Background to the specific work area relevant to this purchase

LIFE in the Ravines (Ref: LIFE19/NAT/UK/000147)

The five-year LIFE in the Ravines project is an exciting partnership undertaking, centred within the ravine woodlands of the Peak District Dales Special Area of Conservation (SAC). This pioneering project has received funding from the European Union's LIFE Programme, to restore these ravine woodlands and mitigate the effects of ash dieback (ADB). Led by Natural England, the UK Government's adviser for the natural environment in England, the project partnership comprises of Chatsworth Estate, Derbyshire Wildlife Trust, Staffordshire Wildlife Trust, the National Trust and the Peak District National Park Authority.

Requirement

To achieve the objective of re-establishing a healthy high forest canopy, the project requires the assistance of suitably skilled operatives to undertake the maintenance and aftercare of previously planted tree saplings in Tilio-acerion ravine woodlands. The work will be carried out on the National Trust White Peak Estate, specifically the woodlands at Dovedale, Ilam, Ladyside, Soles Coppice and Taddington. The trees to be maintained have been planted in 0.25 ha hexagonal coupes and stocked at a density of 1280 stems per hectare (320 per coupe). Most tree species are protected with 1.5m shelters, supported by 1.6m stakes. Shrub species are protected with 0.6m shelters supported by 0.7m stakes.

The supplier will provide tree maintenance and aftercare in 32 coupes, using this 8-step methodology:

1. Replace any tree stakes that are rotten or broken.
2. Ensure all stakes (whether in situ or replacements) are installed to the specified standard. (Appendix 1)
3. Replace any broken tree shelters and zip ties.
4. Weed and remove any competing vegetation growing within shelters and the surrounding 0.5m radius of the shelters, including removal of bramble roots.
5. Ensure trees are growing upright within shelters and not branching out from ventilation holes.
6. Replace any dead trees, predominantly with Tilia cordata. Replacement trees will be provided by Natural England.
7. Plant any required replacement trees to accepted NE specification.
8. Record the trees, shrubs, stakes and shelters replaced, as well as days of work completed.

The successful contractor will need to supply their own tools. The authority will supply all replacement trees, tree stakes, tree shelters, site maps and Point of Work Risk Assessments (POWRA).
