Agreement is executed by its duly authorised representative.

20.2 A person who is not a party to the Agreement shall have no right to enforce any of its provisions which, expressly or by implication, confer a benefit on him, without the prior written agreement of the Parties.

20.3 The Agreement cannot be varied except in writing signed by a duly authorised representative of both the Parties.

20.4 The Agreement contains the whole agreement between the Parties and supersedes and replaces any prior written or oral agreements, representations or understandings between them. The Parties confirm that they have not entered into the Agreement on the basis of any representation that is not expressly incorporated into the Agreement. Nothing in this clause shall exclude liability for fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation.

20.5 Any waiver or relaxation either partly, or wholly of any of the terms and conditions of the Agreement shall be valid only if it is communicated to the other Party in writing and expressly stated to be a waiver. A waiver of any right or remedy arising from a breach of contract shall not constitute a waiver of any right or remedy arising from any other breach of the Agreement.

20.6 The Agreement shall not constitute or imply any partnership, joint venture, agency, fiduciary relationship or other relationship between the Parties other than the contractual relationship expressly provided for in the Agreement. Neither Party shall have, nor represent that it has, any authority to make any commitments on the other Party's behalf.

20.7 Except as otherwise expressly provided by the Agreement, all remedies available to either Party for breach of the Agreement (whether under the Agreement, statute or common law) are cumulative and may be exercised concurrently or separately, and the exercise of one remedy shall not be deemed an election of such remedy to the exclusion of other remedies.

20.8 If any provision of the Agreement is prohibited by law or judged by a court to be unlawful, void or unenforceable, the provision shall, to the extent required, be severed from the Agreement and rendered ineffective as far as possible without modifying the remaining provisions of the Agreement and shall not in any way affect any other circumstances of or the validity or enforcement of the Agreement.

21 Notices

- 21.1 Any notice to be given under the Agreement shall be in writing and may be served by personal delivery, first class recorded or, subject to clause 21.3, e-mail to the address of the relevant Party set out in the Award Letter, or such other address as that Party may from time to time notify to the other Party in accordance with this clause:
- 21.2 Notices served as above shall be deemed served on the Working Day of delivery provided delivery is before 5.00pm on a Working Day. Otherwise delivery shall be deemed to occur on the next Working Day. An email shall be deemed delivered when sent unless an error message is received.
- 21.3 Notices under clauses 15 (Force Majeure) and 16 (Termination) may be served by email only if the original notice is then sent to the recipient by personal delivery or recorded delivery in the manner set out in clause 21.1.

22 Governing Law and Jurisdiction

The validity, construction and performance of the Agreement, and all contractual and non-contractual matters arising out of it, shall be governed by English law and shall be subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts to which the Parties submit.

Annex 3 – Specification of Requirements

SPECIFICATION OF REQUIREMENTS

This section sets out the Authority's requirements.

Requirement Summary

This document sets out the requirements for a new longitudinal qualitative panel to explore strategic cross-cutting issues as well as urgent or emerging issues within Defra. The panel will complement the department's existing Survey on Attitudes to the Environment (SAE), providing more in-depth insights alongside the survey's quantitative results. Further, the panel will allow Defra to pick up urgent and emerging issues through planned panels throughout the year, enabling Defra to become more agile and efficient in its delivery of qualitative insights.

Background Context

What is the Survey on Attitudes to the Environment?

The Survey on Attitudes to the Environment is a survey run annually by Defra to capture public attitudes on a wide range of topics such as: green and natural spaces; health and nature; household chemical and water use; environmentally friendly behaviours; and awareness of Defra and its priorities.

Key findings from the 2020 SAE report include:

- 49% of respondents had visited parks at least once a week.
- 79% of respondents supported the expansion of woodland cover.

- 89% of respondents agreed that engaging in green and natural spaces can support your health and wellbeing.
- 51% of respondents were extremely or very concerned about global warming.
- 76% of respondents said they only used their own bags when they last shopped at a supermarket.
- 51% of respondents had not heard of Defra.
- The areas of Defra's remit that were selected as very important by the greatest share of respondents were 'pure air, clean rivers and resilient water supply' (72%) and 'healthy seas and oceans' (70%). The area seen as very important by the fewest respondents was 'thriving rural economies and communities' (59%).

How will a longitudinal qualitative panel complement the SAE?

The SAE provides crucial quantitative data on public attitudes and behaviours around many of Defra's policy areas. Qualitative research will add to and improve Defra's understanding of public attitudes in these areas, as well as provide an opportunity for citizens to discuss, deliberate, and offer ideas and insights. The intention is for each panel to focus on a particular topic to explore in-depth. We are keen to take a cross-cutting and strategic approach to the longitudinal panel to ensure that it benefits multiple stakeholders across Defra.

The members of the panel would ideally stay the same throughout the year, enabling members to gain knowledge and understanding in Defra policy areas and come to informed opinions and conclusions. It may be necessary to have sufficient panel members to allow for some unavailability for every session and attrition of the panel across the year. We are particularly interested in suggested approaches for sampling and retaining panel members.

How could the panel help with urgent and emerging issues?

