A2 Basis of contract

A2-1 Where UK SBS is not the Contracting Authority, UK SBS is the agent of the Contracting Authority for the purpose of procurement and is authorised to negotiate and enter into contracts for the supply of Services on behalf of the Contracting Authority. UK SBS will not itself be a party to, nor have any liability under, the Contract unless it is expressly specified as Contracting Authority in the Order.

A2-2 The terms of this Contract, any Special Conditions and the Order apply to the Contract to the exclusion of all other terms and conditions, including any other terms that the Supplier seeks to impose or incorporate (whether in any quotation, confirmation of order, in correspondence or in any other context), or which are

- A2-4 The Order constitutes an offer by the Contracting Authority to purchase the Services in accordance with this Contract (and any Special Conditions). This offer shall remain valid for acceptance by the Supplier, in accordance with clause A2-5, for 28 days from the date of the Order. - A2-5 Subject to clause A2-4, the Order shall be deemed to be accepted on the date on which authorised representatives of both parties have signed a copy of this Contract, at which point the Contract shall come into existence. The Contract shall remain in force until all the parties' obligations have been performed in accordance with the Contract, at which point it shall expire, or until the Contract has been terminated in accordance with clause A3.

A3 Termination

- A3-1 The Contracting Authority or UK SBS acting as an agent on behalf of the Contracting Authority may terminate the Contract in whole or in part at any time before the Services are provided with immediate effect by giving the Supplier written notice, whereupon the Supplier shall discontinue all work on the Contract. The Supplier shall have a duty to mitigate its costs and shall on request provide proof of expenditure for any compensation claimed.

- A3-2-10 a person becomes entitled to appoint a receiver over the Supplier's assets or a receiver is appointed over the Supplier's assets; or
- A3-2-11 any event occurs, or proceeding is taken, with respect to the Supplier in any jurisdiction to which it is subject that has an effect equivalent or similar to any of the events mentioned in clause A3-2-3 to clause A3-2-10 inclusive; or
- A3-2-12 there is a change of control of the Supplier (within the meaning of section 1124 of the Corporation Tax Act 2010); or
- A3-2-13 the Supplier suspends, or threatens to suspend, or ceases or threatens to cease to carry on, all or substantially the whole of its business; or
- A3-2-14 the Supplier's financial position deteriorates to such an extent that in the Contracting Authority's opinion the Supplier's capability to adequately fulfil its obligations under the Contract has been placed in jeopardy; or
- A3-3 Termination of the Contract, however arising, shall not affect any of the parties' rights and remedies that have accrued as at termination. Clauses which expressly or by implication survive termination or expiry of the Contract shall continue in full force and effect.
- A3-4 Without prejudice to clause A3-3, clauses B1, B2, B5, B6, B7, B8, B9, C1, C2, C3, C4, C6 and C7 shall survive the termination or expiry of the Contract and shall continue in full force and effect.

- A3-5-1 cease all work on the Contract;
- A3-5-2 Deliver to the Contracting Authority all Deliverables and all work-in-progress whether or not then complete. If the Supplier fails to do so, then the Contracting Authority may enter the Supplier's premises and take possession of them. - A3-5-3 cease use of and return (or, at the Contracting Authority's or UK SBS's acting as an agent on behalf of the Contracting Authority's election, destroy) all of the Contracting Authority's Materials in the Supplier's possession or control; and
- A3-5-4 Cease all use of, and delete all copies of, UK SBS's or the Contracting Authority's or UK SBS's confidential information.
- A3-6 Termination - The Contracting Authority or UK SBS acting as an agent on behalf of the Contracting Authority may terminate the Contract by written notice to the Supplier in any of the following circumstances:

