- 1.3 The Core Services (see Clause 2) shall not start until onboarding is complete but Origina shall use reasonable efforts to provide the Troubleshooting Service for the End User prior to onboarding having been completed on an "as is" basis*.
- 1.4 Downloading Entitlements If the End User has a live support and maintenance agreement with IBM, HCL, Broadcom, or other software vendor ("Vendor S&M Agreement") and has requested Origina to assist it with downloading fix packs, upgrades, patches and other software prior to the expiry of its Vendor S&M agreement to which it is entitled under its Vendor S&M Agreement to download ("End User's Entitlements") the following conditions and process will happen:
 - 1.4.1 The End User shall authorize Origina to act on its behalf and as its agent to assist it with downloading the End User's Entitlements;

1.4.6 Origina shall not keep or store any copies of the End User's Entitlements other than temporarily for the purpose of downloading the entitlements and facilitating the transfer of the End User's Entitlements to the End User's Storage. 2. Core Services

2.1 Upon completion of onboarding, Origina shall provide the services set out in this section ("Core Services") to the End User. The Core Services fall into three categories:

- Troubleshooting: Troubleshooting applies to any issue, problem or defect which is, as of the date of raising the ticket, having an actual and current impact on the operation of the Supported Software Products, (collectively, "Issue"). The End User raises the Issue with Origina and following that, Origina and the Assigned GIEs shall seek to solve the Issue.
- Service Requests: Origina helps the End User to understand the Supported Software Products, how the Supported Software Products work, answers "how-to requests", assists in understanding the functionality of Supported Software Products and how to interpret or understand IBM, HCL, Broadcom, or other software vendor manuals, etc. A Service Request is distinct from Troubleshooting as the latter is concerned with fixing issues that are having an actual and current impact on the operation of the software. A Service Request is concerned with providing advice on the Supported Software Products, taking and advising the End User to take preventative or pre-emptive measures as to the supported software (e.g. dealing with security and/or vulnerability concerns).
- Meet the Experts: Every three months, for the duration of the Call Off Contract, for four hours, the Assigned GIEs will offer a range of advice to the End User including tips, cutting-edge knowledge, best practices, and anything else that the End User wishes to ask the Assigned GIEs which the latter is able to answer. This is provided on an "as is" basis*.

Troubleshooting
Telephone, email, and online based technical support	Origina provides telephone, email and online support for Issues. Once the Issue is raised by the End User with Origina, it is triaged together by Origina and the End User and assigned a priority between 1 to 4. A 24/7/365 phone service, which is responded to within 30 minutes, is available for all P1 and P2 incidents. For P3 and P4 incidents, these should be logged online via Origina's Self-Service Portal.
Ownership over whole lifecycle	Origina's technical support team takes ownership of the Issue for its whole lifecycle. For P1 Issues, Origina will work as hard as they can to solve the Issue within the shortest time possible. For P2 to P4 incidents, Origina will work to solve the Issue within the Target Resolution Time as set out in the Service Level Table below (Clause 3.2).
Fault isolation & diagnosis	Origina's Level One technical support team will engage with the End User's technical teams to identify the cause giving rise to the Issue. Origina's Level One team will consult with the Assigned GIE.
Problem resolution	Having carried out the analysis, Origina will seek to find and implement a solution. This could be the: ▪ Creation of a workaround or patch ▪ Application of software fix from software vendor (if so entitled)
	▪ Instructions and advice as how to implement the solution
Updates	Origina shall provide updates on the steps that it is taking to diagnose and solve the Issue (the frequency is set out in Clause 3.2, Service Level Table, below)

Service Requests
Service Request Is where the End User has a question or query and seeks advice on or help with the Supported Software Products which fall under or relate to the subject matters set out below and is not an Issue ("Service Request"). The End User is entitled, without charge, to up to eight person hours from one or more GIEs ("GIE Hours") for each Service Request. Should the End User require additional time over the allocated eight GIE Hours per Service Request, the End User may choose one of the following three options: • Ask the question or query at a Meet the Experts Session • Ask Origina to quote a fixed price for the Service Request as a Value-Added Service (Project) (see Clause 9) • Ask Origina to continue to help for the Service Request on a time and materials basis (hourly/daily rate to be agreed between End User and Origina) Origina will inform the End User once its eight GIE Hours have expired or whether a Service Request is likely to take more than eight GIE Hours. Clause 6 shall apply to abusive use of Service Requests, i.e., raising the same or closely connected Service Requests several times to circumvent the eight GIE Hour limit per Service Request.

Meet the Experts

Meet the Experts Session A Meet the Experts Session is a dedicated virtual or onsite session with the Assigned GIE. This will be coordinated by Origina's Account Manager or Customer Success Manager. - The End User shall, acting in good faith and reasonably, identify the priority (in accordance with the table below) of the Issue and report it by the communication means identified in the table below.
 - Origina shall respond within the Initial Response Time (see table below) relevant to that priority.
 - Origina and the End User shall then, both acting in good faith and reasonably and collaboratively, triage the Issue and allocate a priority to it (which may be the same, upwards or downwards to the priority first identified by the End User). That shall then become the priority for the Issue. Origina shall never allocate a priority lower than that of the End User save for manifest good reason without the consent of the End User.
 - Origina shall then use all reasonable endeavours to fix the Issue in accordance with the Target Resolution Time (see table below) and in any event, in the case of a Priority 1, as quickly as possible.

- e) Origina shall provide updates in writing, unless it is more appropriate to give orally (e.g., because of time constraints), with the frequency set out in the table below that shall include, where appropriate, the following information:

Software Products and have suitably qualified IT personnel.

- 6.2 Accordingly, Origina reserves the right to charge additional fees calculated in accordance with Clause 9 where the End User's employees or representatives make excessive or extraordinary demands for assistance or support from Origina because the above assumptions are not in fact correct. - a) Basic instructions have not been followed.
 - b) The End User raises the same issue multiple times via different incidents or service requests.
 - c) Abusive use of Service Requests, i.e., raising the same or closely connected Service Requests several times to circumvent the eight GIE Hour limit per Service Request.
- 6.3 Origina shall never charge additional fees for excessive or extraordinary demands or abusive use of Service Requests without giving prior warning and notice to the End User that it will do so prior to the work being carried out and at the same time, notify the End User of its prevailing rates (see Clause 9). Upon receipt of the aforesaid notice, the End User has the choice (i) not to proceed with the further work to which an additional fee will be charged or (ii) elect to proceed and in each case, shall notify Origina of its choice within a reasonable time.

7. Value-Added Services (Projects)

- 7.1 Where the End User wishes Origina to carry out bespoke services which are not Core Services ("Value-Added Services"), the End User shall discuss such and issue appropriate paperwork for the same. If Origina considers that it has competency, expertise, wherewithal and time to carry out the Value-Added Service and agreement can be reached on price between the End User and Origina, Origina may proceed with the Value-Added Services. Examples of such may be:
- Detailed License Review – The output is a clear and concise report detailing exact software license and product version entitlements for the Supported Software Products listed in the Quote.

"First-generation" means that the program is a Supporting Program of software identified in the Quote. "Supporting Program" means a program that is part of another program ("the Principal Program") and has been identified as a Supporting Program in the Principal Program's L.I.
