2 AIM

The Contractor shall use all reasonable endeavours to achieve the following aims:

- Design and deliver a survey vehicle for biannual research with classroom teachers and senior leaders in maintained schools in England;
- Gather the views from a representative (stratified, random) sample of teachers and senior leaders on a wide range of questions covering topics relating to the Department's aims, priorities and policies. Questions will be determined by the Department in consultation with the Contractor.

3 OBJECTIVES

The Contractor shall use all reasonable endeavours to achieve the following objectives:

- To establish and deliver a biannual (2 waves) survey to collect data from a stratified random sample of classroom teachers and senior leaders achieving at least 1,800 responses;
- To develop and use a mixed mode survey (telephone and online) to collect answers to approximately 25-35 questions (survey will be at least 20 minutes long and include 3-6 demographic questions), submitted by the Department and agreed by the contractor. The questions asked at each wave will vary according to the Department's research interests;
- To test that survey respondents are likely to interpret the questions as intended to ensure high quality data are collected by conducting at least eight cognitive interviews with senior leaders and eight with classroom teachers, and piloting the questionnaire with at least 20 teachers and 20 senior leaders before finalising the questionnaire at each wave;
- To provide the Department with a response at each wave which is nationally representative in terms of proportions of schools/pupils by free school meals eligibility, attainment band, region, school type and Local Authority type (weighted if necessary);
- To provide the Department with timely results from both waves of the survey including; anonymised topline result; weighted data tables; a fully coded and labelled .CSV data file; powerpoint slides; a detailed presentation of findings; and a written report (either full, short or both; as required by the Department); and if required by the Department a 2-page document of publishable quality on one to two specific areas of interest to the Department

The Contractor shall use a core telephone approach to surveying senior leaders with an online alternative offered where respondents are unwilling/unable to participate by phone or those explicitly requesting this option. The Contractor will make up to 8 attempts to contact senior leaders via telephone, varying the time of day and date of contact throughout the duration of the study.

The Contractor shall use a core online approach to surveying classroom teachers with a telephone alternative offered where respondents are unwilling/unable to participate online or those explicitly requesting this option. The Contractor shall send up to two targeted email reminders to all non-responders to the teachers survey throughout the fieldwork period.

The Contractor shall ensure that the all online surveys are hosted in an accessible format that are device agnostic, allowing participants to complete the survey via a range of devices – including smart phones and tablets.

If the Contractor achieves a response rate of lower than 50% for the senior leaders survey, the Department shall deduct £1,500 from payment. If the Contractor achieves a response rate of lower than 30% for the teachers survey, the Department shall deduct a further £1,500 from payment.

The Contractor will supply the Department with weekly updates (or daily updates if required or requested by the Department) and participate in a weekly phone call throughout the research programme and during fieldwork will provide a full breakdown of recruitment and responses through each methodology.

TASK 9: ANALYSIS AND REPORTING

For both waves, the Contractor shall clean, code and weight the data for analysis. Weighting shall be undertaken to correct for stratification, over-sampling and non-response according to the demographics of the achieved samples relative to the population; respondents will be given a design weight which will be equal to the inverse of their probability of being sampled for the survey. The Contractor will include a detailed description of any weighting to the data in a technical appendix. Codes and coding notes for open-ended questions shall be agreed by the Department in consultation with the Contractor.

The Contractor shall deliver data tables to the Department presenting frequency tables and cross tabulations of agreed variables. Where specified by the Department, the Contractor shall deliver time-series analysis with previous waves/questions. The Department shall provide the Contractor with the required information and data to be able to complete time-series analysis. The Contractor shall also deliver an anonymised/non-disclosive version of the dataset in .CSV format. The Contractor shall merge categories for demographic variables if necessary to ensure the database is non-disclosive, at their discretion. The dataset will provide a variable key and other necessary information to aid interpretation.

The Contractor shall deliver a draft final report presenting the findings clearly for a non-technical audience. The Contractor shall undertake changes to the text of the report/s suggested by the Department unless these are factually incorrect. There will be no limit on the number of drafts required to produce the final version. The Department shall agree a final version of the report/s with the Contractor. - A fully coded and labelled .CSV data file shall be delivered two working weeks after completion of fieldwork;
- A comprehensive set of weighting instructions shall be delivered two working weeks after completion of the fieldwork;
- A set of powerpoint slides split by theme shall be delivered three weeks after completion of fieldwork;
- A detailed presentation of findings shall be delivered at a mutually agreed point, approximately three - six weeks after completion of fieldwork;
- A draft written report (either full, short or both; as required by the Department) and technical annex shall be provided within 2 months after the completion of fieldwork;
- A finalised written report (either full, short or both; as required by the Department) and technical annex undertaking any changes to the text of the report/s suggested by the Department unless these are factually incorrect within 4 months after the completion of fieldwork; and
- If required by the Department a 2-page document of publishable quality on one to two specific areas of interest to be decided by the Department, 2 working weeks after the completion of fieldwork

6. STAFFING

The Department's project manager shall be Morgan Draper. The Contractor should direct all queries to Morgan, copying in the Omnibus Survey inbox (surveys.omnibus@education.gov.uk) to all email contact.