- A3-6-1 Where it considers that the Contract has been subject to a substantial modification which would have required a new procurement procedure in accordance with Regulation 72(9) of the Public Contracts Regulations 2015 ("PCR 2015");
- A3-6-2 Where it considers that the Supplier has at the time of the award of the Contract been in one of the situations referred to in Regulation 57(1) of the PCR 2015, including as a result of the application of regulation 57(2), and should therefore have been excluded from the procurement procedure;
- A3-6-3 Where the Contract should not have been awarded to the Supplier in view of a serious infringement of the obligations under the EU Treaties and Directive 2014/24/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council that has been declared by the Court of Justice of the European Union in a procedure under Article 258 of the TFEU;
- A3-6-4 Where the European Commission sends a reasoned opinion to the United Kingdom or brings the matter before the Court of Justice of the European Union under Article 258 of the TFEU alleging that the Contract should not have been awarded to the Supplier in view of a serious infringement of the obligations under the Treaties and Directive 2014/24/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council; or
- A3-6-5 Where a third party starts court proceedings against the Contracting Authority seeking a declaration that the Contract is ineffective or should be shortened under Regulations 98 to 101 of the PCR 2015, which the Contracting Authority or UK SBS acting as an agent on behalf of the Contracting Authority considers to have a reasonable prospect of success.
- A3-6-6 Such termination shall be effective immediately or at such later date as is specified in the notice. The Contracting Authority shall not incur any liability to the Supplier by reason of such termination and shall not be required to pay any costs, losses or damage to the Supplier. Termination under this clause shall be without prejudice to any other rights of the Contracting Authority.
- A3-7 The Contracting Authority or UK SBS acting as an agent on behalf of the Contracting Authority shall at any time have the right for convenience to terminate the Contract or reduce the quantity of Services to be provided by the Supplier in each case by giving to the Supplier reasonable written notice. During the period of notice the Contracting Authority may direct the Supplier to perform all or any of the work under the Contract. Where the Contracting Authority has invoked either of these rights, the Supplier may claim reasonable costs necessarily and properly incurred by him as a result of the termination or reduction, excluding loss of profit, provided that the claim shall not exceed the total cost of the Contract. The Supplier shall have a duty to mitigate its costs and shall on request provide proof of expenditure for any compensation claimed

Note: The Contracting Authority also reserves the right to amend or increase the frequency of reporting, as it deems necessary to secure assurance in order to comply with the Modern Slavery Act.

The Contracting Authority requires such interim assurances to ensure that the Supplier is compliant and is monitoring its supply chain, so as to meet the requirements of the Modern Slavery Act.

The Supplier shall complete and return the slavery and trafficking report to the contact named in the Contract on the anniversary of the Commencement of the Contract.

The Supplier agrees that any financial burden associated with the completion and submission of this report and associated assistance at any time, shall be at the suppliers cost to do so and will not be reimbursable.

C7-14 Changes in Costs Resulting from Changes to Government Legislation, Levies or Statutory Payments

The Contracting Authority will reimburse during any term or extension (or, where such costs, awards or damages arise following termination/expiry) of this Agreement, any increases in the Supplier's cost of providing the Services by reason of any modification or alteration to the Government legislation duties or levies or other statutory payments (including but not limited to National Insurance and/or VAT and/or introduction of or amendment to working time minimum wages). Subject always to open book access to the Supplier's records and always after a period of due diligence carried out by the Contracting Authority, relevant and proportionate to the value concerned.

C7-15 Taxation Obligations of the Supplier

C7-15-1 The relationship between the Contracting Authority, UK SBS and the Supplier will be that of "independent contractor" which means that the Supplier is not an employee, worker, agent or partner of the Contracting Authority or UK SBS and the Supplier will not give the impression that they are.

(1.) The Supplier in respect of consideration shall at all times comply with the income tax Earnings and Pensions Act 2003 (ITEPA) and all other statutes and regulations relating to income tax in respect of that consideration.

(2.) Where Supplier is liable to National Insurance Contributions (NICs) in respect of consideration received under this contract, it shall at all times comply with the Social Security Contributions and Benefits Act 1992 (SSCBA) and all other statutes and regulations relating to NICs in respect of that consideration.

(3.) The Contracting Authority may, at any time during the term, completion extension or post termination of this contract, request (Supplier) to provide information which demonstrates how Supplier complies with its obligations under tax and National Insurance Clauses (1) and (2) above or why those clauses do not apply to it.

C7-15-2 As this is not an employment Contract the Supplier will be fully responsible for all their own tax including any national insurance contributions arising from carrying out the Services.

C7-15-3 A request under Clause (3) above may specify the information which Supplier shall provide and the period within which that information must be provided.

C7-15-4 In the case of a request mentioned in Clause (3) above, the provision of inadequate information or a failure to provide the information within the requested period, during any term or extension, may result in the Contracting Authority terminating the contract.