While it is likely that most topics for the panels will be decided in advance, we would like to allow for some flexibility to enable Defra to pick up urgent or emerging issues within the panels where needed. This could mean keeping the overall topic for a session the same but bringing in additional research questions, or it could mean changing the planned panel topic at short notice to allow more urgent issues to be explored. We will therefore need the successful contractor to be able to work flexibly and in an agile way to meet urgent evidence needs.

Project objectives:

- Deepen our understanding of citizen views, ideas, and insights on strategic cross-cutting issues for Defra, particularly related to the policy areas of the SAE.

- Build capacity to explore urgent and emerging issues within Defra as part of the longitudinal panel, allowing Defra to be more agile when it comes to meeting evidence needs.

Research Methods:

- We are interested in the idea of a Citizen Advisory Group for the longitudinal panel, but we are open to the panel being run in other ways such as through focus groups or an online community.
- We would expect the panel to be made up of about 30-50 people, suggesting each session is attended by a maximum of 20 people. We expect that there will be a minimum number of attendees, however this will depend on the proposed approach. The panel should broadly reflect the population of England, accounting for demographics such as age, gender, ethnicity, socioeconomic group, disability, and geographic location. We would also like to see a mix of rural and urban based participants.
- Given that members of the longitudinal panel will be geographically dispersed, we believe an online approach will be most appropriate for the sessions and will help reduce fatigue and drop out amongst members.
- We would be looking for a collaborative approach to design and delivery, including the potential for Defra staff to have a role in observing and possibly presenting evidence to the group, where appropriate.

Main Deliverables

The expected outputs for the longitudinal panel are:

1. Phase one: The first phase will involve holding an initial panel on a topic developed with Defra policy teams. The creation of briefing materials/topic guides is expected to be carried out as a joint effort between Defra teams and the contractor. Following the panel, the successful bidder will deliver a short report with key findings and an additional report exploring lessons learnt from developing and delivering the panel. There will then be a break point in the contract, to allow for review of the success and utility of the initial panel. At this stage it would be possible for a break clause to be enacted by Defra or the contractor.
2. Phase two: The second phase will involve a further 3-5 meetings of the longitudinal panel to be delivered within the calendar year (exact number to be determined based on contractor recommendation, capacity and budget), providing the break clause is not enacted. These would focus on policy topics related to the Survey on Attitudes to the Environment, but flexibility would be built in to allowing urgent or emerging issues to be explored if needed. As with phase one, topics will be set by Defra and the creation of topic guides and any briefing materials are expected to be carried out as a joint effort between Defra teams and the contractor.
3. Outputs from each panel meeting will include a top-line two-page Word document summary of findings, followed by a more detailed Word document report of approximately 10 pages and a short PowerPoint presentation to Defra staff members, including the relevant policy/ embedded research teams. At the end of the year the successful contractor will draw together the reports into an annual report with key themes for publication.

We will expect the successful contractor to work collaboratively with Defra evidence teams to achieve these deliverables. We will also require regular progress updates between the contractor and the Defra project manager by email, phone or video call. The final project report for publication will need to meet government accessibility requirements.

Accessibility requirements for reports

Contractors are expected to meet government requirements for accessible reports (guidance is available here:

www.gov.uk/guidance/guidance-and-tools-for-digitalaccessibility.

This includes, but is not limited to, consideration of:

- font (size, style and justification)
- headings and sub-headings to structure reports
- alt-text for images, charts or graphs
- table captions and summaries in all tables
- colours that are suitable for those with colour-blindness

Contractors are expected to outline how they will meet accessibility requirements and what processes they have in place to assure this. The exact outputs should be discussed with the commissioning team, but accessibility should be considered in all outputs (e.g. Word, PowerPoint, CSV data files or PDF documents). Defra can provide a Word template where contractors do not already have an in-house accessible report template.

Project timeframes

- Agreement of scope, methodological approach, and tools to be used in the initial panel session by 28th January 2022.
- Recruitment of panel and initial fieldwork, analysis and reporting to be delivered by 04th March 2022.
- Review point on 11th March 2022 to consider break clause following the delivery of the first panel, at which time the successful contractor and Defra will be able to assess the success of the approach and decide whether to continue with the panel. We will decide on whether to continue the contract by 14th March 2022.
- Delivery of 3-5 further panel meetings, analysis and reporting by 16th December 2022, providing break clause is not enacted.

Draft payment schedule based on 5 total panel meetings

Project stages		Payment
Stage 1	Completion of scoping, recruitment of panel, initial fieldwork, analysis, and reporting	40%

Stage 2	Completion of second panel	10%
Stage 3	Completion of third panel	10%
Stage 4	Completion of fourth panel	10%
Stage 5	Completion of final panel and delivery of all outputs	30%

Agency requirements

- Ideally the contractor would be available to start work with us straight away to begin scoping the project and developing the approach.
- The contractor will need to be able to meet the deadlines outlined above for the panel to be a success.
- The contractor will need to have experience of working flexibly and in an agile way to allow any urgent and emerging issues to be picked up throughout the year, as needed.
- The contractor should have experience delivering longitudinal qualitative research, preferably with some experience running research on environmental issues with the public.
