10.5. If any claim is made against the Buyer for actual or alleged infringement of a third party's intellectual property arising out of, or in connection with, the supply or use of the Deliverables (an "IPR Claim"), then the Supplier indemnifies the Buyer against all losses, damages, costs or expenses (including professional fees and fines) incurred as a result of the IPR Claim.

10.6. If an IPR Claim is made or anticipated the Supplier must at its own expense and the Buyer's sole option, either:

- a) obtain for the Buyer the rights in clauses 10.1 and 10.2 without infringing any third party intellectual property rights; or
- b) replace or modify the relevant item with substitutes that do not infringe intellectual property rights without adversely affecting the functionality or performance of the Deliverables.

10.7. In spite of any other provisions of the Buyer Contract and for the avoidance of doubt, award of the Buyer Contract by the Buyer and placement of any contract task under it does not constitute an authorisation by the Crown under Sections 55 and 56 of the Patents Act 1977 or Section 12 of the Registered Designs Act 1949. The Supplier acknowledges that any authorisation by the Buyer under its statutory powers must be expressly provided in writing with reference to the acts authorised.

 - viii. if the Buyer discovers that the Supplier was in one of the situations set out in Section 2 of the Suitability Assessment Questionnaire at the time the Buyer Contract was awarded or is in breach of clause 26.1 of this Contract; or
 - ix. the Supplier or its affiliates embarrass or bring the Buyer into disrepute or diminish the public trust in them.
- b) if any of the following non-fault based events happen, the Buyer has the right to immediately terminate the Buyer Contract:
 - i. there is a change to the Buyer Contract which cannot be agreed using clause 24 or resolved using clause 33; or
 - ii. if there is a declaration of ineffectiveness in respect of any change to the Buyer Contract.

11.3. When the Supplier can end the Buyer Contract:

- a) the Supplier can issue a reminder notice if the Buyer does not pay an undisputed invoice on time. The Supplier can terminate the Buyer Contract if the Buyer fails to pay an undisputed invoiced sum due and worth over 10% of the total Buyer Contract value or £1,000, whichever is the lower, within 30 days of the date of the reminder notice.

11.4. What happens if the Buyer Contract ends

- b) the Buyer can only partially terminate or suspend the Buyer Contract if the remaining parts of it can still be used to effectively deliver the intended purpose;
- c) the Parties must agree (in accordance with clause 24) any necessary variation required by clause 11.5, but the Supplier may not either:

If the dispute is not resolved at that meeting, the Parties can attempt to settle it by mediation using the Centre for Effective Dispute Resolution (CEDR) Model Mediation Procedure current at the time of the dispute. If the Parties cannot agree on a mediator, the mediator will be nominated by CEDR. If either Party does not wish to use, or continue to use mediation, or mediation does not resolve the dispute, the dispute must be resolved using clauses 33.3 to 33.5.

| Title of Request: | Benefits of Legal Services Market Liberalisation Report |
| Estimated Total Value: | £85,000 (excluding VAT) |
| Duration of Engagement: | 2 months |
| Required Commencement Date: | 01/02/2025 |

1. Introduction

The Ministry of Justice (MoJ) is a major government department, at the heart of the justice system. The MoJ works to protect and advance the principles of justice. Its vision is to deliver a world-class justice system that works for everyone in society.

The Ministry of Justice is responsible for the legal services regulatory framework in England and Wales. This includes supporting the Lord Chancellor to fulfil their statutory duties under the Legal Services Act 2007, and duties in relation to King's Counsel appointments. The MoJ is also responsible for representing UK legal services' interests in international trade negotiations.

2. Background to the Requirement

The Ministry of Justice's Legal Services Trade Policy team has been commissioned to procure a comprehensive report, which will outline – in detail – the various economic and wider benefits to the UK of a liberal legal services market – including impact on and contribution to economic growth.

The report is intended for use across the UK legal sector and wider business environment – as well as with potential international trading partners - to demonstrate the benefits of an open and liberal legal services market and the contribution this makes to economic growth. The report will in turn assist the MoJ to address market access and other regulatory trading barriers in key international jurisdictions of interest and help MoJ and wider HMG to negotiate more liberal access for UK legal professionals and firms to these global markets. These are core and priority objectives for the MoJ, with significant interest from ministers, to help support and grow the UK legal services sector both at home and internationally which in turn supports the government's growth mission.