C7-15-5 Any obligation by Supplier to comply with Clause (1) and (2) shall survive any extension, completion or termination and Supplier obligations to Indemnify the Contracting Authority shall survive without limitation and until such time as any of these obligations are complied with.

C7-15-6 The Contracting Authority may supply any information, including which it receives under clause (3) to the commissioners of Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs for the purpose of the collection and management of revenue for which they are responsible.

C7-15-7 If the Contracting Authority or UK SBS acting as an agent on behalf of the Contracting Authority has to pay any such tax under clauses (1) and (2) then the Supplier will pay back to the Contracting Authority or UK SBS in full, any money that the Contracting Authority or UK SBS has to pay, and they will also pay back the Contracting Authority or UK SBS for any fine or other punishment imposed on the Contracting Authority or UK SBS because the tax or national insurance was not paid by the Supplier.

An IR35-proof contract must state the Client has no obligation to offer the Supplier more work and the Supplier has no obligation to take it (This is what is meant by Mutuality of Obligation.) Provisions to extend the contract should be avoided. The Supplier should be able to be substituted in the specification and ideally should be otherwise a court would disregard any substitution clause if the Contracting Authority is only interested in a single Suppliers ability and skills and no substitute would be offered.

It is of paramount importance that Direction and Control are not explicit in the contract as these are a classic test of employment that can put a freelancer insider IR35, so start and finish times should not be applied, specific days that should be worked, lunch breaks, contract duration as a freelancer should control when and how they work, not the Contracting Authority. Ideally payments should be milestone based so say a weekly based invoice detailing the number of hours worked and the rate. A need for professional indemnity insurance should be based upon the risk profile and the procurement outcome sought. Further details on IR35 can be found via the following link <https://www.gov.uk/guidance/ir35-find-out-if-it-applies>

C7-16 Cyber Essentials Questionnaire

The Supplier agrees that during any term or extension it shall complete and return the attached questionnaire as advised below, within 14 days from notice and shall send this information as directed by the Contracting Authority or UK SBS acting as an agent on behalf of the Contracting Authority. The Contracting Authority and UK SBS acting as an agent on behalf of the Contracting Authority is required to provide such assurances to comply with Government advice and guidance.

Note: The Contracting Authority also reserves the right to amend or increase the frequency of the questionnaire submission due dates, as it deems necessary.

The Contracting Authority requires such interim assurances to ensure that the Supplier is still compliant with the security needs of this Contract.

The Supplier shall complete and return the questionnaire to the contact named in the Contract on the anniversary of the Commencement of the Contract.

The Supplier agrees that any financial burden associated with the completion and submission of this questionnaire and associated assistance at any time, shall be at the suppliers cost to do so and will not be reimbursable.

Annex A – Specification - CR20017 - A Longer-term Project to Assess the Impact of the National Living Wage on Employment, Hours, Earnings and Household Incomes1. Background

The Low Pay Commission (LPC) invites tenders from researchers to investigate the impact of the National Living Wage (NLW) on employment, hours, and earnings, including on young people, and on family and household incomes.

The LPC has an ongoing remit to monitor the operation of the UK minimum wage, and to assess the impact of increases in the levels of the National Minimum Wages (NMW), including the NLW, in order to advise the Government on future rates. An important part of assessing the impact of the minimum wage is to examine the effect on the labour market and on worker's incomes. Previous research has found clear evidence of an impact on hourly earnings but suggests that the NMW has had limited adverse effects on employment levels. Businesses have coped by using a number of adjustment channels, including: adjusting hours; changing pay structures; reducing non-wage benefits; increasing prices to their customers; and squeezing profit margins.

The introduction of the NLW on 1 April 2016 at £7.20 an hour for those aged 25 and above marked a sharp real and relative increase in the level of the minimum wage – 10.8 per cent in nominal terms on the year previously (around four times pay growth at the median). Since then, the NLW has increased by 14.0 per cent to £8.21 an hour in April 2019 and, is expected to reach the Government commitment of 60 per cent of median earnings, when it increases by 6.2 per cent in April 2020 to £8.72.

Although we have recently conducted a review of the youth rates and made recommendations to change the age framework which have been accepted by the Government – reducing the age of eligibility to the NLW to 23 in 2021 and to 21 by 2024 – we are interested in the impact of changes in the minimum wage on young people. This will include the impact on employment and hours from the age rates of the NMW (the 16-17 Year Old Rate, the 18-20 Year Old Rate and the 21-24 Year Old Rate) as well as any potential spillover effects from the NLW.

