Annex 2 – Specification

1. INTRODUCTION

International Gas markets have experienced a significant change within a year, with prices turning from record lows to record highs. The question is whether there are structural shifts that may sustain higher prices, what caused this change, what are the future risks to the market and what impact might they have. This information is needed to help the UK better understand and manage the UK's net zero transition alongside ensuring energy security of supply in a global energy market and the UK's role within a global just energy transition.

This research project will benefit BEIS and HMG more widely by increasing the understanding of future gas market risks, enabling BEIS to better prepare for future gas market events and put in place mitigations to protect and prepare UK businesses and consumers. The project will increase the evidence base on gas market risks which will help to structure future BEIS analysis and policy proposals.

2. REQUIREMENTS

The proposed project is to produce a report broken down into four parts as detailed below but will be expected to form one document with appropriate supporting annexes and analysis (spreadsheets/models). The report's findings must be clearly data and evidence driven.

1. What has happened to the gas market in the past?
 - Recent (last two to five years) history of international gas markets, the interconnectedness of the different regions, investment decisions, and demand and supply levels for both piped and LNG gas markets.
 - Outline the key supply/demand trends and market differences between different gas market regions
 - Outlining the role that LNG has played to connect certain markets
 - Discussion of the types of contracts traded in the gas market
2. What are the potential future scenarios for the gas market, in the short, medium and long term?
 - Key developments that might occur in the gas market in the short to medium term (short term being Winter 2022/23, medium term being up to 2025). Clearly setting out what these developments might be and their potential impact (and likelihood?).
 - Link the medium term outlook to long-term scenarios for the role of gas and gas markets
 - Implications of different energy pathways and market signals and actions needed.
 - Investment trends that might be expected under different pathways.
3. What are the emerging risks to the gas market (or from the gas market)?
 - Are these risks short-term, or fundamental shifts to the market?
 - Are they endogenous or Exogenous, how might they impact the market and are they interconnected?
 - What are the ongoing geopolitics risks (e.g. Russia, Algeria, China)?
 - What are the risks of increased import dependency in Europe? And LNG market tightness?
4. What are effective mitigations to these risks?
 - These may include policies (domestic and international) to increase the UK's resilience to future gas market shocks, suggestions around energy security and diplomacy, or indeed any other domestic or international policy area affected by gas markets.
 - This could include but not is not limited to; Balancing the intermittency of renewables; The role of gas storage; The role of long-term contracts.

The final report should aim to be within 50 pages and include an executive summary. Annexes with additional information and data to be made available to BEIS were appropriate, with the potential to be used for further internal analysis by BEIS.

3. OWNERSHIP

BEIS will be authorised to utilise the report and accompanying analysis to reproduce products and information in internal documents (including those shared with other Government Departments). BEIS may seek to publish all or parts of the final document, but will ensure that they are appropriately referenced to the authors.

4. WORKING ARRANGEMENTS

The Supplier will be expected to identify one named point of contact through whom all communications and project management can be filtered.

It is expected that queries throughout the project are dealt with promptly. A BEIS project manager will be assigned to the project and will be the central point of contact.

5. SKILLS AND EXPERIENCE

The Supplier should have the experience and capabilities to undertake the project.

The Supplier should propose named members of the project team, and identify the tasks and responsibilities of each team member. This should be clearly linked to the work programme, indicating the grade/ seniority of staff and number of days allocated to specific tasks. Contingency requirements in the event of staff absences should also be identified.

Supplier should identify the individual(s) who will be responsible for managing the project.

6. QUALITY MANAGEMENT

The Supplier should have measures in place to ensure that the deliverables produced are of a high quality and free from error.

7. SOCIAL VALUE

The Supplier should have its own corporate policies in place which address areas of social value such as equality, diversity and inclusivity of its staff as well as sustainability.

8. SUB-CONTRACTORS

The Supplier must have measures in place to manage any sub-contractors and ensure that their selection is conducted in an open and transparent manner.

9. TIMELINE

The report must be completed by 31 March 2022.

In the event that Tenderers are unable to deliver the report before 31 March they should detail clearly in their Technical Proposal what could be done before 31 March 2022 and provide a breakdown in their budget of the associated costs.

BEIS reserves the right to reject proposals that are unable to meet the delivery timeline.

10. BUDGET

BEIS has created a 'genuine pre-estimate' of costs for this service and it is expected that the Service should be able to be delivered with the available budget of up to £50,000 excluding VAT.

11. PAYMENT

BEIS policy is not to pay for services “up front” and all payments will be made in arrears following acceptance of deliverables by BEIS. Given the short duration of this work, invoices will be submitted and paid following completion and acceptance of the report.

The pricing basis for the contract will be a fixed price to deliver the work based on Annex 4

BEIS aims to pay all correctly submitted invoices as soon as possible with a target of 10 days from the date of receipt and within 30 days at the latest in line with standard terms and conditions of contract. We expect that this will be replicated in any sub-contractor arrangements and BEIS may request evidence that this is the case.

12. PERFORMANCE

BEIS will manage the contract and have ad hoc performance discussions with the Supplier. Where the quality of deliverables are failing to meet BEIS’ expectations identified in both these requirements and Annex 3, BEIS will work with the Supplier to identify measures to remedy these performance issues.

13. DUE DILIGENCE

BEIS reserves the right to perform additional due diligence on any Tenderer being considered for a contract before that contract is awarded.