7 STEERING COMMITTEE

The Project Manager shall set up a Steering Committee for the Project, consisting of representatives from the Department, the Contractor, and any other key organisations whom the project will impact on, to be agreed between the parties. The function of the Steering Committee shall be to review the scope and direction of the Project against its aims and objectives, monitor progress and efficiency, and assess, manage and review expected impact and use of the findings from the Project against an agreed Project Communication Plan, through the standard Department Communication Plan Template. The Committee shall meet at times and dates agreed by the parties, or in the absence of agreement, specified by the Department. The Contractor's representatives on the Steering Committee shall report their views on the progress of the Project to the Steering Committee in writing if requested by the Department. The Contractor's representatives on the Steering Committee shall attend all meetings of the Steering Committee unless otherwise agreed by the Department.

8. RISK MANAGEMENT

Risk	Level of Risk	Potential Impact	Mitigating Actions
Questionnaire does not meet policy information needs	Low	High	To ensure this is not the case it is critical that both the Contractor and Department invest time into the questionnaire development phase. The Department will provide a clear briefing to the Contractor about both the questions to be asked and the planned use for the data. The Contractor shall bear in mind how the data will be reported throughout the design period to ensure that results are unambiguous (e.g. to ensure a positive or negative interpretation of attitude statements – sometimes questions can collect responses to statements such as 'the new policy has absorbed a lot of teacher time' which can be interpreted as negative even though this is not the explicit implication of agreement with the statement). The Contractor will carry out cognitive testing to check coverage and understanding of questions and question topics.
Some sub-groups do not feel the survey is relevant	Medium	Medium	Where appropriate the Contractor shall use filter questions that allow respondents to route past questions not relevant. Both parties will consider the different structures and priorities of schools during the development of questions and interpretation of analysis and make amendments/adjustments e.g. to language as required. The Contractor shall include representatives from all the main categories of schools and teachers in the piloting. The Contractor and Department will provide a named contact to participants to ensure that any concerns can be addressed.
Lower than anticipated response	Medium	High	Several strategies will be utilised to achieve as high a response rate as rates to the senior leaders telephone survey			possible. The Contractor shall send an advanced letter on DfE letterhead to add weight and emphasise the validity of the survey. The Contractor shall offer an online option to those who do not wish to or are unable to participate by telephone. The Contractor shall design the sampling strategy so that no schools will be approached more than once a year, to protect response rates. The Contractor has proposed a relatively long fieldwork period and shall front-load fieldwork to allow time for setting and resetting interview appointments where necessary. If response rates fall short the Contractor shall consider extending fieldwork slightly whilst minimising the impact later deadlines. The Contractor shall also draw more sample for some of the larger sub-groups if required. The Contractor and Department will provide a named contact to participants to ensure that any concerns can be addressed. The Contractor and Department shall ensure that the questionnaire content is clear, relevant and engaging for the respondent.

Schools unwilling to provide contact details of teachers for the teachers online survey	Medium	High	The Contractor shall provide reassurances about confidentiality and how teachers' contact details will be used in the advance letter sent to senior leaders and as part of the process of setting appointments for and conducting interviews with senior leaders. If lots of schools provide email addresses and not telephone numbers (and no online response is received from teachers) then the Contractor shall make use of school switchboard numbers as a starting point to contact/remind teachers. The Contractor shall pilot this element of the process and make any tweaks required to maximise the likelihood to respond. The Contractor and Department will provide a named contact to participants to ensure that any concerns can be addressed.
Lower than anticipated response rate to the teachers survey	Medium	Medium	The Contractor shall incorporate a telephone option to the teacher survey which can be increased in the event that the response to the online survey is lower than expected. The Contractor shall finance any costs associated with increasing the telephone efforts; there will be no increased cost to the Department. The Contractor shall also send targeted reminders as required – reminders will be targeted so that wording is different for those who have part-completed, or for primary v. secondary school teachers, etc. targeting will be adjusted based on responses received. The Contractor shall increase the number of reminders if required and at no increased cost to the Department. The Contractor and Department will provide a named contact to participants to ensure that any concerns can be addressed. The Contractor and Department shall ensure that the questionnaire content is clear, relevant and engaging for the respondent.

Not completing fieldwork on time	Low	Low	The Contractor shall utilise their knowledge of conducting similar studies among both these audiences and using similar approaches to best resource fieldwork. The Contractor shall allow a comfortable fieldwork period that build in contingency even if the interviewing can be completed more quickly.
Issues with comparability of findings with previous waves of the Teacher Voice Omnibus survey due to inclusion of special schools	Low	Medium	If special schools are included in the sample, then the survey population will be different to that included in the Teacher Voice Survey and this creates an issue of comparability for the 'total' level findings. If included the Contractor shall re-cut the data excluding special schools for the purposes of making historical comparisons and include two 'total' columns in the data tables and present two 'total' in the reporting as requested by the Department. The Contractor shall clearly outline this issue and any effects on the analysis and reporting at the start of any report. The Department will make a decision about the inclusion of special schools in the sample by 22 nd September 2017 for wave 1.
Issues of comparability of findings with previous waves of the Teacher Voice Omnibus survey due to new	Low	Medium	There is an impact on comparability because of the different methodological approaches taken in the current survey in comparison to the Teacher Voice Omnibus. The Contractor shall use all reasonable endeavours to identify and ensure sufficient similarity of approaches to minimise this risk. The methodological approaches			Contractor shall clearly outline this issue and any effects on the analysis or reporting at the start of any report.

Key personnel ill or on leave	Low/Medium	Low	The contractor shall appoint a project team with two Directors that will provide coverage at the head of the team for any absence.