In Arin Dube's HM Treasury-commissioned review of the international evidence around minimum wages,¹ he recommended that the LPC commission less frequent major evaluations of the policy and that this should complement and add value to in-house econometric analysis using tried and tested methods. This invitation to tender is for a major evaluation. It is important that the Commission has robust evidence on the effect of the NLW on employment and hours in order to guide its recommendations.

Previous research has broadly established that incremental increases in the minimum wage can raise pay at the bottom of the pay distribution without large adverse side effects on the labour market. With the ambition of the NLW to reach 60 per cent of median earnings likely to be achieved in April 2020, this is an opportunity to test whether this has also been true for sharper increases. It will also help inform the Commission as we steer a path to the more ambitious target of reaching two-thirds of median earnings for those aged 21 and over by 2024, as well as in recommending minimum wage rates for young people on an annual basis.

There is global interest among policy-makers in the impact of the NLW. The findings from this research will directly inform policy decisions touching the lives of millions of workers as well as contributing to policy formation in the UK and beyond.

2. Aims and Objectives of the Project

In line with recommendations made in the Dube Review in November 2019, the Low Pay Commission wishes to commission a comprehensive study to evaluate the impact of the NLW to date.

The aims of this study are to assess the impact of the NLW between its introduction in April 2016 and its expected achievement of 60 per cent of median earnings in October 2020 on:

- (1) employment and hours of workers aged 25 years and over;
- (2) employment and hours of workers aged 24 years and under;
- (3) hourly and weekly earnings of workers aged 25 years and over;
- (4) hourly and weekly earnings of workers aged 24 and under; and
- (5) family and/or household incomes.

For those aged 24 and under, where sample size permits, the study should attempt to identify separate effects for 16-17 year olds, 18-20 year olds, and 21-24 year olds.

The LPC invites tenders for research that will provide interim findings by September 2020 and further, fuller, findings by September 2021. The 2020 findings will provide an assessment of the impact of the introduction of the NLW (£7.20) and its subsequent increases to £8.21 in 2019. The interim findings on the impact of the NLW will inform LPC deliberations in October 2020 for the uprating of the NLW in April 2021. The more substantive findings on the impact of the NLW (including an assessment of the increase in April 2020 to £8.72) will inform decisions in October 2021 for the minimum wage upratings in April 2022 and beyond.

We are particularly interested in understanding whether changes in the minimum wage have led to any substitution between older and younger workers and how employment and hours effects vary by industry, occupation, firm size and geography. We are also interested in understanding how the effects vary by individual characteristics, such as age, gender, disability, ethnicity, educational qualifications, and migrant status. For young workers, we are particularly interested in whether effects vary for three key groups: young workers in full-time education (FTE) and part-time jobs; those not in FTE but in part-time jobs; and those not in FTE but in full-time jobs.

This study will complement the research into the impact of the National Living Wage on employment and hours by the National Institute for Economic and Social Research (2018)² and the Institute for Employment Studies (2019)³, which used the Labour Force Survey and the Annual Survey of Hours and Earnings to conduct a difference-in-difference approach using individual data, and Dolton, Rosazza Bondibene and Wadsworth (2010)⁴ and Dickens and Lind (2019),⁵ which used geographic and sectoral variation. The Low Pay Commission will be conducting in-house econometric analysis using these 'tried and trusted' methods with the latest data. Therefore, this study should seek alternative methods or approaches that complement and add to the evidence base.

For example, the new study could consider whether the bunching estimator methodology used in a recent US study of the minimum wage – Cengiz, Dube, Lindner and Zipperer (2019)⁶ – or that which looked at the evidence from the German minimum wage on the re-allocation of jobs – Dustmann, Lindner, Schönberg, Umkehrer, and vom Berge (2019)⁷ – can be applied in the UK context. We would particularly welcome proposals that included innovative methods and new data sources to address these issues.