We are seeking appropriate service providers/suppliers to conduct the full extent of research required to then also draft a comprehensive report suitable for the above requirements.

The report we are seeking to procure will significantly assist with working towards the following priorities:

Protect the strong global standing of UK legal services and English law: The UK legal services sector has a very strong international standing and we work to maintain and enhance this position. This position of strength is supported by the global popularity of English law. We work to promote the benefits of English law overseas and ensure that it remains fit to underpin global commercial legal transactions involving emerging technologies. This includes sponsoring Law Commission work on the legal status of smart contracts and digital assets and emerging technologies. We are currently working on responding to the recommendations in their June 2023 Digital Assets report.

Grow the UK legal sector's foothold in strategically important jurisdictions: This involves championing the interests of the UK's legal services sector in strategically important jurisdictions. By having a foothold in such jurisdictions, the sector will be more alert to opportunities when they arise which will help the growth of market share for UK plc.

Supporting the UK's agenda on growth and the Industrial Strategy: Emphasising MoJ's strong ongoing commitment to supporting and promoting the legal sector both domestically and internationally, and the role legal services can play in the Industrial Strategy. Not only is the legal services sector a huge contributor to the economy in its own right, it is also a facilitator for wider trade and investment across a whole host of different sectors. As such, having a strong an internationally competitive legal sector, as well as the adherence to the rule of law and a trusted court system, is integral to economic growth through increasing productivity domestically and providing businesses with confidence and certainty.

Enhance ties with the US and Europe: Both the US and Europe are high priority and lucrative markets for the UK legal sector. Maintaining strong ties with the US and Europe will benefit UK law firms and allow them to maintain global networks to best serve their clients. This also helps cement the strengths of the sector by upholding the strong draw to London for dispute resolution.

Supporting the UK lawtech sector to be world leading: The UK's innovation-friendly environment has helped foster a growing lawtech sector and an international reputation as a lawtech hub. We support the digital transformation of UK legal services and the growth of the lawtech sector through the LawtechUK programme, which was established in 2019 with initial funding of £2m, followed by a further investment of £4m from 2022-25. In March 2023 we awarded the remaining £3m of funding to CodeBase and Legal Geek, who will run LawtechUK from April 2023-March 2025. We also agreed lawtech cooperation provisions in the UK-Singapore Digital Economy Agreement.

A final, comprehensive report is to be produced and must cover all questions and themes as outlined below:

- Legal services liberalisation and economic growth
- Inward investment & international trade
- Liberalisation and innovation in the UK legal sector
- Market comparisons & case studies

The questions and areas to explore within each broad theme are detailed below:

1. Legal services liberalisation and economic growth:

- What is a 'liberalised legal services sector' in terms of both the regulation of the domestic legal services and approach to global trade in legal services? What makes a country more or less 'liberal' in relation to legal services (e.g., openness to foreign lawyers, foreign investment, and approach to regulation more generally)?
- What makes the UK legal services market 'liberal' and how it has liberalised over time, for example:
 - Limited regulation of foreign lawyers and law firms;
 - Legal Services Act 2007;
 - Adoption of Alternative Business Structures;
 - Changes to the provision of Legal Aid
- What positive impact has UK liberalisation of legal services had on creating an economically successful UK legal services market?
- What are the benefits of a liberal UK legal services sector to the UK economy: focus on both economic growth in the UK legal services sector as well as UK economic growth more broadly (e.g., GDP, exports and international trade, spill over effect to other PBS sectors and wider economy)?
 - What is the Gross value added (GVA) generated through the legal services' sector's activities in the UK?
 - How has liberalisation in the UK increased employment in the sector and more widely?
 - How has liberalisation in the UK contributed to wider socio-economic value?
- How has the UK continued to retain strong consumer protection and standards in the context of this liberal and open approach to legal services?
- How has liberalisation of legal services in the UK helped create a more competitive sector / more consumer choice?
- Is there wider positive impact of liberalisation of legal services in the UK in terms of access to justice and rule of law?
- Are there any downsides to liberalisation of legal services in the UK in the domestic context?
- How can the UK legal services sector further support economic growth across the economy?
 - What is the average value of the UK legal services sector's input into a commercial transaction?
 - What is the link between a strong legal services sector and economic growth?
 - Which sectors do legal services underpin most economic activity?
 - How will investment into UK legal services generate future revenue for the wider economy?

