During the period of notice the Contracting Authority may direct the Supplier to perform all or any of the work under the Contract. Where the Contracting Authority has invoked either of these rights, the Supplier may claim reasonable costs necessarily and properly incurred by him as a result of the termination or reduction, excluding loss of profit, provided that the claim shall not exceed the total cost of the Contract. The Supplier shall have a duty to mitigate its costs and shall on request provide proof of expenditure for any compensation claimed

Background

This project is being commissioned as part of the BEIS Office for Product Safety & Standards' Strategic Research Programme (SRP). This programme provides high quality strategic science-based research to strengthen the evidence base for Safety and Standards policy development, delivery and enforcement, giving businesses the confidence to innovate and protecting consumers from unsafe products.

As part of the Office's internal Governance process, all project proposals are reviewed and approved by the specially formed Programme Oversight Panel. The BEIS Research Committee have additionally also reviewed and approved this project proposal (RAF number: 031/2021). The project proposals and subsequent progress of the work will also be subject to continuous peer review.

The use of recycled materials such as plastics, metals, wood, paper, cardboard and textiles, in consumer goods impacts OPSS when it impinges on the safety of electronics, toys, furniture, soft furnishings, clothing and other product areas. This requirement is a study that will focus on the use of recycled materials in products and the potential for human exposure to unknown chemicals. It will involve a combination of desk-based research, surveys and interviews to understand this subject area. The work links in with a recent review by the Environmental Audit Committee on the presence of toxic chemicals in everyday products¹, and will promote transparency to consumers and provide regulators with a greater insight on potential safety issues posed by the use of recycled materials in consumer products.

Aims and Objectives of the Project

This study will focus on the use of recycled materials in products and the potential for human exposure to unknown chemicals. By generating an evidence base on how humans could be exposed to chemicals in recycled products, this will enable us to produce better policy to protect UK consumers, whilst continuing to move towards the goal of a circular economy.

The aim of this project is to gain greater insight on potential safety issues posed by the use of recycled materials in consumer products, as well as manufacturer awareness of their supply chains in relation to recycled materials. The scope of this project will cover the use and safety of recycled materials in consumer goods of relevance to OPSS policy responsibilities including electronics, toys, furniture, soft furnishings, clothing and other product areas that may contain recycled materials. The project scope does not include food contact or building materials. An exhaustive list of recycled materials will be identified by the contractor, and may include plastics, textiles, wood, paper, cardboard, metal and glass, amongst other suggestions.

The precise research questions to be answered are:

- What is the application and extent of use of recycled materials in consumer products?
Is there a difference in the chemical makeup of products originating from within the EU and those from outside the EU due to regulatory misalignment/differences regarding the control of certain chemicals?
- What are the potential physical and chemical safety concerns relating to the use of recycled materials when compared with virgin materials in consumer products and associated user exposure risks?
- What are manufacturer responsibilities and what is their awareness of this when using recycled materials in products?

The outputs of this research will be used to shape future OPSS and governmental policy, inform future product safety testing and enhance manufacturer awareness of their legal responsibilities in this area.

Suggested Methodology

As the Office is responsible for consumer product safety, the focus of this work should be on the safety of consumer products. This project should provide a robust evidence base of the subject area. This project is expected to be carried out as a:

- Desk-based systematic literature review
- Qualitative data: interviews and surveys to supplement understanding on manufacturer supply chain awareness and attitudes.
- Quantitative analysis of the survey data outlining key findings and trends

We expect approximately 30-40 surveys to take place with manufacturers/suppliers identified as using recycled materials in a range of household consumer goods. The survey should assess supplier/manufacturer attitudes and awareness regarding the use of recycled materials and any other details deemed relevant to this work. The survey should be compiled by the contractor and must be approved by OPSS prior to the interview.

In addition to this the contractor should conduct at least 12 in depth interviews with representatives from stakeholders in priority product categories.

The Office will help the supplier to identify key parties for the stakeholder meeting and can introduce the contractor to cross-government contacts and any other relevant trade associations with which we already have contact with.

Research ethics and data protection (GDPR)

It will be the responsibility of the contractor to demonstrate they intend to adequately address issues around research ethics, data protection and compliance with GDPR. This will explicitly require addressing in any submitted project proposal. Measures will be put in place by the contractor to anonymise any data that is generated. Given there is a survey and interview aspect to this work, it will be agreed with the contractor and stakeholders that should any comments be included in the final report, these will require explicit approval from the business or individual that makes them.

Total number of Interviews: 30 – 40 Total number of Interviews (qualitative): 12 Total Number of Focus Groups (Stakeholder Meeting): 1

Deliverables

The contractor will undertake the following activities:

- a. Attend a formal kick-off online meeting with OPSS. A key output of this will be agreement on the detailed scope of work.
- b. Undertake a desk-based systematic literature review using a range of reliable data sources (including peer-reviewed literature) and generate a draft word report and PowerPoint pack from these findings (to the satisfaction of the OPSS Project Monitoring Officer).
- c. Carry out surveys with 30-40 brand retailers, manufacturers and reproducers of a range of sizes.
- d. Carry out ~12 interviews with manufacturers and suppliers in priority product categories.
- e. Undertake a business workshop which will facilitate an accuracy and completeness check of the initial findings from the surveys and interviews, check the general trends identified make sense and allow for discussion and exploration of the more nuanced aspects regarding the use of recycled material,

- f. Submission of a revised PowerPoint and word report pack to the OPSS Project Monitoring Officer. The revised PowerPoint and word document are to also include the findings of the surveys, interviews and stakeholder meetings. The word report should be indicatively 60-80 pages long and of publishable quality. The aim is that this draft shall be reviewed by BEIS and returned to the contractor within 3 weeks of receipt.
- g. Create and submit an accepted final PowerPoint pack and word report, taking into account comments received on the draft versions of these, to the satisfaction of the OPSS Project Monitoring Officer.

Project Reporting

- h. A monthly progress report shall be submitted, that will form the basis of a monthly project meeting, by phone, with the Project Manager. This report should be used to succinctly summarise recent and imminent work activity and flag up any problems that might lead to delay. A template will be provided for this report.

Timetable:

Week 1: Project Kick Off meeting

Week 6-8: Literature review and submission of draft power-point presentation and word report of these findings.

Week 10-12: Manufacturer/Supplier interviews/Business workshop

Week 14: Draft final PowerPoint pack and word document

Week 17: Final PowerPoint pack and word document

It is important that this work is completed before the specified project end date (30/04/2021) - please consider this when developing the project timeline. The above is a suggested timeline only, tenderers are welcome to suggest alternatives that will enable the project to progress at a similar pace.

Notes on timing and required effort:

- i. Please allow 2 weeks following submission of the initial desk-based literature review PowerPoint pack and word report to allow time for changes in response to comment from OPSS Technical and Policy personnel.
- j. Please allow up to 3 weeks following submission of the draft final PowerPoint pack and word report, following the interviews and stakeholder engagement meeting, to allow time for modifications and comment by OPSS and invited stakeholders. The default is that the report will be given a final edit by an OPSS-appointed technical writer.
- k. Please allow a suggested 10 days total effort for liaison of the technical aspects of the work with OPSS and external stakeholders. This should be spread between the definition of the requirements, and discussion of the results and their implications.
- l. Please allow for up to 2 meetings in person with OPSS and other stakeholders.