With regards hourly and weekly earnings, the research will complement that recently undertaken by Avram and Harkness (2019a and 2019b).^{8,9} They investigated the impact of the NLW on pay progression and spillovers onto differentials. They found little evidence to suggest that progression had been affected but some evidence of spillover effects on wages up to the 30th percentile of the earnings distribution, albeit weaker than the wage increases for those directly affected by the NLW. The findings on spillovers were consistent with previous studies that had looked at the National Minimum Wage, such as Butcher, Dickens and Manning (2012).¹⁰ They concluded that the NLW had compressed the pay distribution and had reduced wage inequality. That research used data from Understanding Society and ASHE.

Although we have commissioned research that has looked at the interaction of the minimum wage with the tax and benefit system, and how minimum wage workers would be affected by future increases under Universal Credit, we have not recently commissioned a study that looks at how minimum wage workers and their families have been affected. With the NLW reaching 60 per cent of median hourly earnings, this seems an appropriate time to do so.

That previous research which we have commissioned, such as Brewer and De Agostini (2017),¹¹ had found that some of the gains to workers from increases in the minimum wage had been lost as the higher resulting income had led to the withdrawal of benefits. That research used data from the Family Resource Survey and the Labour Force Survey.

Information about previous LPC research projects is available on our website,¹² with a summary of that research in Appendix 2 of our 2019 Report.¹³ Detailed descriptive analysis of the impact of the NLW is available in Chapters 4 and 7 of that report.

3. Suggested Methodology

The research should use up to date, appropriate, econometric techniques. Potential contractors are free to use whatever method they consider most appropriate but it is essential that the methodology and analysis stands up to external scrutiny by professional academics, economists, statisticians and analysts. The methods should take account, for example, of the work conducted by Allegretto, Dube, Reich and Zipperer (2013)¹⁴ on credible research designs for minimum wages as well as Brewer, Crossley and Zilio (2019),¹⁵ which has highlighted potential limitations in the application of some econometric techniques.

Potential contractors should specify the techniques that they intend to employ. Tenders should also state which data are to be used, and give some indication of their strengths and limitations and in particular whether the available data will restrict the analysis in any way.

Appropriate data sources for the analysis of the impact on employment, hours and earnings might be the Labour Force Survey and the Annual Survey of Hours and Earnings. It is important that the analysis includes as much evidence as possible on the impact of the NLW on employment, hours and earnings according to the timelines outlined above. Appropriate data sources for the analysis of the impact on family and household incomes might be Understanding Society or the Family Resources Survey. Researchers are welcome to use whichever datasets or combination of datasets that they consider best addresses the aims and objectives of this project. We would welcome alternative data sources but proposals must include details of how such data will be used and any limitations. The tender should outline the time period of the data to be analysed.

4. Deliverables

The initial primary audience for this work will be the LPC. The main output of the study will be a report, detailing the aims and objectives of the research, the methodology adopted and the main findings. The report should include a brief non-technical Executive Summary. An electronic copy (preferably Word and pdf format) for the LPC website will be required. The LPC will make the findings publicly available, and a synopsis of the report will be included in the Low Pay Commission's 2021 Report. A brief summary of the interim report will be included in the Low Pay Commission's 2020 Report.

In addition, there would be other deliverables expected. Deliverables may vary according to individual projects but will include:

- A methodology paper on data sources and methodology to the LPC at an initial meeting;
- A presentation of data sources and methodology at the research workshop on 23 April;
- Regular updates on emerging findings and project progress;
- A draft interim report;
- An interim report;
- A draft final report;
- A final report incorporating comments from LPC;
- A spreadsheet of the source data for any charts used in the final report.
- Four presentations of the key aspects of the work (at the research workshops on 23 April 2020 and 3 September 2020 and at the research workshops in April 2021 and September 2021 – dates to be confirmed); and
- Key datasets and syntax files if appropriate.

The timescale for delivery of the research is flexible according to the needs of the project, but we would be looking in the first instance for an outline of the project at an inception meeting in mid-late March, a presentation on data sources and methodology at the research workshop on 23 April, a detailed methodology paper by 29 June 2020, some initial findings for a presentation to the 8th Annual LPC Research Symposium on 3 September 2020, a draft interim report by 25 September 2020 and a final interim report by 16 October 2020. We would then expect more detailed findings for the LPC research workshop in spring 2021 and the 9th LPC Annual Research Symposium in September 2021. A draft final report would be required in the summer of 2021 with a final report by 1 October 2021.

Project management is likely to include attendance at an inception meeting at LPC, and review meetings as required.