2. Inward investment and international trade:

- How has the UK's liberal approach to foreign lawyers and law firms contributed to UK economic growth and inward investment (e.g., establishment of foreign law firms in the UK, wider foreign investment, etc).

- What impact does access to foreign legal advice in the UK have on facilitating wider trade and investment?
 - Does an open legal market, with the ability to access foreign lawyers and law firms in country, reduce costs for the client?
 - Has the UK's open market for foreign legal talent meant an upskilling of the UK legal sector, and how? Has the ability of foreign legal talent to practice and establish in the UK resulted in their upskilling and in turn, contributed to the development and success of legal services markets in foreign jurisdictions?
 - Does legal services market liberalisation in the UK lead to greater free trade both in legal services and more broadly? Does freer trade lead to greater market liberalisation?
 - How have legal services been captured in Free Trade Agreements to date (both in the UK's precedent and in wider international precedent) and how might FTAs best capture legal services interests in future FTAs?
 - Are there any downsides to the UK's liberalisation of legal services in the international/trade context?
3. Liberalisation and innovation in the UK legal sector:
- How has liberalisation of legal services in the UK encouraged greater innovation in the legal services sector?
 - How has the UK's liberal legal services market stimulated and encouraged the emergence of a thriving lawtech sector?
 - How has the UK's liberalisation of legal services encouraged new businesses and investors to enter the market (e.g., alternative business structures being set up)?
 - Are there any downsides to the UK's liberalisation of legal services in the innovation context?
4. Market comparisons and case studies:
- In-depth look at legal sectors in different countries across various states of liberalisation. This should be in the form of detachable case studies (i.e., section/s that can be detached from the main part of the report and used/not used accordingly with appropriate trading partners).
 - Market comparisons:
 - Are there examples of markets where recent legal services liberalisation has had positive economic impact?
 - Is there evidence of more closed legal markets hindering ease of doing business / investment?
 - A discussion of recent moves at liberalisation, both in the UK and elsewhere – are there any examples of a country radically liberalising its legal services sector or, if not, another sector of the economy?

4. Aims

The main aim of the report is to demonstrate the various economic and wider benefits to the UK, including in terms of contribution to economic growth, of a liberal legal services market.

The report is intended for use across the UK legal sector and wider business environment – as well as with potential international trading partners - to demonstrate the benefits of an open and liberal legal services market. The report will in turn assist the MoJ to address market access and other regulatory trading barriers in key international jurisdictions of interest and help MoJ and wider HMG to negotiate more liberal access for UK legal professionals and firms to these global markets. These are core and priority objectives for the MoJ, to help support and grow the UK legal services sector both at home and internationally.

5. Objectives (Measurable Outputs)

The report will be invaluable to our successful delivery of 'improving market access for UK lawyers internationally and 'promoting UK legal services' objectives.

- The report will look at legal sectors in different countries across various states of liberalisations and complete a market comparison.
- The report will measure to what extent liberalisation applies to the UK relative to other sectors, as well as what evidence there is that freer trade leads to greater liberalisation and vice versa.
- The report will outline the impact of liberalisation on GDP, employment in the legal sector and wider economic growth.
- The report will give examples of how the UK operates a liberal legal services market and how it has liberalised over time, e.g., through alternative business structures.
- The report will look at wider impacts of liberalisation of legal services in the UK in terms of access to justice and rule of law.
- The report will measure how liberalisation has contributed towards inward investment and international trade, including whether an open market for legal talent has resulted in an upskilling of the legal sector.
- The report will consider how the UK's liberal legal services market has encouraged innovation.
